Copies of papers on file in the Dominion archives at Ottawa, Canada, pertaining to the relations of the British Government with the United States during and subsequent to the period of the war of 1812:

Treaty of Peace and Subsequent Relations, 1815 1

Subsequent Relations, 1816–1819 414

PREFATORY NOTES TO VOL. XVI.

This volume consists of reports and communications copied by the kind permission of the Dominion government from the archives at Ottawa. It is a continuation of volume XV, which contains copies of like official documents. The two volumes, taken together, have much new and authentic material bearing on the troublous times of 1812. As Michigan was the scene of important events in that war, and many of her citizens were engaged as soldiers in it, the information obtained in these volumes is of especial interest to our people.

Volume XV closed with the record transcribed to the end of the year 1814. The treaty of Ghent, signed Dec. 24th, 1814, concluded a peace between the United States and Great Britain. The only means of communication across the ocean in that period was by sailing vessels. News of the peace was not received here until late in January 1815, and consequently the hostile attitude was maintained and one notable battle, that of New Orleans, was fought after the treaty was concluded.

The re-print or second edition of volume XV, has copious notes of events, and of individuals mentioned therein. As a considerable number of the same persons continue to figure in this volume the notes herein concerning them are less expanded.

In both of the volumes XV and XVI, there is offered observations bearing on the reports and communications, being facts since disclosed, but not known at the time of the writing of the several reports by the persons concerned in the subject matter. These subsequently revealed facts are mentioned concurrently with the original reports thereby making continuous the narrative which the several communications disjointedly contain.

The evidence is here assembled, the separate facts are correlated and those interested in authentic history have the material laid before them in form, with the several events elucidated sufficiently to show their bearing on the complete story of the war as told in the two volumes XV and XVI, so far the official communications therein reprinted contain that story.

"I charge Joseph Rolette native of Quebec, and now residing at the Prairie des Chiens, with seditious words and discourse tending to excite insurrection against His Majesty's Government, also illicit, illegal and dangerous conduct towards the Indians, His Majesty's Allies, and I pledge myself to prove the same by Evidence."

And whereas it is necessary, as well for the sake of the accused, as for the security of His Majesty's Possessions in this part that the said accusation should be forthwith examined and enquired into, I have thought fit to direct prior to any other steps being taken, that the said charge be made the subject of investigation before a Military Court of Inquiry; to be assembled for that purpose on Thursday next the 5th Instant at 9 o'clock in the morning in Fort McKay. And for the more effectual ascertaining the truth of the said charges the Court is hereby empowered to examine into the same upon oath. Of which all persons bound to give Evidence thereon, or in any manner concerned are to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

Given under my hand in Fort McKay Prairie des Chiens the 3d January 1815 signed

A. Bulger 1 Capt. Commg. Fort McKay & the British Possessions on the Mississippi

Prairie des Chiens January 3d 1815

Sir

Library of Congress

On the 2nd Instant on the parade in Fort McKay I publicly charged Joseph Rolette native of Quebec with treasonable practices against our Sovereign Lord the King & I pledged myself to prove the same by evidence—

These charges are seditious words and discourse tending to excite insurrection against His Majesty's Government, also illicit, illegal and dangerous conduct towards the Indians, His Majesty's Allies. I request you Sir, Commanding Fort McKay and on the Mississippi to order a Court of that nature you may deem expedient to investigate these charges—

I trust that I will prove to the satisfaction of the Court why some of the charges have been delayed till this time—

I have the honor to be—Sir— your most obedient servant R. Dickson Agent to the Western Nations and Superintendent conquered countries.<sup>1</sup>

To Captain Bulger Commanding Fort McKay & on the Mississippi—

Prosecutor—Robert Dickson Esq Agent & Superintendent of the Western Nations previous to his examination on oath addressed the Court as follows—Vizt. “It is a painful thing to me as an officer at this time to be obliged to charge Joseph Rolette with so serious a crime as high treason, a man with whom I have been long acquainted and whose family I believe have distinguished themselves in the service of their country—It is the peculiar boast of the British Government that justice is equally administered in the most remote part of Dominions, as well as in the center of its Metropolis—To that justice I now appeal, and to the Court now constituted, for a patient hearing.

Library of Congress

In the solemn appeal which I have made to the Justice of the Court I consider myself before God—as divested of all private Pique or Malice.—Previous to the evidences being called, I wish to prove to the Court upon oath the reasons why some of these charges have been so long delayed—”

Prosecutor—Robert Dickson Esqr Agent and Superintendent being duly sworn deposed as follows Vizt.—I came here from Quebec to the best of my recollection on the 17th April 1813 In the different councils that I held with the Indians I found the conduct of some of them very different from what I expected & what I had formerly experienced. I have since that time been endeavoring to trace what could have given rise to such conduct on their part.

The first chief of the Scioux nation Wabasha after the most earnest solicitations on my part positively refused to accompany me to Mackina, but deputed one of his relations Itassipah to represent him in the voyage I was about to undertake, he accompanied me to Mackina Detroit and Fort Meigs with the other Indians when It was determined to leave Fort Meigs and they were requested to go to Sandusky they said, what the Scioux would determine upon, they would agree to Itassipah the representative of Wabasha<sup>1</sup> and of the Scioux Nation in the evening when he was called upon to stop, as he was going down in a canoe refused. I then to the best of my recollection sent Lieut Fraser and Colin Campbell after him, and he again refused—in consequence almost all the Indians followed him, a few only remained with me, and this in my opinion occasioned the disaster that befell our fleet, the loss of Amherstburg & Detroit, and the subsequent capture of General Proctor's Army. I stated before that I arrived here the 17th April 1813. Since that time had the troubled situation of the country admitted, I should have investigated many matters that should have been investigated. It was not until the other day that I saw the necessity of no longer delaying those charges & of bringing forward others which have since come to my knowledge, and of which I was totally unacquainted before. as an officer had my own life only been in danger, which I am at all times obliged to sacrifice for my King and Country it would have been of no consideration,—but his Majestys possessions would have been lost, and his weak and helpless subjects indiscriminately butchered. I now feel confidence from a Fort and Military force being here, under the command of an able officer.

1 See appendix.

I shall state what I found on my arrival here respecting the accused. After my arrival here the 17th April 1813. being accompanied by Captain Hamilton<sup>2</sup> of the Militia of Upper Canada, I was informed by 2 Perhaps Capt. George Hamilton of Niagara militia.

5 him of the accused having used seditious words in Mr. Brisbois<sup>1</sup> House, tending to cause disaffection amongst his Majestys subjects in this place and such words as Captain Hamilton said would have subjected the accused in Upper Canada to be tried for high treason. I instituted a Court of Inquiry composed of the officers of the Indian Dept who found the charge proven. Subsequent to that the same year before I left here, in the Spring, a crowd appearing before the accused's house, I enquired what it was, I was then opposite Mr. Boilvens House, I found some Indians had killed a calf, the accused was running past me at the time—I called to him to stop, that I would pay for his calf, sooner than any disturbance should take place amongst the Indians, he did not stop—he turned round uttering some words which I did not hear, or probably distinctly understand, other people even with me, who may probably have heard them. On my arrival here in the month of April 1814 I again found the Country in a great deal of confusion.

1 See appendix.

Question from the accused to the Prosecutor— Do you not recollect the day after the calf was killed, when you reproached me for not having listened to you—that I told you I had not heard you,—that you said that you believed it.

Answer—I do not recollect it, probably it is so.

Library of Congress

Question from ditto to ditto Do you not recollect that before the Court of Inquiry you investigated the report of Captain Hamilton and found the words imprudent and with the consent of that Court, was not the complaint burnt down in Mr. St. Jounhs (St. John's) house where the Court was held—

Answer—After it had been proven—for particular reasons I did not wishe the proceedings to go any further—

Question from the Court to the Prosecutor— Who were present when the Complaint made by Captain Hamilton in 1813 was investigated? Who were the persons that composed the Court of Inquiry?

Answer—I only recollect that Lt. Fraser & Lt. Law were on it, I do not recollect the third person—

Question from ditto to ditto What was the accused running for at the time the calf was killed, was it he who caused the mob of Indians?

Answer—No it was not, he was at the other end of the Village—

Question from the Court to the Prosecutor Can you from your own knowledge assign any reason why the Indians left you at Fort Meigs in 1813 and whether the accused was the instigation of it—

Answer No

Question from ditto to ditto Why did you not on the least suspicion of Treasonable practices on the part of the accused, report the same to the Commanding Officer at Mackina when you and the accused were there last summer?

Library of Congress

Answer—My bringing the accusation forward now is in consequence of some information I have received since I arrived here this season—

Question from ditto to ditto Were you or were you not on terms of intimacy with the accused at Mackina and since the commission of the Treasonable practices with which he is now charged—?

Answer—I was during part of them & until some time after my arrival here when I received information from some people respecting the conduct of the accused—

Question from ditto to ditto Do you know in what state were the accused, Captn Hamilton & the other persons who were in Mr. Brisbois House in 1813 at the time the accused made use of the words you have mentioned as having been reported to you by Captn Hamilton?

Answer—Not from my own knowledge—

Question from ditto to ditto Do you from your own knowledge, or from the knowledge of any other person, know what became of the proceedings of the Court of Inquiry that you say you instituted to enquire into language made use of by the accused at Mr Brisbois house in 1813—

Answer—I believe they were quashed—

Question from ditto to ditto At the time of the proceedings of the Court of inquiry alluded to, was burnt or otherwise destroyed, was it not generally considered that affair was settled —?

Answer.—It was on the accused promising to be more cautious in future—

Question from ditto to ditto Do you recollect who were present when that affair was adjusted & where did it take place?

Library of Congress

Answer it was in Mr St. Johns House, I cannot possibly say who were present—

1st Evidence on the part of the Prosecution

Francis Dease,<sup>1</sup> Captain of the Prairie des Chiens Militia being called in & sworn, deposed as follows Vizt.—

I heard the accused in Mr. Brisbois House in 1813, holding a discourse of a nature tending to induce people to believe that the American Government would over awe the English Government, saying that if the war continued the Americans would overrun the Canadas, on which he, the accused, made a comparison in the following words, when I was a child you could not overcome me, at present I am a man what can you do” The discourse lasted some time, I cannot recollect the particulars, but it always had the same tending—I have also heard the accused say if the Americans were coming round the point, meaning the point near the Prairie des Chiens he would not go to meet them, that no one could oblige him this was in 1813.—

Question from the Prosecutor to Evidence You say you were present. in Mr. Brisbois house in 1813 when the conversation took place between the accused and the other persons present, were they in Liquor at the time?

Answer.—No not in the least—they did not appear to me to be so.

Question from ditto to ditto Who were present?

Answer.—Mr. Law, Captain Hamilton, Mr. Brisbois, the accused, myself and I believe Mr. Fraser—

Library of Congress

Question from ditto to ditto Have you any knowledge of a Court of Inquiry taking place in consequence?

Answer—Yes I have.

Question from ditto to ditto Was the Country in a state of confusion on my arrival here in 1813 & do you recollect my discourse to you on the backwardness of the Scioux?

Answer.—Yes—

Question from ditto to ditto Do you recollect the caution you gave me and the substance of it? Do you say the country was in an alarming situation last Spring?

Answer.—I do

Question from ditto to ditto What was the substance of the caution I received from you in the Spring 1814—

Answer.—I heard that the Indians had declared our intention to kill you & told you it was very improper for you to go out at night unarmed, & without having some people with you —

Question from the accused to the evidence Who were the members of the Court of Inquiry and what was the result? did you hear it or not.

Answer—I know that the Court of Inquiry was at Mr. St Johns house, but I did not hear the result, I know Captain Hamilton & Mr. Fraser were present—

Question from ditto to ditto Can you produce to the court a letter I brought you from Mr Dickson dated 23rd or 24 Sept 1814—

Library of Congress

Answer.—Yes—I can—

Question from ditto to ditto Did you not find me always ready to lend you what you asked me for to support the Indians in Mr. Dicksons absence—?

Answer—I never asked you to lend me anything—

Question from ditto to ditto Did I never lend you Powder, Knives, flints and tobacco last winter to support the Indians?

Answer—Yes last winter you lent me powder and other things for the Indians?—

Question from Court to Evidence What situation did you hold here under Government during the years 1813 & 1814—

Answer—I held the situation of Captain of Militia, and by appointment from Mr. Dickson, I acted as his agent amongst the Indians in his absence—

Question from ditto to ditto By whom were you appointed Captain of Militia—

Answer—by Mr. Dickson

Question from ditto to ditto Had you any conversation with any person lately respecting the charges now brought forward against the accused—

Answer—Yes I had.

Question from ditto to ditto With whom had you such conversation, and relate the substance thereof—

Answer—I had the conversation last night on the Subject with Captain Graham & no others—

Library of Congress

Question from the Court to Evidc. Do you from your own knowledge, or from that of any other person know what was done with the Proceedings of the Court of Inquiry held on the conduct of the accused in 1813

Question from ditto to ditto Did you not consider and was it not generally considered that that affair had been settled?

Answer—I considered is as settled, but cant say how it was considered by others—

Question from ditto to ditto Did you ever understand from the Prosecutor, or from any other person, that that affair was ever to be brought forward again?

Answer—I never did—

Question from ditto to ditto In what did the backwardness of the Scioux consist, & do you from your own knowledge know if any person was the cause of it?

Answer—the Backwardness of the Scioux consisted in not following Mr Dickson when he asked them, I do not know of any persons being the cause of it.

Question from ditto to ditto You have stated in your evidence that the accused in the conversation held in Mr Brisbois house in 1813 made this comparison “When I was a child, you could not overcome me, at present I am a man what can you do what do you suppose the accused meant thereby?

Answer—I consider that he meant, that as the English could not overcome the Americans, when in an Infant state they could not do it now, the latter had grown into power—

Library of Congress

Question from ditto to do Do you from your own knowledge know that the accused held treasonable conversation with Indians or others since 1813—

Answer—No I do not—

Question from ditto to do f Produce the letter dated the 23rd or 24th September 1814 from the prosecutor to you—

Answer.—this is the letter—

Michilimackinac 23rd Sept 1814

Captain Dease

3rd Evidence on the part of the Prosecution

Jeane Baptiste Faribault being called in & sworn deposed as follows vizt—

Library of Congress

"I heard the accused say that Mr. Dickson was not a man fit for the place he held, that he assumed more than his commission permitted, but that he, the accused, knew well to what lengths Mr. Dickson's commission extended, as for me said he, I do not fear that he will impose upon me, I think he is aware of the power I have with the Scioux nation, when we came here last summer under Lieut Col. McKay<sup>1</sup> two or three days after taking the Fort the Indians having killed some cattle, the accused said if any Indians kill any of my cattle I will make the Scioux strike upon them. About 7 o'clock in the evening word was brought to the Village from the farms that the Indians were killing cattle there, the same Instant the accused went off and commanded the Scioux to strike upon the Indians that were killing the cattle, they went, They threatened the Indians that were in the Fort (The court oriells)<sup>2</sup> the Interpreters that were present prevented them Striking: The Scioux said they were near doing a bad action, meaning they were near fighting the other Indians but they had been prevented, They said the accused encouraged them to it—

Question from Prosecutor to Evidce In what degree of relationship according to the Indian Manners, does the accused stand with Wabasha—the Chief of the Scioux—?

Answer Mrs. Rolette in the Indian way is Wabashas niece & Mr. Rolette his nephew—

Question from ditto to ditto What relation is Itassepah to Wabasha?

Answer—Wabasha calls Itassepah his nephew

Question from the accused to Evid Since Mr. Dicksons arrival here or since I have been accused, have you had any conversation with him respecting me, and what was the substance thereof—

Library of Congress

Answer After the two men were killed, was the first discourse I had with the Prosecutor respecting the present affair, he said to me it was an unhappy accident that had taken place, to which I replied, the accident would not have happened if Mr. Rolette had not sent contrary to Captain Andersons orders—

Question from ditto to ditto Do you know what was the cause of the alarm in this Country in the Spring 1813 or 1814?

Answer—Yes—

Question from ditto to ditto Are you ignorant whether the accused, then Captain of the Volunteers, was in the execution of his orders or not when he told the Scioux to strike?

Answer—I am ignorant whether it was or was not his orders—

Question from the Accusd to Evid Did you not give pow(d)der yourself to the Mauch-Rouge,<sup>1</sup> or other Indians of that tribe after it was prohibited by Captain Anderson?—

Question from ditto to ditto Then if you were not present how do you know the officers of the Indian Department prevented the Scioux from striking on the other Indians as you have positively stated in your evidence?

Answer—the Indians told me so—

Question from ditto to ditto What officers of the Indian department were present at the time the Scioux were prevented striking on the other Indians?

Answer I do not know—

Question from ditto to ditto Who were the officers of the Indian department that strove to prevent the Indians killing the cattle?

Question from the Court to Evid State to the Court the instance wherein the officers of the Indian department strove to prevent the cattle being killed?—

Answer.—Lieut Graham told Interpreter Rouville to tell the Indians that we were not come here to kill the farmers cattle & told the Indians to desist.—

Library of Congress

Question from ditto to ditto Did you hear the accused say if any Indians kill any of my Cattle, I will make the Scioux Strike on them—

Answer—Yes—

Question from ditto to ditto Did you hear the accused order the Scioux to Strike upon the other Indians—

Answer—No—

4th Evidence on the part of the Prosecution

Joseph Rouville, (Rainville) Lieut & Interpreter in the Indian Department being called in and sworn deposed as follows Vizt—

“The first time the Prosecutor came here, in 1813, he was one day standing between his own house and that of Mr. Boilvenes, I was standing a little lower down with Lieut. Fraser, when I saw the accused pass by the Prosecutor, who called to him to stop, and that he would pay for his animal, The accused did not stop. I went with Lieut Frases (Fraser) after the accused, till we arrived at his, the accused, back yard. where the accused seized upon a Scoux saying it is to kill the Indian who killed my calf. we stopped the accused on telling him he did ill in not hearkening to Mr. Dickson. the accused said he had done ill in not stopping for Mr. Dickson, but it was passion that prevented him.” Last summer two or three days after the Fort was taken, I was standing above Mr. Giards house. I heard the accused say he was going to find the Indians that killed his cattle, I followed the accused. he arrived at the Scoux Camp, & invited the Scoux to go with him, he recommended the Scoux to take their arms, to go and take away the meat the Puans<sup>1</sup> had and to fight with them— Lieut Brisbois passing by me on horseback, I said to him, let us go and stop this business. because if we do not go, the accused is able to make bad work amongst the nations, we arrived at the place where the accuseds cattle were, with all the Indians, we assisted in taking the meat out of the hands of the Indians, and they were ready to fight, The accused encouraged very much the Scoux in saying “ho mes Gens”<sup>2</sup> saying also that half

Library of Congress

16 his body was Scoux with much difficulty I stoped them, they brought all the meat before Colonel McKay<sup>1</sup> —The accused told me after his arrival from Mackina the last voyage that the Americans had left a paper at his house, and that there was only him that could arrive here, of the people of Mackina, there was only him permitted on the part of the Americans. I have heard the Indians speak against the accused. The Scoux in speaking against Wabasha said they thought he was counseled by the accused, because he Wabasha, was the only one that kept American Flags & Medals, & they, the Scoux thought Wabasha would not have kept those marks in his possession after the Councils he had received from Mr. Dickson—

Question from the Prosecutor to the Evidence State to the Court what you know respecting Itassipahs conduct on our leaving Fort Meigs?<sup>1</sup>

Answer—All the Scoux put ashore, where Mr. Dickson did at the Entrance of the Miamis River except Itassipah who passed straight on, Mr. Dickson sent Lieut Fraser after him but he could not bring Itassepah back, that caused the other Scoux to go and join Itassepah saying It was their first Chief, they would follow him every where. There was only the little Corbean that remained with sixteen of his young men The little Corbean told me he was not surprised at Itassepah's conduct, because he was Wabasha's nephew, and the friend of the accused—

Question from Prosecutor to Evid In the Indian custom what degree of relationship does the accused stand in with Wabasha? How is Itassipah related to Wabasha—

Library of Congress

Answer—The accused is Wabasha's Son-in law—Itassipah is Wabashas nephew

Joseph Rorke (Rocque)<sup>1</sup> Interpreter in the Indian department being called in and sworn deposed as follows—

“I know the accused to have always spoken against the British Government, he said he could carry on his commerce, and did not regard 3

18 the Government therein—this summer when the party under Colonel McKay was here, the accused raised the Scoux to strike on the Puans, when the Scoux came back they complained to me, saying we went like people out of their senses, & if the Puans had not run away, they would have done a bad action, we would have fought,—By listening to a fool, we would have put the Village in disorder, meaning if they had fought it would have been a serious business.

Question from the Prosecutor to Evidence What was the accused's discourse in Mr Giards house the other day—

Answer—he said he would not listen to Mr. Dickson's department—

Question from ditto to ditto What do you conceive the accused meant by saying he would not listen to Mr. Dickson's department and what gave rise to this discourse?

Answer—It was occasioned by the accused being commanded by Capt. Grahm (Graham) of the Indian Department to come & parade in Fort McKay.

Question from the accused to Evid Have you knowledge that a man named Roi came to you with an order from Coll McKay to make the Scoux strike upon the puans?

Answer—I have. Colonel McKay sent me word by Rey to go after the Scoux & Scotoux to assist them.

Library of Congress

Answer—Yes. I heard him once—

Question from ditto to ditto What did the accused say

Answer—He said there was not many of the department not worth much & that I myself passed for a flatterer—

Question from the Court to the Evid You stated to the Court that the accused was near making the Indians Revolt amongst themselves & against us, were you present when that was near taking place?

Answer—Yes—

Question from ditto to ditto State to the Court what took place on that occasion.—

Answer—The Indians were in great numbers at the farms and I went to see what it was on my road I met the accused who told me to wait for him saying he was going to take the Scoux and would make the meat be returned that the Course orcilles<sup>1</sup> & Follesavoines had.—I took Mr. Rouville (Rainville) with me & went, but met the Indians coming back, the Scoux were with us armed, the accused was also there & had his sword drawn and encouraged the Scoux very much, saying to them, if the Indians do not return the meat, take it from them, on arriving to the Indians that had the meat, the accused striking himself on the breast and doing the same thing to an Indian, said. "I am an Englishman, on this I said. "Easy Mr. Rolette this is not the way to act before the Indians dont keep your sword drawn, we can get the meat returned without so much ado—On that the Court orcilles (Oreilles) & Follesavoins returned the meat & I came off with Mr. Rouville leaving the accused there—

Question from ditto to ditto Do you not Recollect having left Mr. Rouville with the accused on your coming away—

Answer—I do recollect that it was my brother who came off with me if not Mr Rouville who I left behind with the accused—

7th Evidence on the part of the Prosecution

Charles La Pointe being called in and sworn, the following questions were put to him.—

Question from the prosecutor Since the Spring of 1813 have you heard the accused hold any conversation against the Government.—

Answer—I never heard him say anything against the Government, but I heard him talking against its subjects.

Question from ditto What was his discourse?

Answer—The accused & I were talking about our Cattle that had been killed by the Indians I asked the accused if he thought we would paid for them, he answered that perhaps Government would pay them, but it was too long coming & passing thro' so many hands, every one kept a little, and before it got here there would be nothing left.—

Question from the Accused Do you recollect that I wished to engage you to go to Mackina for powder in 1813 to protect this place from the hands of the Americans—

Answer— Yes—you wished to engage me to go to Mackina but could go no further than the Portage—

Library of Congress

Question from the Court You have stated to the Court that the accused wished to engage you to go to Mackina for powder to protect the place from the Americans, what gave rise to that measure—

Answer—Hearing that the Americans were Coming up here in the Spring & there being very little powder in the place the accused I suppose took this, measure on that account.—

Question from the Court Have you no knowledge that that information was received by a letter from Boilvin<sup>1</sup> American Agent at St Lewis (St. Louis) to Mr. Rock, (Rocque) & given up by Mr. Fairbault—

Answer I heard it was but did not see the letter—

9th Evidence for the Prosecution

Captain Duncan Graham,<sup>1</sup> Indian department being called on and sworn, the following questions were put to him.—

Question from the Prosecutor Did you not several times admonish the accused during the course of last summer respecting his intemperate manner of talking?

Answer— I told him last winter not to talk so freely that his tongue might cause him trouble —

Question from ditto Did you come to the door of my house on the 31st December last what did you tell me & what orders did I give you in consequence—

Answer—I did go to your house on the 31st December last, & told you I heard there was a disturbance in the Force among the Michigan Fencibles, on which you told me to tell every one to get their arms and go up to the fort.—

Question from ditto Did you tell the accused that there was a disturbance in the Fort and what was his reply?

Answer.—I did not tell him particularly, I mentioned it in his presence & told him to take his arms & go to the Fort, he answered “when he was ordered, I told him I was directed to order every man—

Question from ditto What did the accused say about a man going to be flogged in the fort and who were present—

Library of Congress

Answer—He said they could not flog one of the Michigan Fencibles, (Fencibles) Lt. Pullman & Mr. Brisbois Senr were present & some others whom I do not recollect.—

Question from the Prosecutor When the accused said they could not flog the Michigan Fencibles, were those his only words—

Answer—No that was not the only thing he said, to the best of my recollection, he said it was more than your neck was worth to flog one of them, to which Lt. Pulman (Pullman) answered we can break their necks too—to which the accused replied you may do that but not flog them—

Question from the Accused Were you not obliged to come for me 50 leagues in 1813, to settle with the merchants here, to send an Express to Mackina for powder as no merchant would advance monies to send?

Answer— I went to let the accused know the news at the request of the people here when he came down with me to this place, when at his house up the Mississippi, the accused proposed sending to Mackina for powder—

Question from ditto Did you not come on purpose to bring me down, by the voice of the whole people here—

Answer— I was sent up by the people here, but I cannot recollect whether it was to bring him down or not—

Question from ditto Did you not induce me to come down in saying nobody would do anything without me?

Answer—Very likely I might have said so

Library of Congress

Question from ditto Did I not give you letters of Credit to Green Bay to forward the Express & to Mr. Oliva (Oliver) at Mackina, (Mackinac) without knowing whether I would be reimbursed?

Answer—Yes he gave me letters of credit, but I dont whether he thought he would be reimbursed or not—

Question from ditto Did I not lend you a keg of Gunpowder to assist you in case the Winnebagoes should try to plunder you & some spirits for Mr. Dickson in case he should want it for the Indians?

Answer—I recollect you offered me high wines or spirits but whether I took it or not I dont recollect, as to the powder I do not recollect anything about it—

Question from the accused to Evidence— In the Spring 1814 do you not recollect that before you received Mr. Dicksons orders to purchase my flour & Corn Had I not promised to lend you those articles to take up with you to send to Mackina to assist Government—

Answer.—Yes

Question from ditto to ditto Do you not recollect that the powder and spirits were sent to your boat from Giards house and that you told me on returning here that they had only been purchased at the<sup>1</sup> Petit Grer— (Gris).

Answer—I recollect that kegs having been taken from the Store to the boat, what they were I cannot recollect, but I recollect you offered to lend me those articles.—

Library of Congress

Question from ditto to do Did you on the 31st December, let me know by whom you were directed to order the people to the Fort, or did you only say that the people were wanted there.

Answer—I told you I was directed to order everybody, I do not recollect whether I told you who directed me to do so—

Question from ditto to do From the knowledge you have of me, did you think me a friend of my Government, & have I not at all times appeared to you ready to assist the Government.

Answer—I cannot know your heart, & have known you on many occasions appear willing to serve Government, at other times appear to impose upon Government in selling anything to it at an exorbitant price.

Question from the Court Were you sent to Mackina in 1813 for Powder—

Question from ditto to ditto For what use was that powder intended & how was it afterwards appropriated?

Answer—For the defence of the Country, to the best of my recollection it was afterwards delivered to Mr. Dickson on his arrival here—

Question from the Court— Do you know who advanced the Monies necessary for sending to Mackina for the powder in 1813

Answer—The accused advanced all that was made here, as far as I know—

Lieut James Pullman, Michigan Fencibles, a member of the Court being sworn, the following questions were put to him—

Question from the Prosecutor Were you in your house on the 31st December last when the accused spoke about the punishment going to be inflicted in the Fort?

Answer—I was

Question from ditto State to the Court what passed in your presence & who were present —

Answer— The accused, Captain Grahm and another person, besides myself the conversation turned on the punishment the accused addressing himself to me said it is more than you dare do to punish the Michigan Fencibles they are under Militia Laws.—

Question from the accused to Evidence Pray were you not laughing when you said you were going to punish a man, which occasioned my unguarded remark, the persons present were they not officers of the Garrison & a few of the Indian department?

Answer—It might have been the case I dont rightly recollect whether they were all officers, but there were some of the Indian department—

Here closed the Evidence for the Prosecution

“If the Court will allow me I will in a few words state my conduct from the beginning of the war in answer to the charges now against me—

Several months after the declaration of War say in the winter 1813 some letters from Boilvin Indian Agent for the United States from St. Louis reached this place inviting the people to join with the Americans 4 26 in their cause against our Government This place had been left by Boilvin in the month of May previous to the Declaration of the War I was considered as under the American Government—

The Traders and Inhabitants of this place uneasy at these letters, finding that no one wished to advance monies to send these letters into Mackina (as this place was left destitute of ammunition) and everybody being ignorant of Robert Dicksons appointment determined to send to me at a distance of 150 miles to come to the Prairie to send an Express to Mackina. On the reception of these letters which were brought to me by Duncan Graham now a Captain in the Indian department I immediately left my House in the middle of my business when the Indians were coming out of the lands with their credits at the critical time that Traders depend for their returns, I arrived at the Prairie & finding that Mr. Graham volunteered his services to go into Mackina I engaged a man to go with him, making the advances myself & gave him letters of Credit on the Bay and at Mackina to send those letters in the name of the Principal Inhabitants of the place to demand power to assist in defending this important place that it might be attached to the British Governmt

Had I been an Enemy of my Government as the charges against me wish to make it appear, I then could have tried to insinuate into the people of this place principles against the British Government and have written to the Americans to come up here and of course they would have been at no trouble for exclusive of the ammunition brought by Mr Graham, there was not two kegs of gun powder left in this place and the Indians would not have been an obstacle to them, had they seen any of the Traders inclined to the Americans, for it was with a good deal of trouble that in the winter 1813 I convinced a number of Indians of the necessity of attaching themselves to the British Government. I sent at the same time tobacco to Joseph Renville now Interpreter, to invite the Indians to come & defend this place, had I not done so, Mr. Dickson would not have had a Scoux to take with him to Mackina.

In the month of April Mr Dickson arrived unexpectedly. Every assistance was given by me & other Traders in lending goods or other articles necessary for the Indians which he had not. In the winter 1814 Mr. Dickson Wintered at a place called the Winnebagoes Lake, in the Winter some reports had been sent to him respecting my conduct towards Government by some ignorant people who knew no better, and thought that speaking of Mr. Dickson personally was speaking against Governnt.

Mr Dickson in the spring of 1814 took upon himself to investigate the complaints, swore the people in, & finding them void and unfounded rejected them.—In Mackina Mr Dickson complained to Col. McDonall<sup>1</sup> in my behalf against the very people, say Faribault & Lagotherie for having attempted to accuse me of false charges. I beg of the Court to remark particularly the conduct of my accuser in rejecting last spring several persons of his witnesses as suspicious characters, and this day to bring them forward as men of probity. I beg also of the Court to enquire on what terms I have been with Mr Faribault since a few years back—

In Mackina after I had volunteered my services Mr. Dickson asked me at his house before Captain Anderson and Colonel McKay if I had any objection to Mr. Faribaults going as a volunteer to the Prairie—I told him I had not— Had Mr. Dickson not looked upon him as a suspicious character he certainly never would have asked me the question.

I beg also of the Court to remark that since I have been in this country, Mr. Dickson and I have been at variance, because I had an opinion of my own, except last spring and summer.

If Mr. Dickson had anything against me why did he not bring his charges against me in Mackina; on the contrary he was intimate with me and did everything to promote my interest, as will appear by a letter from him before the Court to Mr. Dease his agent here, & in the same letter he is guilty himself of the first charge of which he accuses me, in trying to destroy the authority of the Commanding officer here & causing trouble & quarrels in recommending to his agent to let nobody interfere with him in the management of Indian Affairs which must have alluded to the commanding officer here, as no man but him had a right to do so— According to that letter on the 23rd Sept from Mr. Dickson I was considered by him as a good subject & what have I been guilty of since that period.

I am now going to answer to Mr. Dicksons speech wherein he complains that on his arrival here he found the Indians changed I am not surprised at it & I shall endeavor to give the Court the reasons.

Previous to the declaration of the War, Mr. Dickson assisted the American Government in the person of Lieut Pyke<sup>1</sup> (Pike), in drawing the British Medals and Flags from the Indians, and in his presence or knowledge, some of them received in return American Medals & flags, which prove the influence Mr. Dickson had at that time amongst the Indian Tribes caused them to believe they were acting correctly. It is not then surprising that the Indians must have been a long time to rise against the American Government, after such conduct on the part of Mr. Dickson. In the Spring 1814 a Scoux Chief told Mr. Dickson publicly that he could not reproach him for having kept that American Mark, for he was the occasion of it, & told him, since you say you are stronger, I will deliver it up to you & follow you—

Mr Dickson complains that the Scoux left him at Fort Meigs because The said Scoux whose conduct was so improper had connection with me, he wishes to implicate me, I do not know how I who was at Mackina at the time, could have advised those Indians to act wrong.

Mr Dickson complains of some improper conduct on my part the Spring 1813. I had been drinking with Mr Hamilton in my house and at night gave my opinion freely about the War, as we were all friends, & British Subjects present.—

Library of Congress

Mr Hamilton & I having fallen out next day about something else, lodged a complaint, where the accuser sat as a member. Mr Dickson investigated the business & finding it nothing of consequence destroyed it himself in burning it in the house of Mr. St. John—

In the Spring 1814 Mr Dickson says he was cautioned by Brisbois & Dease to take care of himself & that the Country was in a bad state, I could easily venture to say something on the subject, not from having heard it from the Indians, Is it reasonable to suppose that the Indians could be well satisfied, when they knew well that Mr Dickson came out from Mackina with six Boats, the fall before, very heavy Laden & that in the course of the Winter he distributed the most part of it to Pottawattamies, I believe, Indians attached & on friendly terms with the Americans, that they attempted even to kill him last spring (this I heard from himself) instead of keeping them for the Sauks & other Tribes of the Mississippi, who were in the road as an impediment to the Americans. this I believe was the occasion of the Americans reaching this place in June last, safe, as the Sauks got very little ammunition when a quantity was sent out, & this place left without a keg of Gunpowder for the inhabitants to defend it.

I shall leave it to the wisdom of the honourable court to find out the contradiction in Mr. Deases testimony. as to the Testimony Michail Brisbois, the court will remark that altho' on oath, he appeared not to wish to give his opinion, without it was exorted from him—

I remark on Mr. Renvills evidence that he says I told him the Americans intended to protect me—if such had been the case, could a crime be imputed to me for their so doing. He says that the Indians reproached Wabashas in being advised by me, his conduct since the beginning of the War—& principally his zeal in the business of the 6th September last at Rock River would, had I advised him, do me 29 credit. As to the American medals & flags, if he has any in his possession, it is more than I know—

I was ordered by Coll McKay to take the Scoux & strike upon the Puans & a gun was fired from the Fort as an alarm. To my great surprize Lieut Brisbois left us when the business was undecided. As to what Mr Renville says he heard from the Indians his relations, jealousy existing amongst them against Wabasha is the cause of their complaints—

As to captain Graham's declaration I certainly told him that when I would be ordered from the Garrison I would immediately go, as I am convinced that a man is not obliged to obey orders from any officer of the Indian Department, in a place where there is a Garrison & that they have no orders to receive from them, as to what I said before Mr Pullman, the court will examine I hope that I was Joking— & said that they could be shot, not knowing of anything having taken place & previous to being ordered by Captain Graham. There were but few of us & none that could have been influenced by my remark. Had I thought that Captain Graham was a spi upon me, or had I thought there was a disturbance in the Fort at the time, I never Would have made use of the unguarded expression.—

The witnesses I shall bring will I hope convince the honourable court that far from holding discourse tending to excite insurrection in His Majestys Dominions at this place I have tried to advise & conciliate every mind to be well disposed towards the British Government. I beg of the court to notice that all my witnesses are men who earn their bread by their own Labour & are not attached to me by interest or commerce. On the contrary those brought by my accuser, being mostly men who exist and subsist by him—

1st Evidence from the accused

Louis Genereux being called & sworn, the following questions were put to him.

From the accused Were you present when Colonel McKay told you or others to go strike upon the Puans, if they would not return the meat—

Answer—I heard Colnel McKay say that if the Puans would not return the meat to fire upon them—

2nd Evidence for the accused

Library of Congress

Dennis Courtois being called in & sworn, the following questions were put to him—

Question from the accused Did I not advise you to enrol yourself in the Company of Volunteers, & tell you that man property was scarce since there was a garrison here—?

Answer—Yes—

3rd Evidence for the Accused

Augustine Hebert, being called in and sworn, the following question was put to him—

From the Accused Did I not advise you and others to be submissive to the orders of the British Government, and not to impose upon the Government in the sale of produce or other things, for if the commandant perceived that such was our conduct, we should be abandoned & be without resource?

Answer—Yes you told me so and other persons told me that you said the same to them—

Question from the Court. Name one or two of the persons that told you the accused had spoken to them in the same manner that he spoke to you—

4th Evidence for the Accused

Francis Vertefueille being called in & sworn the following questions were put to him—

From the Accused. In speaking of the English Government, have I not always well advised you, & have you not always seen me inclined to the interest of Government, in advising the people to be submissive to the orders of Government, and did I not recommend to you to enrol yourself in the Company of Volunteers—

Answer—Yes you always gave me good councils and told me to be moderate in the prices; If I sold anything to Government at an exorbitant rate; it might cause us to be abandoned, for that as long as there was a Garrison here, every man could call the property he had, his own—

From the Accused. Have I not since 1813, always well counceled you in favor of the Governmrnt?

Answer—When you spoke to me on the subject you always gave me good advice.

5th Evidence for the Accused

Antoine Rey being called in & sworn the following questions were put to him—

From the Accused. Some days after the Fort was taken did Col. McKay tell you to go and tell Interpreter Rock to tell the Scoux to strike upon the Puants where they had killed the cattle?

Answer—Yes—

From the Court to Evid Who were present when Coll McKay told you so?

Answer—There were several persons but I do not recollect who—

From ditto to ditto Did you deliver Coll McKays message to Mr. Rock—

Answer—Yes—

Jean Marie Thiery being called in and sworn the following questions were put to him—

From the accused Have you knowledge that I have always recommended to Wabashas Band to listen to Mr Dickson as their Father and their protector & that I have always spoken to the Inhabitants in favor of the English government?

Answer—Yes

From the Court Do you understand the Scoux Language—

Answer—Very little

From the Court Then if you understand the Scoux Language but little how do you know that the accused has always recommended to Wabasha's Band to listen to Mr Dickson as their Father—

Answer—From having heard it through Interpreters—

Opinion

The Court having deliberately weighed & considered the Evidence adduced on both sides, is of opinion that the charges viz “Seditious words & discourse, tending to excite insurrection against his Majesty's Government, also illicit illegal & dangerous conduct towards the Indians His Majestys allies”—as proposed by Robert Dickson Esq. Agent & Superintendent Western nations against Joseph Rollette have not been proved, and the Court doth therefore acquit Joseph Rolette<sup>1</sup> of the same.—

1 The only just thing the Court could do from the evidence. It proves that Dickson was in small business as complainant and prosecutor.

Library of Congress

It appearing that the affair of 1813 between Mr Rolette and Capt Hamilton has been already heard before a Court of Inquiry, this Court have not thought itself bound to notice it

But the Court cannot refrain from noticing the unwillingness betrayed by the Evidences for the prosecution, to say what they knew favourable to the accused until it was extorted from them by questions, and it is more particularly bound to remark on the testimony of Captain Dease and Interpreter Rock, whose self contradiction is so glaring, as to call for the animadversion of the Court.—

FROM MR. ASKIN ( Indians )

It has appeared to me that Mr Dickson has in several instances shown a disposition to obtain from His Majesty's Store a greater proportion of goods than he was entitled to.

On his way to Detroit in June 1813 he applied for every article then in the Indian Store at this Post for the Indians under his command which he received (to the exception of a few articles that were retained by a special order from the Commanding officer of the Post) exclusive of all the goods & guns that were purchased in the place, & tho the same Indians got what Presents the Posts of Detroit & Amherstburg could afford they were again clothed on their return to this by order of Mr. Dickson from the goods sent up, under mark I P for the use of the Indians resorting to this, thereby causing no small M degree of jealousy & discontent in the minds of the Indians in the vicinity of this Post

In addition to the fine assortment of goods sent to the Western Indians in Autumn 1813 under mark I P the whole of the Indians who accompanied Mr. Dickson to this were I again clothed in June last, thereby reducing the quantity of Presents to which the Ottawas and Chippawas here were entitled to.

In the beginning of last summer a deputation of Ottawas were about to proceed from hence to Quebec for the purpose of laying before the Commander in Chief their grievances & Mr. Dickson's treatment & partiality but they were dissuaded from that intention by me; In my opinion the Commandant in his zeal to do the utmost that was possible for the Indians of the Mississippi in his appropriation of the Presents last fall, for the Indians of that Quarter, ordered more goods than prudence & good policy would well justify, in consequence of which the Autumn Presents which used to be invariably given to the Indians of this neighborhood were withheld, thereby running great risk of diminishing their zeal & attachment to us & perhaps of rendering them less ardent in repairing to our assistance when attacked by the enemy—

From my long acquaintance with the Indian character, I think it most absolutely necessary that their rights should be most strictly attended to, particularly those around us, for they are the natural defenders of this Post, and to efface from their minds every idea that their Interests are sacrificed to those of the Indians of the Mississippi.

MAJ. GEN. DE ROTTENBURG TO SIR GEORGE PREVOST ( War—1812 )

District Head Quarters Montreal 9th 1815.

Sir ,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your Excellency's letter of the 5th inst, and in odedience to your commands relating to information about the present forces of the enemy on this frontier, I herewith transmit the statement of Major General Brisbane by which I estimate their numbers (at Plattsburg) to amount to about 2300. "The object of Genl. McComb's<sup>1</sup> return to Plattsburg is to reinforce it "with about 800 men expecting an attack there and on their fleet at "White Hall they have in consequence converted our late ship the "Confidence into a battery for its protection—Colonel Clarks Corps "assembled near Caldwell's Mannor amount to about 300 a large "proportion of which are our deserters. I had a letter from Major "Campbell at St. John's, informing me that considerable alarm prevailed at "Plattsburg & even at Burlington from which place the inhabitants "were removing their effects—He promises me soon more accurate "accounts of the enemy's reinforcement which I shall lose no time in "transmitting to you—

LIEUT. GEN. DRUMMOND TO SIR GEORGE PREVOST ( War—1812 )

Sir ,

I have the honor to announce to your Excellency my arrival, here, a few days since.

In reference to that part of your excellency's letter of the 17th Instant, relative to the prospect of succeeding in forming at Kingston, Depôts sufficient for a particular service, so much depends on the exertions made in transport from the Lower Province, that it is scarcely possible to form an opinion at present, on the subject. But even were the Depôts at Kingston already amply supplied, I candidly confess that I entertain some apprehensions of the impracticability of the measure, from the excessive drain which is unavoidably made from thence, in the supply of Penetanguishene,<sup>1</sup> of Michillimackinac & of the Right Division—

The weather in this neighborhood has been extremely cold, which has proved a favorable circumstance, as Asst. Comy. Genl. Crookshank<sup>2</sup> has been enabled to commence transport across Lake Simcoe, upon which the ice has taken very strong—The Road to Penetanguishene will be cut completely through, the first week in next month—When Captain Collier & Mr Crookshank will immediately proceed thither—

Sir

Your Letter dated 7th Inst. addressed to the Supt. Genl. was handed me yesterday, inclosing a list of goods required for the Post of Michilimackinac and Dependencies, I find many articles therein mentioned, of which there are none in the Indian Stores—inclosed is a list of them—I presume they must be purchased from the merchants of Montreal—I dont find that any Silver works are mentioned, whether designedly or not is more than comes to my knowledge. I shall wait His Excellency's Direction as to the articles wanting—but will in mean time get made the Powder Barrels Cases &c. I beg you would inform His Excellency that I loose no time in forwarding to upper Canada the goods necessary to compleate the different Requisitions from thence and that I trust hereafter His Excellency will not find it necessary (as was the case in my predecessor's time) to employ Persons not in the Dept. to make up & send off Equipts to be transported in canoes to Mackinac thereby creating a vast expence to government, which may be avoided in future, by only allowing me but one more helping hand, with whose additional aid I should feel myself fully adequate to the task (having been many years an Indian Trader) & who would also enable me to pay more attention to the vast Depot of Indian Presents that are now in Montreal than it is in my power to do at Present & finally whose salary would be but a trifle compared to what has heretofore been payed as above stated—and if His Excellency Judges it proper to approve of the same I beg leave to observe that I have a son whom I wish to have in the Dept. under me, I intimated to the Supt. genl. my wishes to that effect, who told me that he would chearfully back any application I might make in his favor— You would confer Sir an obligation on me would you be kind enough to mention the subject to His Excellency— In mean time I have the honor to be

Prairie des Chiens 1 Jany. 17th 1815.

1 On the Mississippi above Dubuque. Named from a Fox Indian Chief known as “The Dog” who established his home there.

Sir ,

Library of Congress

I had the honor of addressing you from Green Bay on the 14th November last, and it was with much difficulty that I reached this place on the 29th of that month. The Mississippi being blocked up with ice, prevented me descending that River as I had proposed—I found Deputies here from the different nations & I have distributed the Indian Presents confided to me, in every direction, in the best possible manner. I am sorry to say that the quantity is not near sufficient for the support of the nations, who have been promised to be protected and supplied by our Government in the most solemn and impressive manner—I have at all times repeated to them, the obstructions that were in the way from the enemy, and the different operations of the war, they have untill this time believed me but I am afraid their patience is almost exhausted—Our stock of ammunition is almost expended but I anxiously look for a supply from Michilimackinac. I was but ill provided with gun Powder, and unfortunately a quantity was found damaged in the first boats sent out, a most serious loss at this time.

We have received information from various sources that the enemy had been making great exertions to invite the nations on the Missouri to join him in the spring in order to destroy those our allies on the Mississippi. Deputies from the Missouri were awaiting my arrival, but had gone off at a late season, I should have assisted these People was it in my power, but I was absolutely without the means of doing so.

Should the operations of the war allow an Expedition to go & attack St. Louis, it would be attended with the best consequences—it would annoy and distress the enemy, it would place this country in a state of security, and it would impress the Indians with the highest ideas of the energy & courage of British Soldiers—Five hundred regular Troops accompanied by two thousand good Indian warriors would fully effect the business.

A mutiny of an atrocious nature broke out in Fort McKay on the 31st ult. but was instantly quelled by Capt. Bulger, who acted with much resolution & I was happy to be at hand with the officer of the Dept. to give speedy assistance. 6

An Indian having lately killed two Canadians when they lay asleep I sent a Party to apprehend him, or to bring in the Chief of the Band—The Indian who committed the murder had escap'd, but the Chief was seized & confin'd, some time after the villain was brought in and delivered up to me to be put to death, he was tried by a court martial & sentenced to be shot<sup>1</sup> which was immediately put in execution in the presence of the Troops Militia & Indians. I think this measure will be attended with the best effect—These Indians were attached to the Americans and they have since delivered up their Flags & Medals that they received from the enemy.

I think Sir that you are aware of the necessity of having regular Troops in this Garrison after what you will hear from Lt. Col. Mc Donall I trust that he will send in early supplies—We are not in want of any single article in particular, but are really destitute of everything.

I have the honor to be with the highest respect Sir Your most obedient and most humble Servant

R. Dickson Asst. Supt. Western Nations

Lieut General Drummond Commanding the Army Upper Canada.

MR. DICKSON TO SECRETARY FREER ( Indians )

Prairie des Chien Jany 17th 1815

Sir

Library of Congress

I had the honor of addressing you from Michillimackinac previous to my departure from thence, after a tedious voyage at the close of the season, among the ice, I arrived here on the 29th Novem; You will please inform His Excellency the Commander of the Forces, that my intention was to have gone down the Mississippi, but the navigation of that river was completely obstructed, which put it out of my 43 power; On my route from Michillimackinac here to furnish the Indians with supplies, according to my limited means, & I have since forwarded the Presents intended for the Sauks & others in the Lower Mississippi. Lt. Col. McDonall retained a great portion of the Indian Presents and ammunition that was last sent up, with an idea that it should remain at Michillimackinac, to ensure a supply in the Spring; The want of Gun Powder in particular subjects me to much inconvenience, destroys the confidence of the Nations and endangers the safety of the country. in addition to the misfortune of having but a small quantity 400 lbs was lately lost in the first boats sent up, I wrote Lt. Col. McDonall from Green Bay, most earnestly requesting him to send an immediate supply, which I hope that he has attended to—It is my duty to remark to His Excellency that the quantity of Indian Presents for the support of the Western Nations His Majesty's Allies, during the war, are altogether inadequate for their protection & gives them but a poor idea of the means and powerful resources of the British Empire. I have incessantly explained to them, the extensive operations of the war & the obstructions in the way of forwarding their Presents. They have hitherto believed my promises made on the part of Government, but their patience is almost worn out. I have forwarded Sir John Johnson<sup>1</sup> a statement of the quantity of goods required with a schedule for their distribution. A circumstance lately took place here which is necessary I should explain for His Excellency's information. A Band of Sioux Indians attached to the Americans have been prohibited from receiving ammunition for their support at the special request of the other Sioux Chiefs by the officer then commanding Fort McKay Capt. Anderson untill the disaffected Indians made due submission. Notwithstanding this order was made known & promulgated, in direct violation of it a Trader M. Rolette<sup>1</sup> sent the Indians a supply of Gun Powder in the night, in consequence the two men who took the Powder were shot by an Indian who accompanied them on their way back—I sent a party of eighty men under the command of Capts. Dease & Graham, to bring in the Indian or the Chief of their Band, the Indian had gone off but the Chief was brought in & confined in the Fort—About twelve days after a party arrived, & delivered up the man who committed the murder. The Chief told me that he wished him to die—A Court Martial consisting of eight officers was held, the proceedings of which I have sent to Sir John Johnson & the sentence of the Court was that he should be shott. With the concurrence & opinion of Capt. Bulger who commands Fort McKay, the sentence was immediately carried into execution, in the presence of the Troops Militia and Indians on the 17th Inst. This is a strong but very necessary measure &

Library of Congress

1 See appendix.

44 it cannot fail of being attended with the very best effect—I trust that His Excellency will approve of my conduct in this affair. A daring mutiny broke out at Fort McKay on the 31st ult. but was quelled by the spirited exertions of Capt. Bulger—I am happy to say that the officers of the Indian Dept. were at hand to give prompt and speedy assistance—On every occasion Capt. Bulger has conducted himself with much propriety for the good of His Majesty's Service—The disaffected Indians have come in & delivered to me the Flags and Medals they had received from the Americans.

I hope that His Excellency is well aware of the necessity of having Regular Soldiers stationed in this distant part of His Majesty's Dominions & should the operations of the war permit a portion of the army to be sent to attack St. Louis, it would place this whole country in a permanent state of security, it would materially distress & humble the Enemy & it would impress the Indian Nations with the highest Ideas of the force & prowess of the British Soldiers.

From various sources we have information, that the Enemy has been exerting all his influence to excite the Nations of the Missouri to join with him next Spring in order to destroy the Nations of the Mississippi—Delegates from these Nations were waiting my arrival but had returned at a late season. I should have ordered them ample support had not my scanty supplies, deprived me of the means of giving them any assistance whatever — Another express will leave this before the navigation opens—I shall be guided by circumstances respecting my movements in the Spring. Lt. Col. McDonall has directed me to send in a body of Indians to Michillimackinac in the Spring & as early as the Lakes are practicable. I have ordered the officers of the Dept. at La Bay to collect as many as they are able to proceed immediately, but I foresee some difficulty respecting provisions to carry them in & they are all much dissatisfied with the rations they received there last year —They were positively reduced to mere skeletons & some of them unable to walk from the effects of hunger—<sup>1</sup> Their patience & moderation was most exemplary—I hope that they will never again be subjected to so severe a trial—

I have the honor to be with much esteem Sir Your most obedient & most humble Servant.

FROM CAPT. CHAMBERS UNADDRESSED ( War—1812 )

Montreal 17th January 1815

Sir .

I beg leave to submit the following circumstances for the consideration of His Excellency the Commander of the Forces and request I may be honored with his decision thereon.

Library of Congress

A few days subsequent to the surrender of Detroit Major General Brock<sup>1</sup> directed me to proceed to the Miami's Country for the purpose of dispersing any of the enemies parties, which might be lurking about.

He informed me I was to have sixty or one hundred soldiers and one three pounder. Immediately after his departure from Amherstburg. Major General then Colonel Proctor.<sup>1</sup> ordered me to proceed as Major General Brock had directed but from what cause I am to this day Ignorant did not give me a single soldier. I arrived at the foot of the Rapids with a party of Indians only Headed by Tecumthe & Round-headed.<sup>1</sup> I had previously ordered Lt Bender with a Batteau round to the Rapids, The Bateau was manned by Canadian Engagies. I then captured a quantity of provisions Which I transported across Lake Erie at Amherstburg delivered them to the Commissariat and whos receipt i hold for the provisions. my reason for entering into the details of the foregoing circumstances is to send to His Excellency the justness of the claim I am about making and I appeal to his Excellency's wisdom & whether it is just that those should share the profits who aid and participate in the dangers.

For I not only ran a very great personal risk in penetrating upwards of seventy miles in to an enemies country accompanied only by savages who would have left me upon the first alarm to seek my own safety, but I hazarded my safety in crossing Lake Erie in open craft there being no other way of transporting the provisions.

The claim I submit to His Excellencies consideration is that the provisions which I captured at the Miami's and of which I enclose a achedull may be divided between me and Lt. Bender in that proportion that our relative ranks entitle us to.

I have the honor to be Sir Your most obedient humble Servant

Sir

I have the honor to acquaint Your Excellency, that Major General Stovin<sup>1</sup> has reported to me the arrival of Colonel, The Honorable James Baby,<sup>1</sup> of the Legislative council of this Province, from the United States.

Colonel Baby states that several of our wounded have arrived nearly as far as Buffalo. He was at Presq'e Isle lately, where there are three British captured vessels laid up.—One vessel was building, but he could not learn her dimensions, or probable number of guns.—A Regiment on its route to Detroit was halted at Presq' Isle in consequence of the badness of the Roads.

I have the honor to acquaint Your Excellency, that I propose setting out, from hence, for York, tomorrow, or next day, to meet the Legislature, which is to assemble on the 1st of next month.

Sir

In reference to the latter part of your Excellency's letter of the 27th ultimo relative to the removal of the Western Indians from the Shores of Lake Ontario to the Mississippi,<sup>1</sup> I fully coincide with your Excellency in the propriety of the measure, but I am apprehensive it would be a difficult task to induce them to take the Journey— I have had a conversation with Colonel Claus<sup>1</sup> on the subject, and he conceives they will by no means accede to it—Should, however Lt. Col. McKay have sufficient influence to encourage their change of residence to the shores of Lake Michigan, I consider it would be a most desirable object & I think he might succeed—In which case your Excellency may depend on my using every endeavor to lull to rest any suspicions which might be excited in the minds of the warriors of our desire to shake them off or to avoid the fulfillment of our promises to them.

The most adviseable Route I coincide with your Excellency is by the River St. Clair & I confess I see little at present to prevent their moving in that direction.

Presents do arrive from Montreal but the difficulty of procuring transport from Kingston to this place is so very great that very few have hitherto reached thus far.

York February 16th 1815.

Sir ,

I have the honor to state to Your Excellency, that a respectable female, a Mrs McIntosh, arrived from Sandwich, at Dundas, yesterday, and reports that the Enemy about 200 in number, Cavalry & Infantry, were moving upon the Road to Delaware Town. Lt. Col. James,<sup>1</sup> on receipt of the Intelligence, under the supposition that they were advancing against Turkey Point promptly ordered the Light Company of the 37th Regiment (100 strong) to proceed as a reinforcement to Major Tilt and the Squadron of the 19th Dragoons, will also be moved in the same direction, detaching a strong reconnoitering party on the Delaware Road. Lieut. Col. James will likewise endeavour to induce 7

Library of Congress

And the light Companies of the Royals 90th 97th and De Watteville Regiments, will be ordered from Niagara to support the whole— That part of the 37th at Burlington had been pushed on to the Grand River—

Sir James Yeo<sup>1</sup> has returned from his tour towards Penetanguishene—The road is open to the River, which leads to Gloucester Bay for foot passengers, but it will be some days before sleighs can travel it.

The Commodore has given directions for the construction of two Schooners, and two decked Gun Boats or a greater number of the latter if they can be furnished by the opening of the navigation— In the meantime he has directed Captain Collier to employ People in cutting & collecting Timber for the large vessel, which I am of opinion can be completed this year, without a very great accession of strength in Shipwrights.

Sir James Yeo as well as the Commissioner, seem to think it would not be advisable to detach any Shipwrights, from Kingston to this place, to construct the boats for a particular service: lint that they can be built at the Dock yard, and, with the Seamen sent up in sufficient time. On this point I cannot agree with them, as I am convinced, from my own opinion, as well as from the information of others, that the Enemy will be in Lake Huron before our Boats from Kingston can reach Lake Erie—

TREATY

A Treaty of Peace and Amity between His Britanic Majesty and the United States of America. Signed at Ghent, December 24, 1814 .

( Extract )

Library of Congress

Article VI. Whereby by the former Treaty of Peace, that portion of the boundary of the United States from the point where the 45th degree of north latitude strikes the river Iroquois or Cataraguy, to the Lake Superior, was declared to be "along the middle of said river into 52 "Lake. Ontario, through the middle of said Lake until it strikes the "communication by water between that Lake and Lake Erie, through "the middle of said Lake, until it arrives at the wafer communication "into the Lake Huron, thence through the middle of said Lake to the "water communication between that Lake and Lake Superior." And whereas doubts have arisen what was the middle of the said River, Lakes, and water communications, and whether certain<sup>1</sup> Islands lying in the same were within the dominions of His Britanic Majesty or of the United States. In order therefore, finally to decide these doubts, they shall be referred to two commissioners, to be appointed, sworn, and authorised, to act exactly in the manner directed with respect to those mentioned in the next preceding article, unless otherwise specified in this present article. The said Commissioners shall meet in the first instance, at Albany, in the state of New York, and shall have power to adjourn to such other place or places as they shall think fit. The said Commissioners shall, by a report or declaration, under their hands and seals, designate the boundary through the said river, lakes, and water communications, and decide to which of the two contracting parties the several Islands lying within the said rivers, lakes, and water communications, do respectively belong, in conformity with the true intent of the said Treaty of 1783. And both parties agree to consider such designation and decision as final and conclusive. And in the event of the said two Commissioners differing, or both or either of them refusing, declining, or willfully omitting to act, such reports, declarations, or statements, shall be made by them, or either of them, and such reference to a friendly severeigh (sovereign?) or state shall be made, in all respects, as in the latter part of the fourth Article is contained, and in as full a manner as if the same was herein repeated.

Library of Congress

Article VII. It is further agreed, that the said two last mentioned Commissioners, after they shall have executed the duties assigned to them in the preceding Article, shall be, and they are hereby authorized upon their oaths, impartially to fix and determine, according to the true intent of the said Treaty of Peace of 1783, that part of the boundary between the dominions of the two Powers, which extends from the water communication between Lake Huron and Lake Superior, to the most North Western point of the Lake of the Woods; to decide to which of the two parties the several islands lying in the Lakes, Water Communications, and Rivers forming the said boundary, do respectively belong, in conformity with the true intent of the said Treaty of Peace of 1783, and to cause such parts of the said boundary as require it, to be surveyed and marked. The said Commissioners shall by a report of declaration, 53 under their hands and seals, designate the boundary aforesaid, state their decision on the points thus referred to them, and particularize the latitude and longitude of the most north-western point of the Lake of the Woods, and of such other parts of the said boundary as they may deem proper. And both parties agree to consider such designation and decision as final and conclusive. And in the event of the said two Commissioners differing or both, or either of them, refusing, declining, or willfully omitting to act, such reports, declarations, or statements, shall be made by them, or either of them, and such reference to a friendly sovereign or state shall be made in all respects as in the latter part of the fourth Article is contained, and in as full a manner as if the same was herein repeated.

York February 21st 1815

Sir ,

I have the honor to transmit herewith the copies of two letters I received enclosed from Maj. General Stovin, stating that a Treaty of Peace between Great Britain & the United States of America, had been concluded, at Ghent, on the 24th of Decr. last.

I have communicated the Intelligence to Major General Robinson, but have given him pointed instructions on no account whatever to permit any relaxation of vigilance or discipline amongst the Troops—and I have written to Major General Stovin to the same effect; at the same time desiring him to abstain from any offensive act of Hostility, should the Enemy's Troops observe the like peaceable demeanor—

The enclosed intelligence<sup>2</sup> is the latest received from the agent employed by M. Genl. Stovin— It is corroborated by a deserter of one <sup>2</sup> This is the answer to the questions on pp. 48, 49 about the shipping, fortifications and troops at Presque Isle, Buffalo, etc.

54 of the Rifle Regiments, with this addition that the number of Troops at Black Rock and Buffaloe, amounts to between 3 & 4000—

I have not heard any recent accounts of the Enemy's advance by the Thames— No apprehensions were entertained for the safety of Turkey Point, as the 37th Detachment there was fully prepared to receive them, aided by about 100 Militia on permanent duty; and by the 2nd Norfolk Regiment which Lieut General Ryerson has ordered out also.

I am happy to add that a number of the Huron warriors took the field with much spirit on the application of Lieutenant Colonel James—

I have this day received from Commodore Chauncey a copy of a treaty of Peace between Great Britain and the United States of America

I have reason to believe that the American Ships building at Sackett's Harbour are in a much more forward state than ours—

I therefore request Your Excellency's opinion how far it may be necessary to keep peace with the Americans and at the same time diminish the heavy expence of the naval Establishment at this Dock yard.

I should also wish to know your Excellency's sentiments as to the creating a Naval Force on Lake Erie, previous to my discharging the Shipwrights in upper Canada; and if it will now be necessary to build any vessel or Boats at Penitanguishene, on Lake Huron—1

1 Sir Yeo evidently intends to keep his shipwrights at work, peace or no peace, until he receives specific orders to the contrary.

Sir

I shall endeavor by means of a Court of Inquiry, to throw some light on the allowances claimed by Captain Dease, Grahm & Livingston—As to that of Bat & Forage, it was impossible they could have recd any, as your first authority for allowing it to the Indian Department was not recd untill the persons above mentioned had been reduced, or left Mackina. Mr. Dickson is in a similar predicament on the same account. That persons officers made many claims for Rations-Lodging Money Fuel &c. as due before I arrived at Mackina, but it was impossible to trace them with any accuracy, as he never kept any accounts not even of the immense public property which went thro' his hands.—

Respecting Capt Dease, I am almost as much at a loss as ever— You seem to have forgot that he has not been confirmed by Govmt in any Situation, & hence the difficulty I have found as to his pay or allowance—On my arrival at Mackina, he was designated as Captain of Militia at La Prairie des Chiens, & your predecessor states that he only could be allowed pay, when his Militia were serving, but as he had acted in the Indian Dept under Mr Dickson, I certified the same, & recommended pay as Captain being allowed him for that year (to 24th September 1814) which was done .

As he was stated to be a useful man, I, in Feby last appointed him a 56 Captain in the Indian Department, subject to his Excellencys confirmation: he was not confirmed because of the Peace, but he had been performing the Duty. What could I do, under the circumstances, but as before, to recommend his years pay being allowed? the allowances he claims, (& others) ought at most to have no farther retrospect than my arrival they were not, till then, promised them, or led to expect them, and no account or voucher respecting them, can now be presented in a correct shape.

As you must be desirous of finally getting rid of these claims, & as the chief difficulty is regarding Capt Dease's, I shall ascertain what may be fairly allowed him & direct the Commissary to remit the amount, under cover to you it can then be remitted to him (care of Sir John Johnson) should His Excellency sanction and approve the same.—

She brought the Dispatches which I have the honor to enclose for Your Excellency and I feel it my duty to forward them to Quebec by Express— The Seal of the Dispatches sent by Lord Bathurst to me stuck so close to the envelope of yours that in endeavouring to separate them the cover of the latter was torn to pieces— But I can with great truth assure Your Excellency that no part of their contents has been perused— And I immediately folded your Dispatches up in another envelope which I have sealed with my own seal—

I have by this conveyance received the copy of the Treaty of Peace signed at Ghent upon the 24th Decr— by His Majesty's Commissioners and those of the United States of America and Earl Bathurst informs me it is his intention to send a duplicate of the ratified Treaty to me for the purpose of being dispatched to Washington there to be exchanged with the ratified copy when it has been duly executed by the President.

Burlington March 3d 1815

Dear Sir

I have received the honor of your letter of the 25th Ultimo.—

Captain Coleman's<sup>2</sup> Troop of Provincial Dragoons have been ordered to proceed to the Lower Province without delay.—But as there has been a large Depot of Forage Collected at this Place), (of both Hay and Oats), I think it would be much better to continue the Squadron of the 19th here, than order them, or any part of them, to Kingston, on the Line of Communication, where Forage is extremely scarce, and where there will be little use for them at the present.— 8

2 Capt. Thomas Coleman, Canadian Light Dragoons.

As the 5th Regiment is of much inconvenience and distress to the inhabitants where they are Cantoned, I am anxious they should be removed from the Line of Communication, to their former Quarters.

I have sent a copy of Colonel Mitchell's communication from Sackett's Harbour. to the officer commanding the American Troop at Detroit.—

BOARD OF CLAIMS

Drummond Island March 8th 1815

Proceedings of a Board of officers<sup>1</sup> assembled by order of Lieut Col. McDonall Commanding to investigate and determine upon Claims prefer'd by certain officers late of the Western Indian Department, and that of Michilimackinac—

Captain Stephens 37th Regiment President.

Deputy Assistant Commissary Gl. Monk Ensign Moses 37th Regt. Members

The Board proceeded to investigate the claims of Captain Duncan Grahm for certain allowances of Bat<sup>2</sup> Baggage and Forage: namely as Lieut. in the Indian Department from the 26th July 1813 to the 19th July 1814 inclusive and as Captain in the same from the 20th of July 1814 to the 19th July 1815 inclusive—

Library of Congress

2 See appendix.

Lieut. Col. Mc Donall informs the Board that the Bat Baggage and Forage claims, for the period above mentioned amounting to Evidence the sum of 76£ Army Sterling he believes to be perfectly correct: and the cause of that claim being not settled at Michilimackinack, was in consequence of the Department being reduced, and the Claimant having proceeded to Montreal previous to the Receipt of the Military Secretary's Letter, first, authorizing the payment of that allowance, to officers of the Indian Department— The Board are of opinion that the claim for the Bat Baggage and Forage allowance is just; and do, therefore, admit it accordingly—

The Board are further of opinion (after having the statement of Lieut. Col. Mc Donall,) in addition to the Certificate of Lieut. Opinion Col. McKay that Captain Duncan Graham is entitled to six months Lodging Money—

The Board proceeded to the claim of Captain Robt. Livingston of the Indian Department for certain allowances of Bat Baggage Evidence and Forage Lieut. Col. McDonall informs the Board that, in consequence of that allowance having been granted to the officers of the Indian Department he conceives Capt. Livingston fully entitled to Bat Baggage and Forage allowance for the following periods—

As Lieut. 200 days in 1814

As Captain 165 " " 1814

As Do 200 " " 1815

Library of Congress

As Do 165 days in 1815

Amounting to the sum of £92-16-6 Army Sterling.—

This claim of Capt. Livingston is admitted by the Board.—

It appears that he has no claim on the Government for Lodging Money having been settled with to the 24th of July 1815 according Opinion to the Barrack Masters Statement before the Board— The Board are not aware of any further claim Captain Livingston may have on the Government —

The Board proceed to investigate the claim of Capt Thos Dease,<sup>1</sup> for pay as captain in the Indian Department from the 25th Sept. 1814 to the 24th July 1815; also Lodging money from 25th April 1813 to the 24th Sept. 1814—

Lieut. Col. McDonall informs the Board that Mr. Dease was, first, reported to him as Captain of Militia at the Prairie de Chien Evidence —and that he received the orders of the Commander of the Forces, through the Military Secretary that he was only entitled to pay and allowances as such, for the period that the Militia were embodied and that he had acted with them; which was only for a very short period— Lieut. Col. McDonall further informs the Board that in February 1815, he appointed Mr. Dease a Captain in the Indian Dept. subject to the confirmation of the Commander of the Forces; but which was not confirmed in consequence of the Peace—

This circumstance of course prevented his being included in the regular pay list of the Indian Department but as he had done the Duty of the situation for the period for which he claims pay; Lieut. Col. McDonall is of opinion that the same should be allowed to him accordingly—

With regard to the claim preferred for Lodging money: Lieut Col. McDonall is not aware of any right that he possessed to that allowance or that he had acted within the period, in any capacity to entitle him thereto; his name having not been included in the List of those who established their right to such allowances.—

The Board in consequence of Capt. Dease having acted in that capacity for the period for which he claims are of opinion, Opinion that the pay should be allowed to him accordingly. Captain Deases claim for Lodging Money from the 25th April 1813 to the 24th Sept. 1814 is not admitted by the Board—

Lieut Col. McDonall informs the Board that the following sums for Bat Baggage & Forage are justly due to Mr. Dickson<sup>1</sup> as Superintendant to the Western Indians provided the same has not been paid to him in lower Canada

To His Excellency Sir George Prevost Bart. Captain General and Governor in Chief in and over the Provinces of Lower Canada, Upper Canada, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and their several dependencies Vice Admiral of the Same &c. &c. &c.

The Memorial of the Honorable William McGillivray, Simon McGillivray, Archibald Norman McLeod, Thomas Thain, John McTavish and Henry McKenzie, Trading at Montreal under the Term of McTavish McGillivray & Company, and Alexander McKenzie<sup>1</sup> Agents for the North West Company.

Humbly Sheweth,

That early in the month of April in the year one thousand eight hundred and thirteen the Schooner Nancy<sup>1</sup> belonging to the North West Company, being ready to sail with a load of Provisions, was taken by order of Major General Proctor into the Service of Government and sent with the Armament which then went against Fort Meigs, where she was detained until the return of that Army to Amherstburg. That on the Tenth day of July of the same year she was again put in requisition by the Government and sent with the Army to Fort Meigs and Sandusky and after the return of that expedition she was detained by the Government until Captain Bullock sailed in her for Michilimackinac to relieve Captain Roberts. That she continued to be employed by Government during the remainder of the open Season and at the close of it was ordered to the Falls of St. Marie's to pass the winter. That early in the month of May last she was with her Captain and crew ordered back to Michilimackinac and the command of her given to Lieutenant Poyntz<sup>1</sup> of the Royal Navy, and in the month of August following being attacked by the Enemy at River Natua Sackie<sup>1</sup> she was then destroyed to prevent her falling into their hands.

That in order to render every assistance in their power to the Garrison and Force under the command of Lieut. Colonel McDonall at Michilimackinac, your memorialists placed at his disposal at the Head of the Falls of St. Maries, two new Schooners which had been built on Lake Superior the preceeding year in order to be brought down the Rapids whenever Government should require them.—That in consequence one of them, The Mink, of about forty-five ton measurement was so brought down the Falls and was captured on Lake Huron with a valuable cargo, by the Enemy's Squadron, and the other Schooner The Perseverance of about eighty-five ton, was subsequently destroyed at St. Maries by the American Detachment under the command of Major Holmes.<sup>1</sup> That together with the Schooner Perseverance their Establishment and all the Property belonging to Your Memorialists at St. Maries was either Plundered or destroyed to a considerable amount under the Pretence of its being Public Property.

That your Memorialists estimate the said Schooner Nancy at the sum of Two Thousand Two Hundred Pounds, and their account Allowed against Government for Transport Service performed as aforesaid, at the sum of One Thousand Four Hundred and eighty six Pounds Five Shillings—

That they estimate the said Schooner Mink at the Sum of One Thousand Pounds and the said Schooner Perseverance at the Sum of Two Thousand Five Hundred Pounds.

That they estimate their Establishment of Houses Stores and a new Saw Mill at St. Maries at the Sum of Two Thousand Five Hundred Pounds.

That they estimate their Losses in Provisions, Stores and Goods at St. Mattes St. Josephs and on board the Schooner Mink at the Sum of Four Thousand Three Hundred and thirty Pounds, Thirteen Shillings and nine pence.— All current money of this Province.

Your Memorialists therefore pray, That Your Excellency will be pleased to grant them such Relief as in the Wisdom and Justice of Government may be thought adequate to the Green Bay 15th March 1815.

Sir,

I have made arrangements for sending in the Indians, as soon as the Lake opens, messages have been sent to invite them. Mr. Lawe will take in such as may be assembled when the Ice breaks up, and Lieut Grignon will remain to take in the rest. I have provided means for subsisting them, as well as a temporary supply for their families; I think you may expect about 200 in the beginning of May,—perhaps about the 10th. A Blacksmith must, if possible be sent from Mackina, for the Indian Department at this place, otherwise an enormous expense 9 66 will be incurred, and that too without having the Indians arms perfectly repaired; the Blacksmith in this Settlement being by no means capable of putting them in perfect order. Mr. Lawe has shown great zeal, in the service of Government during the winter, and is worthy of being Promoted, and appointed to conduct the duties of his department at this place. He is, indeed one of the few belonging to the department, who are of any service.

We are much in want of Intrenching tools at Fort Mc Kay, one shovel & one spade are, I believe, all that we possess there, Iron is also wanted—On the arrival of your supplies from below, I trust you will spare us what you can. It is my duty to notice that Mr. Pierre Grignon<sup>1</sup> has shown every wish to impose upon Government in demanding much higher prices for what I wanted for the public service, than the other Traders, I think him unworthy of any remuneration for his losses. I have nominated Jacques Porlier<sup>2</sup> Esq. to act as Captain of Militia and Justice of the Peace for the place until your pleasure upon the subject be known.

MEMORANDA

Library of Congress

Memoranda delivered to Sir George Prevost at Quebec March 28th, 1815, at his particular request on Mr. McGillivray's expressing strong apprehensions the Frontier would not be properly established on the troops being removed from Michilimackinac .

The unfortunate cession of the Fort and Island of Michilimackinac to the United States by the late Treaty bids fair in its consequences to cut off our intercourse with all the southern and western Indians—for the Americans aware (from the circumstances of the late war) of the influence established by means of the Trade carried on by Canadian Merchants and their Agents resident among the Indians, will naturally use every means to prevent a recurrence of this influence, by which alone in any future contest between the two countries, the friendship of the Indian nations must be determined, and experience has shown how much the safety of Upper Canada depends upon that friendship.—With a view to those considerations the question now is, in what manner are we to avail ourselves of our remaining influence—for although it will be extremely difficult, if at all practicable, to persuade the Indians that Government have not at the Peace broken faith with, and left them, in the power of their implacable enemies—still there must be a remaining attachment, which in good policy we ought to cultivate and improve—to do this, it appears essential that some trade should be Carried on with them from Canada, and that a respectable Military Post should be established on the Frontier—at which Post the different nations should receive liberal presents of merchandize annually from the commanding officer on the station. On negotiating a commercial treaty with the United States, as they have much to ask for, it is still in the power of Government to make some stipulation by which British subjects may be permitted to carry on trade from Canada to the Mississippi and Mississourie, 68 by way of Michilimackinac, and for relieving the said trade from at least a part of the present duties, which amount to about 30 per cent on all goods imported into the United States and Indian country, and which of itself if continued would operate as a prohibition.—The protecting such a trade connected with a respectable Military Post on the Frontier would still prevent the Americans from ever alienating the minds of the Indians.—

Library of Congress

To obtain this desirable object I am of opinion that the Fort should be built immediately on the Line of Boundary and as near to Michilimackinac as may be found practicable both for the purpose of contrasting its rising importance with that place—and as affording a greater facility to the Indians coming from the Borders of the Mississippi and distant Countries to the southward. And here also the Merchants and Traders would construct Buildings and Stores for carrying on their Trade— The village of Michilimackinac would consequently dwindle away in a few Years—and that place would lose much of its importance in the eyes of the Natives.

The officers of Engineers who have visited the upper Countries were divided in their choice between the place I alluded to that is the high Islands near the Detour forming one side of that straight through which the Boundary Line must run, and St. Maries on the entrance of Lake Superior— No one ever considered St. Joseph's as an Eligible situation—St. Maries, tis true, has the advantage of being more pleasantly situated, part of the country being under cultivation, and having a certain & plentiful Fishery almost at all seasons of the year it would afford also greater protection to the north west Trade, now unfortunately the only Fur Trade remaining in Canada—but these advantages I conceive to be more than overbalanced by the station at the Detour, being 50 miles nearer to Michilimackinac, and also so much the nearer to the Indians whose friendship it is the present object of Government to secure— Besides a subaltern's detachment might be stationed at or near St. Maries—indeed, I think it would be necessary, in keeping open the communication with Lake Superior, and adding to the importance of the British Frontier— Our Frontier garrison should never have less than 150 men, and the officer in command should, independent of his Military rank, be of a character that would insure him the respect both of the Traders and Indians.—for he must needs frequently act from discretion and he is always considered the Representative of His Majesty and the Commander in Chief of the Forces. His situation is attended with a certain expense, arising from being 69 under a necessity of keeping a Table in the open season—for which an allowance should be attached to the Command—

Library of Congress

In the 1796, when in consequence of Jay's Treaty Michilimackinac and the other Frontier Posts were given up to the United States—as Government was doubtful whether the Island of St. Joseph's<sup>1</sup> might not be claimed by the United States, being nearer to the southern than northern shores, it was ordered to be taken possession of by a party from the Garrison of Michilimackinac, before the Americans could arrive. Captain Bue of the Engineers was sent up by the Ottawa River in Mr. McGillivrays canoe with orders from Lord Dorchester to examine the country between Michilimackinac and St. Maries, and report on the most Eligible situation for Building a Fort to serve as Frontier Post—In the meantime a stockade was erected on St. Joseph's and subsequently a Block-house. It became therefore by mere accident the Frontier station without its ever having been so intended by Government to be such in the first instance, or in any manner fitted for it—St. Joseph's is a very fine Island about 27 miles in length—one of a numerous group which lie in the straits separating Lake Huron from Lake Superior—It is well fitted for cultivation but very unfit for a Military station.—

If the number of men recommended should be considered too great on account of the quantity of provisions they will require—it is to be observed that the settlements of Sandwich, the River Thames and on the River St. Clair, offered Flour and Pork cheaper than they can be purchased in Lower Canada, and the Government vessels which must necessarily be kept on Lake Erie, can with little trouble transport whatever quantity may be found necessary.

Your Excellency requested me to put my ideas to paper on the most eligible station for a new establishment on the distant Frontier—I shall be happy if my suggestions can be of any use, they are founded on observation and long experience.

I have the honor to be &c. &c. &c.

COLONEL BUTLER TO LIEUT. GEN. DRUMMOND ( War—1812 )

Detroit 5 April 1815

Captain Alexander Gray of the Infantry in the service of the United States, will bear you this Dispatch.— Through his hands I shall have the honor to transmit to You copies of letters from the secretary of war and from Brigdr Gen McArthur Commanding the 8th Military District upon the subject of restitution and exchange of posts & in Conformity with the first article of the Treaty of Peace between the United States and Great Britain,

From these letters you will perceive that I have been selected by the General Commanding the District to Carry into effect on the part of the United States the provisions of the Treaty in relation to the subjects embraced in the first article of the Treaty—and in pursuance 72 of his order I have sent Captain Gray to make known to you the intentions of my Government—with regard to the Posts, Forts Malden and Michilimackinac will be transferred and exchanged simultaneously —as those two Posts are the only ones within the 8th Military District which are held adversely, and are situated at a great distance from each other, it will be necessary in deciding upon the day on which the Exchange shall be executed, to place it so far in advance as may ensure within a rational probability, that the intention of the two Governments with regard to a simultaneous re-occupation of those two posts may be effected, and when we take into the estimate the difficulty of Lake Navigation in the early days of the spring, it would seem impracticable to place the time of Exchange sooner than the 25th, May next. Captain Gray will be instructed to enter into Conventional stipulations with any officer you may think proper to appoint on the part of your Government for arranging this business, subject however to my control and revision when the Articles shall be submitted to me; or if it should be more agreeable to you Sir, I will receive an officer on your part at this place and adjust with him the time and the mode of restitution—

The officer Commanding his Britannic Majesty's forces at Michilimackinac will I presume be at once Instructed upon the subject of relinquishment of the Island—and so soon as arrangements are effected will receive an order to yield the possession of that Post to the United States.

Montreal 8th April 1815.

My dear Sir

Of the many applications for the relief of distressed persons some must necessarily escape the notice of His Excellency particularly, at this time of hurry. I am informed that a Petition from the widow of 73 the late Captain Montigny of the Indian Department was handed to you from Lieut. Col. Murray 5 Batt Militia when last at Montreal. I beg leave just to say for your information that this Lady a respectable woman daughter of Mr. Hay<sup>1</sup> formerly Lieut. Governor of Detroit is by the death of her husband reduced to a situation the most deplorable being without the means of living tomorrow and is this day called upon to quit her Lodgings, at the house of poor people who cannot afford to maintain her. You will I am sure pardon the liberty I take in making known to you this poor Lady's miserable case in the hope that His Excellency may think fit to order some provision to be made for her support. I am informed that they suffered the loss of their Effects by the Enemy when Capt. Montigny was taken prisoner at St. Regis.

MAJOR BROCK TO SIR GEORGE MURRAY ( War—1812 )

Shermans near Moravian Town , U. C. 10th April, 1815.

I have the honor to acquaint you that on my arrival at this place yesterday, I met with Captain Gray, in the 24th U. States Infantry who has been delegated by Colonel Butler, the officer commanding at Detroit, to proceed with the inclosure for the purpose of making arrangements for giving up the several posts on the Frontier. Captain Gray informs me the object of the despatch is for him to enter into an agreement with an officer duly authorized by the British Government, for giving up the Posts of Malden & Mackina on the same day. Colonel Butler, it seems, is impressed, with the conviction that the navigation of Lake Huron will not be open till the 25th of May, at which period the Colonel proposes the several Posts to be simultaneously given up—so soon as the stipulations are entered into and mutually agreed upon between the respective parties. Colonel Butler has no objections to the British troops moving on Amherstburg, and if the detachment arrives before the day of Exchange of Posts takes place ground for encampment will be assigned to them, or they may be 10 74 quartered in Sandwich, at the discretion of the officer commanding the troops.

As Captain Gray expects that I shall be impowered to enter into the necessary arrangements, he has declined proceeding further till I receive an answer to this despatch.

Library of Congress

I shall proceed on to Detroit in furtherance of the instructions I have received from Colonel Myers but as it is evident from the above circumstances, that some delay will take place before the Posts on the Frontier are given up. I propose remaining at Sandwich until I receive your further commands.

MR. MC GILLIVRAY TO COLONEL HARVEY ( War—1812 )

Montreal , 19th April, 1815.

My Dear Sir ,

I have received the honor of your communication of the 15th Instant, with the inclosures, and my best acknowledgements are due to His Excellency Sir Gordon Drummond, for his protecting care of the Interests of the Northwest Company, by giving to that concern in some measure, the means of influencing by their opinions the decision of the officers of Government appointed to fix the station most proper for the Troops to occupy as a Frontier

Library of Congress

Post, after the Island and Fort of Michilimackinac shall be evacuated, so as to afford the greatest degree of Protection to the Northwest & other Indian Trade.

From the moment the nature of the Treaty was known in this Province—this important subject has much occupied my thoughts, and on my expressing to Sir George Prevost my apprehensions that in consequence of the Cession of Michilimackinac—all the Influence of Govts. for the future, would be lost with the Indian nations, he desired I would commit my Ideas to Paper—And as the best answer I can give to the letter with which you have favored me, Conceiving also it will be acting up to the Intentions of Sir Gordon Drummond, I beg 76 leave to enclose a correct copy of the paper I wrote, in compliance with the late Governor's request.

In the opinions given it will be easily perceived that I have more in view the permanent security of the Upper Country, than any present advantage to the Northwest Company, for the trade of the Mississippi, or from Michilimackinac to the South or North, is not carried on by that concern, but I happen to think that the security of the Frontier of Upper Canada, & perhaps of the greater part of that Province depends on the Friendship of the Indian Nations, and if the British Government should unfortunately lose that Friendship, All the Tribes will be against us. Whenever it may please the Worthies at Washington to declare war, in which case no Englishman or Canadian can show his face, either in the Northwest or Southern Country—Much good management will be required in the present year to reconcile the Indians to the great disappointment they will feel on being placed by the late Treaty on so very different a footing from what they were promised all along, and as they are not to be spoken to with effect empty-handed—the supply of Indian Presents for the ensuing season should be very liberal & exceed those of any former year—a very early supply is essential & will be anxiously expected by Col. McDonall, for they are bare of everything, both at Michl. and in the Interior particularly. I would therefore take the liberty of recommending that the quantity of Indian presents originally intended should be augmented, and above all that a supply should go forward by the very first trip of the Schooners from Natua-saskie.—

In the article of the Treaty relating to Indians they are supposed to be placed as they were in 1811, as to rights & privileges —If the Post of Prarie des Chiens<sup>1</sup> is to be occupied by American Troops, it never having been so occupied before, on our leaving it—I am of opinion that the spirit of this article will not be complied with, for every Military Post established in their country certainly deprives the Indians of some of their Rights and Privileges—if these words were intended to have a meaning in the Treaty—another Post of the same kind, has been established on the Rio des Moine<sup>2</sup> not very distant from the Prairie des Chiens, and also subsequent to 1811.—

Perhaps I have entered into these matters more than it was your intentions I should have done, my wishes are that Government should have a correct statement of facts after which they can with the more facility come to a decision in such matters as relate to the Indian Countries. Any Information, I, or my connections possess on these 77 subjects—or any aid we can give M. General Drummond may freely command, at all times.

I have the honor to be with Much regard My Dear Sir Yours most faithfully

MEMORIAL OF MR. RICHARDSON AND MR. MC GILLIVRAY

Library of Congress

Montreal , 20th April 1815,

Sir :

When you did Mr. McGillivray the honor to communicate to him for the information of the N. W. Co the intention of delivering up the Post of Michilimackinac to the United States of America as speedily as a temporary cover for the Troops and stores could be erected in another situation; his feelings upon the occasion were such as to deprive him of the capacity at that time of giving full consideration to the consequences which must necessarily result from the early execution of that intention.

We therefore, being both members of the N. W. Co (although Mr. R. is not an agent thereof) and also deeply interested in the Indian Trade heretofore carried on from Michilinck., which we see is upon the point of annihilation by the late Treaty, if the preservation of Indian rights therein stipulated for, be not meant to, exclude Military Posts and Custom Houses of either nation within the limits thereby secured to the Indians; do most earnestly entreat of His Excellency, Sir Gordon Drummond, that he will be pleased to re-consider the question of delivery of the Post at Michilimc. to the Americans, unless he has an instruction, from His Majesty's Government, positively directing the speedy delivery of the Post of Michilimacknac by name , and not by general words conveying an implication that the said Post is intended.

In respect to avoiding the giving of offense to the Americans, we know them too well to believe, that it is possible to do so, if they shall feel it expedient to raise or effect to raise a pretext for seeing in any of our proceedings a wish to offend them. The surest way 78 to avoid just ground of offense to them, is to do what is just & right to ourselves and Indian allies, under existing circumstances, for there is no instance of an unnecessary concession being made to the States that did not engender a demand for a greater sacrifice on our part—therefore it is peculiarly necessary to be cautious in giving away to them upon any point, wherein a false step once made cannot be re-traced.

Library of Congress

From these considerations we hope that in giving our ideas with freedom upon the interpretation of the late Treaty respecting the Post of Michilimackinac, we shall not be thereby understood as wishing to interfere or suggest any difficulties, that may not be fairly made by our Government, and that would not most certainly be made by the Government of the United States, if the question was reversed.

There are two articles in the Treaty which bear directly upon this point—In the 1st thereof it is stipulated that “all territory, places and “possessions whatever taken from either party by the other during the “war, or which may be taken after the signing of the Treaty shall be “restored without delay &c such of the Islands in the Bay of Passamaquady “as are claimed by both parties, shall remain in possession “of the party in whose occupation they may be at the time of the “ratification of the treaty until the decision respecting the title to the “said Islands shall have been made in conformity with the 4th article “of the Treaty—and that no disposition made by this Treaty as to such “possessions of the Islands and territories claimed by both parties shall “in any manner whatever be construed to effect the right of either.”

And in the 6th Article is stipulated thus “and whereas doubts have “arisen what was the middle of said River Lake and water communications, and whether certain Islands lying in the same were within “the dominions of his Britannic Majesty or of the United States; In “order therefore finally to decide these doubts they shall be referred “to two commissioners &c &c. The said commissioners shall by a “report or declaration under their hands and seals designate the boundary “through the said river Lakes and communications, and decide to “which of the two contracting Parties the several Islands lying within “the said river Lakes and water communications do respectively belong “in conformity with the true intent and meaning of the said treaty of “1783, and both parties agree to consider such designation and decision “as final and conclusive.

There then are two Articles in contradiction to each other, for by Article 1st Michilmc should be restored without delay, as it certainly was taken during the war,—but by the 6th we ought to retain it (being an Island in Lake Huron) until the decision of the commissioners be given as to which of the Parties the several Islands in the said Lake do belong.

Now it is an invariable principle in the constructions of Acts of Parliament—Treaties—or deeds of any kind, that where any articles therein formed are conflicting in their words, the meaning, shall be taken according to the fair interpretation of the Article inserted posterior to that raising the doubt, and consequently the 6th Article overrule the 1st where apparently discordant.

In support of this idea we beg to state that as the Islands in the Bay of Passamaquoddy were made a special exception as to the operation of the general clause of restitution therein contained, so in the 6th article the Island of Michilimackinac would have been made a special exception as to the general provision contained in that article about the decision of the Commissioners respecting Islands in the River Lakes &c (Lake Huron of course inclusive) if it had been meant that Michilimc. was not to be governed by such decision.

This is further strengthened by the consideration, that although in the preamble of 6th article doubts about certain Islands only are spoken of, yet in the enacting part thereof, the decision of the Com'rs is to be as to the several Islands (meaning every Island) in the said River Lakes, &c . For it hardly requires an argument to prove, that the enacting part is to prevail against the preamble on all occasions, because the former merely gives a reason good or bad, for the propriety or necessity of a legal provision upon the matter in question, and when such provision is made, & it is to be construed by its own language—

But in order to remove all suspicion about the purity of the motives inducing the interpretation above said, as to the right of retaining the occupancy of Michilimc. as one of the Islands in Lake Huron until the decision of the commissioners be had as to the final right thereto—provided such a retention be contrary to positive instructions. Then we would beg leave to suggest that it may be proposed to, and made a condition with the Gov't or officer of the United States, that the withdrawal of our garrison from Michilimc. after the erection of temporary cover for them elsewhere, shall be made dependant upon the further condition, that the said Island shall not be occupied by any American garrison and that no British or American Authority Military or Civil of any kind especially a Custom House officer<sup>1</sup> shall exercise any jurisdiction therein from the time of the evacuation by our troops until the decision of the commissioners In this view of the subject, Saint Mary, and not the Island on the North side of the Detour should be our

80 temporary Post or station until such decision.—We know not of any measure that could have so strong an influence in reconciling the Indians to the Treaty or preserving their attachment to us as this. —

Where doubts exist they should (with such a Govt & people as the Americans) be construed in such way as to err upon the safe side regarding ourselves and our Indian allies, as if this opportunity be lost we shall never have such another in our power.

We hope that His Majesty's Government may have directed some steps to be taken to assure the fulfilment of the American part of the stipulation about the Indians, respecting the Lands whereof they have been unjustly deprived—for if not there cannot be a doubt that the American Government will continue to evade their every part of it, whilst we are scrupulously fulfilling ours.

We have the honor to be very respectfully Sir Your most obedient and very humble

P. S.—We omitted to mention one thing highly important to the trade, which is, that if His Excellency cannot delay the delivery of Michilm'c beyond the time required to erect temporary cover for the Troops and Stores—that at all events no American Custom house officer be allowed to act in any shape whilst our Garrison remains there, and we hope that His Excellency will instruct Lieut. Colonel accordingly, as nothing would appear in the eyes of the Indians so derogatory to our consequence as a nation.

COL. HARVEY TO MR. RICHARDSON AND MR. MC GILLIVRAY

Quebec 24th April 1815.

Gentlemen

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 20th and Mr. McGillivray's of the 19th Inst.; both of which as well as the Memoir which accompanied Mr. McGillivray's letter have received the attentive Consideration of His Excellency Sir Gordon Drummond, by whom I am directed to observe in reply that altho': your reasoning 81 has failed in convincing Him that the Island of Michilmackinac has ever been considered as one of the Islands "in Dispute" or that either the Letter or the spirit of the article which you quote would in fairness of construction warrant His Excellency in so regarding it, and that therefore He is not called upon by a regard to National good Faith, to "restore it without delay" Yet His Excellency influenced by a consideration for your wishes and the obvious interests of the Northwest Company which he admits to be intimately connected with those of the Indian tribes friendly to Great Britain and consequently closely blended with the interests of these Provinces and of the Empire, has been induced from these considerations to cause an intimation to be made to the officer in command at Michilmackinac, which will have the effect of delaying the surrender of that Post for a period sufficient to afford His Excellency ample time to refer to His Majesty's Government, and to receive distinct and specific Instructions on a subject which he feels to be of such importance and which His Excellency will endeavor to bring under their consideration in as grave and comprehensive a manner as he can.—

Library of Congress

The communication for Lieut. Colonel McDonall herewith transmitted, Sir Gordon Drummond confides to you the care of transmitting with all the expedition which may be practicable, i.e. by your first Canoes —and referring to that which He proposes to make to the Kings Government, His Excellency invites you to lose no time in making such representation to the same source, through your agent or connections in London as you may consider to be necessary.

Lieutenant Colonel McDonall will be instructed not to permit the Establishment of Custom Houses or any Custom House officer of the American Government to act in the Island of Michilimackinac<sup>1</sup> so long as it shall remain in the occupation of a British garrison.

MAJ. GEN. ROBINSON TO LIEUT. COL. HARVEY ( War—1812 )

Kingston April 25th 1815

Sir ,

Library of Congress

I have the honor to transmit for the information of His Excellency Sir Gordon Drummond copies of papers received last night from Sir George Murray,<sup>1</sup> who has directed me to act upon any orders or instructions I may receive from him— But as the Americans have demanded a simultaneous restitution of the Forts on the Frontier I shall not give up Niagara until I receive His Excellency's Instructions upon that head.

Sir George Murray dates his letter at Burlington on the 17th informing me that he intended prosecuting his route that evening to Ancaster, and (by Delaware) he intended reaching Amherstburg on the 24th inst unless he should receive Sir Gordon Drummonds Instructions to assume the Presidency before he left Delaware, in which he would return to York—Sir George Murray had not received any Dispatches or letters from me since he left Kingston, but as very particular orders were given to the Officers who conveyed them, I am of opinion they must have reached him previous to his departure from Delaware—

It being Sir George's opinion that a part of the 37th Regt should be moved towards Amherstburg, I have given directions to the Dep. Q. M. General to cause two companies to march as soon as the Commissariat shall be ready to supply them with provisions—The intention of this is, to expediate a movement on the part of the Indians—

I have to represent to His Excellency, that the Custom House Officers at Fort George, have taken it upon themselves to prohibit American vessels from bringing Provisions to that place in consequence of which the Troops are consuming the Commissariat Stores, although the finest Beef might be obtained at a moderate rate—the same thing was attempted here but did not succeed, and we are supplied with all the necessaries of life in the greatest abundance—

York , 27th April, 1815.

Sir ,

I have the honor to acquaint you, That I have received Instructions from Lieut. General Sir Gordon Drummond, commanding the British Forces in the Canadas, to communicate with Your Excellency, respecting the Mutual restoration of the Places in Upper Canada, captured by either Party during the late war; agreeably to the stipulations of the Treaty of Ghent.

A letter having already reached me however from Colonel Butler, Commanding the 2d Rifle Regiment of the United States, upon the subject of the mutual restoration of Amherstburg and Michilimackinac, I conclude that I am to have the honor of making arrangements with you, relative to the restoration of the Fort of Niagara.

I hasten therefore to acquaint you, that the British Garrison will be with-drawn from the Fort of Niagara, as soon as you are pleased to intimate, that the Troops of the United States are prepared to receive possession of that place; and as I am about to proceed upon a Tour into the Western part of this Province, I take the liberty of requesting that you will be so good to address any communication you may have to make upon this subject, to the Officer commanding the British Troops on the Niagara Frontier, who will be made acquainted with the contents of this letter, and directed to act in conformity to it.

I think it proper to enclose to you, a copy of my answer to the letter received from Colonel Butler, above alluded to, as it would appear by a communication coming from the King's Minister at Washington, that it had been understood, that the arrangements respecting the restoration of the whole of the places connected with the Command in Upper Canada, were to have been made with Your Excellency.

I have &c. &c.

TO SECRETARY FOSTER ( Commissariat )

Montreal 27th April 1815.

Dear Sir

We have at present on our Order book several memorandums for Stores for Officers in Garrison at Michilimackinac to be forwarded by Government canoes.

It is necessary to have some previous notice to prepare these & we wish you to inform us what steps we ought to pursue, that if the different officers remain in that part of the Country they may not be left entirely destitute.

If it would be found more expedient to forward these stores after the arrival of the fleet, it would answer our purpose better—

FORSYTH RICHARDSON & CO. TO SECRETARY FOSTER ( Commissariat )

Montreal 27th April 1815

Sir ,

Having received an order from Capt. Wardrop 81st Regt at Michilimackinac, for stores for himself and the officers, of his corps there, and requesting that we would apply to the Military Secretary respecting the transport of the same to that Post; we take the liberty of requesting to be informed, what bulkage will be allowed for him, officers & men, and by what conveyance they can be sent, and when, that we may prepare accordingly—He mentions that Col. McDonall had Written respecting 12 kegs Rum in the order, which are to replace an equal number drawn from the Commissariat Store, & which he hopes will be allowed to go up as rations to the officers, and not to be reckoned as part of the bulkage for stores above mentioned—We have also orders for stores for 85 John Askin—Indian Storekeeper &c, at Michc. Sentlow (Lentlow) Rawson<sup>1</sup> Asst Barrack Master-do. David Mitchell<sup>1</sup> —Hospital Mate do—

1 See appendix.

Library of Congress

Have the goodness also to mention what allowance of bulkage will be made to each of them—we had further orders from some officers of the Newfoundland Regt and Veterans, but presume that they will come down and consequently will not require any stores to be sent up.

We have the honor to be very respectfully Sir Your most obedient & humble Servants

York , 28th April, 1815.

Sir .

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 5th inst, addressed to Lieut. General Drummond, and relating to the mutual restoration of the places captured by either party during the late war, in conformity with the stipulations of the Treaty of Peace signed at Ghent.

Having but very recently received the Notifications of my appointment to the command of the Troops in this Province, I have not had it in my power to reply to your communication at an earlier date.

The British minister at Washington states in a despatch of the 7th of March, of which a copy has been sent to me, for my guidance, that he had been acquainted by the American Secretary of State, that General Browne would be instructed to make arrangements, on the part of the United States, for the mutual restoration of the Places in Upper Canada.—

Library of Congress

I do not however consider myself as at all precluded by the expressions of that despatch, from proceeding in the mode least subject to delay, to carry into full effect, the terms of the Treaty of Peace, communicating for that purpose with such officers of the United States as may be in command on the Frontier most immediately contiguous to the Places to be mutually restored.

I do myself the honor to acquaint you therefore, that previously to my succeeding to the command in this Province, orders were forwarded 86 to Michilimackinac, by Lieut. General Sir Gordon Drummond, upon the 28th of last month, directing the officer in command of the Troops at that Post, to make immediate arrangements for Providing temporary cover for the reception of the Troops and stores, upon the evacuation of Michilimackinac, and as soon as such accommodations could be prepared to deliver over the Island of Michilimackinac to any officer of the American Government appointed to receive it.

Instructions were at the same time forwarded to the officer commanding at Michilimackinac to lose no time in giving up the Post of Prairie des Chiens to the American Government.

As to the Post of Amherstburg, I have to inform you, that I shall order a Detachment of troops to proceed in a few days to that neighborhood; that they may be prepared to occupy the Fort and its dependencies, as soon as the troops of the United States are with-drawn, and I have directed Major Brock of the Quarter Master Gen'ls Department of this army to have the honor of communicating with you upon the Details of that arrangement.

I have &c &c

The official dispatch from Lt. Genl. You will therefore adopt instant and immediate steps for the evacuation of the Prairie des Chiens bringing with you the stores. The Guns Captured in the Fort must be sent down the Mississippi to St. Louis if practicable, if otherwise to be brought to Mackinac.

The whole of the western Ind. Department will accompany you to join me at this place.

Dear Sir ,

On the 1st Inst two American Schooners from Detroit arrived here—One of them brought Major Brocks dispatch to the Commandant of this to deliver up the Fort &c on a certain day. The few Indians that are here do not relish the Idea of giving up the Island, when the whole of them arrive & made acquainted with their sentiments I will let you know—

Library of Congress

The few Ottawa Chiefs of L' Arbre Croche<sup>1</sup> which ventured there have signified to me their intentions of removing to an Island situated between St. Josephs & Matchidash also to endeavour to get the whole of their nation to remove to the same Island with them — No arrivals from Green Bay nor Washtanong as yet. Coore is not arrived with the dispatches yet. Shangayshe left him behind. Capt. Livingston is sent by Lt Col. McDonall with dispatches to the Commander of the Forces—We are making every preparation to remove to St. Josephs & there wait untill a place is laid out for a Fortification. Have the Goodness to write me what I am to expect whether I am to be continued or dismissed & Capt L to be the senior Captn as he has been put over me most shamefully I still entertain hopes of getting my Rank. The Peace established will make a great reduction in the Dept & as I hope always done my duty with as much exactness as the times would permit of—I trust that my long services will be taken into consideration.

It would be a hard loss were I to rebuild at St. Josephs & then be turned about my business, therefore will take it as a particular favour if you would write to me your sentiments, on that head by the first opportunity—Mrs Askin joins me in best wishes for you & Mrs Claus health and Prosperity

Extract of a letter from Lt. Col. McDonall to Lt. Col. Harvey, Dep'y Adj't Gen'l, dated Michilimackinac 5th May 1815.

I visited the Ottawa Nation a few days ago and proclaimed the Peace amongst them with the usual Ceremonies, and in a manner that was peculiarly impressive; in fact, I have spared no pains to render it palatable to the Indians of this neighborhood in general, in which I have been greatly assisted by my friend Lt. Col. McKay who is so deservedly popular among them.

LIEUT. COL. MCDONALL TO CAPTAIN BULGER ( War—1812 )

Michilimackinac 5th May 1815

Sir

In my letter of the 2d Inst I communicated to you the orders of Lt Gent Sir Gor. Drummond as conveyed through Lt Col. Harvey Dy Adg Genl. for the giving up of Fort McKay to the Govt of the U. States with the guns which were in it at the time of its capture.

Tho' I have not myself yet seen the Treaty of Ghent at full length a circumstance which I exceedingly regret yet from the heads of it as stated in several of the papers there can be no manner of doubt that the Indians are to be put upon the footing they were on, before the war. There is therefore a strange inconsistency which I cannot yet account for in the order of Sir Gordon Drummond directing Fort Mc Kay to be given up to the Americans. It may have been the result of inadvertance & not recollecting that it is situated in the heart of that Country which belonged to the Indians in 1812 and is guaranteed to them by the recent treaty, should this appear to you to be clearly and unequivocally to be the case, from no demand being made for it or preparation to take possession or any correspondence upon the subject.

There then can be no doubt that the literal meaning and spirit of the treaty as understood by both Governments is that the Indian Country alluded to shall be mutually evacuated by both parties. In that case you will take immediate steps for destroying the Fort and withdrawing the garrison, taking care that the guns, gun carriages, and ordinance stores taken with the place be correctly restored to the American Govt. by the best and most convenient mode, either by sending them down the Mississippi or if that is not practicable by bringing them to be given up at this garrison, acquainting the officer commanding at St. Louis of the arrangement made.

Should the nature of the Treaty made (certainly not such as the Indians had a right to expect) excite in them such a degree of irritation and ferment as evidently to endanger the safety of yourself and Garrison, should the Fort be given up to the Americans and such a disposition on the part of the Indians would undoubtedly manifest itself, also in acts of hostility to the Detachment of the U. States troops coming to take the possession & tend to impair and interrupt the good understanding subsisting between the two nations, you will in that case on yourself and Mr. Dickson being clearly convinced of the absolute necessity of the measure, take the necessary steps for withdrawing the Garrison destroying the Fort and disposing of the Guns as before directed, taking the earliest opportunity of informing the Govt. of the U. States of the dilemma in which you are placed and of the measures, which you have been compelled to adopt in consequence.

It is of great importance that you clearly comprehend these instructions—the substance of which I recapitulate.

Library of Congress

1st. The order of Lt. G. Sir Gordon Drummond must be carried into effect, if so understood and required by the Government of the United States provided that the thing is practicable without committing to eminent hazard the safety of the American Detachment or of your own Garrison thereby having a tendency to interrupt the harmony so recently restored.

2d. Should the order alluded to have originated in mistake, (which appears probable from the nature of the treaty) & the cession of Fort McKay not be required or demanded by the Govt of the U. States, you will then on that fact being clearly ascertained destroy and evacuate the fort as before directed. Should it appear to you and Mr. Dickson distinctly & unequivocally evident, that in attempting to put the American troops in possession of Fort McKay, or retaining it for 91 that purpose, that the safety of yourselves & Garrison is thereby hazarded & that no doubt remains on your minds that it would be resisted on the part of the Indians, & also highly endanger the safety of the said detachment of the U. States Troops & have a tendency to renew hostilities between them & the Indians, the unavoidable necessity of the case will compell you to destroy the Fort<sup>1</sup> & withdraw the Garrison &c as before stated. The light three pounder, Coln McKay informs me, was solemnly presented by him to the Sioux Nation, and of course must be left with them; they should be cautioned against its falling into the hands of the Americans.

On your march to Green Bay it will be perhaps advisable to observe the utmost caution & vigilance having your- Lt three pounder mounted in one of the boats and always ready for service.

Mr. Dickson will of course render you every assistance in carrying your arrangements into execution.

I have the honor to be &c. &c.

Sir

“In consequence of what has transpired since my arrival here and what has been drawn from Col. Butler of the U.S. Service, commanding at Detroit it appears that the Isle of Bois Blanc that is immediately off Amherstburg, and forms that harbour must be decided by the Commissioners to whom it may belong. Colonel Butler has represented to his Government the great importance of that Island to them and the propriety of erecting, a work on it immediately—this they began some time since, but lately left off again. Bois Blanc is only 400 yards from Amherstburg the ship Channel and Harbour between the two. Should it be given to the Americans by the commissioners it will of course render Amherstburg quite useless to us as a harbour, leaving to us nothing but Larypain.<sup>1</sup>

“There is a channel to the westward of Bois Blanc, but from its not being so good has not been so much frequented, consequently, not so much known, and from what I can learn not so much water.

I have said nothing to Col. Butler on the subject, but he has expressed himself so far to Major Brock, and, from the manner in which he spoke of St. Joseph's to me, I am of opinion he expects that Island to fall to them too; but should the ship channel be the

LIEUT. COL. MC DONALL TO COLONEL BUTLER ( War—1812 )

Michilimackinac 6th May 1815.

On the 1st Instant, I had the honor of receiving Your letter of the 16th April, by the same conveyance, I received the first official communication from my Government, of the termination of hostilities, and of the restoration of the blessings of Peace, by the treaty concluded at Ghent.

I regret much the unusual delay which has occur'd in forwarding the original despatch from York, and which only arrived this day, as I sooner could have commenced my preparations for the evacuation of this Island, agreeable to the stipulations of the Treaty. No one can be more anxious than myself, that they should as speedily as possible be carried into execution, being aware that it is the desire of both our Governments, and will tend to their mutual convenience.

I did flatter myself, that the immediate Cession of the important Fortress of Niagara, would have been sufficient to evinced the readiness of the British Government, promptly to carry the articles of the treaty into effect, as far as was practicable at the moment and that the example would have been followed by the restoration of Amherstburg. 93 I did hope, that in Candor some allowance would have been made for the remote situation of this Garrison, the delay of intelligence, and that the recollection of the entire destruction of the former post at St. Josephs, would have suggested the necessity of time being required for completing temporary Barracks, for to shelter the troops, and magazines for the reception of the stores and provisions. An officer with a party of artificers, are now on the way for this purpose. I shall render every assistance possible to expedite the work, but I have every reason to believe, that with all our exertions, it will be near the middle of July before they are completed, and I enabled to remove the Garrison.

I subjoin the instructions of the Commander of the Forces on this Head.

“Temporary Barracks and store houses sufficient for the troops and Stores at Michilimackinac are forthwith to be constructed; a proportion of Artificers are to be sent for that purpose, and when completed, the whole of the garrison, the Guns (except such as were Captured in the place and which are to be restored with it) and the public stores, are to be removed and the Fort and Island of Michilimackinac delivered over to any officer of the American Government appointed to receive charge thereof; you will at the same time explain the causes which make it impossible for you to evacuate Mackinac until cover has been prepared for the garrison and Stores.” I have already commenced the buildings alluded to, and also the embarkation of the provisions & stores; no effort of mine shall be wanting to hasten their completion, which, should I be enabled to effect sooner than the period I have mentioned, I will not fail to give you due notice thereof, and to fix the precise day and hour when I am prepared to restore the Island to the Troops of the United States.

Bad weather and some repairs required by the schooner which conveys this despatch, which is committed to the charge of Lieut Worsley<sup>1</sup> of the Royal Navy, has occasioned some delay which it was impossible to prevent.

Library of Congress

1 Miller Worsley succeeded Poyntz on Lake Huron. Commanded at capture of Tigress and Scorpion; promoted commander 1815.

As it is customary for many Indians to resort to this place for their presents during the summer, I beg leave to recommend, that the departure of your garrison should if possible be so timed, as to enable them to land on the day fixed for the surrender of the Island—with regard to the circumstance of the Musicians which you mention, I found on my arrival here, a Drummer and Fifer both British subjects, who were taken at this place in 1812, and surrendered themselves as deserters from his Majesty's Service, to the then Commanding Officer. 94 Being both old & worn-out men, one of them Alxd. Parks, I sent last fall to Canada to get rid of a useless incumbrance, and is since discharged. The other, Redmond McGrath goes in a few days to Canada, at his own desire, to be there discharged; for your further satisfaction, I enclose his affidavit, which I believe to be strictly true; I believe there may have been a few other of His Majesty's Canadian subjects who are similarly situated, whose engagements have ceased with the war, and are of course perfectly free to follow the bent of their own inclinations.—I beg to assure you, that you will ever find me ready in the genuine spirit of candor and conciliation, to afford you every explanation you can require upon Public topics, and to strengthen as far as in me lies, the bands of friendship so happily re-established between the two countries.

MR. MONROE TO MR. BAKER ( War—1812 )

Department of State May 6-1815—

Library of Congress

Sir ,

I have had the honor to receive your letter of the 4th of this month by which you have been so good as to inform me that Sir Gordon Drummond the Commander in Chief of His Britannic Majesty's Forces in Canada, had on the transfer of the command to him by Sir George Prevost given orders for the immediate restoration of the places taken during the late war, to any duly authorized agent of the United States, but that in consequence of the destruction of Fort St. Joseph, the only shelter in the neighborhood of Michillimackinac, it had necessary to delay the evacuation of that post till some buildings might be erected on the shores of Lake Huron for the reception of the Garrison & Stores, and for which orders had already been given; that Major General Gosselin, the Commander at Castine, had advised you in a letter of the 7th of April, that he was making the necessary 95 arrangements for the embarkation of the Troops, and expected to evacuate that post in a week or ten days from that date—

As the most prompt measures were taken by this Government, after the exchange of the Ratification of the late Treaty of Peace, for carrying it into effect in every circumstance depended on the U. S. it is very agreeable to know that similar measures have been taken by your Government & particularly that you had reason to believe that Castine was evacuated in the course of the last month as early as the 20th—

I cannot but regret however, that any delay should occur in the restoration of Michillimackinac, as its detention by a British garrison may make impression on the Indian Tribes in that quarter injurious to the United States which the explanation of the agents of both governments may not be able to prevent. It was among the first acts of this Government, after the exchange of the Ratifications of the Treaty of Peace to invite the Tribes with whom the United States were still at war, to St. Louis on the Mississippi for the purpose of concluding peace with them in conformity with a stipulation in the Treaty with Great Britain. Should such erroneous impressions be made by that cause, aided by the misrepresentations of those who trade with them it is probable that some of those Tribes may decline sending deputies to St. Louis, and may likewise continue their savage war on our frontiers. To avoid a consequence so painful to both Governments, I flatter myself that the suggestion which I had the honor to make to you in a late interview, of removing the Troops from Michilimackinac to Malden will be acceded to. The necessary transportation will be cheerfully afforded by this Government, and without the slightest inconvenience. The same vessels which take the Troops of the United States to Michilimackinac, may bring back those of Great Britain to Malden.

You have not mentioned whether Fort Bowyer on the Mobile has been restored. If it has been, I shall be glad to be informed of it.

Washington May 8th 1815.

Sir ,

I have had the honor to receive your letter of the 6th Inst. acknowledging the receipt of the communication which I made to you on the 4th respecting the prompt measures which had been adopted by His Majesty's Commanders for the restoration of places captured from the United States during the late war—

It has afforded great satisfaction to learn that steps have been taken by the American Government for the execution of the article in the late Treaty of Peace which relates to the pacification of the Indian Nations & their restoration to all the possessions rights and privileges, which they enjoyed in 1811, but I cannot avoid regretting that the retention for so short a space of time of the post of Michilimackinac for the purpose which has been stated, should appear to you calculated to produce impressions on the Indians in that neighborhood injurious to the United States, and confidently trust that the fears which are entertained on that account will be proved to be without foundation.

With respect to the suggestion which you have brought forward relative to the removal of the garrison and stores in that post to Malden,<sup>1</sup> I beg leave in tendering my acknowledgements for the facility with which you have had the goodness to offer by the use of the Boats of the United States for their conveyance, to renew to you the observation which I had the honor of making on the subject at the interview to which your refer—vizt. that any questions relating to the means of removing the garrison & Stores, or the precise place to which they are to be taken in H. My's North American Possessions is so purely of a military nature & so closely connected with the internal arrangements of the Province, that I do not feel myself competent to form an opinion respecting it— I will however with great pleasure forward a copy of your letter to the Commander in Chief of the Forces in Canada, and will not fail to acquaint you without delay with whatever communication His Excellency may make to me in reply—

1 Malden and Amherstburg refer to the same place. The fort was named Malden—the town Amherstburg.

The only information which has as yet reached me on the subject of the enquiry contained in the latter part of your letter, states that early in March Rear Admiral Malcolm was left in command of Mobile with orders to embark the Troops immediately and to enjoin the Indian Nations to desist from all hostilities against the United States— 13

I perceive that accounts which are very circumstantial although in an unofficial form, have been received at Boston, that the whole of the Penobscot Territory had been evacuated by His Majesty's Forces, & that a detachment of the U. S. Army had taken possession of Castine—

“The British still keep up an active intercourse with the Indians. Recently large belts of white & black wampum have been passing through our country, with great secrecy & secret conferences holden with those chiefs, most decidedly British. So late as in April, some chiefs were told by the British agency at Michilimackinac, that the peace was but for a short time, that the Indians must still grasp firmly the tomahawk and be ready at the moment. Cadot (the same British agent who is known to have offered money for the scalps of Chadonai and Vrinice) is stated recently to have told the Indians that the fortification at Michilimackinac were all in a situation to be blown up, if at any time the Americans should go there, and that the peace was but an artifice. Much information of this tenor is passing among the 99 Indians and from time to time is reported to be, of little importance in itself but taken in the aggregate of a tendency, at all events, to show the general temper of the savages, that general temper which I have most reluctantly been endeavoring to advise you of.”

The whole expence attendant on a canoe to Michilim c cannot at present be estimated at less than £275 currency<sup>1</sup> —

There are three possible routes for the conveyance of the above, Vizt. one, by the Lakes, through Ontario Erie and Huron, which is so uncertain as to afford no prospect of Stores thereby getting up this Season, or at all events not in time to supply their present necessities—

The second route or that by York is also uncertain and as articles thereby would necessarily pass through so many different hands—Wines & Liquors &c. would suffer such embezzlement, as to defeat the object.

The third route or that by the Grand River is the only one therefore to be depended upon, and consequently would require 3 canoes if the whole 168 pieces as above stated are to go—or if the N.f.d land Regiment's allowance and the reductions mentioned be taken off, then 2 canoes will do, and in either case making up the loadings thereof with Indian presents—equal to about a half canoe load

If it be intended to send up some canoes by the Grand River with Indian Presents, the sooner that such a measure can be decided upon the better—as the preparatory steps of engaging canoemen, and various particulars incident thereto require a very considerable time.

The engaging of canoemen and equipping them, can only be done by some person habituated to the business as heretofore, who makes a charge for his trouble.

My Dear Sir ,

I beg to enclose you a letter I have received from W. Frazer<sup>2</sup> of the Indian Dept. to whose zeal and courage I must bear the strongest Testimony in justice to the service. He is, or was of that Branch of the Dept. under the immediate superintendence of Mr. Robert Dickson who thought well of him. Circumstances that I believe have not operated in his favor from the characteristic jealousy that I know pervades that wretched Department. ### LIEUT. COL. McDONALL TO SECRETARY FOSTER ( War—1812 )

Michilimackinac 15th May 1815.

Sir .

Your dispatch of the 11th of March, containing, for us, the highly important intelligence of Peace being concluded between Great Britain & the United States of America, reached me at this place on the Eleventh of this month ! !—

By it, for the first time , I was enabled to peruse the treaty at full length, it is to me a matter of great regret that I did not receive it sooner, as I have, till now, been in doubt as to several matters of much delicacy & importance. I leave you to judge whether the Indian Department at York entrusted such a despatch to proper hands , when I inform you, that the persons who took down my Letters in March, left that place Thirty days after their departure, and arrived here ten days before them! In addition to other inconveniences, such a shameful & unprecedented delay, might have occasioned (& may have for what I yet know) the loss of many lives.

My perplexity is as great as ever, as to the order, sent me thro: Lt. Col. Harvey, to give up Fort McKay & the Prairie des Chiens, to the Americans, as the ninth article of the Treaty affords the most clear & circumstantial evidence, that the great extent of Country from the Mississippi, so shamefully seized upon, by the Americans in June last , & from which they were expelled in the ensuing month, reverts again to the Indians, as it is expressly stipulated that they are restored to all the possessions, rights, & privileges, which they enjoyed in 1811. My instructions & the treaty itself, being at such variance, together with the indispensable necessity of withdrawing the garrison at Fort McKay, so critically situated, I have after mature deliberation, directed Captain Bulger to act, agreeable to the instructions herewith enclosed.

I also see with much pain (from this first sight of the Treaty) that it will be a very difficult, if not an impossible matter, to fix upon an Eligible situation for a new Post, until the Commissioners have decided whether certain Islands in the vicinity of the boundary line, are within the dominion of His Britannic Majesty or of the United States.—I have not the smallest doubt, from the usual arrogance & unblushing impudence of the latter Govt. that evry effort will be made by them to grasp what they can, that both St Joseph's & the large Island close to the Detour<sup>1</sup> (the most westerly of the Manitoulin Islands) which appeared to me very eligible for a New Post, & apparently possessing the 104 rare recommendations of a good harbor (will be claimed by them, & that at least a Year will elapse before they come to a determination.

I also cannot disguise my fears, judging from what has passed, that the places, alluded to, will also be given up. If so, it will retire us out of the reach of the Indians altogether, & give the finis king blow to whatever influence we yet possess amongst them. I conceive it to be of the utmost consequence, that His Majesty's Government, should be early apprized of this important circumstance. The surrender of this most important Island, the Key to the whole western country, & which they fully expected would have been retained by us, if followed up by that of St. Josephs, and the adjoining Islands will be to them such conclusive proofs of our disgrace, & absolute submission to the American Government that it would be most grossly deceiving ours, to hold forth the expectation of being joined by a single Indian, in the event of another war. Their neutrality is then the utmost, perhaps that we can hope for, & that is more to be desired than expected. Of this be assured, that a more terrible Enemy exists not, than a numerous body of Indians, properly managed & led on ,<sup>1</sup> in such a country as upper canada; Instead of the flattering promises, which I was so lately instructed to make to them, being realized, the Whole Country is given up. A breach of faith, is with them an utter abomination, & never forgotten; Dubious of our intentions from past events , they have in Council, often alluded to the destruction of their fathers by Genl Wayne in 1795, under the very guns of our Fort on the Miami River, & that so far from being assisted, even the fugitives were refused admittance, to save them from the indiscriminate slaughter. Such are their retentive memories as to real or supposed injuries. I leave you to judge what their reply will be, when solicited for their assistance hereafter.

I have taken every precaution to make known the news of Peace, & to put a stop to that predatory mode of warefare, which they are continually waging against the Americans. To effect this entirely among so many tribes, having such cause to hate that people, need not be expected. The Govt of the United States therefore, will soon have a fair pretext to glut their vengeance against them & gradually to root them out. They Will probably stop all Powder from going to the Mississippi (when they get this place) without which, these nations must perish in the winter; the slow but sure poison of their whisky stills, will effect the rest, and in fifty years time, there perhaps will not be an Indian left between this and the Rocky Mountains, to plague either party.

I visited the Ottaway Nation a few days ago, & proclaimed the 105 peace amongst them with the usual ceremonies. They received me with strong marks of attachment, & begged me to notice, & represent to their Great Father at Quebec, their advantageous settlement, the fertility of their fields & the comfort with which they lived.—I believe they wish to be at a greater distance from the American Garrison, & to be in the vicinity of our new Post, & yet are naturally loath to quit the pleasant abodes of their ancestors, where they are now so happy, for worse lands, yet uncleared, & in colder climate; still it is much to be desired.

Library of Congress

Lt. Worsley sailed for Fort Erie on the 8th Inst. I wrote by him to Sir Geo. Murray & also to Col. Butler Commanding at Detroit, a copy of which I enclose.

I find that the greater part of the Royal Newfoundland Detachment were enlisted only for the war; many of them are also literally worn out, from a series of the most arduous and harrassing services. In consequence of their well earned right to a respite from their toils,—I have determined to send them to Montreal, but I must again re-urge in the strongest manner to the Comr of the Forces the absolute necessity which exists for their being previously , and as soon as possible relieved by at least one strong and effective company. If we would avoid being brow beat & insulted by our powerful & haughty neighbours, and preserve in the eyes of the Indians some remaining degree of respectability such a garrison (also wanted to assist in the construction of the new Fort,) at this critical juncture, is more than ever required.

I have no further news from the Mississippi since my last.

The repairs of the buildings at St. Josephs are rapidly going on, & if necessary will soon be fit to receive the Garrison & Stores. I have for that purpose made use of the dwelling house & stores-houses of the Southwest Company, & it perhaps will be necessary to come to some agreement with Mr. Richardson on the subject; occupy them we must, if this Island is speedily given up. That Gentleman and Mr. McGillivray from their local knowledge, will be able to give an opinion how far it would be safe & prudent to consider the most Western Manitoualian Islands as ours, & at once to commence our new establishment, if in other respects it is deemed advisable.

It will be necessary to direct Mr. Crookshank to forward us provisions & some Rum; of which latter article we have none—both are necessary at this moment for the Indians, who are flocking from all parts, & must for the present be well fed and attended to.

I have the honor to be, Sir, Your Most obedt Servant

LIEUT. COL. McDONALL TO SIR GEORGE MURRAY ( War—1812 )

Michilimackinac , 16 May, 1815.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your Letter of the 28th ulto; which was delivered to me by Capt. Collier of the Royal Navy this evening. He was at the same time, the Bearer of a letter to me from Major Brock, who informs me, that, "from a conversation "I have had with Col. Butler, Comd. at Detroit, it appears that the "Col. in the Month of Feby., & again in March last, communicated to "his Govt. his intention of occupying Bois Blanc, at the time of his "delivering up Amherstburg, & proposing to fortify the same, from "the conviction that the Island belonged to the United State. Col. "Butler (he adds) has not yet received an answer from his Govt. but "in case none should arrive, previous to his evacuating Amherstburg, "he informs me that it is his intention to occupy the Island in question "with troops of the United States.

Agreeable therefore to your instructions I shall suspend the evacuation of this garrison, until further orders.

I have every reason to believe that similar pretensions will be set up by the American Government, not only to the Island of St. Joseph's but to several others in its vicinity of great consequence to us, as probably affording the only eligible situation for the establishment of our new Post, in Fact, Colonel Butler hinted as much to Cap. Collier, & these pretended rights, have before been With them, the subject of frequent discussion. That they will claim them I have scarcely a doubt, and should the commissioners be obstinate, it will be no easy matter for the Sovereign umpire to come to a speedy decision upon the subject. This renders it so necessary that we should be well assured, not only of our right to the Islands in question, but that the commissioners will be so likewise before we finally determine upon the situation for the proposed Fort. Should they also be ceded, it will retire us altogether from the Indians, & give the finishing blow to whatever influence we still possess amongst them .

From the apirit & obvious meaning of the treaty of 1783, they are unquestionably ours, & I trust that on this subject, the Government will be inflexible.

The large Island close to the Detour (the passage of which it commands) appears to me from what I have yet seen, the most advantageous for a new Post, but I fear it is one of those that will be claimed. It is the most western of the Manitoualian Islands 107 (and 27 miles in cir. Lt. Worsley (R. N.) reports favorably of the harbour, which will be minutely examined in a few days, by Capt. Collier. That officer can give me no intelligence of Capt. Payne, whose arrival at this garrison, I have for some time expected.

Library of Congress

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of Your Excellency's Letter of the 4th Inst. enclosing a copy of a communication of the same date, addressed by you to Mr. Baker, His Majesty's charge D' affairs at Washington, on the subject of the restitution of the Posts of Niagara and Michilimackinac—

I have received also a letter from the D. A. General, dated on the 3d inst. requesting that no further delay take place in the restoration of Fort Niagara to such officer as the United States Government may appoint to receive it.

I shall avail myself of the earliest opportunity to transmit copies of your Excellency's communications above mentioned, to Lt. Col. McDonall for his guidance, although I observe that a copy of your letter to Mr. Baker has been already sent to him from Quebec.

As to the Fort of Niagara, no delay has as yet taken place in the restoration of it, and none is to be apprehended as I have this day forwarded to M. Genl. de Watteville a copy of the D. Ajt. Generals Letter on the Subject, also alluded to—

I have the honor to enclose copies of the only communications which I have myself addressed to the officers of the United States on the subject of the mutual restoration of the Places taken during the late war—These letters were written on my receiving your Excellency's 108 Instructions on the subject, communicated to me by the Dy. Adjts. General letter of the 6th of April—

I avail myself of the present opportunity to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from the military Secretary, dated on the 1st of May, transmitting for my information a copy of Your Excellency's Dispatch to Earl Bathurst of the 25th ultimo, stating the steps you had taken to protract the restoration of the Island of Michilimackinac to the United States, and enclosing a correspondence between the Dy. ### LIEUT. COL. MCDOUALL TO SIR GEORGE MURRAY ( War—1812 )

Michilimackinac 17 May 1815.

Sir

From my letter of yesterday's date, it will be evident how difficult a matter it at present is to comply with the orders of Lt. General Sir Gordon Drummond, in fixing upon an eligible situation for a new Post, in our own territory , at a period when such sweeping claims are likely to be made by the American Govt., & when some years may elapse before a decision is pronounced upon them.

I have represented this to Lt. General Sir Gordon Drummond accordingly, & would be much gratified at receiving additional instructions for my guidance upon this subject.

In the meantime, the repairs of the buildings at St. Josephs, are in such a state of forwardness, that they will be soon capable of giving shelter to the Troops & Stores, when necessary, part of the latter, and the most of the provisions, have been already sent there.

The Indians whom I had directed to assemble here, for the defence of the Island, are flocking in from all parts.<sup>1</sup> Bitterly disappointed as they are at the treaty of peace, it is more than ever requisite that they should (while here be well fed, well clothed & indulged with their Customary allowance of spirits—of the latter article, Rum, we have none and an additional supply of flour & pork, will soon be necessary from Mr. Crookshank.

1 see appendix.

Our issues will soon be a thousand rations a day, which will not be in my power much to diminish, until the arrival of their presents enable me to send them away. I trust those destined for this Post, by the way of York, are forwarded, being never so much required as at this moment.

I have the honor to be Sir Your most obedt Servt

I have discharged that part of the Company of Michigan Fencibles doing duty in this garrison, the greater part are on the Mississippi & will be disbanded on their arrival here.

Tim Indian Dept of this garrison, and that of the western Indians under Mr. Dickson, continue still upon the war establishment, until I receive your orders thereon.

LIEUT. COL. McDONALL TO SECRETARY FOSTER ( War—1812 )

Michilmackinac 17 MAY 1815.

Sir

I have the honor to acquaint you, for the information of Lt. G. Sir Gordon Drummond, that Captain Collier of the Royal Navy, arrived at this garrison last night, being the bearer of a despatch from Lt. General Sir. Geo: Murray, & also a Letter from Major Brock at Sandwich.

By the former, I am directed by the Lt. General, that should certain rumors prove true , that the Americans, are evacuating Amherstburg, meant to occupy and retain possession of the adjoining Island of Bois Blanc (& of the truth or falsehood of which, I would be apprized by Major Brock), I am in that case, to suspend the evacuation of the Island of Michilimackinac until further orders, notwithstanding any instructions to the contrary, which I may have previously received.

Major Brock having accordingly communicated to me, the avowed intention of Col. Butler to occupy the Island in question with the troops of the United States on the evacuation of Amherstburg, I have therefore acquainted Lt. Genl. Sir Geo: Murray that I have suspended the evacuation of Michilimackinac agreeable to his orders.

From some hints thrown out by Col: Butler in a conversation with Capt. Collier R. N. there cannot be a doubt, but that these very modest & unassuming Gentlemen mean also to lay claim to St. Joseph's & perhaps the most westerly of the Manitoualian Islands. If granted (which cannot be possible) we lose the Indians, & the only eligible situation for the new post.

As Capt. Payne has not arrived, nor can I hear anything of his motions, I trust that by the time he joins me, I shall have received the instructions of the Commander of the Forces, As to the Islands above mentioned, & whether I am authorized to establish the new Post upon each of them, as may appear to us to be most eligible for that purpose.

I have the honor to be Sir Your Most obdt, servt.

Colonel McDonall being about to send off an express for York, I avail myself of this opportunity of acquainting you of my arrival at this place yesterday, but find that Col. McDonall has not determined 111 upon any post as yet to remove the Garrison to, Neither does he know how to act, until he may hear from Sir George Murray in answer to a dispatch he has previously sent off; as St. Joseph as well as the western Manitoulin Islands he expects will be disputed by the American Government, some of the stores have been removed to St Joseph's, but the Colonel does not intend sending anything more there for the present, and has notified to Colonel Butler of the United States Service at Detroit, that it will be out of his power giving up this Garrison before the middle of July.

As I find Lieutenant Winkfield (Wingfield) with his Schooner here, I shall leave this for St Joseph's and thereabouts, in her, the day after tomorrow, but fear it will be long before anything will be finally settled for the Establishment of the new post, as the Islands of most importance to us are those that will be disputed by the United States. SIR GEORGE MURRAY TO LIEUT. GEN. DRUMMOND ( War—1812 )

Fort George , 17th May 1815

My Dear Drummond

I find by a letter from Major Brock addressed to Col. Myers that he states that the Americans had begun to erect works upon the Island of Bois Blanc, subsequently to the Ratification and Publication of the Treaty of Peace, but that they had again deviated from their works. I expect however to have, in a day or two, a full explanation from Major Brock upon this subject, in reply to a letter I wrote to him before I left York.

The Treaty does not authorize either power to appropriate to itself Islands that formerly belonged to the other, until the commissioners 112 have determined the line of the limits of the two powers, and if the American officer Commandg on the Detroit Frontier attempts to retain Bois Blanc, I think an explanation should be made on the subject through our Minister at Washington. To whom the Island will ultimately belong I cannot tell, but it appears to me that it will not answer to adopt strictly, either the principle of the ship channel being the boundary or that the actual middle of the water being the line. In my opinion there must be a principle of mutual accommodation adopted, and that a supposed right must not be insisted upon, on one side, when it leads to nothing else but a positive and conclusive detriment upon the other.

Believe me faithfully yours G. Murray

My Father ,

I am sorry to tell you that the chiefs who were sent with your Speech, to the Pattawattimies and Kickapoos have returned, for this reason, I heard that the British had invited them to their country, and that they were gone.

My Father ,

I listen with pleasure to your Speech. It would be unnecessary for us to go to the Kickapoos & Pattawattimas, knowing they would tell us nothing but lies.

My Father .

You know that the Kickapoos & Pattawattimas told you at Vincennes, that they had sent an Express to their nations for you, and that they expected to meet the express at Fort Harrison. They told you a lie.

My Father ,

I believe that the British have sent for the Indians to inform them that peace has been made between the United States & Great Britain,

INDIAN SPEECH ( War—1812 )

Extract of a speech from Labossier<sup>1</sup> to Judge B. Parke (Parker) dated May 18th 1815.

My Father ,

A party of twenty eight Ottawas and Pattawattimies passed my camp, I endeavoured to turn them back, but they would not listen to me,

My Father ,

You and the British have counselled together, and you are the proper person to settle the disputes.

My Father ,

The Ottawas and Pattawattimies who passed my camp told me that they were informed by the British that by the Treaty they had made with the United States, the Americans had given up all the country as far as the Ohio River, and they were angry to see the Americans planting corn so far in their country and that the British were bringing to Mackinaw presents for the Indians; that the British wanted no help from them, but told them to do as they pleased. Those Indians said to me, "My Brother, what do you do here. Pecon your chief is on his way to the British at Mackinaw, and here is the wampum from your Father the British" I told them I could not accept the wampum from the British, that I wished to be at peace with all nations. I gave them two strings of wampum telling them that if they saw any of my young men, to treat them kindly. These Indians also told me that the British were ashamed of the peace they had made with the Americans, but that they would soon be strong enough as they had four vessels, laden with arms and ammunition coming to Mackinaw, that the Indians had the British, French, Dutch and Negroes at their backs to assist them. That there Were several parties of hostile Indians out, and as soon as the country got dry, there would be many more, for the purpose of killing the white people.

MR. CLAUS TO SECRETARY FOSTER ( Indians )

York 22nd May 1815

Sir ,

Library of Congress

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of 2nd Inst, and to transmit herewith a proposed establishment for the Indian Dept. of this Province; a return of officers & others whose services I think may be dispensed with, and a return of Interpreters whose age and Infirmities renders them totally unfit for further service. One of them, Simon Girty,<sup>1</sup> was in the year 1795 included in an order for Pension, a certified copy of which I now transmit.

His Excellency Sir Gordon Drummond may probably think the number proposed to be retained for the Amherstburg Branch too great, I must therefore state, that I think the services of Capts. Billy Caldwell & Wilson<sup>2</sup> very necessary, they being men of worth and influence with the Indians—great exertion will certainly be necessary to keep the Indians in good humor, as the American Agents will no doubt use all their art to detract them from the British Government. Altho' I have not insisted upon the proposed establishment the names of Capt Matthew Elliott<sup>1</sup> and Alexander McKee whose youth and inexperience prevents their rendering very essential services at present, I think it necessary to mention that they are sons of the late Colonel Elliott & Capt. McKee<sup>1</sup> which with their connection with the Shawnese Nation will give them a good deal of influence with the Western Indians. I would then beg leave strongly to recommend that His Excellency will be pleased to continue them upon the Establishment. Amable Chevallier an Ottawa Chief was appointed by His Excellency Sir George Prevost a Lieut in the Indian Dept. of this Province; but as he regularly resides in the Lower Province & receives his pay there, I have included his name in those who are to be struck off the Returns of the Dept. in this Province. There being no Blacksmith for the Fort George Branch of the Dept & one being insufficient for the Amherstburg Branch i have inserted in the proposed Establishment the Pay of one for each, leaving blanks for the names to be filled up when the appointments shall be made.

You will observe that the Michilimackinac Branch is not mentioned 116 I must wait until I receive a return om Mr. McKay to enable me to say who it may be proper to retain in each Establishment.

LIEUT. COL. JAMES TO SIR GEORGE MURRAY ( War —1812)

Sandwich 29 May 1815

Sir

I have been honored by Your Letter of the 18th last month, since which my communication from the Thames would have apprized you of my intention of moving down here, which I did on the 22d and have been joined by a good many Indians, however many of them have been induced to proceed to their homes from the different points of the Thames which lay nearest, and as those who have gone were supplied with seed corn I am in hopes much benefit will accrue.—I am informed that the number who intend to come here, and through this place, where they propose to have a Council will amount to about 600.—I am also informed that there has been much negotiating between several of the Tribes to purchase ground from each other without effect.

I have great pleasure in confirming the best understanding to continue between Colonel Butler & myself and I beg leave to report to you that he has informed me of having Received the Orders from His Government to occupy Blois Blanc and that Guns and Stores are actually now removing from Amherstburg to that Island. I have not 119 been at Amherstburg but I am assured from undoubted authority that, that Post is Completely

Commanded by Blois Blanc.—Colonel Butler could not conceal his surprise at having Received an express from Washington on Saturday last, forbidding the disbanding of the Provincial Corps of Rangers, stationed at Detroit, or any other soldier whatever. It is with much regret at Detroit, or any other soldier whatever. It is with much regret that I inform you of the Desertion of three men of the 37 Regt and also three more of the Miners, & what makes this evil the more vexatious, is, that there are such artful lures held out to the men, but in such a manner as to leave it almost beyond the power of detection, however by the stationing a few Indians who have taken up improper characters after hours I have for the present deterred the men from holding communication with all strangers.—I proposed a Mutual delivery & return of all Deserters which was not acceded to by Colonel Butler, on the plea that the Civil power would proceed against him.—I have had a public building here known by the Schoolhouse, fitted up by permission of the Magistrates as a Barracks<sup>1</sup> Capable of holding 130 men, it is built of Brick and Capable at any time of being made a temporary Defence, a the shortest notice.

Since I had the honor to commence this communication the matter contained in the accompanied papers, No. 1. 2 and 3 has occurred and which I lose no time in forwarding.

From conversations which I have had with Col. Butler and other officers of the American Army I consider it my duty to inform you that an impression of a very strong nature has been left upon my mind that it is the intention of that Government to proceed to open rupture with the different tribes of Indians at no very distant period—The language of Col. Butler on this head was not to be mistaken, and as far as regards our obligations towards those People I consider this communication necessary, although only my own Opinion.

I herewith enclose sundry documents recently received from Judge B. Parke, who acts as Deputy Indian Agent at Vincennes, Fort Harrison, &c.

Extract of a letter from Judge B. Parke, deputy Indian Agent at Vincennes to Governor Parey dated 18th May 1815.

"I believe that the chiefs who were here were sincere, and had they been left to themselves would have complied with their agreement I now think it doubtful, for when they returned to their own country they found a message from the British of which I informed you in my last.

"I have just received a talk from Labossier, a copy of which is enclosed. It is a mixture of insolence & truth, & strongly corroborates the information already communicated to you. British Agents & British Indians are exerting all the means in their powers to excite distrust and divisions amongst the Savages.

Detroit 31st May 1815.

Sir.

I have the honer of informing you that a dispatch will be forwarded from hence addressed to the officer commanding the Post of Michillimackinac upon the subject of restoring that Post to the United States, pursuant to the stipulations in the first article of the Treaty of Ghent.

The delay which has taken place in relation to the execution of that important article which provides for the restoration of all posts and places taken from each other during the war has operated a great inconvenience to the United States; and with every disposition on the part of the American Government to accommodate, I am nevertheless instructed to say, "that the execution of this important article of the Treaty cannot be much longer postponed."

It will be recollected that an exchange of the ratifications of the Treaty of Ghent was made more than three months since, and With a continued readiness on the part of the American Government to comply with the terms of the Treaty in respect to the restoration of posts and places, and with the desire to do so manifested by the proposition already submitted and urged upon the subject; this object which should be so desirable to both parties remains unaccomplished.

Having been informed by Lt. Gen. Sir George Murray that Lt. Col. McDonall has been invested With full powers to act in this matter so far as related to Michilimackinac I have thought proper to address a communication to Lt. Col. McDonall direct.

I beg leave to inform you that the vessel bearing my dispatch to Mackinac shall be detained for six hours, and that the Agent of the Government who is made the bearer shall take charge of and deliver any communication you wish to make to the officer commanding at Michilimackinac.

Sir

Herewith I do myself the honor to forward you a copy of Colonel Butler's letter to me and which I lose no time to lay before you particularly as its should in my opinion not remain unregarded. I shall forward the original without delay to Lieut. Genl Sir G. Murray.

I arrived here with a detachment of the 37th Regiment on the 22d Inst. and have taken possession of this country with the exception of the opposite and works of Amherstberg which the Americans still retain possession of—

I have been through a private channel informed that the works of Niagara was restored to the American Government on the 22d Inst. however I mentioned it as Report having heard that it and Mackinac were to be restored at the same time, and that Amherstburg would be in like manner, and on the same day restored to the detachment under my command. —I had also understood that the cause of delay on the part of our Government in not delivering up Niagara and Mackinac at a more early period was the intention manifested by the American Government to occupy the Island of Bois Blanc, which so completely commands Amherstburg, and which I am informed the Americans are now actually conveying Guns &c. to, for that purpose.

It may be necessary for me to acquaint you that I have not received any instructions, in any official matters regarding this part of the 123 country, consequently anything which is herein related is merely my own opinion & circumstances not of an official nature; however eventually necessary for your information.

COLONEL BUTLER TO LIEUT. COL. McDONALL ( War—1812)

Detroit 1 June 1815.

Sir

A communication from the Department of War of the United States addressed to me and received on yesterday, has made it my duty again to communicate with you and to request a definitive reply to the question. At what period and on what day will the Island of Michilimackinac be restored to the United States? And to assure you Sir at the same moment, that with every disposition on the part of the American Government to accommodate, it is proper that the execution of that important article in the Treaty of Ghent relative to the restoration of posts and places captured by either party during the late war should not be much longer postponed.—More than three months have elapsed Since the ratifications of the Treaty of Ghent were exchanged, and although every disposition on the part of the United States has been manifested for executing that Treaty, still the accomplishment of an object that should be so desirable to both parities has been delayed and avoided on the part of the Government of Great Britain.

Library of Congress

As I have understood from Lieut. Genl. Sir George Murray Commanding the British Forces in Upper Canada, that you have received full instructions and ample powers in relation to the restitution of the Island and Post of Michilimackinac, I have deemed it best to communicate with you directly upon the subject and not circuitously through another channel. The Squadron of the United States destined to transport the TroopS and Stores intended for the Garrison of Mackinac is now in Detroit River and will remain for that purpose untill I shall have the pleasure of hearing from you on this subject. In your letter to me of the 5th Ultimo. you fell into an error when you supposed that the Fortress of Niagara had been restored to the United States; I shall add no other remark upon that part of your letter than merely to state, that Niagara was occupied by your Troops as late as the 20th ultimo. Con tiding in the assurance which you have given me of your disposition to aid in strengthening those bonds of Amity so happily restored between the people of the United States and Great Britain and with an assurance on my part of acting under the influence of the same spirit,

I am Very Respectfully Sir Your Most obedt Servant A. Butler Colonel 2nd Riflemen

1 The matter of levying duties on the supplies being taken by this officer to the new British post on Drummond Island was a singular instance of custom house fervor. The supplies were being transported by an American schooner. Captain Payne had no desire to land these supplies in Detroit, but wished them hurried forward to his destination, pp. 236–7. As Drummond Island was confined to the United States by the treaty commission the matter of restitution was dropped by the British government in 1817, and Payne was reimbursed for his outlay.

MR. MONROE TO MR. BAKER ( War —1812)

Department of State June 3 1815

Sir

I have had the honor to receive your letter of the 24th of May stating that the Commander in Chief of His Britannic Majesty's Forces in Canada had found some difficulty in obtaining the restitution of Fort Malden from the officer commanding the forces of the U. S. at that Post, complaining of that delay in consideration of the prompt measures adopted by the commanders of the British Forces for the restitution of the several places captured from the United States, with the exception of Michilimackinac, the restitution of which had been delayed by a cause, the nature of which had been fully explained to this Government, and you request that an order may be issued for the immediate restitution of fort Malden to any person who may appear duly authorized to receive it.

You state also that some hesitation having been showed as to the execution of the order for the restitution of fort Niagara, in consequence of the difficulty found in obtaining the restitution of Malden, the British Commander in Chief in Canada had renewed his order for the immediate restitution of Niagara, and had likewise given an order to the Commanding officer at Michilimackinac to expedite the evacuation of that Post.

The conduct of the United States since the peace has afforded sufficient proof of their sincere desire to execute with perfect good faith all the stipulations of the late Treaty, and to preserve and improve the pacific relations so happily restored between the two nations. As soon as the ratification were exchanged, measures were taken for executing promptly every act the performance of which was enjoined on them, and other measures were likewise adopted founded on a state of peace which would not have been adopted had not full confidence been entertained that your Government would perform all its engagements with equal good faith, and was equally desirous of preserving and improving the existing relations between the parties. As these measures are of public notoriety, and of a marked character, I need not enumerate them.

It is true that in giving the order for the restitution of Malden, the Commanding officer at Detroit was instructed to make that act simultaneous 127 with the restitution of Michilimackinac. As those posts are intimately connected by the relation which they bear respectively to the Indian Tribes, it was deemed important to the U.S. that the surrender of each to the Government to which it belonged should be made at the same time. As peace was still to be concluded with Indian Tribes in that quarter the surrender of Malden before that of Michilimackinac, even for a short time, might it was apprehended, induce those tribes to form an improper opinion of the conditions of the Treaty which had been concluded between the U.S. and Great Britain, or of the intention of the parties as to its execution, from which serious injury in either case was anticipated. Against these consequences it was sought to guard.

You will I am persuaded be sensible that this order for the restitution of Malden, was in strict conformity with the Treaty, and that if any delay has occurred in the restitution of that post, it has proceeded from that attending the restitution of Michilimackinac.

As it appears however, by recent intelligence received here that Niagara has been restored, and as you state that new orders have been given to expedite the evacuation of Michilimackinac, I am instructed by the President to assure you that an order shall be issued for the restitution of Malden, without making that act dependent upon any act to be performed on your part. The delay attending the restitution of Michilimackinac was not anticipated or contemplated when the first order in relation to the restitution of Malden was issued. After the explanation which you have given, that delay cannot it is presumed be protracted much longer, and will form no motive with this Government to postpone the execution of any stipulation which the U.S. are bound by the Treaty to perform. But if the immediate surrender of Malden unaccompanied by the counter surrender of Michilimackinac, should be found likely to involve the American frontier in Indian hostilities, I persuade myself that you will perceive in the prospect of that occurrence a sufficient reason for Mutual accommodation as to. the periods of surrendering Malden and Michilimackinac. The American Commander will therefore be directed to surrender Malden immediately to the British officer, who shall be authorized to receive possession of that post, unless the menace of Indian hostilities should be such as renders it necessary for the safety of our frontier citizens to suspend the surrender until the British troops shall be ready to evacuate Michilimackinac. In that case he will be directed to confer or to correspond in a friendly and confidential manner with the British Commander upon the subject and to make every arrangement, consistent with the single object in view, for completing the surrender.

With great respect and consideration I have the honor to be &. &. &.

Michilimackinac , 14th June 1815

Sir

As I am immediately setting out for St. Josephs I have only time to acknowledge, & to thank you for your Letter of the 31 inst.

Pressed as I am for time, so much yet to be done, & the means of effecting it so little, I have been not a little annoyed at the uncommon delay of Capt. Payne in reaching this Garrison. It has not been lessened by his losing a Sergt and nine of his Artificers out of fifteen by desertion. We are still worse off for materials than for workmen, and even some of the most necessary tools, we only received yesterday from Nattawasaga. Even the very boards & plank that we require, we have to saw, There being none to be purchased so situated—with such difficulties to encounter, & the progress made with our Barracks and Stores even slower than I hoped for, how is it possible as yet to name a day for the surrender of the Post, especially as my instructions say, that it is to be given up when they were completed .

Library of Congress

In compliance, however, with Lt Genl Sir Gordon Drummonds re-iterated orders, the utmost exertion we are capable of, are now making to expedite the evacuation of the Island, & I trust I shall be able, from personal observation, assisted by Capt Paynes opinion, to satisfy Col Butler upon the subject on my return from St. Josephs.

We have had (& still have) so many Indians to feed, that I have been obliged to bring back some of the provisions from St. Josephs, & 132 likewise some stores, sent there by mistake not having at that time seen the treaty. There has been a great delay in forwarding the Indian Presents, both those by the Grand River, and those by York-It is unfortunate, as I cannot get rid of the Indians until they are arrived.

I am happy to hear that part of Your Rt. is to relieve the New found'd Detach't whose engagement have ceased with the war.

Sir

I had yesterday the honor of receiving y'r Letter of the 1st Inst. I regret much that it is not yet in my power to name the day when I shall be prepared to restore this Island to the Govt of the United States.

I must candidly own, Sir, that I have found the task of preparing shelter and accommodation for this Garrison & Magazines & Stores for the ammunition & provisions,

Library of Congress

not a little arduous, & in consequence of our almost total want of means, slower progress has been made than I expected. Six weeks have scarcely elapsed since I first beard of the conclusion of peace, & when it is considered that we were without tools, plank or boards—very few Carpenters, & the officer & party of Artificers who were purposely despatched for the Completion of the buildings alluded to having only arrived yesterday, I trust that the difficultys which I had to encounter will be duly appreciated, & the delay admitted to be unavoidable.<sup>1</sup>

With regard to the powers with which I am invested, the extract which I communicated in my last, exhibits their full extent. I recapitulate the substance of them.

“When the temporary Barracks, Storehouses are completed , then the whole of the Garrison Guns stores &c are to be removed, & the Island 133 is to be given up. Lt. Genl. Sir Gordon Drummond has since instructed me to use encreased exertions in completing the arrangements (for its evacuation) & has also very recently instructed me, (thro' Sir George Murray) “to apprize the Comg officer of the 8th Military Division at Detroit, whenever I am prepared to deliver up the Post .”

From this Frank disclosure of my instructions, you will easily perceive that the part which I have to act, is plain, simple, & not to be mistaken. It is of course unnecessary to remind a soldier, with what precise fidelity they must be obeyed. I have only to repeat that I shall most sedulously devote my attention towards accelerating what yet remains to be done. I proceed tomorrow for St. Josephs, with Captain Payne for that purpose—it is my wish to be as correct as possible in naming the day for the surrender of the Garrison in order that the Indians (now waiting for their presents) may previously take their departure & shall immediately communicate to His Excellency the Comr of the Forces your last despatch.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated 21st May, it has been twenty days on the way. I am sorry it came so late to hand as by that means I had no opportunity of using my influence agreeable to the wishes of Sir George Murray to settle the Indians at the places you mention in your letter.

From Delaware I informed you the proceedings of our Commanding Officer which was contrary to the usage of Indian affairs we were drawn down by Colonel James contrary to my wishes—if I had been left alone to manage the Indians with the assistance of the Officers of the Department the Indians should still have remained at the River Thames and planted corn; which would have enabled them to provide for themselves 134 in the way of provisions, in the course of three months from hence but here are the Shawnies Kickapoos & Socks who are brought down to the place and the Govt will have to provision them till next spring. In consequence of the Interference with our Dept. the Govt. is now at present feeding upwards of 1,900 persons at this Post and its vicinity, this would have been avoided had not the Commanding Officer interfered.

The Indians who are now here are not permitted to go across the River to hunt as formerly, it is out of my power to mention the arrangements which may have been made between Colonel James & Colonel Butler respecting them, Colonel James having made no communication to me on that subject—the Indians to know the cause of this impediment—I expect large parties of Indians daily from the Northwest to pay their respects to their Father. I now wish you will give me every advice on this subject to give me an opportunity in acting with those people, or whether I am to act at all, the reason I mention this is,

Colonel James has been the Storekeeper and Supt. of Indian Affairs since on our way to this place—I am now at a loss to proceed while we have so inimical a man as Col. James to command.

Before the receipt of yours I had prevailed on the Muncies, Moravians & 600 of the Chippewas with the Buffalo the former to plant corn at Moravian Town, the Latter at the Chenail Ecarte, these people are provisioned monthly at Dolsens, Newark is planting on Fighting Island with three hundred and eighty seven Ottawas, the greater part of the Hurons remained at the Grand River.<sup>1</sup>

We are much in want of the Indian Presents particularly the Ammunition and Tobacco.

As you are well aware that from the age and long services of Timothy Murphy, he is unable to do the work necessary in repairing the arms &c of the Indians I beg you will give me an authority to employ Alexis Theophile who was formerly in the Dept. as a Smith.

I also ran down the pay lists from the 25th Apl. to the 24th June 1815, which you will please do the needful and send them back by the bearer of this, who will wait for your orders.

Michilimackinac , 24 June 1815.

I have the honor to acquaint your Excellency that the New Post on Lake Huron<sup>1</sup> has been at length fixed upon by Capt Payne, R. Engineers (who arrived here the 13th) Capt Collier R. N. & myself.—The situation combines several important advantages, viz:—an admirable harbour proximity to the Indians,& will enable us to command the passage of the Detour, giving our vessels the double advantage of a good anchorage in that strait in addition to the fine harbour adjoining.

The ground fixed upon for the New Post, & which was best calculated for the protection of the Harbour, is very rocky, and will be difficult to work; To carry it out with the spirit and expedition which the times require, a very strong Garrison will be necessary, or great assistance in Masons, Miners, & Labourers from below. The work (to restore the drooping spirits of the Indians) should exceed this Island in strength, and I trust it will be Commenced with such ample means, as will afford a fair prospect of its being successfully completed.

It would be highly desirable if some of the 24 Pounders (long) were forwarded from Lake Simcoe this summer or fall, otherwise it will be June next, before any of them can be received.

LIEUT. COL. McDONALL TO SIR GEORGE MURRAY ( War—1812 )

Michilimackinac 24 June 1815

Sir

I think it of great consequence, immediately to appraize you of intelligence, which was only made known to me yesterday, in case it should not previously have come to your Knowledge.

Colonel Miller (Millar)<sup>1</sup> of the American Army had left Pittsburg, on the Ohio, with Four Hundred men of the 17th U.S. Rt (to be reinforced at Newport) to 600, for the open and avowed purpose of descending that river, & proceeding up the Mississippi, to take possession of La Prairie des Chiens; their intention, it appears, was not confined to the seizing of that Post, but also to establish another Fort in the heart of the Country of the Winnebago and Fallsouoine Indians, tribes most strongly attached to us, and who have proved it by repeatedly destinguishing themselves in our cause in the late war; this proposed Fort (to be erected in the neighborhood of Green Ray) subdues them at once, and for ever cuts off all communication with us.

1 See appendix.

It being also the intention of the Americans to re-occupy Chicago, there cannot be the smallest doubt that on their being put in possession of this Island, the whole of the Western Indians, are completely hemm'd in, thoroughly in the power of the Americans, & their assistance in any future war, hopeless, & not to be expected . On the contrary, they will perhaps, only escape the vengeance of that Nation, on condition of their acting against us.

I now beg leave to refer Your Excellency to the 9th Article of the treaty of Ghent, & submit it to your better judgment, if this sudden invasion of the Indian Territory, is not a flagrant violation thereof. It states, that the Indians are to be restored to all their rights, possessions & immunities as before the war . The Americans for the first time seized upon the Prairie des Chiens in June last. Previous to the war, they had no Post on the Mississippi farther advanced than Fort Madison, about four hundred miles to the southward of the Prairie des Chiens.

Nothing can therefore be more evident, than the Americans have no manner of right to the Prairie des Chiens<sup>2</sup> & the intervening Country; that their attempts to do so, is a manifest breach of the treaty ( if the report can be depended on , which I am much inclined to believe) & calculated to sever us from those Allies, who so faithfully adhered to us during the war, whom the enemy on many occasions found so formidable, & who have implicitly relied on our repeated assurances of protection & support, and who have particularly been lead to believe that their remaining lands , & possessions, are secured to them, by the King their Father , by the late Treaty.

Library of Congress

2 McDouall contests American possession of Prairie du Chien assured of Indian support in claim.

This situation of affairs places me in a most awkward predicament, Ignorant as I am of the views of Government, & how far it is intended to abide by our promises to the Indians, or totally abandon their cause, I of course, find it a matter of no small difficulty how to advise them on this occasion. The chiefs of the different nations, have also 18 138 been invited to repair to the Portage de Sioux, near St. Louis, on the 6 of July next, to ratify the Peace, but should the expedition, under Col. Miller (openly avowed at Pittsburgh, to be for the purpose of occupying the Prairie des Chiens) prove to be correct, little doubt remains on my mind, that the intention is, to seize upon the respective chiefs, as hostages, & then they would assuredly accomplish their object without opposition.

It is not easy to foresee how the Indians will act on this occasion, & it is too delicate a case for me to advise them. They know that this Island (the Key to their Country) is to be given up, & that it leaves them but little hope of being supported by us—This will paralise their exertions—It is therefore probable that they will resist the attempt at their subjugation, but at the same time, prove an easy conquest.

I therefore submit it to Your Excellency & and also to His Excy. Sir Gordon Drummond (to whom I communicate these matters via the Grand River) how far this bold attempt of the American Government is consonant to the late Treaty—how far it can be tolerated without compromising our good faith with the Indians, or how far it indicates a spirit of aggression & hostility, calling upon us to be on our guard.

I have likewise the honor to acquaint Your Excellency, that in pursuance of my directions, Captain Bulger evacuated the Prairie de Chiens on the 23d of May, destroying Fort McKay, bringing in the Guns to this place; finding it impossible to send them to St. Louis. He arrived here on the 19th inst. & reports to me that his little garrison would have been in eminent danger, & not permitted to return, had be delayed his departure a few days longer, as the Indians were assembling, & decidedly opposed to his leaving the Country.

I have the honor to be Your Excellency's Obedient Servant Rt. McDonall Lt Col.
Commandg

P. S.—Your Excellency is of course, apprized that I have been instructed by His Exy the Comr of the Forces, to retain possession of this Island, till the pleasure of His Majestys Ministers be known. Col. Butlers last communication on that subject, was in a very authoratative tone, accompanied with indirect threats & demanding, on what day the Island would be given up. The substance of my reply was, that I was only authorized to surrender the Island, when the temporary barracks & stores, for the reception of the troops & provisions, were finished , & that from unexpected obstacles, it was impossible for me then to name 139 the day, but that I was making every possible exertion to get them completed.

I am now obliged to issue 800 rations a day to Indians & their families, and not an article in the Indian stores to enable me to send them away. Provisions also (& no small quantity) should be immediately forwarded. The small schooner now on this Lake (having so little stowage) cannot bring us the third part of what we require—what is forwarded to us, by way of York.

Your Excellency from this Letter will perhaps, be of opinion with myself, that even the Peace has not materially lessened my difficulties I entreat Your Excellencys interference, in forwarding the Indian presents, stores, and provisions, so much required.

Michilmackinac 25, June 1815.

Sir ,

I have this moment had the honor of Your Excellency's Letter of the 30th May, with its several enclosures upon the subject of the restoration of this Island. I shall take immediate steps for the speedy restitution thereof, in conformity to the instructions you have transmitted, and purpose despatching a canoe to-morrow for Detroit, acquainting the officer commanding at that place. That on the day of July it shall be given up to such officer of the United States Troops as may be appointed to receive the same.

I must confess to Your Excellency that it has not been easy for me to reconcile the various orders I have received on this subject, as what I had the honor to state in the postscript of my letter of yesterday will show. The dispatch however of Yr Excellency received this day sanctioned also, by the Letter of Major Foster, leaves no doubt on my mind that every exertion is to be made by me to expedite the evacuation of this Post.

From the General tenor of the enclosures transmitted me by Your Excellency, I am more and more convinced in my own mind, that a comprehensive, deep laid, & well digested plan has been entered into by the Govt of the U. States, & in part acted upon, finally to separate 140 us from the Indian Nations. Their Anxiety to gain possession of this Island; their wish to remove our garrison to Malden, so conveniently out of the way; their invitation of the Indian Chiefs to St. Louis, in my opinion to facilitate, and render easy, Col. Miller's occupation of their country; their tempting offers to our discharged interpreters of the Indian, all, in my mind corroborate the opinion. Grieved am I to say, & trust in God I am no prophet, that, from all appearances, the complete success of their schemes appears to me inevitable.

The order for sending down the Compy of the 81st naturally adds not a little to the discontent of the detachment of the RI Newfoundland Rt. Detroit 25 June 1815

Sir

In the many conversations which have passed between us in relation, to the Mutual Restoration of the Posts of Malden and Michilimackinac, I understand that the delay which may attend a simultaneous execution of this object will operate inconveniently to your command and adversely to the interests of your Government. I have the honor now to make known to you that by a late Communication from the War Department, I am Authorized to enter into such arrangements with the officer commanding the troops of His Britannic Majesty on the frontier, in relation to that subject, as shall promote your convenience and accommodation and fulfil in good faith on the part of the United States, the provisions of the Treaty of Ghent in relation to the restitution of Territory, posts & places.

For the final adjustment of this interesting subject, I beg leave to propose and submit for your consideration and concurrence the following stipulations and arrangement.

1st. Col. Butler proposes and agrees in the name of the U. States, that he will on or before the 1st day of July next ensuing, withdraw from the Post of Malden and Amherstburg all of the Troops of the U. States now stationed there, and on that day restore in full sovereignty to Lieut. Col. James of his Britannic Majesty's Forces or the officer appointed by him to receive the same, the above mentioned post of Malden and its dependencies.

2d And Lieut Col. James in like manner on the part of his Government engages that the Civil Supremacy of the Island of Michilimackinac shall be restored to Colonel Butler or the officer appointed by him to receive the same within three days after the arrival of the United States vessels at anchorage of Michilimackinac; and that all civil officers under the Authority of the United States, shall be in the full exercise of their functions thereafter.

Library of Congress

The American Troops that proceed in the above mentioned American vessels to Garrison the Fort of Michilimackinac shall be permitted to land and encamp on the most convenient and eligible ground for that purpose in the discretion of the officer commanding the American Troops; and the full and complete restoration of the Post and Island of Michilimackinac shall be made to Colonel Butler or the officer appointed by him to receive the same, on or before the fifteenth day of 142 July 1815, on which day at latest, the flag of the United States shall be hoisted at the Fort of Michilimackinac and the Troops of his Britannic Majesty withdrawn from the same.

In relation to the Isle Aux Bois Blanc about which there exists a difference of opinion as to the right of Possession and of Sovereignty, the United States and Great Britain each claiming that Island as part of their Territory; I would suggest and propose to you: That I will withdraw from the occupation of the Isle Aux Bois Blanc the Troops of the United States now stationed there, and suffer the same to remain vacant, upon your assurance that no possession on your part will be taken, and the Island suffered to remain vacant untill the Title to it shall be decided and settled agreeable to the Provisions contained in the Sixth Article of the Treaty of Ghent.

As I am satisfied that the spirit of accommodation which has dictated the arrangement now submitted and proposed on my part, will be met by a corresponding influence on your part, I am in hopes that the tenure of your general instructions and the extent of your power, will authorize you to meet and accept the proposition I make in respect to the Isle Aux Bois Blanc , and I am fortified in this expectation when it is discovered by an inspection of the Treaty of Ghent in the Sixth Article thereof, that the Boundary line between the United States and Great Britain, from the 45 degree of North Latitude to Lake Superior running through Lakes Ontario, Erie & Huron, and the Establishment of the Title to the several Islands lying on the straits connecting the Lakes aforementioned, is all to be settled by commissioners to be named for that purpose, and moreover because the peculiar situation of that Island heretofore, in relation both to the right of Territory and the possession, precludes the Idea of its being a subject of restitution as part of Territory, a post or a place captured from Great Britain during the late war; but on the contrary has ever been considered and claimed by the United States as a part of her own Territory, the possession of which was accidentally lost, without acquiescence on our part in the Title obtained by the adversary from such accidental possession.

I use this occasion to repeat to you that I am

It has just been reported to me that two vessels have arrived at Amherstburg with stores and men of the 37th Regiment on board; I cannot better point out the necessity of my arrangements with Colonel Butler, than my informing you that until Amherstburg has been restored, the stores &c on board of those vessels, or any others that may arrive, must remain on board until the the 1st of July, at a heavy expense, or else brought up here and landed, subjecting the same stores to a re-embarcation for Malden, and further, that the

Sir ,

I have been honored by your Letters of the 14th instant, and regret that it had not been in your power to comply with the orders of His Excellency Lieut General Sir Gordon Drummond, at a more early period, by delivering up the Post of Mackinac to the United States. This regret I feel the more as the Post of Amherstburg has been retained, with great inconvenience and a heavy loss to Government, until the post of Mackinac should be restored to the American Flag.

On this subject I beg leave to inform you that I have entered into an agreement with Col. Butler of the United States, Commanding at Detroit, who has agreed to restore Amherstburg and its dependencies, on or before the 1st day of July, on the following Terms, and to the full and entire completion of which I beg to call your compliance as most decidedly necessary to the British Government—

“ Proposed and acceded to ”

Colonel Butler, on his part, will deliver up the Post of Amherstburg and its dependencies, on or before the 1st day of July next, to Lieut: Col: James.” Lieut: Col: James engages that the civil supremacy of Mackinac shall be delivered over to Colonel Butler,<sup>1</sup> or such officer as he may name, within three days after the arrival of the United States vessels at anchor off Mackinac.”

The American troops that proceed in the above named vessels, are to be permitted to Encamp in the most convenient ground until the final restoration of the Post of Mackinac, which Lieut Col: James has assured Colonel Butler would be put in possession, and the Flag of the United States hoisted, on the 15th day of July next, or as soon and before the within named day as is practicable and Lieut Col: James has every reliance in the full compliance of Lieut: Colonel McDonall to every part of this mutual arrangement.—

As I am very desirous of sending of Capt. Mockler with the least possible delay, I, for the present content myself by transmitting to Your Excellency copies of my dispatch to Sir George Murray of the 24th inst., which sufficiently elucidates the state of affairs in this quarter:

In consequence of His Excellency's despatch of the 30th of May accompanied by several enclosures from Major Foster pressing the restoration of this Island to the Americans, with the utmost expedition, I this day dispatched a Lieut. of the Indian Department to Detroit to announce to Col. Butler, that the restitution thereof, to the Govt. of the U. States would take place on the 15th of July. I of course propose removing the Garrison to St. Joseph's, there now being accomodation nearly sufficient for the troops in consequence of the removal of the Compy of the 81st which departs tomorrow for York the order I duly received yesterday, & that for Captain Mockler to go down, a short time preceding.

Library of Congress

There is apparently no certainty of receiving dispatches with the requisite speed, however important.

We have had, & still have great numbers of Indians & their families on the Island, who are rapidly exhausting our provisions, without being able to send them away, not having for some time had an Article in the Indian Stores. It is on many accounts very unfortunate. Before the presents arrive, the Island will be given up, and the only opportunity lost of sending them to the Mississippi. Critically situated as I know we are with them, together with the deep plotting of the Americans to seduce them entirely from us, I have found it a duty incumbent upon me to purchase what I could from the Merchts to send to the Western Indians & prove to them they are not forgotten. Indeed we are daily obliged to make purchases in the same way, in order to send off & lessen the number of those to be fed.

Captain Payne is busily employed in preparing to transmit Your Exy a plan of the proposed Fort & Harbour: the latter is excellent—the former will be well situated for protecting the harbour, & a battery close at hand will command the Detour—the ground however is very rocky & difficult to work. Capt. Payne states, that at least 300 men a day would be required to make any progress; few, or none can be 19 146 hired here, & a company of men, taking their duty also, could effect nothing.

A PROTESTATION

United States of America Territory of Michigan .

By Anthony Butler, Colonel of the Second Regiment of Riflemen, in the service of the United States of America, and now commanding the said Territory of Michigan, in behalf of the United States of America, a protestation,

Whereas by the definitive Treaty of peace concluded between the United States of America, and his Majesty the King of Great Britain and Ireland, at Paris on the third day of September in the year one thousand seven hundred and eighty three it was stipulated by and between the said parties, that the boundary between their respective dominions should run through “the middle of Lake Erie untill it arrives at the Water communication into the Lake Huron” as by the 148 said Treaty, reference being had thereto, will more certainly appear, and whereas the British commandants at Amherstburg in the Province of Upper Canada subsequent to the day of the date of the said definitive treaty of Peace, and anterior to the Declaration of War, by the said United States of America, against his Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, on the eighteenth day of June in the year one thousand eight hundred and twelve, a war at this present time concluded, did occupy and cause to be occupied, by a British force the Island at the embouchure of the River Detroit, opposite the Town of Amherstburg, usually called and known by the name of “ Isle au Bois Blanc ” and whereas during the pendency of the said war between the two parties, the said Fort of His Britannic Majesty called Fort Malden, and the Town of Amherstburg, and the said Island called Isle au Bois Blanc and all their respective dependencies came into the possession and Military occupation of the United States of America, and now on this day, the date of this present instrument of writing and protestation, so remain in the possession and military occupation of the United States of America, and whereas by the first Article of the Treaty of Peace between the United States of America, and his Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, made and concluded at Ghent, the twenty fourth day of December, one thousand eight hundred fourteen, it is stipulated by & between the said parties that, “all Territory, places, and possessions whatsoever, taken by either party from the other during the war shall be restored,” and whereas in pursuance of the said Article the United States of America, are about to restore the said Fort and Town, and dependencies, to his Britannic Majesty that is to say on the day of the date of these present, and his Britannic Majesty is about to restore to the United States of America the Fort and Island of Michilimackina, and its dependencies, that is to say on the fifteenth day of this present month, and whereas the communication by Water from Lake Erie to Lake Huron passes between the said Island of Michilimackina, and its dependencies, that is to say on the fifteenth day of this present month, and whereas the communication by Water from Lake Erie to Lake Huron passes between the said Island of Bois Blanc and the main land, the same being the main ship channel and whereas by the sixth Article of the Treaty of Ghent aforesaid, commissioners are to decide whether this, and other Islands, are within the dominions of his Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and whereas the president of the United States of America anxious to preclude the slightest degree of doubt with respect to the good faith of the United States, in the execution of the said Treaty, has directed me the undersigned, Colonel as aforesaid, commanding as aforesaid to remove all the forces and 149 property of the United States, from the said Island of Bois Blanc, leaving the same entirely vacant, the same being uninhabited, and at the same time to reserve the rights of the United States of America to that Island, such as they may be, unimpaired; and to protest against the possession or Military occupation of the same by forces of his Britannic Majesty; Now, therefore; in consideration of all the premises aforesaid, Be it Known to all men, and remembered, that in restoring Fort Malden and its dependencies to his Britannic Majesty, which I this day do, the same Island of Bois Blanc is not considered or admitted to be one of those dependencies, but the rights of the United States of America to that Island, such as they may be, are considered to be reserved and retained, unimpaired, and I do solemnly protest against the possession or military occupation of the same, by the forces of his Britannic Majesty, as well in relation to the time which is past as to that which is to come.

In testimony whereof, I have signed these presents with my proper hand, and have executed three original autographic instruments of one and the same purport, of which this is one, one of the same to be delivered to the officer, now commanding the forces of his Britannic Majesty at Fort Malden, one other to be transmitted to the Secretary at War of the United States, and one other to be deposited with the Governor of the Territory of Michigan.

Done at Detroit in the Territory of Michigan on the first day of July in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and fifteen and in the Independence of the United States of America the thirty-ninth.

Library of Congress

I do myself the honor of making known to you the purport of a conversation which passed between me and Major Morgan of the United States Troops.

"Lt Colonel James I have waited on you by desire of Colonel Butler "to express his surprise that so many Indians should continue to "be fed and retained by your Government, and he wishes it to be "made known that the smallest infringement on their will be considered "by His Government as an Act of Hostility on the part of the "British; and above all Colonel James Colonel Butler desires it to be 151 "particularly understood that neither Arms or Ammunition is on any "account to be given to the Indian Tribes.

On this occasion I replied. Major Morgan the nature of your Message "is such that I must request that you will desire Colonel Butler "to be so good as to make His Communication by Letter which I will "convey to my Government, but in its present shape I can have nothing "to do with it.

Major Morgan observed that he would make known my wishes to Colonel Butler and said I dare say Colonel James you will have his answer in the morning.

I beg leave to inform you that a week has now elapsed and I have heard nothing more on the subject

MEMORIAL

To Field Marshal His Royal Highness the Duke of York, 1 commander in Chief of His Majesty's Forces &c. &c. — — —

Library of Congress

1 See appendix.

The memorial of Lieutenant Andrew Bulger<sup>2</sup> of the Royal Newfoundland Regt. of Fencible Infantry, late commanding at Fort McKay on the upper Mississippi with the local rank of Captain.

2 Captain March 1, 1815.

Humbly Sheweth

That Memorialist has been reared eleven years in His Majesty's Service the whole of which time upon a Foreign Station; he is a Lieutenant of nine years standing, and was lately honored with the command of a Detachment employed on the upper Mississippi—

Your Memorialist now takes the liberty of particularizing his services throughout the late American war in the anxious hope of their meeting with a gracious consideration—

Part of the Summer of 1812 Your Memorialist served on board His Majesty's vessels and Gun boats on the Lakes Ontario and Erie, during which time he had been often engaged in offensive operations along the American Coast.

At the time the American Army under General Hull threatened Amherstburg the late Major General Sir Isaac Brock allowed Your Memorialist amongst others, to volunteer his services for that quarter, he in consequence reached Amherstburg early in the month of August, and had the honor of sharing in all the operations which ended in the Capture of Detroit, Your Memorialist was the Senior Lieutenant employed at the reduction of that place, and in every affair which occurred in that part of the Country prior to that Event.

Your Memorialist was employed during the winter of 1812 on the Niagara Frontier under the command of the late Lieut. Col. Bishopp,<sup>3</sup>

3 Col. Cecil Bisshopp, mortally wounded July 11, 1813; buried at Lundy's Lane.

Library of Congress

157 a station particularly harassing from its proximity to the Enemy's posts. On this Service your Memorialist was for four months without taking off his clothes.

In the month of May 1813 when a formidable force of the Enemy threatened Fort George with an attack, the Detachment of the Royal Newf'dland Regt. to which your Memorialist belonged was ordered down to assist in its defence, and was amongst those Troops which opposed the landing of the Enemy on the 29th of May and suffered severely. Its remains accompanied the Army on its retreat towards Burlington Heights, and on the 6th June, during the action at Stoney Creek, formed part of the Reserve under Lt. Col. Bishopp Bishop.

In the month of July following your Memorialist was ordered down to Kingston having in charge American Prisoners of war, on his arrival there he was ordered with a Detachment of his Regt. on board Commodore Sir James Yeo's Squadron, where he did duty as a Marine Officer the remainder of the Summer, having been during that time in four different actions with the Enemy. On laying up the Squadron at the close of the Season he was appointed at the request of Sir James Yeo, who had been pleased to express himself satisfied with your Memorialist's conduct when on board to command a Detachment of 150 men stationed for the protection of the Dock Yard on Point Frederick, in which command he continued until the month of February 1814, when he was Selected as one of the officers of a Detachment of his Regt. ordered to proceed by a new and difficult route under the command of Lieut. Col. McDonall, for the relief of Michilimackinac, as to his conduct during the arduous and perilous voyage from the River Nottawasague to that place, your Memorialist will leave it to Lt. Colonel McDonall to speak.

Your Memorialist was stationed on the Island of Michilimackinac from May to October 1814. He was present at the repulse of the enemy on the 4th of Augt. and on the 3rd and 6th Septr. following, he commanded a Detachment of 50 Rank & File of the Royal Newf'dld Regt. which with 17 seamen under the command of Lieut. Worsley, captured by boarding two American armed schooners which were stationed near Michilimackinac for the purpose of intercepting the supplies of the Garrison, on this service your memorialist received a slight wound.

In the month of October following Lt. Col. McDonall was pleased to appoint Your Memorialist to proceed, with the local rank of Captain, to assume the command of Fort McKay on the Mississippi, and he accordingly left Michilimackinac on the 29th of October, although in a state of ill health, to perform a voyage of six hundred miles in a Batteaux, 158 and after a month of extreme peril and privation arrived at Fort McKay having several times narrowly escaped destruction.

Your Memorialist during his stay on the Mississippi, although surrounded by every difficulty, never ceased to labor for the public good so anxious was he to prove himself worthy of the confidence reposed in him by Lt. Col. McDonall that he undertook, during the winter a journey of near Four hundred miles thro' a wild and uninhabited tract with the sole view of rendering a service to his country, an object which he may with confidence say he never lost sight of, as all his actions will show, and Memorialist flatters himself that had the war continued surrounded as he was by the numerous and warlike Tribes of the Mississippi, all heartily disposed and inclined to our cause, he might have been able to have rendered an important service to his country, by creating on the Upper Mississippi a powerful diversion in favor of the Army serving on the Lower, but the sudden peace frustrated his hopes in that respect.

Your Memorialist therefore most humbly submits this statement of his service, and prays your Royal Highness will be pleased to take them into your gracious consideration, and grant him promotion.

(Signed) Andrew Bulger lieut. R. Nfd. Regt.

Michilimackinac 5th July 1815.

LIEUT. COL. McDOUALL TO SECRETARY FOSTER ( Commissariat )

Michilimackina'c , 9th July 1815

Sir ,

I have before been under the necessity of repeatedly representing to Mr. Commissary Crookshank, the scandalous depredations committed invariably upon every species of His Majesty's property, whether of provisions, spirits, cloathing, Powder shot, guns, Tobbacco &c &c. The losses thereby sustained call loudly for an immediate remedy. I mean to make no charge, neither can I take upon myself to say who are the guilty. I have reason to believe that many are concerned in the shameful spoilations from the very period they leave York untill their arrival here Many cases Barrels &c arrive here half empty—some wholly so, & filled with dirt.

The Commissary at York should be answerable that every article is shipped unpillaged and in good condition, but that is effecting nothing, unless the Vessel or vessels on this Lake are under the Qr M Gl, then regularity might be hoped for & they prove of infinite more use. At present the Naval officer, will take charge of nothing—give receipts for nothing, alledging their previous deficiency—of course all is confusion, & bills of lading a mere farce.

If Rum is sent for the use of this post, they keep what they please for themselves;<sup>1</sup> draw what provisions they please here; what they please at Nottawasaga—No check that I know of—they also frequently break in, on what is consigned to the Commissary. In fact, my opinion is, that the sailors consider all public property as fair game, & it is too diverting a game for them to relinquish.

Library of Congress

This Post is to be given up on the 15th & I am at my wits end how to get the 4th part of our things removed. The Provisions, Guns, Shot, &c &c, I could not under the former orders, remove with prudence. Greatly as we want Indian Presents from Nottawasaga, I sent an express to withdraw the Surprise from that duty, to assist us—but too late

One Vessel under the orders of the Comg Officer, would effect infinitely more service, at a fourth part of the expence, & H. Ms. Stores, under proper regulations be safely delivered.

I hate the honor to be Sir, Your Most Obedt Servant Rt. Mcdouall , Lt. Col. Commandg.

Major Foster .

COMMODORE OWEN TO LIEUT. GEN. DRUMMOND ( Provincial Marine )

St. Lawrence Kingston 10th July 1815

Sir ,

I am extremely sorry that any inconvenience is likely to arise, for want of Vessels upon Lake Huron; and still further that Lieut Colonel McDonall did not express the probability thereof to Captain Collier 160 from whom I have had a letter since his arrival at Mackinac which I transmitted to Your Excellency in my letter of the 13th June, where no allusion has been made to such an inconvenience being probable.

The other Schooner formerly upon Lake Huron is employed as I believe I have already stated with Capt W. (F. W.) Owen, making the surveys which have been ordered.

With respect to the Indian presents I am happy in being able to assure Your Excellency, that no inconvenience will be felt; and I do so on the authority of Lieut. Colonel McKay, who conducts them (and was forwarded from home on his arrival with them) That officer in answer to my repeated questions as to the Route he means to take, and the naval assistance he would require in it, stated distinctly that He had Batteaux plenty, waiting for him and the presents, and should want to assistance.

Anxious as I am in every instance to anticipate Your Excellency's wishes in providing for the probable exigencies of the service I shall hope to be favored with such timely notice as may enable me to arrange the means which will be necessary.

Your Excellency is fully aware of the uncertainty of our communications and, the Schooners on Lake Erie (the only ones we can resort to for assistance) are by my last accounts employed in transporting Commissariat Stores. If Lieut. Colonel McDonall has stated his wishes to Captain Collier I hope and believe that officer will do all he can to forward the service and remove the inconvenience he complains of

I have the honor to be Sir Your Excellency's most obedt humble servant G. W. L. R. Owen

MR. MONROE TO MR. BAKER ( Extract )

Washington , July 10, 1815

“In regard to the Island of Bois Blanc I have to observe that Col. Butler acted without orders on his own impression of his duty. The enclosed Extracts of a letter from him to the Secretary at war of May 8th, shew his sentiments on that subject; and the motives which governed him in the transaction.

Library of Congress

To justify the Claim to the surrender of the Island, it must be shewn that the British Government had possession of it at the time of the declaration of war, and was dispossessed of it afterwards. In this construction of the Treaty I am persuaded you will agree. I need scarcely remark that these facts have not been satisfactorily proved by the documents which you have communicated. From the paper signed James Allan,<sup>1</sup> it is inferred that the Block House mentioned in it, was erected on the Island by the British Forces before the surrender of Detroit to the United States, under the Treaty of 1783. If this inference be correct, that fact, the mere erection of the Block House there, proves nothing either respecting the title to the Island or its occupancy by Great Britain when war was declared, or at any preceding time, after the surrender of Detroit according to the Treaty of 1783. The paper signed James Woods may be considered rather as an argument in favor of the British claim, than as affording an evidence of the facts necessary to support it. Colonel Butler you will observe insists on the authority of an important fact that the United States have a just title to the Island, while he does not admit that Great Britain had possession of it. If the occupation is not clearly established and the title doubtful it is not perceived on what ground the surrender of the Island can be claimed.

I am nevertheless instructed by the President to state that Col. Butler has been directed not to erect any works on that Island, but to propose to the British Commander that it shall remain vacant in the occupancy of neither party until the title to it shall be settled by Commissioners according to the stipulation contained in the late Treaty of peace, and in case the British Commander agrees to that proposal, to evacuate it forthwith. It is proper to add that the United States do not contemplate or desire in the relations which exist between our Countries to maintain the possession of the Island by force, nor can they suppose that Great Britain desires to acquire it in that manner. The Treaty of Peace has prescribed a mode by which 21 162 this and all similar questions of right between the parties, shall be amicably settled, and in the moment of executing the Treaty, the United States will not be behind hand on any occasion in affording an example of conciliation and forbearance.

Library of Congress

I am persuaded from a view of the extract from Col. Butler's letter which you have Communicated that it was not his intention to prevent the return of the Indians mentioned in it to their homes. I infer that he was desirous only to prevent their advance towards Malden, in conjunction with the British Troops, at a time when he did not think himself at liberty to surrender that post, under his orders which contemplated the simultaneous surrender of it with Michilimackinac, other routes were not prohibited to them. That there may be no difficulty however on this point orders will be given immediately not only that there shall be no impediment to the return of those Indians to their homes, but that facilities shall be afforded them ."

MR. BAKER TO MR. MONROE ( Extract )

Washington July 12 1815

"I apprehend that to justify the claim to the Island (Bois Blanc) under the present circumstances it is only necessary to show that the British Government had held possession of it since the surrender of posts by virtue of the Treaty of 1783, it not appearing that the United States ever possessed it, until the retreat of Genl. Proctor in 1813. In the papers which I submitted to your inspection it is clearly stated by a Gentleman of respectability who had lived for a long time in the neighbourhood, that the Island had been occupied by a British Force since the Surrender of Detroit in 1796. The American Commander on the other hand in support of its retention and fortification on the part of the U. S. asserts, that it had at one time become a question whether the duties payable in Upper Canada could be levied in the Island, and that the Colonial Attorney General had given it as his opinion that they could not, the Island not forming part of Canada. He however afterwards states that it was not the Attorney General but Mr. Woods who had given this opinion. Mr. Woods on being referred to denies any knowledge of having ever expressed such a sentiment, and enters upon statements to show that the Island has always belonged to Great Britain 163 since the conquest from the French in 1761, and actually forms part of the County of Essex in Upper Canada. From the extract of Col. Butler's letter to the War Department which you have done me the honor to communicate in your note, it appears that the reason assigned to him by the British officers for claiming the restitution of the Island in pursuance of the Treaty of Ghent, was that a block house had been erected and a Serjeants Guard stationed there some years since, which no officer of the United States thought proper to disturb. Altho' the American Commander seems to attach very little importance to this circumstance, it is nevertheless if proved to have taken place since the year 1796, in the absence of any occupation on the part of the United States, decisive of the question under present consideration, which you are perfectly aware is only to ascertain the possession of the Island prior to the late war.

The title of the United States derived from the ship channel, is mentioned in the Extract, whether well founded or not, and even the circumstance respecting the non payment of duties, had it been substantiated, are arguments totally foreign to the present question. The only evidence therefore, that bears on the subject is in favor of the restoration of the Island, none of any description being brought forward to justify its retention, the claim to which ought to have been most clear and indisputable to have warranted the steps taken for the Erection of Military works upon it. The American Government however, thinking the evidence thus produced insufficient, proposes that the Island shall remain unoccupied by either party until the Commissioners under the Treaty shall decide to which it really belongs.

Although the Commander in Chief in Canada appears fully persuaded that the claim of restoration which has been made is well founded, yet considering the friendly and conciliatory disposition manifested by his Majesty's Commanders in the measures adopted respecting the restoration of Posts, I do not anticipate any objection to the arrangement proposed. However, I am convinced that should the possession by H. M. Government before the war be satisfactorily proved, no difficulty can be made with respect to its occupation until the decision of the Commissioners takes place.

With respect to the return of the Indians across the River St. Clair, it was very far from being wished that any undue interpretation should be given to the steps taken for arresting their progress to their own Territories. You must be sensible that the service for which the British Troops were destined (that of forming the Garrison of Malden) was one for which Indians are wholly unfit, and that as they were at 164 peace with the United States, their only object could be to repass to their homes. the orders however which you inform me have been issued that there should be no impediment to their return, but that OD the contrary facilities should be afforded to them will; I have no doubt, remove every difficulty on this head.”

MR. MONROE TO MR. BAKER ( Extract )

Washington , July 12, 1815.

“On the subject of that part of your letter relating to the overtures made by the United States to the Northern Indians and the hostilities still existing with them, I beg leave to observe that after an attentive perusal of the papers which were enclosed marked A, I perceive that their contents are confined to accounts of intended hostilities and of attacks on the American frontier by the Indians, with the exception of three letters, one from Judge Parker at Vincennes, another from Mr. Stickney at Fort Wayne, and the third from Mr. Woodbridge at Detroit. The two first only advance operations in the most general terms founded on hearsay, that British agents & British Traders were exciting the Indians to hostilities—The third which is a little more precise mentions the name of the person said to have been guilty of these practices by spreading false rumours respecting the intentions of the British Authorities—As some clue is thus furnished to direct an inquiry into the case, I shall not fail to make an immediate application to the Commander in Chief in Canada in order that an investigation may take place into the circumstances which are alledged, and am convinced that His Excellency will with the greatest readiness use every means in his power to bring any persons to punishment who may be proved guilty of practices which are not only contrary to the existing friendly relations between the two countries, but productive of consequences so dreadful to individuals and so deeply to be deplored—”

MR. BAKER TO LIEUT. GEN. DRUMMOND

Washington July 13 1815

Sir

I have the honor to transmit enclosed an extract of letter dated on the 10th Instant with its Inclosure, which I have received from the American Secretary of State in reply to the remonstrance which I had made to him on the 15th ultimo respecting the proceedings of the American Commander on the Detroit Frontier, together with an extract of a letter which I wrote in answer.

I beg to refer Your Excellency to these papers for the necessary information respecting What has passed on this subject, and the nature of the orders which have in consequence been given to Colonel Butler.

I have the honour to be Sir Your Excellency's Most obedient humble servant Anthony St. Jno. Baker .

To His Excellency Lieut Genl. Sir Gordon Drummond K. C. B. & &

FROM MR. BAKER (UNADDRESSED) ( Extract )

“I received the day before yesterday the letter a copy of which is likewise enclosed, in which Mr. Monroe renews his suggestions on the subject of the removal of the Garrison and stores at Michilimackinac to Malden, offering the use of the American Boats for the purpose, and expressing fears that the retention of the Post would create unfavorable impressions towards the United States on the minds of the Indians about to be assembled in order to negotiate a peace.

In my answer which I have sent this day and a copy of which is herewith transmitted. After expressing my confident hopes that his fears on this account would be proved to be without foundation, I have informed Mr. Monroe, as I had already done verbally, that the means of removing the Garrison and Stores, and the spot to which they are to be carried in H. M. possessions, are questions so purely military and so connected with the internal arrangements of the Province that I could not form an opinion respecting them, but I have undertaken to refer the subject to the consideration of the Commander in chief in Canada, and to communicate without loss of time the reply which I may receive.

It is not improbable, provided no further cause of delay should intervene in the restoration of Michilimackinac, that the answer of the Commander in chief may not arrive until after a proper spot shall have been prepared for the occupation of the Troops on the shores of Lake Huron.

I had received some information, although of a very general nature, that the United States had determined to make great exertions for the purpose of obtaining a preponderating influence among the Northern Indians, which has been in some measure strengthened by the solicitude shewn to remove the Garrison of Michilimackinac so far down as Malden, which would for a considerable time at least favour any intrigues which might be set on foot amongst the nations in the vicinity of Lake Huron.”

MR. BAKER TO LIEUT. GEN. DRUMMOND War—1812

Washington , July 14, 1815.

Sir

I have the honour to transmit inclosed for the information of Your Excellency copies of a series of letters relating to the overtures made by the United States to the Northern Indians and the hostilities still existing with them, which have been communicated to me in an official note by the American Secretary of State accompanied by the remark that "they show the deep impression which has been made on the "minds of the public agents of the United States at the several frontier "posts from Detroit to St. Louis, with the marked circumstances which "produced it, that the Indians have been stimulated to this conduct by "British agents."

I have likewise enclosed a copy of my reply to Mr. Monroe on this subject, and beg to request that Your Excellency will be pleased to 167 cause an enquiry to take place agreeably to the assurance which I have given to this Government, into the circumstances stated in Mr. Woodbridge's letter, particularly as respects the individual whose name is mentioned, and whose conduct if truly represented, certainly forms a just ground of complaint, in order that I may be enabled according to the result of the investigation, either to show that the charge is unfounded, or communicate the steps taken to punish such unjustifiable conduct.

As I clearly perceive that on the occurrence of the threatened Indian war, the old accusation of having instigated the hostilities will be revived against us, I beg leave to suggest the expediency of measures being taken, either by a public proclamation or otherwise, to prohibit the agents and other individuals in the employment of the Government, or under its control residing amongst the Indians, from interfering in their concerns in any manner which may be incompatible with the existing relations of peace and amity between Great Britain and the United States, for which the present complaint might perhaps be thought a sufficient foundation.

I have the honor to be Sir Your Excellency's Most obedt humble servt, Anthony St. Jno. Baker .

PETITION OF ROBERT LIVINGSTON

To His Excellency Sir Gordon Drummond, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable and Military Order of the Bath, Administrator in Chief of the Government of the Provinces of Upper and Lower Canada, Vice Admiral of the same, &c, &c, &c.

The Petition of Robert Livingston, late Captain in the Indian Department.

Respectfully Sheweth

That your petitioner at the beginning of the late American war was living in a very comfortable way at the Island of Saint Josephs, though 168 always anxious to do anything that might come within the sphere of his Power to promote the Interest and Welfare of Government. That he accepted the situation of Adjutant and Quartermaster of the Volunteer Militia which were then raising at Saint Josephs, for the purpose of making a descent on the Enemies Post of Michilimackinac, thirty-six of which men your petitioner procured himself and which situation he conceived himself quite adequate to fulfill, having formerly served nine and a half years in the Second Batt. of the late Royal Canadian Volunteers.

That your petitioner after the Capture of Michilimackinac was ordered by Captain Roberts of the 10th Royal Vr Battalion who commanded, to proceed to Detroit, with the Prisoners of War, which service, he duly performed and saved their lives from the Indians who were lying in ambush as they were descending the River Saint Clair.

That on his arrival at Detroit he was made prisoner of war from whence he made his escape the third night, and arrived at Amherstburg when he put himself under the command of Lieut. Col. St. George who commanded that Garrison, two days after he was wounded and taken prisoner again at the Battle of Brownstown, and was again carried into the Garrison of Detroit, at which place he remained a Prisoner until the Capture of that Garrison by the British Forces under the Command of the late General Brock on the 16th day of August one thousand eight hundred and twelve. Immediately after the capture of which place he was ordered by General Brock to proceed to Michilimackinac, with public despatches, at which place he arrived on the twenty fourth day of August from thence he was ordered to proceed to Saint Joseph's there to perform the duties of an interpreter until further orders, in the month of January ensuing he was ordered by Capt. Roberts to repair to Michilimackinac, from thence was ordered to Detroit with Public Despatches, at which place he arrived on the twelfth day of February one thousand eight hundred and thirteen. That he remained at Detroit nineteen days and was again ordered to Michilimackinac with Despatches, at which place he arrived on the twelfth day of March, he remained there but four days when he was again ordered to St. Joseph's making in all a distance of six hundred and sixty miles or thereabouts which was performed on snow shoes and sleeping out the whole time, in a single blanket and starving for want of provisions. That your petitioner was in the month of July one thousand eight hundred and thirteen ordered to proceed to and join the army under the command of General de Rottenburg then quartered on the Four mile Creek (Niagara Frontier) to 169 pass by the North side of Lake Huron and raise and take with him the Indians residing in that quarter, which service he punctually performed and arrived at the Head Quarters of the army commanded by General de Rottenburg on the ninth day of August, from which time to the seventeenth of the same month he kept the Indians who came with him in constant motion by every day annoying the Enemy's Piquets and frequently brought in Prisoners and scalps.<sup>1</sup> On the seventeenth he received four severe wounds and was again taken prisoner. By those wounds he is in a great measure deprived of the sight of his right eye by the blow of a Tomahawk which he received from the Inimical Indians. Is also deprived of the Natural use of his right arm owing to the stab of a spear which he received in the shoulder, and was also wounded in the head, the fourth wound is a musket Ball in his left thigh which remains unextracted.

That your petitioner was in this situation carried into the Fort of old Niagara, where he was treated with the greatest inhumanity being refused the least Medical Aid, until his wounds were swarming with worms; That on the night of the nineteenth of October (notwithstanding he was very ill of his wounds) he effected his escape, subsisting seven days on accorns alone, on the first day of November he reached Burlington heights and again joined the advance at Stony Creek under the command of Lieutenant Colonel Murray. That he remained with the advance until after the Capture of all the Enemy's Posts on the Niagara Frontier, altho at the same time not well of his former wounds two of which remain still open. Shortly after the Capture of those Posts he was ordered to proceed to Michilimackinac with an escort of Indians with Public money, which voyage he performed and returned to Fort George on the twenty eighth day of March one thousand eight hundred and fourteen, where he remained but four days when he was again ordered to proceed to Nottowassogay, there to join the detachment of Newfoundland Regiment under the command of Lieut Col. McDonall, to act as guide and conductor to them on their route to Michilimackinac, which service was duly performed, and if that Detachment arrived safe, it was owing to the vigilance of their conductor. Immediately after his arrival at Michilimackinac a guide was wanted to Conduct the Schooner Nancy to the River Nottowassaugay, as no other person could be found capable of undertaking this hazardous piece of service, and the safety of the Garrison much depended on the success of this voyage your petitioner without hesitation embarked, and guided the vessel to the River Nottowassaugay, two hundred and fifty miles along a very dangerous and unexplored coast, and in nine days returned 22 170 to Michilimackinac with the Vessel, Crew, and Cargo, all safe, no other person in that country could be found who was Capable of undertaking this service. That shortly after the Enemies fleet made its appearance off Michilimackinac, at which time he was ordered to proceed in a Canoe through their Fleet to go in pursuit of the schooner Nancy, which was then on her way from Nottawassaugay to Michilimackinac, in order that her commander might take the necessary precaution to Keep her from falling into the hands of the Enemy, which service Your Petitioner performed, and actually met the Nancy on her way to Michilimackinac, but according to Lieut. Col. McDouall's instructions, turned his back<sup>1</sup> to the River Nattaawassaugay; That he proceeded according to his instructions to York with despatches and returned with all possible expedition, anxious to afford the Nancy's commander all the assistance in His Power.

That Your Petitioner rejoined her crew on the twelfth day of August just as the Enemy's squadron made its appearance off the Harbour of Nottowassaugay. That he immediately collected all the Indians in that vicinity, being in number but twenty-three, and gave what assistance was in his Power to Lieut Worsley, having after a gallant and very vigorous defense of one whole days duration, with twenty-one Indians, nine Canadians, and twenty seamen combated with three hundred and Eighty of the Enemy.

And Your Petitioner does on this occasion claim the credit of saving that brave officer and his gallant little Crew from falling into the hands of the Enemy; afterwards he conducted Lieutenant Worsley and Crew to Michilimackinac, in two Batteaux and one Canoe, loaded with provisions; passed three hundred and Sixty miles by the North Side of Lake Huron which voyage was performed in seven days and a half, that on their way they fell in with two of the Enemies Schooners, which were Blockading the Detour (a narrow passage which they were obliged to pass) they secured all the provisions in the two Batteaux and secured them in an obscure Bay, that they took all the men into his Canoe, being in number thirty-five, passed the Blockading Squadron at the distance of one hundred yards in the night and arrived safe at Michilimackc on the first day of September, when immediate application was made for assistance by Lieutenant Worsley, which assistance was granted, and that Your Petitioner and Lieutenant Worsley returned, boarded & took the two shooners, the first on the fifth and the second on the seventh day of September and he appeals to Lieutenant Worsley (who commanded the expedition) and the other officers under his command to know if his services on this occasion were not of the 171 utmost importance, in quality of Pilot he will on this occasion venture to say that not another person could be found in all that Country who was capable of performing this important service.

That your petitioner was immediately after this capture ordered with a guard of Indians to conduct the officers and seamen taken on board the two vessels to York, which service he performed and returned to Michilimackinac on the twelfth day of October, where he obtained per mission to go to Montreal to pass the Winter in the month of January one thousand eight hundred and fifteen; when your Petitioner was appointed Captain of the Indian Department he was again ordered to proceed to Michilimackinac with Lieut: Col: McKay at which place he arrived on the twelfth day of Mar after a very fatiguing journey, three hundred and sixty miles of which were on Snow Shoes.

That your Petitioner has travelled as bearer of Public Despatches and by orders of the different officers under whose command he has been since the commencement of the late war eight thousand eight hundred and ninety miles for which he has never received any travelling expenses allowances or any thing in lieu thereof. Your Petitioner lost Iris Establishment at Saint Joseph's, Vizt: House, Wharf, and Store, which were burn't by the Enemy, and has lost his health, strength & comfort, for the good of his country. A country which allows her brave sons to go unprotected or unrewarded and upon which country and the Justice of Your Honor, Your Petitioner reposes with confidence.

That by a Garrison order at Michilimackinac dated the tenth day of July last several officers of the Indian Department were reduced, and the case of your Petitioner reserved for consideration of your Excellency therefore with the greatest confidence and most lively hope Your Petitioner submits his case to the consideration and Justice of Your Excellency and

Humbly Prays that your Excellency will be pleased to grant him that justice and relief that his case in the opinion of Your Excellency may merit, And as in Duty bound Your

Petitioner shall ever pray Robert Livingston 1

LIEUT. COL. JAMES TO MAJ. GEN. ROBINSON ( Indians )

Amherstburg 16th July 1815

Sir ,

I have been honored with Capt. Dicksons letter of the 5th Instant, and also its enclosure from Col. Caldwell addressed to Col. Claus—It is a difficult thing to reply to such a letter and I shall preface to you Sir with my assurance that every article that has been asserted therein, is without the least shadow of truth, originating I hope in the imbecility of the Deputy Superintendant.

On Sir George Murray's arranging and fixing the day that the Indians were to leave Burlington, I sent to request to see Colonel Caldwell, I wrote him of the arrangements made by Sir George Murray and requested that he would accompany me to Delaware where I hoped to meet Mr. Commissary Laidley his reply was "I will see the Colonel tomorrow," several days passed and I never saw or heard from him on the subject, I also requested that he would have proper officers at the Grand River to issue eight days rations to the Indians who would arrive there on tuesday, and to hurry them on to Delaware—

Library of Congress

His reply to this was that he would do so, that his son Tom<sup>1</sup> had been stationed there for the last two months & that he would also send Capt. Billy Caldwell there. I arrived at the Commissariat at the Grand River on the following Sunday & was much surprized to find the Indians that had come from Burlington still encamped there, on enquiring of Mr. Wiggins of the Commissary Department, I was informed by him that the Indians had been loud in their complaints at not getting their Rations to enable them to proceed to Delaware, and that he could not issue them until an officer came. I enquired why Lt. Caldwell did not attend? Mr. Wiggins observed that he was told Lt. Caldwell was to be stationed at the Grand River, however that he had seen him but once in the last two months & that only when he came there on Sunday to attend a Shawanee's Horse Race; it was afterwards reported to me that no officer attended until the following Tuesday, by which shameful neglect the Indians were detained eight and nine days longer from their homes, than there was occasion for, and all owing to Col. Caldwell's neglect; which I reported to Lt. General Sir George Murray, and which under date 11th May last, he informed me he would on his arrival at York cause serious inquiry into—

I had arrived at Delaware & remained there four days, when Col. 174 Caldwell came up, but instead of coming to my Quarters or entering into any explanation, he drove his companion into the Bush two miles distant, without ever expressing a wish on any occasion or ever opening his lips on any subject unless on the extreme ill state of his own health; the Deputy Supt. took care to be always left alone, nor is he ever to be found when wanted.

It was arranged by Lieut. General Sir George Murray, and Mr. Commissary Laidley was sent on to Sandwich on purpose to provide provisions for the Indians there and at Amherstburg (conformable to Sir George Murray's letter addressed to Maj. General de Watteville<sup>1</sup> 27th April) for several months; nor was there ever the most distant idea of any of the Tribes remaining on the Thames until I in the strongest terms pointed out to the Reverend Mr. Dankey in presence of Mr. Laidley the necessity of the Moravians and Moncies,<sup>1</sup> settling at their own homes & which they did in consequence of my desire, and in a conversation which I had with Sir George Murray he stated his particular wish that the Indians should remain on the River Thames except those of the Moravian Town. And his letter to me 18th May he particularly points out his wish that the Indians should for the present occupy the country between the Thames and St. Clair Rivers. Soley with that view of being out of all possible reach of the American Troops until the evacuation of Amherstburg.

After my taking possession of Sandwich I obtained permission from a Mr. Pattinson,<sup>1</sup> a merchant, to allow the Chippewas and Socks to plant on some of his ground at the mouth of the River Thames, but Col. Caldwell sent me word by Capt. Wilson that they would not stop there for him, this I will prove by every officer in the Indian Department, save and except the Caldwell family.

Government always knew that the Indians were to receive provisions, until grain could be raised by their own labor, and, as I have already repeated, if this grain is not raised, it is alone Col. Caldwell's fault, and no fault of the Commissariat, which Dept. he had already incorrectly assailed, and afterwards acknowledged to Deputy Commissary General Turquand in my hearing that he had written a false statement but that it was owing to matters having been misrepresented to himself—Colonel Caldwell appears to feel displeased that I did not inform him of my private correspondence with the American Commandant at Detroit—Even in matters of more trifling nature regarding his own department, private information though made to himself only by me, had in several instances been as publick in a few hours afterwards as if it had been communicated to him for that purpose.

Library of Congress

It has indeed been my constant complaint, for months back to General Stovin & Sir George Murray, that I have been Superintendant of the Indians & not “since my arrival at this place,” as Col. Caldwell states.

Government had much to expect from the Indians during the war.

Colonel Caldwell seldom, or ever went near them, and when he did it was only to disgust.

The confidence which I had restored amongst those people towards the Government at so critical a period has been acknowledged, and at this day I feel a pleasure in hearing them express their gratitude, which alone more than amply rewards my trouble—

The Deputy Superintendent states that he prevailed on the, Moncies, Moravians, &c. &c. to do so & so, I disavow and can prove every item of his assertions to be incorrect and again declare, he was not to be found, he never came near them, until the whole of the arrangement was made by me, and executed by the active exertions of Captain William Elliott<sup>1</sup> and John Wilson.

Colonel Caldwell did not arrive for many days after the Indians at Sandwich, I myself rode down and went over to Fighting Island which I inspected and finally placed, Neywash there with his people; on this occasion I consulted myself, with Colonel Caldwell, his reply was “Colonel I don't know what these poor people would do without “you”—This observation was made to me by Col. Caldwell in presence of officers some days after his writing his confounded letter to Colonel Claus. Much about this time the Deputy Superintendent was mightily offended because I would (not) sanction the purchase of three hundred pound weight of gun Powder, and demanded my reasons for refusing to countersign his order; I informed him that in this instance I could not think of authorizing the expenditure of six hundred Dollars for the Indians to shoot Pidgeons, particularly as there was plenty of powder hourly expected from Erie.

The Deputy Inspector says very gravely, that the people at Chenail Ecarte<sup>1</sup> are provisioned monthly, the fact is he knew nothing of what was going on, nor did he ever know, for on the 14th or 15th of June last he sent for Captains Wilson and Elliott, in a great hurry & with much agitation (as was stated to me by Capt. Elliott) inquired if it was possible to ration the Indians at Ecarte on the 24th of that month, and that he was afraid he would get into a scrape for his neglect. However this active old Deputy Superintendent was greatly surprised when Capt. Elliott said "Why Sir I thought you knew at Burlington that "Col. James had arranged all these matters." His observation was "I "am glad of it, so much the better," now the fact is, and was, that 176 all those arrangements were made by Sir George Murray at Burlington where he saw and knew that nothing could be expected from a quarter, where such idleness and want of attention towards the most trifling duty prevailed.

With regard to the Indians not being permitted to cross the River to hunt since their arrival here, it may be necessary to state the conversation which passed in my presence between Sir George Murray and Col. Claus, in which the latter said "Sir George it will be necessary to light the "large fire at Amherstburg in order to make known to the American "Indians the particulars of the Peace and the result of the council "here." Sir George replied "Colonel Claus you will of course do "what is customary on these occasions." Colonel Claus replied "he would"—however I have not heard anything further on this subject notwithstanding my having repeatedly enquired of Colonel Caldwell if he had received any instructions on the subject, any impediments that existed to prevent the Indians crossing over to hunt as formerly were explained in my letters to Lieut General Sir George Murray some time ago; real impediments only existed for the first week after our arrival at Sandwich; I repeatedly informed Col. Caldwell that the Indians might go and hunt over the River whenever they pleased, he still continued to ask whenever he saw me if there was any danger—when at length, and tired by representation of the question I found it necessary to call in Mr. Commissary Laidley who was walking by, and desire him to bear witness that I had given Col. Caldwell the same information at least a dozen times before; but he would still continue to ask the same questions—

Col. Caldwell was repeatedly asked by me, and I recommended that the Shawnies and Socks<sup>1</sup> (Sacs) should plant some ground on or near Fighting Island and there was plenty of grain and time to do so, but the answer of the Deputy Supt a/ways was “They do not intend to plant they want their Presents and powder, which will be here before the corn could grow, and when they will all go home together.

Previous to my leaving Amherstburg on the 18th Instant I found it necessary to write the Deputy Supt. the accompanied letter; it will at once shew you the spirit of opposition to my respectful request. I shall not offer a single remark of which you are the better Judge.

I have the honor to be Sir Your most obedient humble servant R. James Lt Col.

Sir ,

Library of Congress

I have the honor to inform you that on the 18th Inst. I delivered over the Island and Fort of Michilimackinac to Colonel Butler of the United States Troops, having previously removed to this place and St. Joseph's<sup>1</sup> the whole of our Guns, Provisions, Ordnance Stores, & &.

I enclose a return of American Ordnance originally captured in this place and at the Prairie des Chiens, and which were surrendered to that Government in conformity to the Treaty of Ghent.

A report has just reached me of the arrival of a Company of the 37th Regt. at St Joseph's. In the hope that it will be soon followed by the two others which Major Foster informs me have been ordered, I shall send back by them the Two Companies of the Royal Newfoundland Regt. by the Route of the Nottawasaga River, as being by far the most direct and easy, the vessels can also on their return bring cargoes of the various stores, Provisions and Indian Presents from that place and which we have hitherto found it so difficult to get conveyed.

Upon this subject I find it my duty to call your attention to the continued depredations made upon His Majesty's stores; it is impossible for me to trace it, or to say whether the Pillage takes place on the Route from Nottawasaga or from thence to St. Joseph's but the abuse has now got to such a pitch as to call loudly for an immediate remedy.

We are now busily employed in clearing the ground for the proposed Fort at this place. —Our progress has been slow from the want of men, it will be still less now that we are reduced to a Company—The ground being rocky will be difficult to work, therefore Thirty to Forty Artificers (masons, miners, and carpenters,) are immediately required and perhaps wo'd be easiest procured from those no longer wanted.

In consequence of the statement of the officers Commanding the Schooners, two thirds of the detachment of the Royal Newfoundlands return with the schooners which brought the Company of the 37th by the way of the River and Fort Erie, and the other third in the Enterprize by the way of Nottawasaga and York.

It would be highly desirable if some of the Long 24 prs for our new 23 178 Fort (and now in the vicinity of Lake Simcoe) were conveyed here this season.

THE COMMANDER IN CHIEF TO LIEUT. GEN. DRUMMOND ( War—1812 )

Horse Guards 26th July 1815

Sir

Having laid before the Prince Regent, the Proceedings of a General Court Martial held at Montreal on the 21st December 1814, and continued by adjournments to the 28th of January 1815, for the Trial of Major General Henry Proctor, Lieut Colonel of the 41st Regiment, who was arraigned upon the undermentioned charges, Vizt.:

1st. "That the said Major General Proctor, being entrusted with "the Command of the Right Division of the Army serving in the Canadas, "and the retreat of the said Division from the Western parts of "Upper Canada, having become unavoidable from the loss of the "fleet, on Lake Erie, on the 10th Sept. 1813, did not immediately "after the loss of the Fleet was known by him, make the Military "arrangements best calculated for promptly effecting such Retreat, and "unnecessarily delayed to commence the same, until the evening of "the 27th of the said Month, on which day the Enemy had landed in "considerable force within a short distance of Sandwich, and Head "Quarters of the said Division. Such conduct on the part of the said "Major Genl Proctor, endangering the safety of the Troops under his "command by exposing them to be attacked by a force far superior to "them, being contrary to his duty as an officer, prejudicial to good "order and Military Discipline, and contrary to the Articles of War."

2nd. "That the said Major General Proctor after commencing the "Retreat of the said Division on the said 27th September, altho' he "had reason to believe that the enemy would immediately follow it "with very superior Numbers, and endeavour to harass and impede its "March, did not use due expedition, or take the proper measures for "conducting the said Retreat, having encumbered the said Division "with large quantities of useless baggage, having unnecessarily halted "the Troops for several whole days, and having omitted to destroy the "Bridges over which the Enemy would be obliged to pass, thereby "affording them the opportunity to come up with the said Division, "such conduct betraying great professional incapacity on the part of "the said Majr. Genl Proctor, being contrary to his duty as an officer, "prejudicial to good order and Military Discipline, and contrary to the "Articles of War."

3d. "That the said Major General Proctor did not take the necessary "measures for affording security to the Boats, waggons and carts, laden "with the ammunition, stores, and provisions required for the troops on "their Retreat, and allowed the said Boats, waggons & carts, on the 4th "and 5th of October, 1813, to remain in the rear of the said division, "whereby the whole or the greater part of the said ammunition, stores, "and provisions either fell into the enemy's hands, or were destroyed, to "prevent their capture, and the troops were without provisions for a "whole day previous to their being attacked on the said 5th day of "October—such conduct on the part of the said Major Gen'l Proctor "being contrary to his duty as an officer, prejudicial to good order and "Military Discipline, and contrary to the articles of war."

4th. 5th. "That the said Major General Proctor did not on the 5th day "of October, either prior to, or subsequent to the attack by the enemy "on the said Division on that day make the Military dispositions best "adapted to meet or to resist the said attack, and that during the "action and after the troops had given way, he did not make any "effectual attempt in his own Person, or otherwise, to rally or encourage "them, or to co-operate with and support the Indians who were engaged "with the enemy on the Right, the said Major General Proctor having "quitted the field soon after the action commenced, such conduct on "the part of Major General Proctor, betraying great professional "incapacity, tending to the defeat and dishonor of His Majesty's arms, "to the sacrifice of the Division of the army committed to his charge, 181 "being in violation of his duty, and unbecoming and disgraceful to his "character as an officer, prejudicial to good order and Military Discipline "and contrary to the articles of war." Upon which charges the court came to the following decisions:—

"The Court having duly weighed and considered, the evidence "adduced, as well in support of the charges, as in support of the "Defense, Is of opinion,"

"That the Prisoner, Major General Henry Proctor, Lieut. Col. Of the "41st Regiment, is not guilty of any part of the First Charge; and the "Court doth therefore wholly acquit him, the said Major General "Proctor, of the same."—

"On the Second charge, The Court is of opinion, that the said Major "General Proctor is Guilty of the following part thereof, that he did "not take the proper measures for conducting the Retreat. But the "Court is of opinion that the said Major General Proctor is Not "Guilty of any other part of the said charge, and doth therefore "acquit him of the same."—

"On the third Charge, The Court is of opinion that the said Major "General Proctor is Guilty of that part thereof, in which it is charged, "that the said Major General Proctor did not take the necessary Measures "for affording security to the Boats, Waggons and Carts, laden with "the ammunition, stores and Provisions required for the Troops on their "Retreat:— But the Court is of the opinion that the said Major General "Proctor, is Not Guilty of any part of the remainder of the said "charge, and doth therefore acquit him of the remainder thereof."—

“On the Fourth Charge, The Court is of opinion that the said Major "General Proctor is guilty of that part thereof, in which it is charged "that he neglected to occupy the Heights above the Moravian village, "altho' he had previously removed his ordnance with the exception of "one six Pounder to that Position, where by throwing up works he "might have awaited the attack of the Enemy; and engaged them to "great advantage; and that after the Intelligence had reached him, of "the approach of the Enemy, on the morning of the said 5th of October, "he halted the said Division, notwithstanding it was within two "miles of the said village, and formed it in a situation highly unfavorable "for receiving the attack which afterwards took Place:”—

“But the Court is of opinion that the said Major General Proctor, is "not Guilty of any part of the remainder of the said charge, and doth "therefore acquit him of the remainder thereof.”

“On the Fifth Charge the Court is of opinion, that the said. Major "General Proctor is guilty of that part thereof, in which it is charged, "that he did not, on the said 5th of October, either prior to, or subsequent "to the attack by the Enemy on the said Division on that day, "make the Military dispositions, best adapted to meet or to resist the "said attack” “But the Court is of opinion that, that part thereof, in "which it is charged that during the action, and after the Troops had "given way he did not make any effectual attempt, in his own Person "or otherwise to rally or encourage them, or to co-operate with, and "support the Indians who were engaged with the Enemy on the Right, "has not been proved, and the Court doth therefore acquit him, the "said Major General Proctor, of the same.—And the Court is of opinion "that the said Major General Proctor, is not Guilty of any part of the "remainder of the said charge, and doth therefore fully and honorably "acquit him of the same.”

Library of Congress

“Upon the whole the Court is of opinion, that the Prisoner, Major "General Proctor, has in many instances during the Retreat, and in "the disposition of the Force under Ms command been erroneous in "Judgment, and in some, deficient in those energetic and active exertions, "which the extraordinary difficulties of his situation so particularly "required.”

“And the Court doth therefore adjudge him the said Major General "Proctor to be publicly reprimanded, and to be suspended from Rank "& Pay for the Period of Six Calendar Months.”—

“But as to any defect or reproach, with regard to the Personal Conduct "of Major General Proctor, during the Action on the 5th of "October, The Court most fully and honorably acquits the said Major "General Proctor.”—

I am to acquaint you, that His Royal Highness was pleased, in the Name, and on the behalf of His Majesty, to confirm the Finding of the Court on 1st 3d 4th and 5th Charges.—

With respect to the second charge it appeared to His Royal Highness to be a matter of surprize, that the Court should find the Prisoner Guilty of the offense alledged against him, while they, at the same time, acquit him of all the facts upon which that charge is founded; and yet that in the summing up of their finding upon the whole of the charges, they should ascribe the offenses of which the Prisoner has been found Guilty, to error in Judgment, and pass a sentence totally inapplicable to their own finding of Guilt; which can alone be ascribed to the Court having been induced, by a reference to the general good 183 conduct and character of Major General Proctor, to forget through a humane, but mistaken lenity, what was due from them to the service.

Under all the circumstances of the case however, and particularly those which render it impossible to have recourse to the otherwise expedient Measure of re-assembling the court, for the revisal of their proceedings. The Prince Regent was pleased to acquiesce in and confirm so much of the sentence, as adjudged the prisoner to be publicly reprimanded: 1 and in carrying the same into execution, I am to desire that you will convey to Major General Proctor, His Royal Highness's high disapprobation of his conduct, together with the expression of His Royal Highness's regret, that any officer of the length of service, and of the exalted rank which he has attained, should be so extremely wanting in professional knowledge, and so deficient in those active and energetic Qualities, which must be required of every officer, but especially of one, in the responsible situation in which the Major General was placed.

I am Sir Yours Frederick ,1 Commander in Chief.

MR. TORRENS TO LIEUT. GEN. DRUMMOND ( War—1812 )

Horse Guards 26th July 1815

Sir ,

The presence of Major General Sir F. P. Robinson being required in England without delay, for the purpose of appearing as an evidence on the court martial which is to be assembled on Lieut. General Sir George Prevost, upon charges preferred by Sir James Yeo, I have the Commander in Chief's commands to desire that he may be ordered to 184 proceed to this country with the least possible delay, after this Dispatch shall reach your hands—

Library of Congress

This order is given in anticipation of the regular summons which cannot be issued by the Judge Advocate General until the warrant for assembling the Court is prepared, & in order that the Major General may be enabled to leave Canada at the earliest possible period during the present season.

It is the intention of the Commander in Chief, that Major General Sir F. P. Robinson shall return to his station immediately upon the close of his evidence—

I have the honor to be Sir Your most obedient humble Servant H. Torrens .1

Philadelphia July 27, 1815

Sir

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of Your Excellency's letter of the 3d instant, and of two dated on the 4th instant with their Inclosures.

It has been very satisfactory to learn that the whole of the letters which I had forwarded to Quebec have been received, with the single exception of that of the 23rd of February, with a duplicate of which it is at present unnecessary to trouble Your Excellency, as it relates solely to the arrangements made for the speedier liberation of the military prisoners of war in this country, which have been long since completed.

My letter of the 13th Instant with the enclosed extract of a note addressed to me by the American Secretary of State will have afforded the most satisfactory information relative to the positive orders given to Colonel Butler not to erect any works on the Island of Bois Blanc, and respecting its evacuation, which latter circumstance was made dependent upon an understanding to which Your Excellency had expressed to me your willingness to consent.

I have not failed to call the attention of Mr. Monroe to the observation used by Colonel Butler in mentioning the delay which attended the restoration of Michilimackinac. Circumstances did not at the time permit a reference to the War Department for the purpose of explanation but Mr. Monroe gave me the strongest assurances of his ignorance of any orders having been sent to that officer, except in the spirit of his communication to me, which he begged might be considered as the unreserved and entire sentiments of the American Government in relation to this subject.

I have the honor to be Sir Your Excellency's most obedient humble servant— Anthony St. Jno. Baker

GOVERNOR CASS TO MAJOR BARWICK

Detroit 28 July 1815

Sir

Information has just reached me that a party of Indians from Malden have been forcibly committing depredations upon Hickory Island<sup>2</sup> within this Territory and have driven the occupants from there ,—if the information be correct, I have to request of you, Sir, that measures be

If any person residing within the British Dominions leave their <sup>1</sup> for the purpose of committing Hostilities against the United States and after effecting the object find their a secure assylum<sup>1</sup> we can only apply to the authorities of the country to arrest and restrain them.

The renewal and continuance of such conduct on the part of the Indians residing in Canada. if not checked will have a tendency to involve our respective countries in war.

In the confidence that such an event would be equally unwelcome to each nation, and that the officers of both feel a disposition to prevent anything which might create National collision, I make this application,

I shall await with some anxiety your answer.

Very Respectfully I have the honor to be Your Most Obed't Servant Lewis Cass .

P. S. Since writing the foregoing I am informed by the Asst. Depty Q'r M'r Gen'l that a Boat loaded with public property and passing up between Turkey Island<sup>1</sup> and the Canada shore was boarded by a party of Indians in canoes from that Island and forcibly compelled to put back and pass on the western side of Turkey Island. Sir

Your letter of the 4th July enclosing a dispatch from Sir Gordon Drummond for Lt. Col. McDonall with His Excellency's directions that the same should be forwarded with the least possible delay, I had the honor to receive on the 23d Instant.

Lt. Col. McKay being at Nottawasaga River waiting the arrival of the Schooner from St. Josephs which was daily expected the dispatch was forwarded to him, tho this may cause a delay of a day or two in the first instance waiting for the vessel, I conceive it far more expedient 188 than sending a canoe round the Lake with the Dispatch, the vessel sailed from the Nottawasaga River on the 14th July laden with Indian Presents & Engineer Stores which completed the whole of the Indian Presents first sent & most of the Engineer Stores —The Indian Stores forwarded, by Lt. Kingston 1st August 1815

Sir

I have the honor to inform Your Excellency, that by a Letter received this morning from Major Brock<sup>1</sup> of the 37th Regt, I have learnt that General Brown was expected at Detroit with 2500 men, and I think it is probable that he has arrived there by this time, having left Sacketts Harbour with 800 men, I suppose part of the above force, in the Jones accompanied by two other vessels, for the Head of the Lake, nearly a Fortnight since.—

1 Major G. Brock, 49th Foot, assistant quartermaster general, came to Canada in 1815.

The Americans are about to form an Establishment at Green Bay upon Lake Michigan;—and I understand they intend shortly to hold a Council with the Indians at Fort Wayne, upon the Question of Peace or War.—

Amherstburg was undoubtedly restored to us by the American Government, on the 1st ulto; and I have every reason to expect, that Michilimackinac would be given up by Lieut. Col. McDonall on the 15th July, or immediately on the arrival of Col. Butler who left Detroit for that place, on the 7th, with 240 men; but of these events, I have as yet no official Communication.—

I have given orders to the Commissariats, and Officers Commanding the different Posts, to use every exertion to forward the Indian presents to their several points of destination, with all possible dispatch.—

The Letters received from Major Brock by Lt Col. Cockburn are forwarded by the Express this evening, to Sir Sydney Beckwith.

SPEECH TO INDIANS

Lieut. Col. McDonalls speech to the different Indian Nations on sending Capt. Anderson of the Indian Department with presents to the Mississippi.

Michilimackinac 28 June 1815

My Children

(Capt. Bulger)—Your Father<sup>1</sup> who commanded at the Prairie des Chiens has again rejoined me at this place, and has given me a pleasing and satisfactory account of your conduct, to prove to you my gratification at your having listened to his voice like obedient children, I embrace the earliest opportunity to send you some goods, to enable you to pass the winter,—The assortment is not so large as I could have wished in consequence of the presents not having arrived, but knowing your wants and being anxious to supply them, I even purchased from the Traders at a great price what I now send you. My Children

Library of Congress

1 Captain Bulger.

I send you some strings of wampum to tell you my sentiments, open your Ears and be attention.

My Children

You have already been told more than once that Your Great Father the King, has made Peace with the Big Knives<sup>2</sup> and that all his Red children are included in it.—I again repeat this to you, and that it is his absolute desire and command that you all bury the Tomahawk and live in harmony with them.

2 Americans.

My Children

You must now turn your attention to the cultivation of that strict friendship amongst yourselves upon which the common welfare of the Indian Nations so much depends.—It is only by a general Union of the Tribes, and burying in oblivion your jealousies and resentments that you can become happy or prosperous,—by such conduct,—by living in peace as if you were all of the same family,—You not only please your Great Father at Quebec, but you walk over your hunting grounds in safety and render yourselves so formidable that other nations will respect your Rights and be more careful how they treat you with injustice.

My Children

I recommend strongly to you to treat your traders well and by this means encourage them to return to your villages,<sup>3</sup> let the Chiefs be careful to restrain their Young men from killing the cattle and destroying the Grain of the Inhabitants for these practices will cause them to leave 193 your country, and then you will too late discover the imprudence of your conduct.

My Children

Take great care of the goods I send you and distribute the clothing judiciously. You will use the Arms and Ammunition for the support of Your Families in the Winter it is with this view only I have sent them to you—Above all things encourage your women to plant corn that you may avoid the evils which you have endured from Scarcity and want.

My Children

I have sent Wampum to all the different Tribes, making known to them these sentiments. I would wish the Chippewas of Lake Superior and the Sioux the Neighbors in particular to remember that the Great Father at Quebec is highly displeased at their unnatural wars which they so frequently carry on against each other and that he expressly commands them to desist from making incursions into each others Territories to lay aside their enmity and in future to smoke the pipe Peace together as Brethren.—

My Children

Listen to my words, those who do not wander into the wrong road, but attend strictly to my council, shall not want, I bold you all fast in my hands, and invite you once a year to the King your great Fathers new Fort at Pontaganipy (Drummond's Island) that you may there receive that bounty which he is ever ready to bestow upon his good and obedient children.

Library of Congress

1 This should be Le Moite, a French appellation, meaning the moistener or sprinkler.

My Father

I am become weak in body and mind in my old days, I therefore beg you will excuse me should I forget or omit any words.—

In giving you my hand, or in speaking to you, I address myself to the King our Great Father beyond the Salt Lake, to My Father at Quebec and to My Father at Michilimackinac, I call the Sky and the Earth to witness and there is no deceit in my Heart, I will speak the pure truth.

My Father

I always thank the great Master of Life for having inclined me to listen to you, and follow your advice. The Chief Warriors and young 25 194 men you see hereabouts are all of the same opinion, they love their English Father.

I thank you for what I have heard from you to day, it pleases me and I hope all the other Tribes will listen to your advice, as well as we shall. I thank you also for the clothing which I see before me.

My Father

I am tired standing, I must therefore be short and repeat to you again, that I am heartily pleased at what I have heard and seen to day—I have something more to say but I am fatigued I will put it off till the evening.

In the evening Capt. Anderson invited the old Chief to supper after which he began the following discourse.

My Father

Library of Congress

I am going to talk with you privately that is in the presence of some of my principle Chiefs, if you think proper you may repeat what I say to Our Father at Michilimackinac.

My Father

I shall in the first place tell you how the Chiefs I sent to St. Louis were treated by the Big Knives Chief (Governor Clarke) on their arrival there being three Chiefs and several soldiers, they were seated in the circle with the other Indians, the American Chief in going around to shake hands, said that the men I had sent were unfit to talk with him, and that he must absolutely see me or my Head War Chief The Black Hawk, <sup>1</sup> he added to my Brother, you must immediately send off messengers to tell Lemoite and the Black Hawk to repair to this place in the course of thirty days; If they do not, I will ascend the Mississippi and find them; those your nation who remain here will be guarded by soldiers, till your Head Chiefs obey my summons. If they are not here in thirty days their Blood will be spilt for their disobedience.

Then addressing the Kickapoos, You have a choice, say you wish for war and we are ready, say you wish for Peace, and it shall be so.—Ye Sauks, Kickapoos, Renards, Poutawatamies you see what you must do, you must never expect to see your English Father again, you have rendered yourselves miserable by following his advice by going to war with us. He did not this year ask you to embark in his Boats, to traverse the Lakes.—We are going to build Forts on the Mississippi, we have driven your English Father from thence and from Michilimackinac, you are miserable, you will not have an English Trader amongst you; how can they come?

195

All this time and while the council lasted guns were pointed at my chiefs (continued LeMoite) and as often as the American chief the Red Head (meaning Governor Clarke)

spoke harsh to them, several other tribes who were present would yell with joy, which makes me much ashamed as they were principally our Enemies from the Missouri.—Bodoin (the American agent for Indian affairs) was not in the council, he afterwards told my chiefs that what the Red Head (Governor Clark) had told them were not the words of the Great American Chief, that he made that bad news himself and threatened them without being authorized as he had himself wintered at Washington and was certain it was not the wish of the Great American Chief at that place to hurt any of the Indians.—The Red Head (Governor Clark)<sup>1</sup> also told my chiefs that he had taken the pains to send an interpreter up the Misourie a great distance from them to cross over to the River St. Peters to descend the same and return to St. Louis by the way of the Mississippi.

My Father (continued the old chief La Moite) this is the discourse of the American Chief at St. Louis as reported to me by my Brother and the other Sauk Chiefs whom I had sent down and in whom I have full confidence, since Peace is declared and we are to live as friends, Why do not the Big Knives shut their bad mouths and not insult us?"

My Father

If they come up here as Traders, I shall always be happy to see them, and to treat them well, but since you are not to have Forts on our Lands, they shall not come up with soldiers higher than Fort Maddison<sup>1</sup> (their furthest post on the Mississippi before the war) we will strictly listen to your voice, but we are not women,—we will not commence quarreling with them, but if they begin to molest us in the least, we fear them not and will defend ourselves like men.

Address to and Translated by Capt. Anderson Indian Department at La Prairie des Chiens

3 August 1815

Library of Congress

The Thirty days that had been allowed by Governor Clark for the principal Sauk Chiefs to repair to St. Louis being as they said nearly elapsed, and as they understood that the Americans looked upon them as their Enemies from that period (15th or 25 August) they asked Captain Anderson what his advice to them was? he replied that he did not think the Americans would do them any injury and as Bodoin 196 their Agent was soon expected up their best plan would be to receive him friendly, and present him with the pipe of peace on his arrival at their village, this proposal they would not agree to, stating that they would not humble themselves so much as to offer their pipe but if Bodoin would present them with his pipe, they would without hesitation receive it; Captain Anderson to get rid of this difficulty advised them to present the American agent with the pipe which Captain Bulger (who commanded at Fort McKay had given them in May last to smoke with the Americans on informing them of Peace.— To this they agreed.—

Speech of the Black Hawk, Head War Chief of the Sauk Nation, in reply to that of Lieut. Col. McDonall, spoken before Capt. Anderson.

My Father.

I thank you for your words to day, which instruct us how to live happy, I am also sincerely thankful for the trouble you have taken to save the lives of our women and children for the ensuing winter by the bounty you have bestowed upon us.

My Father.

You must before have heard that I am one of those very few Indians, who speak my sentiments openly and without reserve—do not therefore be angry at what I am going to say. I shall repeat your own words.

My Father.

Library of Congress

You know that at the commencement of the war we were loath to take up the Tomahawk and did not until you absolutely threatened us seriously with your displeasure recollect My Father your words were these.

"My Children—Those bad spirits the Americans wishing to rob you "of your Lands and having declared war against Your Great Father the "King, he has declared war against them.—Your Red Brethren have all "joined him, in defense of your Lands and your lives, and I have often "pressed you to follow their example, but you are dilatory. I tell you "now, for the last time that if you do not immediately strike upon the "Americans, I will turn all the other Indians against you and strike "you to the ground.

My Father.

You also sent us word to take Courage and fear nothing, that when you would smoke the Pipe that all Your Red Children would be included in that Peace, but this was not to take place until those bad spirits the Americans were entirely driven off our lands and those of our ancestors; I believe my Father you gave us hopes that the Ohio would be the future boundary of the Americans.

You have to day recalled to our minds those promises by sending us a supply of Goods, which will save our families from perishing in the winter. The Americans according to their stories are Masters of us and our Lands; but this is not your story, we shall therefore listen to your words, and remain quiet as My Great Chief told you just now, and next Canoeing season, I will go and see my Great Father at Michilimackinac and perhaps farther.

My Father.—In the meantime I hope I may not be obliged to dig up my Hatchet I know these Big Knives have sweet tongues and fear they have cheated us all.

My Father

It is a long way to go every year for our supplies, but you say everything is arranged for our good, and next hot season at least one hundred of my warriors will go and see you.

My Father. I now take you by the hand, my heart is in it and you may rely on its being the Heart and Hand of a child that has sense, but when I look down this River some bad blood that remains in my heart jumps up to my throat, and were it not for your councils, I would free myself of it.—

When we lost our friend (Col. Elliott) we saw a man standing before us (Col. Caldwell) who we find is a man not fit to take charge of us.

Father,

When he first took us by the hand we was in hopes he would use was us as our friend (Colonel Elliott) had done, but he has not performed the promises he made to us.

Father,

We were in want of clothing, even barefooted, he never paid any attention to our wants but neglected us.

He has told us that our Great Father had made peace with the Big Knives, our young told him they were glad. We have not heard on what terms, Peace was made, and we are still blind on that subject.

Father,

When we returned to Detroit he could not tell us or give us any satisfaction,—and we are now come down to you.

Father,

We have been neglected by Col. Caldwell, we do not speak individually, but all the different Nations have experienced the same thing, and beg you will give us a person who is capable of taking charge of us; We hope you will take it into consideration, and you will always find us ready at your call.

LIEUT. COL. MCDONALL TO MAJOR MORGAN

Drummond's Island 3d August 1815.

Sir

I have neither seen nor had in my possession any Records relative to Michilimackinac prior to its capture, or I should with much pleasure have restored what would have been of use to you and no possible service to us.

The sentiments which you have expressed to the Indians, are manly and candid and pleased me the more as being in such strict conformity to the Language I have invariably held out to them since the Peace. I have taken every possible pains to impress upon their minds that peace being happily restored between the two Governments in which the whole of the Indians on either side were included, it was their interest and they could not give greater satisfaction to our Government than by their observance thereof, with the strictest good faith; that the most friendly intercourse would be resumed and that their young men must turn their attention to their Hunt and the Cultivation of their fields for the support of their families.

These sentiments in compliance with the reiterated instructions of my Government have been widely circulated and the Peace with the usual ceremonies generally made known by myself to the Indians of Lake Huron and by the officers who commanded at Prairie des Cheins to those of the Mississippi.— Lest these communications should not be sufficient and that there might be no mistake or remaining doubt on the minds of any of the Tribes; I purposely despatched Capt. Anderson of the Indian Department to the Mississippi with presents and wampum again to repeat the news of Peace and to diffuse the same pacific sentiments amongst all the different nations.

After these precautions it was with infinite regret that I have lately seen in one of your papers an outrage said to have been committed by a small party Sauks which every friend of humanity must deplore. I am myself convinced this must have been the savage act of a few unauthorized desperadoes not under the control of the Chiefs or as is sometimes the case, who refused to listen to their voice, and that it by no means indicated a hostile spirit on the part of the Nation. His Excellency Sir Gordon Drummond shocked at this unfortunate transaction has called my attention to it, and (not then acquainted with Capt. Anderson's Mission) thinks it may have happened in consequence of the Peace not being sufficiently promulgated;—To prove to you therefore his earnest desire that the Indians should be fully informed of his wishes on so important a point and of his abhorrence of such atrocities he has directed me to send in his name, a mission to the Mississippi to renew with more solemnity the Ceremonies of peace and express his earnest desire for its rigid observance, Conscious of having already effectually anticipated his wishes as before explained, yet should you be of opinion that His Excellency's intentions are still necessary or would have a beneficial tendency I shall be prepared to carry them into effect, having nothing more at heart than that the Peace with the Indians should be lasting, and to prevent to recurrence of such calamities as those alluded to:—

COMMODORE OWEN TO LIEUT. GEN. DRUMMOND ( Provincial Marine )

Streets Creek Chippewa 5th August 1815

Sir ,

Actg Lieut Hugo Quebec I have the honor to acquaint Your Excellency that I have authorized the officers named in the margin to open Lieut D. Venus Montreal Rendezvous upon the plan which I submitted to you by Captain Dobbs.

Library of Congress

Your Excellency has doubtless been acquainted that six Troops Ships had arrived from England to take home the seamen and artificers, but as the Commissioner was of the opinion that the latter could not be spared before October, and I had in consequence given orders to defer 26 202 the reduction of the yard until the last day of September there will be nothing to detain them. I therefore hope they will have taken all the officers and men on board who were embarked in Transports and have sailed at once with them.

In visiting the dépôt at Holland River, I took the opportunity of consulting Mr. Depty. Commissary General Cruikshank upon the best mode of forwarding the Long guns now there to the new settlement on Drummond Island at the Detour or to Amherst<sup>1</sup> if you should require them at either of those places: and, as he was decisively of opinion it was easier to do so by the Nattawaysaga and Lake Huron in either case, I have, at the suggestion of Captain Collier,<sup>2</sup> directed them to be removed at once across the water in Kempenfeldt's Bay, the ice in winter being seldom strong enough to bear them, and Captain Hambly of the Star will proceed immediately with a party of men to execute that duty. I have ordered also an Inventory of Stores at Holland River to be transmitted to His Excellency Major General Sir F. P. Robinson, that if any of them appear useful for the new Establishment, they may be at his disposal for it.

2 See appendix.

I am very anxious to consult Your Excellency further as to Lake Huron at the first moment after having visited Penetangnishene &c. and will not lose a moment in submitting to you any suggestion which arises on that subject.

I have reports from Captain (W. F. W.) Owen on the Grand River and Turkey Point. He is very sanguine on the subject of the latter, and I have no doubt good building places might be made by driving piles, and raising the ground: but this I fear in the present state of the Colony will be too much to undertake.

I will however forward his Statements to Your Excellency as soon as possible when I have the Surveys.

He speaks of Gypsum on the Grand River and, of some stones found upon the west side of Long Point which indicate the vicinity of coal.

I send your Excellency herewith a sketch with soundings of the Harbour at the new Settlement and a Copy of the report of Captain Collier on it, and have the honor to remain.

Drummond Island , 5th August 1815

Sir ,

Inclosed I have the honor to transmit the receipt of Col. Butler of the U. States Army for the Guns given over to him on the delivery of the Post of Michilimackinac.

A company of the 57th Reg. now occupy this new post and a small detachment thereof at St. Joseph's, Capn Payne of the Royal Engrs is getting on with his Surveys as fast as the few axe men we have can clear the country for him—The men of the 37th knowing nothing of this work make little progress—for this reason a picked company of axe men & artificers from the Canadian Regiments, instead of one of the 37th would be of infinitely more service—The Engineer being now obliged to hire what few men we can get of that description at a great expense—We are also in want of a medical Officer at this Post.

I beg to receive your Honor's Instructions as to the Duties payable at this post and St. Josephs upon American goods—British Goods are as before paying 30 p cent at Michillimakinac—It would be very desirable that the Duty on Whiskey should be high—Until I am honored with your commands I have directed Mr. Askin who before acted as Collector to enforce the former regulations—

Several very respectable traders being anxious to settle & build houses at this Settlement & being very desirous of affording that encouragement so essential to its future prosperity I have accordingly bestowed ten lots in this way on condition that Houses of particular dimensions be constructed in the course of next year & subject to your ratification & approval.

Finding that a large quantity of stores & provisions are still at Nottawasaga in an exposed state, I have considered it proper & ultimately a saving to Govt. to hire a Schooner to assist in their conveyance.

Asst. Dy. Commy. Laidley has also forwarded us a considerable quantity of spirits & provisions from Amherstburg, not aware I believe of the quantity coming by the other Route. We are therefore overstocked in the former article.

I am directed by Lieut General Sir Gordon Drummond to dispatch Lt. Col. McKay to the Mississippi with a view to stop the predatory warfare lately going on by detached parties of the Sauks against the Americans, and conceiving the peace not to have been sufficiently promulgated, 204 infinite pains have however been taken with every appropriate ceremony to proclaim it among them, & this too, already more than once, the fact is that occasional war parties go out in defiance of the Chiefs (to revenge the loss of such relations as have been killed) and cannot be stopped perhaps for years to come;—I sent a Capt. of the Indian Department on the 4th July with presents for the Indians of the Mississippi & especially to make known to all the Tribes the anxious desire & commands of their Great Father at Quebec, that the peace before solemnly announced to them should be most strictly observed.

After such repeated precautions & being conscious that if Col. McKay were sent without the knowledge of the American Government or officer commanding at Mackinac it would do more harm than good, & cause the utmost jealousy and suspicion of our motives, I have determined as a clear & unequivocal proof of the ardent wishes of the British Government, that the Indians should cease their hostilities, & be at peace with the American Government, to send Lt. Col. McKay to Major Morgan at Mackinac, to state to him my willingness that he should proceed to the Mississippi for that purpose, if he thought it necessary; this I cannot think he will now require, as it is ascertained that the party of Sauks lately engaged left Fort McKay the 12th May before the peace was known & that the chiefs of the nation at large have since gone to St. Louis to ratify the Peace.

I am happy to state that the most friendly intercourse continues to subsist between me and Major Morgan Commanding at Michilinacknac.

I have &c (Signed) Rt. McDouall Lieut Col. Commanding.

McDouall, commanding at those Posts, represents as indispensable for the comfort of the Troops quartered in that remote country—Great Coats being a Government supply are of course to be issued to the Troops according to Regulations, but it is unusual except in time of War, for the Commissariat to furnish Articles of necessaries to the Troops, but as there are only Detachments on that Station, which is destitute of all kinds supplies and peculiarly situated, it does appear expedient that this Requisition should be complied with, Should His Excellency be of that, opinion I will take immediate steps for procuring them on receiving his approval.

Kingston , 12 August 1815

Sir

I beg leave to transmit to you the copy of a letter from Mr. Baker at Washington with its several enclosures which has been forwarded to me by Sir Gordon Drummond, His Excellency anxious to relieve the American government from the opinion they have 14, July 1815 A B adopted that recent acts of Hostility by the Indians against their frontier settlements and Posts have been stimulated by British agents and conscious that every exertion on his part has been made to carry into effect every article of the Treaty of Ghent as far as depends on him he is extremely desirous of proving the assertions of the American agents to be unfounded and illiberal calumnies.

Library of Congress

I am therefore directed to request you will cause a Court of Inquiry to assemble at Amherstberg or Malden at which you will preside and as far as lays in your power cause such investigations to be made into this unpleasing subject as will bring to light the persons accused of such unwarrantable practices or refute the assertions of the American agents and I must desire that your reports generally, as well as respecting the accusations of Cadot in particular may be full and explicit.

208

His Excellency further requests me to state his particular desire, in fact orders, that the Indians desist from all further hostilities against the Americans and that you express to the Traders passing into the Indian Territories how indispensibly necessary it is for them to endeavor to induce the Indians to refrain from a recurrence to those acts of violence which a state of war alone can sanction or justify.

1st Evidence

Colonel William Caldwell Deputy Superintendant of Indian Affairs duly sworn—

Question by the Court Have you any knowledge of any person having taken steps to stir up, or cause the Indians to commit hostilities against the American Inhabitants?

Answer Never since the Peace of Ghent was made.

Question Have you any reason to suppose that the Indians have been stimulated by British Agents to commit acts of Hostility against the United States of America particularly since the Treaty of Ghent?

Answer Not any.

Question Was or was not the Treaty of Ghent fully explained to the Heads of the different Tribes of Indians at Burlington Heights early in March last?

Answer Yes it was.

Library of Congress

Question On this occasion was there not great pains taken to impress on the minds of the Indians, that their British Father confidently looked for, and expected, the most peaceable conduct from them towards the United States of America?

Answer Every form was gone through and it was explained to them twice since.

Question From the situation which you hold in the Indian Department, could acts of Hostility be carried on by the Indians, under sanction of British Agents, against the United States without your knowledge?

Answer By no means, there could not.

Question Since the Treaty of Ghent have you not known that the British Officers, who might be supposed to have influence with what 27 210 are called the British Indians to use their best advice in recommending peaceable conduct towards the United States of America?

Answer I have never known to the contrary.—I have always told them to keep their British Father between them & the Americans—The Indians & their Chiefs always told me filet they would abide by the Treaty that their Father had made for them at Ghent, and which was read and explained to them at Burlington; But should the Americans attempt to take any of their Lands by false sales, or otherwise, that it would not be standing to the Treaty that their Father had made for them. The Indians also said they would defend their Country if the Americans attempted to take their Lands. As for my part, I have always recommended Peace to them.

Question Did Interpreter Cadot, to the best of your knowledge, ever stimulate or try to influence the minds of the Indians against the Americans or the American Govt?

Library of Congress

Answer Not to my knowledge, never by authority or orders—I was informed by reports, that American Agents came disguised into the Indian Country at Sandwich in June last when the Indians came down here on their return home.

Question Have you any idea what was the intent of the visits of those disguised Indians?

Answer For no good purposes.

Question Do you know that the British Indians were positively forbid by the American Govt during the months of June & July last, to ever cross to the right Bank of the Detroit River?

Answer The Indians often reported to me that they had been driven back when they went over the River, and that they had very often been ill used by the Americans.

2nd Witness

Captain Billy Caldwell of the Indian Department being duly sworn—

Question Have you any reason to suppose or believe, that British agents, have since the Treaty of Ghent, taken any steps to stimulate the Indians to behave ill, or commit acts of Hostility against the American Inhabitants or the American Govt?

Answer No, on the contrary, to my knowledge everything possible has been done to make and to induce the Indians to behave with peace and quietness towards the Americans; but I know that the American Agents on the other side the River behaved so ill to the Indians in the months of June and July last that they were much vexed at such treatment 211 and I think it will be some time before the Indians forget the injury which the chiefs and warriors then complained of.

Question Was the Treaty of Ghent read & fully explained to the Indians in the month of March last?

Library of Congress

Answer I was not at the Council at Burlington, but I know it has been twice publicly explained to the Indians & I have repeatedly informed the different Tribes of it since— The Indians were told at Burlington, that the roads were opened by the Treaty of Ghent, and they were advised to return peaceably to their own Country; when they arrived at Sandwich and Were forbid by the American Agents to cross the Detroit River, they complained of the warlike disposition of the Americans toward them; and as I have already stated it will take some time before they forget what they called breaking the Treaty their Great Father had just made for them.

Question What do you know of American Agents crossing over to Sandwich into the British Indian Camp in disguise in June & July last?

Answer Such information was given to me—

Question What was their Object in coming in disguise, as we were then at peace?

Answer By coming in disguise they could not be doing any good.

Question Did you ever hear anything about the month of June last respecting Reports being called for by the American Government, in order that complaint might be made regarding Hostilities which were said to be committed by the Indians?

Answer I did hear such reports.

Question Was anything ever said on the subject of the Americans having given up the country to the Indians, as far as the Ohio River?

Answer No never.

3rd Witness.

Captain John Wilson of the Indian Department duly sworn.

Library of Congress

Question Have you any reason to suppose that any British Agent since the Treaty of Ghent, has strove to stimulate any of the Indians to conduct themselves in a hostile manner towards the American Government or Inhabitants?

Answer I have no knowledge of anything of the kind nor do I believe it.

Question Do you know that the American Government forbid the Indians in June & July last from crossing the Detroit River, and what sensation did such conduct produce amongst the Indians?

Answer I do not know it officially, and the Indians required of me a reason for such conduct, observing that it was contrary to the Treaty of Ghent which was read and explained to them at Burlington—and they were dissatisfied at a breach of the Treaty, so contrary to what they had been told at Burlington, that their British Father had taken the Americans by the hand, and that they were included in the Treaty, but that the conduct of the Americans was breaking that Treaty.

Question Have the Indians told you, that they consider themselves bound to follow and obey the Treaty of Ghent?

Answer They have, and a head Chief told me, in the hearing of an American Officer, that the Indians considered themselves bound by the Treaty. The Indians perfectly understand that all their Lands rest with them, and in their possession, the same as they did the first day the late war.

4th Witness

Captain William Elliott of the Indian Department duly sworn.

Library of Congress

Question Captain Elliott, do you know or believe that any steps has ever been taken since the Treaty of Ghent, to stimulate the Indians to acts of violence against the Government or Inhabitants of the United States of America?

Answer No on the contrary, for I know that every possible means has been used to make and induce the Indians to conduct themselves peaceably towards the United States.

Question When was the Treaty of Ghent read & explained to the Indians first?

Answer Immediately on its being received at Burlington Heights, it was read and explained to them; I explained it myself at my own quarters afterwards by orders from the Superintendant General, and all the chiefs were perfectly satisfied with it. The Indians on our coming down to Sandwich accused me of being a Liar, as they were not allowed to cross the Detroit River by the Americans, and that by such conduct I had either told them what was not true, or else that the Americans had broke the Treaty, and were still at war with them; I explained it away in some degree by informing the Indians that I supposed the Americans would not let them across fearing their own Indians and them might quarrel, Question What have they ever said to you about their country?

Answer They have always said that if the Americans attempted to take their lands from them, that it would be an act of war, and as Treaty of Ghent secured them, they were satisfied, and that they would 213 always rely on their British Father, if injustice was ever offered to them by the American Government—

5th Witness

Mr. George Ironside of the Indian Department duly sworn—

Question Do you know of any agents or others trying to stimulate the Indians to acts of Hostility or violence towards the American Government or the Inhabitants of that Country?

Library of Congress

Answer No, quite the contrary, since the Treaty of Ghent they were even told that their Presents would be withheld, should the smallest improper conduct be offered to American Subjects.

Question Do you know of any American agents sent in disguise amongst the British Indians, and what was the intent of such conduct?

Answer I was credibly informed that such Agents did cross over often during the night, their intentions could not be favorable or proper, they being disguised.

6th Witness

Mr. Cadot of the Indian Department being duly sworn.

Question On the oath you have taken, do you know of any British agent who has strove to make the Indians continue at enmity or in a warlike state with the United States of America?

Answer No I do not since the Treaty of Peace.

Question Did you ever inform the Indians that the late Peace, was all artifice, and that they would soon be at war again with America?

Answer I never did, I always told them it was a solid & permanent Peace—

Question Did you ever, or do you know, on the oath you have taken of any person telling the Indians not to lay down the Tomahawk?

Answer No, never since the Peace.

Question Did you ever inform the Indians that it would be easy to blow up the works of Michilimackinac?

Library of Congress

Answer No, nor did I ever hear any other person say so.

The Court is of opinion that it is unnecessary to examine any further Evidence on this Subject, and therefore close its proceedings—

Reginald James Lt. Col. and President.

Memorandum attached to the Court of Inquiry.

Sir

I am exceedingly sorry to inform you that it was out of my power to compose the Court of Inquiry of more than two officers and myself, in consequence of the whole of them being completely laid up with Fever & Ague, and at this moment there are upwards of a hundred and seventy men sick<sup>1</sup> and in a state of convalescency, with little medical assistance, and I have very little hopes indeed of the recovery of Assistant Surgeon Burke. His services are at all events lost for a very long time.

Sir ,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of Your Excellency's note of the 9th Inst. and I state that the circumstances of the Indian Presents for the Post of Amherstburg being Shipped for this place instead of Fort George, has been occasioned by the Storekeeper General at Lachine forwarding all the goods for the Province under Invoice to me here by order of the Superintendent General of Indian Affairs, by which he has imposed upon me & the Storekeeper at this Post the duty of Storekeeper General in apportioning and marking the Presents for the several Posts agreeable to their respective Requisitions. Had he done this duty as formerly the expence of the Amherstburg goods from hence to Fort George would have been avoided, most of them are now arrived here, & those for Amherstburg & St. Josephs I am forwarding as fast as I can apportion them, the Former by Fort George & the latter by Lake Simcoe, so that it is now too late to change the mode of transporting these goods.

BOARD OF SURVEY ( Commissariat )

Drummonds Island 17 August 1815

Report of a Board of Survey ordered by Lieut. Col. McDonall, to examine and report upon the state of a certain quantity of Flour said to be received by Dep'y Ass't Comm'r Gen'l Monk from Nottawasaga for the use of His Majestys Troops.

Capt'n Payne, Roy'l Eng'rs President

Lieut. Victor, Roy'l Eng'rs Lieut. Slade, Roy'l Eng'rs Members

The Board having minutely examined Twenty-five barrels of Flour (which Dy. Asst. Comr. Genl. Monk informs to have been landed yesterday from His Majestys schooner Enterprize, and Merc'ht schr. Vermilion) is of opinion, that the Barrels of Flour have been for a long time in a bad state originating from exposure to the injuries of the weather a part altogether, decayed and in a hard state; part moist and part musty, sour and heated and altogether of a nature unfit for men to eat.

It appears that a total want of care can alone have occasioned so serious a loss but where this neglect is to be attached the Board cannot determine.

The Board however is of opinion that the damage has been sustained in the Monte from Youge Street<sup>1</sup> to the Nottawasaga River—Additional damage may have occurred subsequently (vizt.) in removing the Flour from the store at the Head of the River to its Month where vessels take in their lading particularly from the reported circumstance of the Batteaux being in a leaky state and in want of calking.

1 The road from York, now called Toronto.

Library of Congress

Out of the 25 casks examined it is the opinion of the Baker that the value of 10 may be baked into bread of an inferior quality; a great portion of the casks containing very course flour; little better than meal.

From the above examination the Board is of opinion that the whole of the Flour amounting to about 300 Barrels is in the same state.

Library of Congress

I have the honor to enclose Your Excellency a copy of a Letter sent by me to the officer Commanding at Michilimacknac in consequence of a communication from His Excellency Sir Gordon Drummond together with Major Morgan's<sup>1</sup> reply.

Having noticed in the papers some Fresh Aggressions on the part of the Sauks I thought it proper to renew the offer of sending Lieut. Col. McKay to the Mississippi to Express to the Sauks the displeasure of their Father at Quebec at the continuance of their predatory parties and call for the United exertions of all the chiefs in conjunction with his own influence to put an immediate stop to the same. Lieut. Col. McKay waited on Major Gordon with this message which as I expected was Civilly declined.

I adopted this mode , from being fully assured, that the worst motives would be imputed to our sending a British officer to the Mississippi, without their knowledge in the present situation of that Country . And that the proceeding would be viewed with no small degree of jealousy and Suspicion. By IT, we bare also clearly established the important fact that the conduct of the Indians so far from being Countenanced or approved, is pointedly censured, and Condemned by the British Government.

In the conversation which took place between Lieut. Col. McKay and Major Morgan,<sup>1</sup> the latter owned the intention of the American Government again to reoccupy the Indian Country from which they were driven last summer,—stated his belief that their troops were then in possession of La Prairie des Chiens where they were to erect a fort. Another at Green Bay and also their former Post at ChiCago to be re-established.—He admitted to Col. McKay that these Measures were in violation of the Treaty recently concluded, but they were determined upon on the plea of indispensable necessity and would be executed .

the Western Indians will then be encircled with a chain of Forts (if permitted) which with the Americans possessing Mackinac most effectually cuts off the Communication between them and us and totally deprives us of their future assistance. To have sent Col. McKay into the Country, under such circumstances would only have exposed him, to insult, probably have involved him in the dispute between the Indians and Americans and given that Umbrage to the latter Government which must be the present policy of ours so studiously to avoid.

Ever since the Peace the Americans have been bestowing uncommon pains to perfect and complete their plan of entirely gaining the Western Indians—They are aware of its vital importance in the event of another war. As one great means of effecting this the whole trade of Michilimackinac is to be monopolized by the house of John Jacob Astor who will soon distance all competitors in consequence of being enabled by the favour of his Government to send his goods into the Indian Country free of all duties whatever. The English, Traders are in a manner prohibited by being saddled with the enormous duty of 35 and 40 per cent. After this year it will exclude them wholly, and in times of Peace, to them it has chiefly been owing, that our connection and influence with the Indians has been kept up.<sup>1</sup>

It will be therefore sufficiently obvious to Your Excellency, that this influence is on the eve of being extinguished, and that the only chance of its revival, will be the faithful observance of the treaty of Ghent, restricting them from occupying or building Forts on any Indian Territory which they did not possess before the war (the case with Prairie des Chien, Green Bay, &.) and in the event of a Commercial Treaty between the two countries insisting upon the free navigation of the Mississippi, and upon the intercourse and trade with the Indian Nations exempt from all restrictions or duties. The Americans will themselves have so much to ask for, that these concessions, they would perhaps find themselves obliged to make.

Library of Congress

It is stated at Mackinac (and even by Major Morgan to Col. McKay) that General Brown is expected there with 1500 or 2000 men! I cannot credit this report, but if correct your Excellency is doubtless aware of the movement, the object of which must be to force the Indians to submit to their measures. The cession of Mackinac and no point of support or appear'ce of it from us will incline the majority of the Tribes to submission, others will resist, and render themselves liable to severe vengeance.

I avail myself of this opportunity of communicating to you (with reference to your letter of the 1st Inst) that I have transmitted copies of the correspondence therein contained to Lieut Col. ### LIEUT. COL. McDONALL TO MAJ. GEN. ROBINSON

Drummond's Island 21. August 1815.

The Hired American schooner Mink arrived this day. with Indian Presents and some provisions from Amherstburg, from which place she sailed on the 5th inst. The accounts brought by her Confirm the statement of General Browns arrival at Detroit and moreover add that three thousand troops had accompanied him and were in that River—That the Squadron destined for this Lake, had been Augmented by the Lawrence of 20 guns which had been weighed and refitted and that it was given our at Detroit that this formidable Armament after reinforcing some of the Frontier Posts were to proceed to Green Bay to Co-operate with their Troops at Prairie des Chiens in reducing all the Western Indians to subjection and ensuring their future obedience by establishing a chain of Forts throughout the whole of their Country.

It is however necessary for me to state to Your Excellency that the remote situation of this Post renders it difficult for me to obtain intelligence on which I can entirely reply.—I cannot however divest myself of the belief that the above is too true. tho: the force may be exaggerated. Even this my informant pertinaciously denies and states that it is composed of the 18th, and 14th Regts, and several other Corps. The master of the vessel which brings the news is himself employed to build a vessel at Green Bay in furtherance of the scheme (it is supposed) mentioned in my letter of yesterday, on excluding our Traders and of wholly Cutting off our Communication with the Indians and with the Mississippi.

223

If these preparations be true and to the extent described, they Cannot have escaped the notice of Your Excellency and of Sir Gordon Drummond who of Course will have required the necessary explanation from the American Government.—to me they appear full of Suspicion,—for a century to come perhaps such an opportunity may not occur to effect their darling object, the subjugation of the Canadas, the western Indians will now be crushed, and if their Cabinet at Washington is inclined to treachery their Erie Fleet is ready and unopposed, the hordes of Ohio and Kentucky eager for plunder and revenge could render Browns Army most formidable, and enable it to sweep the defenceless upper Province like a Pestilence. I think the present Crisis presents too strong a temptation for such a Government .

Sir ,

I have the honor to forward to your Excellency the Report of a Board of Survey appointed by me to examine and report upon the State of Three Hundred Barrels of Flour rec'd. at this post on the 17th Inst by his Majesty's Schr. Surprize<sup>1</sup> and the hired Schr. Vermillion.

Library of Congress

1 Name is the Enterprise, see p. 217.

The Board has entered so fully into the subject and so satisfactorily described the present condition of the Flour as well as the probable causes which led thereto that little remains for me to add as to that part of the subject.

I have had frequent occasion to complain of the state in which the various articles forwarded by the route of Nottawasaga for the Garrison under my command have been received—Every evil which could possibly have resulted from entrusting the various stores provisions and Indian Presents unguarded to the unprincipled Gang which infest the 224 communication between York and Nottawasaga, has been felt. The Barrels of Flour and Pork have not only occasionally have been plundered, but the bungs of the latter in general out and so damaged as not to contain any of the pickle so that it must in the course of next year necessarily spoil on our hands. The Indian Bales, Shot, Engineers Stores, Tobacco and Spirits have all come in for their share of Pillage,<sup>1</sup> but particularly the two latter articles, then subsequent exposure to the weather at Nottawasaga (which I fear has rendered the whole of the flour useless) together with renewed depredations on the passage to this place has altogether occasioned a very serious loss to the public.

If these nefarious practices cannot be prevented the route by way of Lake Erie would be infinitely preferable.

I have now to entreat your Excellency's attention to the following statement the greater part of the provisions now at this post are of a bad quality (the Beef and Flour lately arrived from Amherstburg excepted) and I fear will not keep, the Flour sent during the war was never good much of it is now musty and inclining to sour and will not be much longer fit for use. A good deal of the Pork for want of Pickle will only be fit for use by the Indians—I therefore beg leave to suggest to your Excy that not another Barrel of damaged provisions be sent to this post thereby incurring a useless expense; that such as are unexceptionable only be forwarded and what Asst Commy Genl Laidley proposes sending from Amherstburg will supply the deficiency.

Montreal 21st Augt 1815

Private Dear Sir ,

I have received the honor of your letter of the 16th Instant & having very lately returned from a short excursion to Upper Canada I had while there, an opportunity of hearing reports regarding the Indians about Detroit and their dislike of their present Superintendant similar to what has reached His Excellency Sir Gordon Drummond.

Col. Caldwell's appointment to the station of Supt. was a measure of necessity—he was not considered equal to the task but he was the best that could be found and much dependance was placed on the aid and assistance which he would derive from his sons.

The situation is one to which (in the present critical state of the Indians) much responsibility is attached and I fear it will be matter of much difficulty to find a person adequate to it, who would be satisfied with the salary—With respect to the gentlemen of whose capacity I am desired to give an opinion—I am well acquainted with him and although I cannot at present point out a character who would answer better, I must candidly acknowledge that in all points I should not consider him adequate for the situation under the present circumstances of the Indians—but infinitely superior to Mr. Caldwell.

Mr. McKenzie (Alexander) is not in town but he is expected in about a fortnight, if after what I have said His Excellency should wish anything to be intimated to Mr. McKenzie on the subject, I shall inform you of his arrival.

In choosing a character for the situation in question, attention should be paid to the prejudice of the Indians—should they nominate some one, Whom they think would answer the purpose, they would be more satisfied with him, than with a man of superior capacity in whose appointment they had no voice.

I shall take the earliest opportunity of replying to your favor of the 1st Instant and give every information in my power on the subject.

FROM COMMISSIONERS McARTHUR AND GRAHAM ( Indians )

Detroit , 25 August, 1815.

Sir ,

Having been appointed by the President of the United States Commissioner in Treating with certain Indian Tribes inhabiting the Territories of the United States, we immediately on our arrival here gave notice to the Chiefs assembled at this place of our wish to meet in Council all the Indians belonging to those Tribes who had taken part in the late war against us, some of whom as we are informed still remain in the Territories of His Brittannic—that we might inform them of the Provisions in the Treaty of Ghent so far as they are interested and concert with them the proper measures for carrying the same into effect.

We accordingly requested the Chiefs of their respective Tribes to write them to meet us on the 25th of this month. This invitation did not produce the desired effect and we were told in Council that they were detained by the British Agents for Indian affairs.

Understanding that you have a general control over those Agents we have considered it as due to the friendly relations of Our Two Governments to apprise you of the fact, not doubting that you will adopt such measures as may seem to you, most proper to give full effect to the 9th article of the Treaty of Ghent, which you are aware requires certain acts on the part of the Indians to whom it applies.

Amherstburg 29th Augt 1815

Sir

On my landing at Sandwich yesterday, a letter signed "O. S. Langham"<sup>1</sup> was delivered to me by an Interpreter of the United States Indian Department and the singular circumstances altogether attendant on the visits of the writer to this Post and his interview with Major Barwick induced me to defer a reply to your own letter of the 26th Inst. and which I have now the honor to do.

1 Maj. A. L. Langham acting as secretary to commissioners McArthur and Graham, p. 227.

In regard to the first paragraph of your Letter I beg leave to inform you that the different Tribes of Indians and their Chiefs now resident in the British Territory had been fully made acquainted with every article of the Treaty of Ghent and that their satisfaction at the same was manifest and their conduct since orderly and peaceable.

In regard to the second I am inclined to believe that no detention has taken place on the part of the British Agents, or inducements whatever held out to the Indians on this side the River not to cross over to the Councils which you speak of.

In regard to the 3d It is needless for me to inform you that the Italians are there own free Agents, and are not to be forced to act beyond their own pleasure, and I again disavow all Knowledge or even 230 belief of the fact of their being prevented attending the Councils you wished, and also that the Treaty of Ghent has been most fully explained to those Indians who had been in alliance with this Government.

It may be necessary for me to remark to you Sir, that I am not at all surprized at any disinclination on the part of the Indians on the left banks of those Lakes and Rivers to visit the opposite shore when such pains had been so very recently (to my own Knowledge) been taken to prohibit one of them Eves to pass over, and, that to this line of conduct alone do I attribute their not attending Your Councils and not to the reasons you are pleased to assign.

GENERAL HARRISON TO LIEUT. COL. JAMES ( Indians )

Detroit 30th August 1815.

Sir

The letter which you did me the honor to address to me yesterday in answer to that of my Colleagues and myself of the 26th Inst. was delivered last evening.

In reply to that part of your letter which relates to Major Langham I must be permitted to believe that a knowledge of all the circumstances attendant on his visit to Amherstburg would have freed his conduct at least from the interpretation of "Singularity." The Major having been furnished with a conveyance by water reached Amherstburg late in the evening. It was his first object to procure quarters, but finding upon inquiry that all the Public Houses were full, he was under the necessity of waiting immediately upon the Commanding officer, altho' he previously understood that he was engaged with Company, —Upon his delivering the letter to Major Barrack<sup>1</sup> after a hasty perusal of it the Major returned it and informed that a Col. Caldwell was the person to whom the letter should have been delivered and a servant was sent to conduct Major Langham to his residence; It was not until he had advanced some distance, that it occurred to Major L.—that it could 231 not have been the intention of the Commissioners, and their Letter should be delivered to any other person, than the Military Commandant to whom it was addressed—being unable to procure accommodation and refreshments in the Public Houses for himself and his man; the sun being nearly Down, and being unwilling again to intrude on Major Barrack he thought it proper to set out immediately on his return to this place. The Commissioners approved of his refusing to deliver the letter to Colonel Caldwell, and directed him to return it to Major Barrack by any conveyance that might offer, none having occurred for some hours an interpreter was charged with its delivery after the departure of the Interpreter the letter of Major Barrack of the 26th was received.

Library of Congress

From the answer of Major Barrack to the letter of the Commissioners it appears he had a very imperfect recollection of the contents of the letter. It was certainly never our intention to apply to a British officer to use any “control or authority” over the Indians to induce them to attend the council to which they had been invited.—Our letter contained nothing that could warrant this idea—It was simply a communication of the information which had been conveyed to us that an officer of the Indian Department had exerted his “authority” to prevent their attendance.—

It was doubtless incumbent on the Two Governments to cause the Article in the Treaty of Ghent that relates to the Indian tribes which were respectively employed by them in the late war, to be properly explained to them, and I receive with pleasure the information you convey, that this had been done on the part of His B. Majesty, that they have expressed their satisfaction at it, and are in future to be orderly and peaceable.

It is much to be regretted however that this was not sooner done as it might have been the means of preventing those depredations upon the property of our Citizens so vexatious and injurious to them, as well as troublesome to you and which I have understood have been continued until a very few days past.

Library of Congress

From His Exly Governor Cass I have been informed that the restrictions upon the Indians in passing the straits to which you refer in the close of your letter, was in consequence of those depredations, but it never was intended to prohibit the crossing of the Indians at this place.

Sir

I have the Honor to Report to you my return to this command however my arrival being only on Sunday last has not enabled me to inform you fully on subjects which has become necessary and which I shall do by the next conveyance.

Generals Browne, Cass, Harrison, McArthur and Miller are now at Detroit assisted by Half a dozen others on a council of the Indian Tribes, and from what I have heard I am apt to conjecture that their intentions toward them are decidedly moderate, however that the late Glorious News from Lord Wellington<sup>1</sup> will induce this grand Commission to end much more favorable towards the Indians than it otherwise would have done. Immediately, and within Eight hours of my Landing here I was addressed by General Harrison, and the previous and attendant circumstances left me no other alternative than a decided answer on the Impropriety of the conduct of their Secretary & His unfounded imputations towards the Intentions of the British as far as regards the British Indians lately in alliance, and I make no doubt the measures I have adopted and shall pursue will meet your approbation.

If practicable I would very Earnestly, and respectfully entreat the two Companys of the 37th Regmt now at Queenstown being sent up here. Desertion and Distemper being so prevalent in that Quarter.

Amherstburg 3d Sept 1815

Sir

I beg leave to address you on the subject of the medical aid which appears necessary for this part of the country—

There are this day more than sixty men sick—

The Surgeon of the Regt. from unavoidable circumstances has not yet arrived here. He is however hourly expected, and one of the Assistant Surgeons is dangerously ill The other is with the remaining two companies at Queenston—and the whole of the sick at this Post and Sandwich are under the care of a medical gentleman of the Indian Department.

Under those circumstances I feel it my duty to suggest the necessity of a Staff Surgeon being appointed to the Western Frontier—

Sir

In reply to the letter of Major General Sir Frederick Robinson's Military Secretary of the 2d ulto. I beg to state that as an early conveyance to Mackinac for myself and sappers and miners was of great consequence; I engaged with the Master of the American schooner 237 Croghan for a passage and had so arranged with him that I should embark at Mr. Mackintoshes wharf<sup>1</sup> nearly opposite Detroit.

1 The place called Moy, Angus McIntosh's residence, now called Walkerville.

The Master however subsequently informed me that it was out of his power to take me on Board, as at first agreed upon; and that the Collector at Detroit had determined that I should embark there.

Understanding that t should be obliged to pay duties upon my stores and Baggage; I called upon the Collector to ascertain the truth of that circumstance and to my astonishment he confirmed the point not only a verbal opinion but a quotation from some Law Book . I expostulated with him to no effect confident in my own mind that his quotation did not apply to Military then on Duty from one station to another in either service.

I accordingly removed my baggage, then to the wharf at Detroit; went through the necessary form of waiting upon the Collector to report my arrival intentions &c. after which my private baggage and stores were opened and examined a list being taken of the whole, in order to the amount of Duty being ascertained—an allowance however was to be made upon such provisions & as might be required on the passage.—

As we sailed early the next morning I did not receive from the Collector the statement of the duties—a son in Law of Mr. Mackintoshe's at Detroit (Mr. Hunt) had become responsible for the payment of the Duty on the part of our Government which arrangement was made by Major Brock Ass: Quarter Master Gen'l through the Medium of Mr. Mackintosh.

My Dear Sir ,

A unpleasant circumstance has occurred, several men belonging to the Confiance deserted after plundering the vessel and robbing the officers Trunks The principal sufferer Lieut Vidal landed with a hope of recovering some of the things and in his way met one of the deserters drunk and took him up—This got wind and the Militia arrested him for so doing and sent him to Detroit<sup>1</sup> I have therefore written the Commanding Officer to request he may be released and that he will take such measures as he sees proper to enable the Lieutenant to recover the stolen property and have the person of the robbers secured.

Sir

A Robbery to a considerable amount having been committed by certain persons belonging to His Britannic Majestys Schooner Confiance, who afterwards deserted taking with them two of the Boats belonging to that Vessel, Lieut Vidal of His Majestys Naval Service landed at the place where one of those Boats was found, with a view of recovering 239 any part of the stolen property, which might be thereabout. In so doing (it is reported to me) that he has been arrested by an officer of the United States Militia and sent to Detroit.

I have therefore the honor to address myself to you with a request that this officer may be released, and that you will be pleased further to take such steps as you see proper, to enable him to recover the stolen property, and that the persons of the Robbers may be secured, being with consideration

Detroit Sept 5, 1815

Sir ,

Brigadier General Miller<sup>1</sup> Comg. the Troops at this Post has referred to me as Governor of the Territory, your Letter of this date requiring the release of Lieut. Vidal.

I was on the point of addressing you on the subject connected with his arrest when I received this Letter, Lieut Vidal was apprehended & brought to me, for seizing by force a person on this Territory and conveying him on board an Armed Vessel of His Brittanic Majesty. In so doing he has violated the Laws of this Country & subjected himself to the Penalty described for such conduct.

Permit me to observe that your demand of Lieut Vidal without offering to return the person seized and transported by him was not to have been expected. There are no Treaty stipulations between the U. States and Great Britain for the restoration of persons deserting from the service of one and seeking refuge in the Territories of the other.

Library of Congress

Such an arrangement was proposed by our Commissioners at Ghent to the British Commissioners but not acceded to by them—The subject therefore rests upon the general principles of National Law, which Law I need not remind you Sir, gives no right to a British officer to enter the Territory of the United States and forcibly transport thence any person, whatever may be his description or of whatever crime he may be accused. Our Laws like those of England afford security to every person within the Territory upon which they operate and this personal security cannot be violated, without subjecting the offender to the prescribed Penalty. Lieut Vidal has therefore an act for which he is responsible to the Civil Authority.

But Sir the subject involves considerations of greater interest than those personally affecting the Officer—An Armed Force on the service of H. Britannic Majesty has seized a person within this Territory and sent him on board a British Public Vessel—It becomes therefore my duty to request of you his immediate restoration and I do not suffer myself to doubt that you will see the propriety of complying with this request.

The Property which these persons are stated to have taken belonging to the British Government shall be restored so far as it can be found and identified.

I have no hesitation in saying that there is no wish on the part of the American Government, that persons in the Land or Naval service of Great Britain should desert and take refuge in the U. States. But until some Mutual arrangement is made on the subject it is impossible in a Government of Laws to deliver up persons of this Description or suffer it to be done by others.

Very respectfully Sir I have the honor to be Your most obedt servt (Signed) Lew Cass .

COMMODORE OWEN TO GOVERNOR CASS ( Courts Martial )

H. B. M. Schooner Huron River Detroit 6 Sep r 1815

Sir ,

I have the greater satisfaction in replying to your Excellency's Letter of yesterday as the circumstances attending the detention of Lieut. Vidal are not at all involved in the general principles it lays down.

Your Excellency is pleased to request that I will restore a man who never sought the protection of the Government of the United States or claimed it from any officer Civil or Military or from any other person belonging to it.

It appears by the mans own statement that he was taken away without his Knowledge being intoxicated and asleep in the Boat when she was stolen by the deserters, they landed him next mo'g & he was on his way to the shore returning to his Vessel when he met his officer & willingly obeyed his order to go into the Boat, no force was used no party landed except the Lieutenant and Midshipman with an Interpreter who is a Boy.

Such being the facts your Excellency will perceive that much exaggeration has been resorted to in the representation which was made to you.

The question is at present but such as regards the Lieutenant personally and I have no hesitation in renewing my request for his immediate release feeling assured that Your Excellency viewing the transaction in its true light will readily comply therewith.

You Sir are well aware that British Officers landing in this part of the territory of the United States have been exposed to insult and you will judge how the proceeding in which the circumstances have been much exaggerated and misstated has its grounds in that same feeling.

Library of Congress

In my former Letter I had the honor to state that this was not a case of simple desertion but that a robbery had been committed to a considerable extent previous thereto, the clothes of Lieut. Vidal were amongst the things which had been stolen and I am now informed a pair of Boots belonging to him were in the house at which he was arrested and that it was whilst claiming these and others of the stolen goods that the arrest was made.

It is with reluctance that I advert to any circumstance of general aggravation but it is my duty to state that previous instances have 31 242 occurred in which citizens of the U. States while protecting Deserters from our service have bargained with them on the very beach before the persons who pursued them for the boat and other things which they had stolen, and tho' in this instance they have not been bargained for so openly, yet frivolous pretences have been found to avoid their restoration by the parties.

I beg therefore your Excellency weighing all the circumstances attending a transaction in which I do not hesitate to say, that no offence against the laws of the U. States has been intended or in fact committed, will consider whether it will be needful to resort to our respective Governments, and thereby keep alive those irritable feelings which it is so desirable shall be forgotten.

Had the Lieutenant committed any act of indiscretion, which (considering his ready submission to the first person claiming to bold authority under the U. States) does not appear to have been the case, I should have had great pleasure on that as I shall in any future instance in attending to the Representation and correcting it who have the honor to be

Sir

I have the honor to inform you that the four deserters mentioned in your letter of the 3rd instant arrived here yesterday. The property they brought with them has been secured; but its nature is trifling. Will you be good enough to send a person to examine if any of their property was stolen, in order if such was the case it may be restored.

243

Immediately on receiving your letter I despatched persons to the Miami to take from those deserters what they might have with them. But they did not take that course, nor have I learned where they have been between the period of their desertion and their arrival here.

If property to any amount was brought by them to this side of the River it has been Secured Perhaps if some person were sent over acquainted with the articles stolen they may be found; in which event you may rely upon their restoration I regret that anything of this kind should happen. But you are well aware that as an Executive officer, whose duty is prescribed by law, I can neither prevent deserters or restore deserters. But in all cases when property not belonging to them is brought if it can be found it shall be restored.—

Amherstburg 6th Sept 1815

Sir

I had the honor to address you on the 30th Ultio, and now forward for your information the accompanied Letters N—1 & 2. 3 & 4 as they regard the same subject.

On my arrival I found that much pains had been taken by General Harrison to assemble the British Indians at Detroit, but without effect, as they informed me they were apprehensive of foul play and some of them stated to me their reasons and which were feasible enough, the unwillingness to cross over caused the letter No. 2,—and which was conveyed by a person in Coloured clothes<sup>1</sup> who on delivering His letter to Major Barwick hastily retired without waiting an answer, This person proved to be a Major Langham and on his return to Detroit incorrectly represented “a want of hospitality and civility from Major Barwick,” here I beg leave to assure you that such conduct has never before been attributed to Major Barwick who at the moment was very ill with Fever and Ague. I beg to call your observation to the signature of the enclosed letters, and also the dress of those deranged officers, who seldom or ever in personal interview ever inform you of their rank.

The letter No. 2, caused me to address (without really knowing it to be a decided fact that one of the signatures was that of Genl. Harrison,) the letter No. 3 and in reply thereto I received the Answer No 4 and which on the very face of it carries evasion.

I had not been able to collect the substance of what General Harrison addressed to the Indians in Council at Detroit more than his language being Artfully wound up attempting to convince the British Indians that the Americans made peace to accommodate England, and that they beat her in every Battle; they pushed hard to induce the Indians to sell their Lands (an immense Tract of Country) but to which the Indians replied “No we will not part with one inch of our Lands.”

I was waited on by the chiefs, on their coming over from Detroit last night, and although very peaceably and quietly disposed, yet their indignation at the conduct of General Harrison (who spoke on the part of America) is such as it should be consistant with the interests of the British Government,—they have told me they will reduce Genl Harrison's speech to a narrow compass, upon paper, and they have requested a Council to be held here in order to assemble the American Indians and inform them of their future intentions.—It appears that Genl Harrison could only assemble of the U. States Indians about 130 and that those of the British Indians at Detroit and this side who did not cross over to the Council exceeded 1300 men in Arms—I shall fully report all circumstances which may have taken place over the River as also what may occur resulting from the Council that is to Assemble here.

Drummond Island 6 Setp 1815.

Dear Sir

I am afraid you have lost sight of the mode you proposed of granting me the allowance for my horses, which being now due for so long a period, is not only inconvenient, but (sho. there be a change in the command according to report which I trust is unfounded) may be ultimately difficult to recover.

Whatever may be the rate fixed on, I hope that it can be settled thro' the commissary here. Every days experience convinces me, how totally unfit the men of the 37th Regt are for the various employments at the new Post, they are absolutely useless as axemen, have only one carpenter, no sawyers, & even as labourers are but indifferent. I hope my former representation was in time recommending at least one comp'y of the Canad'n Regt. or what is still better, a company of artificers selected for the very purpose. We shall never get on with the New Fort as we ought unless this system is followed with our whole garrison, and if no other mode presents, nothing is more easy, than to send down a comp'y of the 37th by Nottawasaga & get up a comp'y of picked Canadians by the same route.

Library of Congress

I am very long without hearing from any of you. I write you soon, by Capt. Anderson, Indian Dept., who is just arrived from his tedious 246 Mission to the Mississippi, which important duty he has executed to my entire satisfaction, and with much ability & address; I again solicit His Excellency's patronage of this deserving officer. He will minutely inform His Excellency of the present state of Indian Politics.

Col. Chambers has succeeded Major Morgan at Mackina, where they have been reinforced, & still talk of establishing a Post at Green Bay this season, I am however in great hopes it is too late, & that it will be a reprieve for the Indians, at least till next year.

Remember me to all at the Castle & believe me Very Truly Yours R't McDonald , Lt. Col.

I am forced to continue paying the hired Canadians thro' the commissary still, or suspend all work, & both men & stores remain uncovered. At such a distance and a new Fort to build at this Post, it should be an exception, and greater powers given to the Com'g officer as to payment, or we cannot get on.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your Excellency's Letter of this date, but whilst I thank you for the courtesy of Style in which it has been written, I must express sincere regret to find it does not meet me with that spirit of conciliation I had hoped would mark this painful intercourse between us and which is best adapted to soften prejudice in whatever cause arising.

Prejudice is not the inhabitant of well informed minds, and in calling your Excellency's attention to its possible operation (as acknowledged to exist) in the circumstances reported to you of Lieut Vidal I must disclaim distinctly all intention of its indiscriminate application; had I been weak enough to yield an instant to such impression its injustice would have been most fully proved to me in the little intercourse which under circumstances much more gratifying to my feelings, I have had with officers of the U. States.

It is unnecessary to follow the general reasoning of your Excellency's Letter in parts which do not bear upon the present question, In assuring you (as the Coming officer of this part of the Forces of His Majesty) that there was no intention to infringe the territorial Rights of the U. States and that the man whom you demanded not only denied that he had sought or claimed protection from it, but asserted that he willingly obeyed the order of his officer to go into the Boat—In further making known to you my readiness to notice any act of individual indiscretion which might be pointed out to me, it seemed to me I offered everything your Excellency could require, I much regret that you have thought it needful to meet these overtures by a proposition little calculated to restore good understanding, but which must on the contrary serve decidedly to inflame those prejudices we alike condemn.

Ill indeed should I fulfill the honorable charge confided to me could I consent that an avowed subject of His Majesty's should be submitted to such experiment against his own assertion, and in the face of all the acts which have been practised by interested individuals to seduce others from their Duty.

GOVERNOR CASS TO COMMODORE OWEN ( Courts Martial )

Detroit September 7 1815

Sir ,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your Letter of yesterday and have given it that attention which the importance of the subject Demands—

The facts which occurred during the transaction for which Lieut. Vidal was arrested, have been reported differently to you & to me; had the statement which I have received been made to you, I flatter myself the immediate restoration of the Individual taken would have followed my request of Monday and this business equally disagreeable to us all wou'd have terminated to our mutual satisfaction.

Library of Congress

I trust you will do us the Justice to believe, whatever course this subject may take that personal feelings will not influence its result, and if they did those feelings would prompt the unconditional liberation of Lieut. Vidal whose conduct not less than his situation interests us in his favor—Lieut Col James in a Letter of yesterday stated to me that British officers landing on this side the River had been insulted, This was the first intimation I received upon the subject, you will therefore judge Sir how far I am “aware” that such things have occurred Our Laws afford equal protection to your Officers & ours. The same acts which are criminal towards the latter are criminal towards the former, and I take this opportunity of assuring you that in every instance when acts penal by our Laws are committed towards your officers, if application be made to me, I will direct proceedings to be instituted against the offenders. For anything farther this your officers must rely upon the Courtesy & Hospitality of the Country and deeply shall I regret any incident which may prove us deficient in either.

In all Countries individuals are found whose personal conduct adds nothing to the character of the nation, some time must elapse before the passions excited by the late War subside, and till then I trust your officers are too liberal to think that the social virtues characterized the one party & the want of them the other—

I am gratified in being enabled to inform you that a part of the stolen property has been recovered together with many papers which shall be subject to your order—The same disposition shall be made of all which does not elude the search now making. 32

I am compelled again to request of you a restoration of the Individual taken by Lieut. Vidal to the situation in which he was found—If he was a Deserter there can be no doubt but the taking of him in the manner represented as well by Lieut. Vidal as by others was improper and a direct violation of our national Sovereignty. If he was not no injury can follow by placing him where Lieut. Vidal found him and submitting to his personal conduct the decision of the question at issue. If he voluntarily returns, as is my sincere wish, this irksome subject is terminated, If he claims to remain it is likewise terminated by shewing the impropriety of Lieut Vidal's conduct and by your redressing the wrong equally due to the character of the United & Great Britain.

I trust in urging this request you will discover the motive in a wish to protect our own Territorial rights & not to encourage Desertions. We do not want them, they add little to the mass of the Population, & less to the Public Stock of Industry and Talents, and I am confident there is no other Disposition to protect them than is necessary to the protection of one of the most essential attributes of National sovereignty.

My duty as an Executive officer is marked out by the Law and I feel confident you would not ask me to violate it—

Lieut Vidal's case is one which demands the interposition of the Judicial authority which is alone competent to decide upon it—

Kingston 9th September 1815

Sir

I have received the commands of Major General Sir Frederick Robinson to transmit to you for the consideration of His Excellency 18 August 1815 Sir Gordon Drummond copy of a letter from Lieut Col. McDonall with the Report of a Board of Officers upon the state of Provisions received by His Majesty's Schooner Enterprize and the Hired Schooner Vermillion at Drummond Island and which had been forwarded from York by the way of Nottawasaga.

His Excellency directs me to state that instructions have been repeatedly sent to Mr. Crookshank at York to use every possible exertion to discover the persons concerned in plundering the Stores and in order to prevent a recurrence of these depredations Orders have been given to Lieut Col. Buttersby commanding at York to send an escort with any further supplies which may go forward from that place upon 252 the requisition of the

Sir

Your visit to this Island at this time without any apparent business, your connection here and the character of that connection, your sauntering about through the village mixing with the savages who visit this part, conversing secretly with them and many other circumstances attending your conduct and general deportment since my arrival, induces the opinion here that your conduct and general deportment, is not, nor has been such as to meet the views of either the British or American Government. In direct violation of my notice to you forbidding your interference with the Indians within the American Limits by holding private Councils with and misrepresenting the conduct and intentions of the American Government and people to them. You have as I have been informed combined with Illegal, Improper, Unjust, false and Malicious practice. —You have sent your Emissaries amongst them particularly of the Grand Traverse inviting them to meet you here in Council, I have good reason for believing you have further interfered in the intercepting dispatches from my Agents within the Indian Country for these and many other violations of the Laws of the United States and the intentions of the British and American Governments in the honest and faithful observance of the Peace entered into by the late Treaty of Ghent, I shall feel it my duty to apply to the Officer Commanding the Post for a Military Escort provided by Law to be furnished for the purpose of conveying you to the Nearest Civil Tribunal having cognizance of such cases within the United States where you may be put upon your trial.

I have very little to add to the contents of my Public Letter the man on whom American protection is to be forced by Genl Harrison and Mr Graham (who holds a situation in the War office) there being 256 the advisers and urgers of Governor Cass, has borne a very good character and been about 4 years in the Naval Service.

Whether the mode of his quitting the Ship has been truly described we cannot possibly determine but he was certainly found alone upon the Shore and unarmed Whilst the others were forwarded to Detroit and were armed with the muskets &c they carried off I will not pretend to say whether the Lieutenant meeting one of them would have had the forbearance to let him pass having no other protection than the Shore he stood upon, it is sufficient for our purpose thai the case did not arise, and therefore I have avoided entering upon general arguments and suppositions cases—The mans assertion gave the Governor an opportunity to withdraw from an unpleasant business without a compromise on either side but this did not suit the purpose of General Harrison—A Council of Indians is nominally sitting and whilst the commissioners endeavor to impress on their people a belief of British Inferiority it was useful to exhibit to them an English Officer in confinement.

If this man had delivered himself to any Magistrate office or other and claimed their protection the proof of it would be in their Hands, they need not make the Indictment upon so vague a charge as that of taking a man “name unknown.”--

Sir

I have the honor to enclose you the Copy of a correspondence which has passed between the Governor of the Territory of Michigan and myself on the subject of an Officer under my Command whom he thinks proper to detain for an alleged offence against the Laws of the United States the circumstances leading to that transaction are thus related to me.— 33

258

Library of Congress

On the night of the 3d Inst. the Confiance being at Anchor near the Rapids at the head of the River St Clair some seamen who previously broke open and plundered her store and stole clothes from some of their Officers and Comrades ran away with two of the Boats attached to her On the following morning one of the Boats being found abandoned Lieut Alexr Vidal was dispatched by Captn Owen, (under whom he served) with an armed Canoe to search for and overtake if possible the other Boats with the thieves—

About noon the 5th Lieut Vidal having landed on the American Side of Lake St Clair was informed the Boat he sought was near that place and that several of the Stolen things were at a Public House some distance off—The Lieutenant with a Midshipman and an Interpreter (a Boy) walked towards this House the Boat following them along the Shore on their way they overtook a man who proved to be one of those missing from the Confiance, he neither quickened his pace nor avoided his officers, but being desired by them to go into the Boat he readily obeyed and sat down on the Beach until she came—The Lieut walked on to the Public House where he found some articles of the stolen property; whilst engaged in looking at these things a crowd collected accusing him of having violated the Law, they were about to seize him when the Lieutenant conscious of not intending wrong offered to attend them to the Governor wishing at the same time to make application for the recovery of the Stolen Goods.

A Mr. Meldrum<sup>1</sup> an officer (as he said) of the Militia appears to have been the leader of this transaction, and it may be worthy of remark that the improper conduct of that person within the British Territory had some short time back obliged the Coming Officer at this place to make a complaint of him to Col. Butler the then Commanding Officer at Detroit.—

1 Capt. John Meldrum, 1st Reg. Mich. Mil., arrested Lt. Vidall, Sept. 8, 1815.

It was about the period the Confiance having joined me in the mean time, that I received an imperfect account of the affair (Captn Owen being very ill) and sent the Letter No 1, to the Commanding Officer at Detroit, on receiving the next day the answer No 2.—I lost

no time in examining the man alluded to as to the circumstances under which he had been sent on board, he stated (and his former Character makes his story probable) that being intoxicated he had gone to sleep in the Boat alongside and knew nothing of her being taken away until the next morning that he was Landed by the Deserters and when overtaken by his Officers was going along the Beach towards the Confiance, he further positively assured me that he had neither sought or claimed protection from any individual of the United States Officer or other, and that no 259 force had been used to make him embark in doing which he readily obeyed the order of his officers.—

As the claim of the Governor to the restitution of this man and his refusal to liberate Lieutenant Vidal rested upon the impression that the former was forcibly seized and (according to the expression of his Letter) transported, I lost no time in explaining to him by my Letter No 3, the particulars of the statement which the man had made, this together with a declaration on my part, that there was no wish to infringe the Territorial Rights of the United States and my readiness to notice an act of indiscretion in others I had no doubt would satisfy the Governor and at once end an affair which if pursued would not fail to renew those irritable feelings which it is desirable we should forget I am sorry that the answer of the Governor No 4 (notwithstanding his own personal feelings which led him to tell the officer who bore the Letter that he would release Lieut. Vidal) did not meet the conciliatory disposition I held out to him, but made a proposition which it was impossible to give attention to an instant—It would be extraordinary indeed were I to expose the Loyalty of any subject of His Majesty to be assailed by all the Arts which Interest or prejudice can possibly invent, and which (however ignorant the Governor may be respecting them) are in hourly practice, even the Boats crew landing the Officer with these very Letters to the Governor was thus assailed and urged to follow those who had already been enveigled; to this proposition I therefore sent the answer No 5 closing my communication with the Governor and as I am about to return to Kingston I desired Lieutenant Vidal to apply to Lieut. Col. James comd. officer at this place for any immediate assistance that he may require in the proceedings which shall follow This evening brought a Letter from him saying that a Bill was filed “ for forcibly seizing and transporting a person name unknown ” and he was called upon for Bail, measures were taken to obtain this for him and give him the advice of Counsel.—

The Transaction being brought to this Point it becomes necessary to request that you will please to call the attention of the Government of the United States and extend the protection of his Country to a young officer whose only fault seems to have been a zealous discharge of Duty—The Territorial Rights of the United States or the extent to which their protection can be given forms no part of the question the man himself denies that he had sought it and upon this point I have preferred to rest the case as rendering it unnecessary to discuss abstract principles I therefore have the honor to enclose you an affidavit of the 260 man himself denying that he sought American protection or that force was used to bring him off.

This Sir I hope will be sufficient to satisfy the Government of the United States and enable you to afford protection to the Lieutenant whatever shall be the result of the proceedings instituted now against him.

For myself my wish has been to avoid this extremity and I adopted that course of moderation which appeared best calculated so to do as well as to avert discussion upon subjects general and ill defined. The determination of the Governor and his advisers on the contrary seems taken with a view to the supposed intentions of the Lieutenant rather than his actual conduct.

Altho' I shall transmit these Papers to my Lords Commrs of the admiralty the moment that I can do so, yet should you think it necessary that our Governmt. has early information of the Transaction I would take the liberty to request that you will send home copies which will reach England much earlier than a Report direct from me will do.

MR. CLAUS TO MAJ. GEN. ROBINSON ( Indians )

York 10 September 1815

Sir

I have the honor to transmit herewith the proceedings of a meeting of the Grand River Indians with the American Indians at Buffaloe held at Niagara by order of His Excellency Sir Gordon Drummond.

In compliance with the request of the Indians, I have written to Colonel Caldwell directing him to forward their Wampum and message to the Western Indians immediately and to make the necessary arrangement for assembling them at Amherstburg, whenever they shall determine upon the time convenient for them to meet.

It was settled at the general council of the Six Nations and Western Indians at Burlington last spring, that immediately after a meeting with the American Indians from Buffaloe they would proceed to Amherstburg for the purpose of performing the same ceremonies of reconciliation there. I now mention this arrangement, merely to show His Excellency Sir Frederick Robinson that no instructions on the subject could have been sent to Colonel Caldwell until the council met at Niagara, and of consequence, that no neglect or loss of time is imputable to me, as insinuated by Lieut Col. James in his letter of 16th July last to His Excellency. I beg leave to state that the general order fixing the reduced establishment of the Indian Department of this Province has not yet reached this Post, and that I am not enabled to give the necessary information to the officers whose services are to be dispensed with.

Sir

I have the honor to transmit herewith the proceedings of a meeting of the Grand River Indians with the American Indians from the neighborhood of Buffaloe Creek, held at Niagara in obedience to His Excellency Sir Gordon Drummond's desire.

262

The number from Buffaloe amounted to about forty of the Leading Men—those from the Grand River amounted to the same number, but about four hundred of the young people also came down, probably with the expectation of presents after the Council.—The whole meeting was very orderly, no reproaches nor violent language having been uttered by any of them.

I beg leave to state for his Excellency's information that I am still unable to comply with his desire of transmitting a return of officers proper to be retained in the St. Joseph branch of the Indn. Dept. the officer at the head of it having taken no notice of my repeated request to furnish me with a Return of all the Department at that Post, with such remarks as would enable me to select the fittest persons to be returned for His Excellency's approval.

It would appear by the conduct of the officer commanding at St. Joseph for some time past, that he considers that branch of the department distinct. and independent of the Deputy Superintendant General of Indian affairs in this Province. I must thefore beg to be informed if there is any order of the Commander of the Forces to that effect, or if I am to consider that branch subject to my Superintendence and direction as formerly, it being now removed from the conquered Territory.

Brothers & Relations—Our Father has performed the ceremonies which were customary with our ancestors & which we endeavour to continue. Our meeting is at our Father the Kings' Council Fire, which has just been uncovered that we may proceed to deliberate upon the good work for which we are assembled— We the several Nations residing at the Grand River, salute you from the other side— We are the same people with you— We are relation & of the same colour, notwithstanding our having been opposed to each other in the Field during the late contest between our Great Father the King of England & the Americans. Our friend who has just uncovered the Council Fire has removed all obstructions our minds are set at ease. The River which separates us is opened that we may have a free passage at all times. The roads are cleared of all briars and rubbish that we may again renew the friendly intercourse which formerly existed between us. I now speak to you in behalf of the Indians residing at the Grand River, and I am desired to answer you that all ill will is removed from our hearts towards you from the American Land.

A Bunch of Strings of Wampum.

from Buffaloe Creek Tehaniwande & Allegany who are now present. I also address those who are at their homes, before our father, the Dy. Supt. General, the Kings' officers & others now present, & tell you that all ill blood has been removed from our hearts—What has been done is now forgotten—We are all of the same colour & ought to be friendly towards each other. To make our friendship lasting we put the Tomahawk the depth of a Pine Tree under ground, that it may not be removed we plant over it a tree that the roots may so cover it that it cannot be found again. This ceremony was performed by our Father at Burlington last Spring 264 in presence of the Western Nations & I will now repeat to you the Speech which our father delivered when he informed us of the Pacification with the Americans & our answer (now the proceedings of the Council at Burlington on the 24, 25, & 27th April were repeated) we condole with you from the bottom of our hearts for the loss of your friends, and wipe the tears from your eyes, we open your throats that no obstruction shall remain, that you may speak your mind freely & with the same friendship which formerly existed between us, as we now in the name of the nations already mentioned address you as friends—If you will stand up we will be glad to take you by the hands —should any idle young man make use of improper language We request that you will not take any notice of it.

A large bunch of strings of Black & White Wampum. The American Indians stood up and others took them by the hand, repeating the assurances of friendship, after which the Old Eel an Onondaga Chief spoke to the Dy. Supt. general as follows: Brothers.

You have this day uncovered the King's Council fire at this place where our forefathers were accustomed to assemble. I speak on behalf of the Indians who are now come here to meal our Brethren from the Grand River. We salute you and wish you well. We have heard all that you have said now & last Spring & are much pleased with it. We rejoice that the Great Spirit has brought us together to unite & be friends. Many have been the meetings at this place between the King & our ancestors. I am an old man & have been present at many of these meetings when your Grand Father<sup>1</sup> spoke to us. We will always remember his words—they are buried deep in our hearts we look to you to be a friend to the Indians

In the name of the Indians from the other side of the River, I now address myself to the King, the Comg. officer, and Col. Claus our head & to the Six Nations, Wyandotts and Shawanese.

Strings of Wampum.

Brothers,

I am happy now to meet you in the usual friendly manner and you may be assured that what has happened was not from any animosity towards our ancient Father & Friends. We are a poor People. We cannot do as we would. We are prisoners but the fetters are now off & we are at liberty to communicate freely with our Friends. We are not only of the same Nation, but of the same families also. We therefore ought to be united & become one body.

Strings of Wampum.

Brothers,

You have informed us that the King's Council fire is again uncovered. We are also informed that the United States have done the same. We seriously recommend that your people will now attend to your usual occupation of hunting & agriculture & that you pay due attention to your women who have by our ancient customs a voice in bringing up our young people to the practice of truth & industry.

Strings of Wampum.

Brothers.

We have now to communicate to you a message which we received from the Indians at the White River (near the Waubasse<sup>1</sup>) who say that they have fine lands & game of every kind in great abundance. This message is addressed to all the Six Nations, and we wish you to consider it—Strings of Wampum (which were afterwards returned by Teharihoga, saying that they did not understand it.)

Strings of wampum, They then mixed with each other & spoke to the Dy. Supt. General as follows: Teharihoga Speaker.

Brothers.

You have witnessed our proceedings which it has pleased the Ruler of the world to assist us in. It has finished as we could wish & we desire that you will immediately acquaint our Western Brethren of the work we have been doing & that we shall soon proceed to the west to meet them & perform the same ceremonies there as was agreed upon in Council last Spring. We now speak to you in one Body & we hope that we will be allowed to travel along the road peaceably without being insulted by the inhabitants & that you will give us provisions to enable us to travel homewards. 34

The Deputy Supt. General.

Brothers,

In compliance with your particular request expressed in your speech Of 26th April last, Your Father General Drummond ordered that I should be present at this meeting, & I have now to express how much I am satisfied with the whole of your proceedings, which I earnestly recommend you to keep in remembrance. The road has been opened and made smooth for you all. When the King of England made peace with the Americans, he was particular in stipulating that no difficulties should be thrown in the Road to interrupt a free intercourse between his Indian Children I am sorry to understand that the Inhabitants have in some instances behaved improperly towards you, but your young men have provoked their resentment by their own misconduct. You are all under the protection of your Great Father the King & if you conduct yourselves peaceably towards his white children, they will not be permitted to ill treat you. Provisions will be provided for you on your road homewards—

Library of Congress

I now cover the Council Fire & wish you a safe return to your homes.

The American Indians then went to the Deputy Superintendant General & saluted him by shaking hands.

The Council broke up.

SPEECH TO INDIANS

Amherstburg 14 Sept 1815.

Copy of Lt. Col. James's<sup>1</sup> address to the British Indians in Council. Chiefs and warriors by your own desire we have assembled here before the departure of some of our friends who are going back to their native country.

It has always afforded great pleasure to your Father to do as far as was in his power, and what you have now got to say shall be made known to your great Father. When you have done speaking my friends I shall give you a few words on what was lately said to you over the water and which was intended to make the British officer Little in your eyes—but you have expressed your indignation at such conduct & I am bound to tell you the words of truth.

In our present council wampum are not wanted—the wampums were passed long ago at Burlington Heights, to which place your Father invited you to come—He said “Come Indian chiefs & warriors, come to "our fire that we may council & that you may also be informed of "Peace that I have made."

One word was sufficient you said "yes" and you came, there was no occasion to offer you presents to do so, there was no occasion to offer threats, neither the one or the other would have brought you, it was your own pleasure to come & you did so—it was your own wish to come! Your Father always found his Allies & Friends the Indians true to the British Flag and he will shield you within the Great Belt, that Belt will be still wide enough to hold you all & you are all within it, it will close & protect you with as much care as the mother covers her twins with the Blanket from the storm. Did your Father ever say my children I will give you a Flask of Powder that he did not give you more than what he promised?

The Prophet's speech ended, Lieut. Col. James again addressed the Indian chiefs and warriors as follows—

The Peace which has been made was not looked for first<sup>2</sup> by your Father, it was looked for in a round about way if your Father wants to go on business to Sandwich he will go there by the direct road; He will not go on the Road of Darkness thro' the woods.

<sup>2</sup> General Harrison said England first asked to make peace, and insinuated that Americans would scorn the idea as emanating from her.

Your Great Father in the greatness of his Heart, made Peace because he did not wish more Blood to spill, He had no occasion to make Peace, but to save Blood, He has plenty of Ships, plenty of Sailors & plenty of Soldiers, Your Fathers Sailors & Soldiers are well paid, once every day—His men do not consider themselves fortunate if they are paid once in every year. His soldiers are brave men, and you have always fought by their side. Yes warriors they are your Brothers & to insinuate that they were thrown on their Back, was saying that you were 271 thrown on your back also, & he that dared to say so, said what you know to be false.

You were told the other day something about a great Battle in the South, but those people call everything a great Battle—there was a small fight it is true, but what sort of a fight was it? Your Father's Enemy buried themselves under the ground, like the Hog in the mud, and no one could see them, but they could smell them. Your Fathers Troops staid until the enemy buried themselves out of sight, then they went quietly to their ships—this my friend is the Great Battle of the South!<sup>1</sup>

1 New Orleans.

You were also told that there were great Battles at Erie and Niagara! You were there warriors & you know if this is true.

Hear me! You were told about a man called “Bonaparte” you were told that he was the father of the Good & the father of Independence, and I will explain to you by and bye what is the true meaning of Independence, and that he was the greatest general in all the world, and also the greatest man. The man who told you this, also told you that he was his nation's greatest friend, and was as bright as the sun at noon day- Now my friends I will tell you who this man Bonaparte was— Why he was a man who poisoned his own soldiers to save the trouble & expense of feeding them & attending to them because they were sick in Hospital and unable to fight. He is the man who committed, murdered & robbed the Lawful King of France of his Country his Houses & his Lands, he did not ask the King of France to sell either, no he did not even try to get him Drunk* and *Gen. Harrison did as did his agent through the chiefs Five Medals & Bell Chief. Skewedabo<sup>2</sup> & then make him put his mark on paper for it, but he committed murder & afterwards kept his country, not by the Tomahawk but by murder & robbery, this my friends is the great King of Independence you were told about.

Library of Congress

2 Indian word meaning bewitched.

Chiefs & Warriors I will ask you if ever you heard of a different man, than the man I have been talking about, did you ever hear of "Warrior Wellington" I will tell you about him as I do not find his name was mentioned to you once over the River the other day-Warrior Wellington had on the 18th June last 64,000 English Troops & 15,000 allies just such as you have been to your British Father making in all 79,000 men; The Great General Bonaparte (as he is called over the River) had 145,000 men-the battle begun-now my friends I call this a Battle, but not such a battle as you were told of in the South a New Orleans. Warrior Wellington with his handful of young warriors killed wounded & took prisoners 40,000 Frenchmen, the rest run off just as if one of your little boys had tied a tin pot to a dogs tail. There was not a 272 Frenchman to be scan within 15 miles of the Field of Battle at noon next day—Warrior Wellington went on—he went in five days after the Battle & dined & slept in the Independent Bonaparte's Wigwam. The French city which he took is so big that Wawaniska b b A Sock chief could not walk around it in two days.

Now my Friends who is the General that looks like the sun at noon day? Were you told anything of this Battle the other day?

You were told tho' that your Father was put on his Back with his ships-Listen you need not open your ears too wide my friends but your Father has this day 1120 ships of war- The Father of the man who spoke to you over the water could have told my Father has but 17 ships! Now my friends do you think 17 ships can beat 1120 ships, don't laugh, I see you do- only pity the man who strove to choke you with his sweet tongue—

I was happy you told me you would not sell your lands, the lands do not belong to you, your Father's for 1000 years have possessed them and they gave them down to you, therefore my friends give them in like manner to your children. A man who is drunk and sell his child's bread does wrong, and an act of a drunken man is good for nothing, I want none of your Lands and Houses I would give you more Land and more Houses if I could do so therefore if I saw a Chief about to sell his child's food I would say do not sell that child's bread he may want it after the Great Spirit is pleased to take you to the other world. My Friends guard hunger from your Families before you go to your grave.

Chiefs let me guard you against cunning advice, beware of one lie against the other, beware and take care not to use the Tomahawk against each other, it is just what your enemies would like—we are all peace, be so, and make your young men be peaceable.

British Chiefs. Your Great Father offers you his best thanks for your Friendship and for your valour, warriors your British Father offers you the same. He will place you on his pillow at night that he may remember you early in the morning. Your great Father recommends Peace from you to all the world. You told him at Burlington that you laid down the Tomahawk—let it remain down & let the young men only obey the orders and attend to the advice of their Chiefs.

I will now say a few words to you myself, I will not call Heaven<sup>1</sup> to witness what I have said, I have lived with you now for a long time, If ever I told you one word that was not true, do not believe me in what I have now said to you. I Shall only pray that the Great Spirit

273 may watch over you by day & night & may guard you from false Friendships & and that he will grant you all your wishes.

SPEECH TO INDIANS

Speech of Lieut: Col: McDouall addressed to the Ottawas of the Arbre Croche and of the Grand River (Lake Michigan) on delivering their presents 17th September 1815.

My Children

Library of Congress

We have this day another proof of the Goodness of Your English Father to such of his Red Children as have distinguished themselves in his cause—and who when called upon in his defence immediately listened to his voice.

Those who have acted in this honorable manner will not only be looked up to in their Villages but will find that they have studied their true interests, and secured to themselves, their wives and children the support and succor without which they could not exist.

My Children

I see some among you this day who year after year have been sharing in the bounty of the King without having once come forward in his defence or rendering him any service in return; I say not this by way of reproach, but it is proper that the Chiefs should make them acquainted with my sentiments; such pusillanimous and ungrateful young men should be ashamed to show their faces, they are worse than old women for even the women last year fought in defence of their Fathers great Fire at Mackinac from which they derived warmth and comfort, I therefore repeat it to you that it must be the ambition of every young man of this neighbourhood to distinguish himself as a warrior whenever His Father calls upon him, and the duty of the Chiefs to instill these sentiments into their minds in order that they may prove worthy of their Ancestors.

My Children.

I have heard of the ridiculous reports which the Big Knives among you thinking to frighten you with words where their Arms failed in having that effect, but as you know from experience this has been their constant practice, you ought also to know how little they are to be regarded, you should also recollect that the King Your Great Father 274 has dominions in many parts of the world, some of them as large as all the Lands of the Big Knives, and that his soldiers are sometimes required to defend them and also defend the Enemies of his own neighbourhood, this was the case during the late war: but some of you have been eye witnesses how often and how disgracefully the Americans were defeated by greatly inferior Numbers, they often boasted they would drive us from the Canadas, but in every attempt to do so they failed with great loss, which of you then Can be so blind, or have so far lost his recollection as to Credit their story that your English Father has been thrown upon his back. They even have the imprudence to say that they drove us from Michilinackinac and Prairie des Chien when you all know that they were shamefully beaten at both places.

Library of Congress

My children.

The truth is that Big Knives last year sent chiefs last year across the Great Salt Lake to solicit peace and the King Your Great Father wanting his Young men to fight a powerful enemy near him granted him better terms than they deserved. Things are since greatly changed. You have seen us this day fire our Big Guns for a great and decisive Victory which he has gained over the French Nation, having completely thrown the wicked chief who ruled over them on his back, torn his medal from his neck and trampled it under his foot.

My Children

Listen to my words for it is of the last consequence that you should bear them in your mind—On returning to your villages you will make known what I have told you, to all Your Young Men Cautioning them to beware how they are deceived by the Artifices of the Americans, such of them as are wavering will do well to consider in time whether they will better themselves under another Father, that the King is now one of the most powerful Monarchs in the world; that his Fleets and Armies will soon be back for the protection of this Country, and that such as transfer their affection to the Big Knives can no longer be considered his Children or in future partake of his bounty.—

My Children.

Library of Congress

The presents you now see before you, and which the King Your Great Father so liberally bestowes upon all his Red Children who listen to Iris voice, were with infinite trouble and expense sent by him across the Big Lake to Quebec, and notwithstanding the great distance forwarded to this place, in order that yourselves your wives and your children might not perish in the winter.—I have therefore learned with equal surprize and indignation that some of Your Brethren lost to all shame and shutting their eyes to the future misery of their families, 275 have sold their Guns, Blankets and other Articles to the Big Knives at Mackinac for whiskey which so frequently caused you to quarrel and sometimes kill one another. The master of Life will withdraw his favour from such bad and ungrateful dogs; I know them all and can tell them they have offended the King their Great Father, and also the Great Chief at Quebec, beyond the hope of forgiveness, never again shall they have the opportunity of so shamefully abusing their bounty.

My Children

In return for the charity and many favors shown you by your English Father, I do expect you will bring all the corn and vegetables which you do not require for your own use to trade at this post and tho' the distance is greater than Michilimackinac yet as you found no difficulty in coming for your presents, there ought to be as little in showing your gratitude.

My Children.

I have only to add that great and powerful as the King your Father is, he prides himself no less upon his justice and strict observance of Treaties. As he has therefore made peace with the Big Knives in which all his red children are included, so it is his most particular wish that you do observe the same with the most scrupulous good faith and not attempt to dig up the Tomahawk but by his orders and directions, in the meantime he is desirous that you should cultivate your lands, plant corn and attend to the hunt, occupations which add so much to the comfort—But above all he recommends to your attention that union and friendship among all the Indian tribes which would so greatly increase your power as might enable you to defend your lands against every agressor.—1

Library of Congress

1 See appendix.

The occupation of Mackinac by the Americans, the frequent arrival of their men of war at that post together with our evacuation thereof, and retiring from the Mississippi had so discouraged the Indians in addition to the falsehoods and threatening language made use of towards them, that they became evidently frightened and some of them to entertain doubts of the policy of continuing any intercourse with their English Father.

The Chippewas resorting to Drummonds Island are not a very war-like race, of this (being our immediate neighbors) I wished to make them ashamed, In order that they and the Indians of Lake Superior (who are of a better description) may hereafter supply the place of those that I foresee we shall lose on the Mississippi.

LIEUT. COL. JAMES TO MAJ. GEN. ROBINSON ( Indians )

Sandwich 18th September 1815

Sir ,

I have the honor to inform you in consequence of the great Murmur and dissatisfaction of the leading British chiefs arising from the artful and insinuating manner in which General Harrison addressed the different Tribes in the Council which was held at Detroit, wherein he said the British have invariably “been thrown on their "Backs” (Beaten) by Land and Sea, that they were however a brave “nation, but that they never could stand before the Americans," those with very many other insinuations Equally Aiming at the honor of the Government were regularly reported to me.

The chiefs called upon me, and requested That I would allow a Council in order that they might publickly inform the different Tribes that General Harrison had told them all lies; I acceded to their wishes, and the Prophet told the Indians most fully that the Americans General was unworthy of credit.<sup>1</sup>

I beg leave to forward you copy of my address to the Indians, it merely conveys a refutation of what General Harrison stated to them in His Speech. It is the report of the Indians themselves, as no officer of our Indian Department was asked to their Council at Detroit, but you may perfectly rely on its correctness.

The Court of Inquiry will throw much light on the manner and means used by the American Government to seduce the British Indians from their attachment and I consider it the most fortunate circumstance possible that the Court has been ordered.

I shall be most particular in its proceedings.

I have the honor to be with great respect Your most obbe. servant. Jn. James Lt. Col.

Sir .

I do myself the honor to inform you that the Indians have been particularly pleased in all matters that has regarded them and that your favorable reception of those who went down to Kingston has caused much benefit.

I had anticipated your wishes and had acted accordingly and in my next I hope to inform you that many of the tribes had returned to their own Country—"The Sauks, Foxes and Kickapoos<sup>1</sup> will all" I hope "have gone by the 28th" Col. Caldwell says so, and I hope it.

1 Indians whose homes were in the Mississippi region.

I very respectfully assure you that I never found any measures have the slightest avail but prompt ones, and in no instance has the Treaty of Ghent been violated but it is totally out of my power as it is out of that of any British officer to conduct himself in a public Capacity towards the Americans of this frontier with reputation to himself, there scarcely passes one day, that I don't experience some one act or other of dissimulation always garbed under the usual cloak of equity, I shall most particularly attend to your wishes and use every caution to prevent infringement on the late Treaty, but those people are prone to complaint nor does a transaction of the slightest degree occur on this side of the river that bears the shadow of complaint that the person is not forced before one of their Magistrates and voluntarily makes oath that so and so has taken place against the freedom of an American Citizen which you will have observed occasionally in their scurrilous and infamous newspapers.

I beg leave to assure you that this is a most irksome Command and that as far as my ability and exertions go its duties shall be faithfully discharged.

My time has been so constantly taken up with this perplexing Board of Claims that I Cannot assemble the Court of Inquiry before the 2d of October however I have made such inquiry as affords me the greatest pleasure by assuring you that I am Confident that so far from implicating any British subject in our employ that the Court will bring many subjects entirely connected with its proceedings to light that will prove many transactions since the Peace w ch has violated it, and that good understanding which the Americans talk so much about, when the proceedings of the Board are closed I shall forward them by express as I rely it will enable Mr. Baker to severely Censure the willing and unfounded readiness to represent such Calumnies.

Sir

Your Letter of the 10th Septr enclosing a copy of a report of a Board of Survey on Flour landed at Drummond Island.—I had the Honor to receive on the 19th Inst and have to report for the information of His Excellency Major Genl Sir Frederick Robinson that a Boat containing 50 Barrels Flour had nearly filled with water along side of 281 His Majestys Schooner Enterprize which I think is probably all the Flour thats much damaged. the Batteau has been repaired several times in the course of the Season at Notawasaga and always if possible when they required it but from the lowness of the Nottawasaga River at times and from the currents the Boats frequently strike against Logs or Stones in going down that occasions the Leaking before the Boatmen are aware of it.

I have also to report that part of this Flour was sent up from the Bay of Quinty and Smiths beak during the winter, and was much exposed to the weather, and was sent on for Penetanguishen by Steas<sup>1</sup> there not being any Stores, this Flour was exposed on that road for some time, and from thence brought back to Kempurfelt<sup>2</sup> Bay when part of it was obliged to be piled again exposed to the weather there not being sufficient Store Rooms, from thence it was carried to the Nottawasaga and sent down that River to Lake Huron to be in readiness for shipping and at which place part of the Flour was again for some time exposed to the weather there not being sufficient Store Room, there at that time.

1 For "Steas," read sleighs.

2 Kempenfelt bay.

From these circumstances some damage could not be avoided, and it is also probable that some of the Flour is of a coarse & inferior quality than what is generally received into Store from the quantity of Flour that was required for the establishment that was wintered at Penetanguishin and for the supply of Michilimackinac and shortness of the time I had to provide and forward these supplies I was under the necessity of taking every Barrel of Flour that could be had at the time and some of the Flour may have been packed too soon from which it was heated.

Extract

Drummond Island 22d September 1815

Library of Congress

I had the honor of informing Your Excellency of the arrival of Capt. Anderson of the Indian Department, from the important duty on which I had despatched him from Michilimackinac in July, of impressing still more strongly on the minds of the Indian Nations on the Mississippi the conclusion of the Peace in which they were all included, strictly recommending them to observe the same, and to cultivate that unanimity and friendship amongst themselves, which would render them formidable, and cause other nations to be cautious how they infringed their rights or ventured to treat them with injustice.

Captain Anderson executed his mission with much ability and address, I knew of the intention of the American Government to seize upon the Prarie des Chiens and all the intervening Indian Country, between it and St. Louis, notwithstanding the Treaty of Ghent , and it was my object before they could effect this, or regain Michilimackinac to bestow on these faithful allies, some of whom (the Sauks particularly) had been forced by us into the war,<sup>1</sup> the last Rewards in our power for their constancy, fidelity and Courage; The time was short and not an article remained in the Indian store, I therefore purchased to the amount of £3600, (on condition that the half should be repaid on the arrival of ours, which has since been done), and their judicious distribution has had a greater effect in strengthening and confirming the attachment of the Western Tribes, than all that has been previously done in that Country at so great an Expense,—Captain Anderson was received by them all with a degree of enthusiasm which was augmented by the threatening language which the Americans had previously held out to them: viz: "That following the Councils of "their English Fathers, had ruined them and rendered them miserable. "— That he had been thrown on his Back , (according to their Indian "mode of expression;) and driven from the Mississippi and "Michilimackinac and if he did not look well to himself, would soon be from "all the Country, that they must never expect to see their English "Father, again, or a single Trader amongst them—How Could they "Come?

Library of Congress

Captain Anderson's appearance with the presents almost immediately after this Language, followed too by the Traders who left Mackinac 284 before its surrender only tended to confirm their previous opinions of American falsehood:—

Aware of the wishes of the Commander of the Forces and of the impolicy of giving umbrage to the American Government at such a Crisis —I strictly enjoined Captain Anderson not to enter on the subject of Politics, but to confine himself to the delivery of the Presents and strongly to recommend the strict observance of the Peace, the cultivation of their lands and attention to their Hunt, the burying in oblivion of all jealousies and dissensions and that the Indian Nations should in future live as one Family, studying only the general good.—

These instructions have been implicitly attended to, and in a matter of such delicacy, and as affairs on the Mississippi are likely to turn out , I am glad (unprovided as I was with instructions) to have steered clear of an Indian War with the United States which I fear inevitable,—The Americans appear bent upon the total subjugation of the Western Indians and will attempt it with a force which will end in the extermination of those who resist,—and on resistance they are resolved.—The Sauk Chief told Capt Anderson that no American Forts should be established on their lands and they would defend their country like men.

I entertain a faint hope that the late retention of Michilimackinac and other circumstances may render it necessary for the Americans to postpone the execution of this project, till next year. And that the glorious change of affairs in Europe may induce such representations on the part of Government as may yet save them from their impending fate. The Merciless Jackson<sup>1</sup> is hinted at in their papers as the Instrument of Vengeance, if so I shall to the latest period of my life, bewail the hapless Destiny of these devoted Nations who listened to our solicitations and confiding in our promises faithfully adhered to us during the war, but found the Peace which promised security to them and their Country only led to their utter ruin and annihilation.

I enclose Your Excellency copies of replies of the Principle Sauk Chiefs to the speech I sent by Capt. Anderson as tending to elucidate the above subject as a fair specimen of the present sentiments of the 285 Western Indians. That of the Sank Chief's the Black Hawk (perhaps the ablest and bravest since the death of Tecumseh) is strictly true. Mr. Dickson in May 1814, previous to my arrival at Michilimackinac sent the threatening speech to which he alludes, and which the Sauks did not act on till the recapture of Prairie des Chiens by Lieut Col. McKay in July, who sent them a supply of powder, and the very next day they attacked and completely defeated a strong detachment of the Americans destined to reinforce their garrison at La Prairie they were commanded by the Black Hawk who is famous for his exploits on the Mississippi.

P. S. If four of the traveling carriages for 24 Pd Cannonades (such as were used at Kingston) cannot be spared, I hope two can, as they will be very useful at this Post. The Ship carriages we now have for these guns, frequently requiring new breaching, & which they are now without, are very objectionable.

( Indians )

Drummond Island 23d Sept 1815

Late last evening I had the honor of Your Excellencys dispatch, dated Kingston 8th August , with its Enclosures. It is much to be regretted that it has been so long reaching me, as it would have been very desirable that such an artful string of unfounded accusations, General charges, and vague insinuations, unsupported by any evidence, should as soon as possible, be refuted & set in their proper light. Your Excellency may rest assured, that from the moment the peace was known at Michilimackinac, every possible exertion was used, every practicable effort made, to disseminate the news among all the Indian Tribes, accompanied by the strongest injunctions to bury the Tomahawk and abstain from all other further hostilities. These messages were reiterated by every opportunity & in particular by Capt Anderson, as my despatch of the 21st will show. After such unceasing pains having been taken, in the genuine spirit of sincerity and good faith, to make known the Peace amongst the Indians and to cause them to observe the same, accustomed as I have been to American accusations, I did not expect that a regard to truth could have been so totally lost sight of, as to charge British Agents, with having since the conclusion of Peace, stimulated the Indians to hostilities. As far as regards those 288 who were well under my orders at Michilimackinac, I pronounced the charge to be wholly destitute of foundation, & and a most illiberal & unjustifiable Calumny.

Library of Congress

One circumstance must be as candidly admitted, as its consequences must be sincerely deplored. The Letter of Major Foster announcing the Peace and inclosing a Copy of the Treaty, dated the 11th of March. did not reach me at Mackinac till the 11th of May. It is of little use now to advert to the manner in which a dispatch, in which the lives of so many depended, was forwarded, or to recollect that in a matter of infinitely less importance, the journey even to Quebec, has been performed in ten days. The First intelligence of Peace was received by me on the first of May, in a letter from Lt. Col: Harvey of the 28 March, by a trading vessel from Detroit, and reached Prairie des Cheins on the 22d of May; uncertain rumors of that event were before in circulation, but not credited. I have not the smallest doubt, that to this unfortunate delay may be solely ascribed the whole Catalogue of real and imaginary aggressions, as presented to the British Minister. If Your Excellency will compare the dates, it will be evident that not one of the War parties of Indians alluded to, could possible have received the news of Peace from Michilimackinac in sufficient time, to prevent the meditated hostilities, and owing to this very circumstance they (ignorant of that event) continued to Carry on their operations.

This observation particularly applies also to Lieut. Cadotte, who knew so little of peace being concluded, as to bring in with him Eighty Indians to assist in the defence of Mackinac. I shall carry Your Excellency's orders into immediate effect,<sup>1</sup> as to the investigation of that officers conduct, by a Court of Inquiry, tho' I should have wished another President, having myself ordered him on the service alluded I am however strongly inclined to believe that the character of this respectable officer has been unjustly aspersed.

<sup>1</sup> Orders, it is inferred from McDouall's long explanations, were to quiet the Indians and give them plainly to understand that they would not be supported in any hostile movement.

LIEUT. COL. McDOUALL TO MAJ. GEN. ROBINSON

( Indians )

Drummonds Island 24 September 1815

Sir

Since the departure of Major Morgan from Michilimackinac and the arrival of Iris successor Col. Chambers and also Major Puthoff as their Agent for Indian Affairs the most active exertions have been made and every artifice put in practice to extinguish our influence with the Indians of their neighbourhood and not only to cut off our communication with them but with all the other Indian Nations.

To aid in accomplishing this purpose every inhabitant at Mackinac suspected of the least influence amongst them or attachment to us are treated with the utmost degree of rigor and insult. Dr. Mitchells Wife in particular has been used with peculiar rancour,—she continued at that place to protect their sole remaining property, Farm Garden &c which have notwithstanding suffered greatly from depredations which appear to be encouraged rather than checked, she was likewise publicly and meanly accused of only remaining there as a spy of the British Government and though related to the Chippewa Nation not allowed to see any of them, they have also taken from her a small Island adjoining never purchased by the Americans, but which was last year (with my concurrence) unanimously presented to her by her relations the Chippewas in return for her Kindness to them.

Library of Congress

The most threatening language is constantly made use of to such Indians as are attached to the British Government, whom they use every means to intimidate, they tell them their English Father has been beat, driven from Mackinac and the Mississippi and soon will be from the Canadas which are about to be again occupied by the French, this last Argument is used to weaken their attachment to us; as the Indians inherit from their Fathers the highest opinion of the French, and of their power and courage, and fond as they are of the British, would like well to see their dominion restored.

In this state of things I thought it my duty to make known my sentiments to the Indians previous to their setting out for their wintering grounds, in a speech (copy of which I enclose); in it I alude to a scandalous Traffic Carried on by the Americans at Mackinac lay wait for the Indians passing with their presents, cheating them of 37 290 their guns and clothing for whisky, Even their indian Agent is mentioned as having been concerned in this most Lucrative but shameful Trade.

I have &c (Signed) Rt. McDouall Lt. Col.

COURT OF INQUIRY

Drummonds Island 24th Sept 1815

With regard to the charges transmitted to your Excellency through Mr. Baker, I have not the smallest doubt, but they are purposly exhibited in order to give some colour, and pretext for the tragedy about to be enacted on Mississippi, to shut our eyes to that transaction, and to divert the Government from the enquiry, of how it agrees with the 9th Article Of the Treaty of Ghent. It appears to me that this outcry is precisely made upon the principle of some ingenious depredators, who when in danger of detection are among the first to bawl 'Stop Thief!'

I repeat to your Excellency my firm conviction that the war of extermination with which the unfortunate Indians are threatened on the Mississippi, will be equally unjust, and unprovoked, unjust, inasmuch as the Americans have no right to seize upon their country and build Fort thereon, never having possessed it till after 1812— Unprovoked, as I do not believe that a single act of hostility was committed by them, since the Peace was announced by Captain Bulger on the 22nd of May at the Prairie des Chiens. That officer made every exertion to recall the war party that attacked the Americans on the 24th of May, as mentioned in the letter of Colonel Russell, but it was too late. They could not be overtaken. This affair your Excellency will observe is the latest act of hostility which occurred, and I pledge my word to your Excellency, that the Indians engaged in it knew nothing of the Peace, except from 291 American reports which they imagined were purposely circulated to deceive them—

I have the honor to be Your Excellency's most obdt. Servant Signed, Rt. McDouall ,

“The Court then proceeded to investigate the charges preferred by the American Govt viz.
“That the Indians had been stimulated to a continuance of hostilities since the Peace, by the British agents—

Lieutenant-Colonel McDonall again regretted the necessity which existed for his presiding at that Court, being expressly directed to do so, by His Excellency Major-General Sir Frederick Robinson —It was his wish that duty had developed upon another, as it became necessary for him, in the absence of other material witnesses, to state to the Court every particular, having a tendency to exonerate his Government from so unjust a charge. Indeed as almost the whole of the British agents amongst the Indians, were under his orders, he feels himself particularly called upon to meet it, to repel the accusation as totally false, & unsupported and not only unmask the calumny, but prove to the court and to the World, that no sooner was the news of the Peace received at Mackina, than the most active exertions were used to promulgate and make known the same among all the Indian Nations.

In fact, perhaps on no former occasion was more Zeal and anxiety displayed than in the performance of this most important duty, not only in announcing the Peace but enjoying an immediate cessation from hostilities and impressing in the strongest manner upon their minds, the strict observance thereof.

One circumstance must be ever regretted, as its consequences must be ever deplored —The first dispatch sent by Major Forster, Military Secretary, dated York, 11th March communicating the news of Peace, and enclosing a copy of the Treaty, did not reach me at Michilimackinac until the 11th May. The next confirmation of that event was written by Lieutenant Colonel Harvey Deputy Adjutant General and dated Kingston 28th March. The original of this despatch was nearly as long upon the road as that of Major Forster, but a duplicate thereof reached me by a trading vessel from Detroit on the 1st May. This was the first official account I received of Peace. A vague rumor of such an event had before been circulated, but which only tended to increase our watchfulness and redouble our exertions for defence.

The great delay which occurred in forwarding these despatches, was their being unfortunately entrusted to persons of little energy and perseverance: the season of the year too, rendered the journey infinitely difficult and dangerous; the ice on many parts of that long communication, was scarcely passable: in others it was gone. These impediments tended greatly to protract the arrival of these important despatches: I knew them to be so great, as to have doubts of ever receiving them.

On their arrival, however, all was energy, as much as possible, to counteract the Mischiefs of delay. The Peace was immediately made known to the Indians of the neighbourhood. The intelligent Chief Assegemach was sent to proclaim it to the Tribes on the Eastern side of Lake Michigan. Another to Sagana,<sup>1</sup> an express was sent to Lieutenant Law of the Indian department at Green Bay, to give all publicity to the news in that quarter, and to direct Interpreter Lesallies to do the same at Millwakie and among the other Indians on the Western Side. I proceeded myself for L'Arbe Croche, and with great ceremony made known the Peace to the Ottaway Nation—all of whom smoked the pipe in token of their acceptance thereof. The intelligence was likewise forwarded to the officer commanding at the Prairie du Chene, where it arrived the 22nd of May: the day following, it was communicated in Grand Council to all the Indians in the place, And every means adopted to impress its strict observance on their minds. A captain of the Indian Department was immediately sent down to the Mississippi to 1 Saginaw.

293 announce the peace to the Sauks, but unfortunately too late to recall the war party of that nation who were engaged with the Americans on the 24th of May. This was the last act of hostility committed by any of the Indian Tribes. A party of Ottawas were engaged a short time previous (and what is rather strange, not mentioned in Mr. Munroe's List.) near fort Harrison. There cannot be the shadow of a doubt, that both were ignorant of Peace being concluded—that both believed the operations of the war to be in full activity: of course, the aggressions adduced of an earlier date than these events, fall to the ground, and the Indian Nations must stand fully acquitted of the charge of persevering in hostilities after the Peace was made known to them.

On carefully examining the dates, this important fact is clear to a demonstration, and is naturally accounted for, in their sincere and earnest wish to observe the Peace themselves, and that its stipulations should be adhered to by the American Government securing to them their rights, privileges and immunities as in 1811, and of course exempting the tribes on the Mississippi from having their lands occupied by the troops of the United States or Forts built thereon.

Anxious, however, as I was to inculcate on the minds of the Indians, the earnest wish of the British Government the Peace should be scrupulously observed, and lest any doubt of misconception on the subject should rashly induce any particular tribe to the renewal of hostilities. I determined, early in July to send Captain Anderson, of the Indian Department to the Mississippi, with some presents to convey to the Indians in person, the positive and renewed injunctions of the King, that they should faithfully abide by the Late Treaty. That officer conversed with all the principal chiefs, and not only ascertained their peaceful sentiments but in having every reason to believe that they strictly acted up to them: this afforded me more gratification, as His Excellency Lieutenant General Sir Gordon Drummond judging from some statements in the papers of a continuance of hostilities (all however previous to peace being known to them 24th May) and with a view to a complete and total cessation thereof, directed me to send Lieutenant Colonel McKay to the Mississippi, for the express purpose; Captain Anderson having before been sent upon a similar duty, yet notwithstanding, and as another proof of the sincerity and good faith of Government upon that subject, I despatched Lieutenant Colonel McKay, to acquaint the officer of the United States Troops, at Mackinac, that he was ready to proceed upon his mission, if he thought it necessary, but which Major Morgan declined, conceiving the previous steps taken to be fully sufficient—

The Court then proceeded to the examination of the following witnesses.

Captain T. G. Anderson of the Indian Department, being duly sworn, deposed, that he was at the Prairie du Chiens, on the 21st of May Last, when the first official news of Peace was received by Captain Bulger from Lieutenant-Colonel McDonall, Commanding at Michilimack —on the following day the whole of the Indians were assembled, consisting of Scoux, Winnebagoes, Renards and Fallavoines, in the Council Room. The Pipe of Peace had been previously prepared—The great Wampum Belt, by which they had been summoned to war, was divested of its red color, and rendered blue, as a symbol of peace, according to their customs. The evidence was himself two hours busied in these preparations. The Ceremony commenced with displaying the great Wampum belt, which having changed its color, was now the Belt of Peace. Captain Bulger, the Commanding officer, then directed the Evidence to make known to the Indians, that Peace had been made between Great Britain and the United States, in which they were all included. This the Evidence did from a written speech, in which they were solemnly enjoined to observe the same: they were told that it contained the words of their Father at Mackinac.

Library of Congress

It was tied with blue ribbon and the seal of the commanding officer affixed to it. To render the ceremony more impressive, on Peace being mentioned, and the name of the King pronounced, a salute was fired from the Fort—Lieutenant Renville (Rainville) of the Indian Department, then went round with the Pipe of Peace, and to the best of his recollection, the whole of the Indians accepted the same, and smoked it in token of their assent and acceptance thereof.

Nearly two hours before the Council assembled, about six or eight Renards arrived to inform the Commanding officer, that a party of Sauks and Renards had left the Rack River to go to war against the Americans. Immediately after the Council the same Indians were despatched that evening with a pipe to overtake the War-Party, inform them of the Peace, and the orders of the commanding officer to return—

On the ensuing morning, Capt'n Dease of the Indian department was sent off to the Sauk Village with the same Wampum Belt pipe and speech, he was ordered to proceed with the utmost expedition in the hope of recalling the War-Party or any other which might be meditating hostilities. He proclaimed the Peace as directed, but the war party could not be overtaken. The evidence since learned that they 295 were engaged with the Americans on the 24th of May; being two days after the Peace was announced at Prairie du Chien.

The Evidence believes the scene of action to have been four hundred miles down the Mississippi.

Question from the Court, At the council, did the Indians in general seem pleased with the news of Peace.

Answer. They did, and some of the principal Chiefs expressed themselves to that effect—

Question. On proclaiming the Peace on the 22d May were not immediate steps taken to evacuate the Prairie du Chien and withdraw the Garrison to Mackinac?

Library of Congress

Answer— Yes.

Question. Were not strict orders given immediately on making known the peace, for the whole of the Indian Department and every officer and agent thereof to be withdrawn from amongst the Indians and to occupy the Garrison to Mackinac?

Answer— There were, and immediately acted upon. The whole-consisting of R. Dickson Esq, L. Nouore (Houore), Louis Barthe, Captain Anderson, Captain Dense, Lieutenant Lowe (Law),<sup>1</sup> Lieutenant Brisbois, Lieutenant Reinville, Interpreter Grignion, L. Grignion, Desouier, Campbell and Rock—returned to Mackinac, and arrived on the 17th June, two Interpreters excepted, who did not conform with the order, having their families and property at Prairie du Chien.

Fort Adjutant James Keating being duly sworn, deposeth, that he was Lieutenant Commanding the Mississippi Volunteer Artillery, stationed at the Prairie du Chien. He fully and in every particular corroborates the Evidence of Captain Anderson

Interpreter Amable Dusang, being duly sworn, deposeth, that he was at the time alluded to, an Ensign in the Mississippi volunteers stationed at the Prairie du Chien He fully and in every particular corroborates the Evidence of Captain Anderson—

Lieutenant Brisbois of the Indian Department, being duly sworn, deposeth, that he was at the time alluded to stationed at the Prairie du Chien, and also fully and in every particular corroborates Captain Andersons evidence—

Interpreter Louis Desouier, being duly sworn, also fully corroborates Captain Andersons Evidence—

Captain T. G. Anderson again called and examined.

Library of Congress

Question from the Court—Were you not since sent on duty to the Mississippi by Lieutenant Colonel McDonall, and at what time?

296

Answer—I was sent with some presents, and left Michilimackinac on the 4th July.

Question—Had you not orders from Lieut Col. McDonall, strongly to impress on the minds of the Indians the anxious wish of the King their Father, that they should strictly observe the Peace which before had been repeatedly communicated to them?

Answer. Yes, I addressed them by his orders in several different councils in these words—

My Children—

You have already been told more than once, that your great Father the King, has made peace with the Americans, and that all his Red children are included in it—I am purposely sent again to repeat this to you, and to acquaint you that it is his absolute command and desire, that you all bury the Tomahawk and not only live in harmony with them but with one another.”

The evidence adds that the principal Chiefs of all the different nations on that part of the Mississippi, were at different times addressed in the above words.

Question from the Court. Do you know of a single act of hostility having been committed by any of the Indian nations since the Peace was made known to them on the 22nd May by Captain Bulger, and by Captain Dease at the Sauk Village immediately afterwards—

Answer—None, except that near Fort Howard on the 14th May, by a party of the Sauks and Renards. It was the same that Captain Dease and a Party of Indians had been sent after, to tell them of the news of Peace, but failed to overtake them—I am confident, had any happened since, that I must have heard of it through some of the Chiefs.

Library of Congress

Question—In your conversation with the principal Chiefs, did they not express their determination to abide by the Peace?

Answer—They did, provided that the Americans observed it on their part, and did not attempt to build Forts upon their Lands, or advance further than Fort Maddison, being the farthest Military Post upon the Mississippi which the Americans had occupied previous to the beginning of the War in 1812—

Question—Are you of opinion that if these encroachments were not made the Indian nations would with sincerity and good faith observe the Peace?

Answer—I am. They saw it was their Interest in that case to observe it—

Interpreter Amable Dusang of the Indian Department being called, and duly sworn, deposeth, that he accompanied Captain Anderson on 297 duty, when sent in July last to the Mississippi, that he was present at the different Councils held by him with the Indians, and fully confirms the Pacific Sentiments and Language with which he addressed them—

Interpreter Louis Desouier being duly sworn, deposeth, that he also accompanied Captain Anderson on duty to the Mississippi, and was present at the different councils with the Indians, upon that occasion. He also fully confirms the Pacific sentiments and language with which Captain Anderson addressed them—

Captain John Askin of the Indian Department at Drummond Island, being duly sworn, deposeth, that the first official news of Peace arrived at Michilimackinac the first of May by the Mink schooner. Mr. Reaume of Sandwich was the bearer of the dispatches—

Question from the Court—Were not steps immediately taken to communicate the news of peace to the Indian nations?

Library of Congress

Answer—On the return of Lieut. Colonel McDonall, from Saint Josephs on the 2nd of May, accounts were immediately sent to L'Arb Croche of that event, with a notice, that in a few days it would be proclaimed in person by the Commanding officer. The principal Indians and Chiefs of the Grand Traverse being then at Michilimack, it was therefore communicated to them, and a message to the same purport. sent to their village. Nuboquam, a principal and intelligent chief was sent with similar speeches to the Sagana Indians and the Ottawa Chief Assegeuack, despatched with wampum and the pipe of peace, to all the nations on the east side of Lake Michigan. Interpreter Louis Nolin was despatched with information to Lieutenant Louis Nolin was despatched with information to Lieutenant Law of the Indian Department at Green Bay and by him communicated to Interpreter Lessallier, at Millwakee, and to all the tribes inhabiting the west side of the Lake. On the 7th of May I accompanied Lieutenant Colonel McDonall, and Lieutenant Colonel McKay, (Superintendents of the Indian Department) to Arbe Croche, where the Peace was proclaimed with every appropriate Ceremony. A Belt of Wampum was presented by the Commanding officer to the Nation, to be preserved amongst those which had been given them on similar important occasions, to commemorate the event.

Evidence Closed.

The Court not having been called on to give an opinion relative to the matters enquired into, together with its being obviously objectionable in this instance, when the President thereof, would have sat in judgement upon his own acts: trust that the clear and circumstantial 38 298 evidence of so many witnesses on oath, will afford the subject sufficient elucidation.

In this view of the matter, no opinion or sentence being required, the Court consider the Testimony of Lieutenant Colonel McDonal as a material part of the evidence, and is of opinion, that it should be substantiated on oath.

Library of Congress

Lieutenant Colonel McDonal was accordingly duly sworn to the truth of the preceeding statements, and also that the extracts which form the appendix to these proceedings are correct transcripts from the original documents.—

My Children.

If they come up here as traders, I shall always be happy to see them and to treat them well, but since you are not to have Forts on our Lands, they shall not come up with soldiers higher than Fort Madison (their farthest post on the Mississippi before the war). We will strictly listen to your voice; but we are not women. We will not commence quarrelling with them, but if they begin to molest us in the least, we fear them not, and will defend ourselves like men.

"The Sauk Chief Le Moite and the Black Hawk, having stated that the Red Head (Governor Clark) had allowed them thirty days to repair to St Louis, and that period being, as they said, nearly elapsed, and as they understood that the Americans looked upon them as their enemies from that period (15th or 20th August) they asked Captain Anderson what his advice to them was? He replied that he did not think that the Americans would do them any injury, and as Bailvia 301 their Agent, was soon expected up, their best plan would be to receive him friendly, and present him with the Pipe of Peace on his arrival at their village. This proposal they would not agree to, stating that they would not humble themselves so much as to offer their Pipe, but if Bailvin would present them with his Pipe, they would without hesitation receive it. Captain Anderson to get rid of this difficulty advised them to present the American Agent with the pipe which Captain Bulger (who

“We shall therefore listen to your words, and remain quiet, as my Great Chief told you just now, and next canoeing season I will go and see my Great Father at Michilimackinac, and perhaps farther.”

Extract of a speech from Bordach a principal War Chief of the Renard nation, August the 3rd 1815, at Prairie du Chien.

“I have been listening with patience to what you have said to the Sauks and their answers, which comprehends fully the wish of my Band, and they leave me but few words to say. I ask for charity, In case my body is no longer bloody (meaning that if he again went to war, and washed himself as is their custom) do not blame these my Brethren, I will be the only person to be scolded.

Captain Anderson seeing his determination to revenge the death of his son on the Americans, reigned anger, got up and reproached him in these words.

“What! You a great warrior and talk in this way! had your brave son loitered behind trees and died with fear, Would you not have been 302 more ashamed. He died like a Brave Man, in defence of his wife and children. If there was no risk in going to war, bravery would be out of the question, and the Indians would not wear feathers in their caps (which denotes the number each has killed in battle).”

“Your conduct has made me ashamed, but I attribute it to your not being acquainted with the customs of the English.”

Captain Anderson then gave him a gun and a handsome present saying—

“Put off your mourning with this, and listen to the words of your Father which you have just now heard—”

He answered

“My Father.

I am a fool for acting as I have done, you have given me sense—I will follow your advice.”

Sir

I have the honor to inform your Excellency that the 6 heavy Guns intended for Amherstburg, were lost in the mouth of the Niagara River in a Schooner hired for the purpose of conveying them to Queenstown. As soon as the official communication on the subject arrives, it shall be forwarded to your Excellency.

304

Major Power of the Royal Artillery is of opinion that those Guns may be recovered without difficulty by employing two Schooners to weigh them.

I transmit copies of a correspondence between Sir Edward Owen and the Officer Commanding at Detroit, similar copies have been forwarded to Lt. Governor Gore (whose arrival has been officially announced) and to Captain Payne the Senior Officer of the Royal Navy on the Station. The Commodore will probably arrive in the course of tomorrow.

I enclose herewith Letters from Lt. Col. James for the consideration of your Excellency.

I have transmitted to the Lieut. Governor all letters and papers relating to the new settlements the arrangement of which important business must now of course devolve to him.

I am sorry to report to your Excellency, that amongst other Desertions there appears to be four men from the Royl Artillery on the Niagara frontier, which is a strong and lamentable proof, how firmly established that disgraceful principal is, for the present among our troops- nor do I believe it will cease with our present infected set—neither the Navy or Army can place confidence in any one under the rank of a commissioned officer.

I am informed they cost £2500, at the rate which we are now obliged to pay hired artificers, we could not build them for less, £1000 is however considered a fair price for them, by Capt. Sir

I have just learned from Mr Gordon a settler at this Post that on his leaving Mackinac yesterday morning in his Canoe to return to Drummond Island he was grossly insulted by some soldiers of your garrison; not only assailing him with the most illiberal abuse but also with stones til the Canoe was out of their reach.

I have also reason to believe, that unusual harshness has been shewn to every individual attached to or in any way connected with the British Government and their property in several instances, wantonly pillaged that the house of Mr. Franks and another of Dr. Mitchells have been broken open and sustained much damage; that the garden of the latter has been repeatedly robbed and that of Mr. Gruets entirely plundered of its contents a loss not to be replaced in this part of the country and of a very serious nature to a man having a large Family to support. Mrs. Mitchell has I understand been prevented from putting out nets to fish in other instances treated with marked indignity and even meanly accused of being a spy of the British Government—As such a charge necessarily implicates myself I with that indignation which it deserves, pronounce it to be a most illiberal Calumny.—The British Government are not accustomed to stoop to such practices since my first knowledge of the peace it has been my anxious and most particular desire that the dying embers of political animosity even incident to a recent state of warfare should be totally extinguished and should be succeeded by that social intercourse between the two Posts Which should ever subsist between nations in Amity with each other.

These sentiments were not only avowed but acted upon by Major Morgan,—I should be sorry to learn that a different System is to be adopted by his successor I shall delay the representation of matters aforesaid to my Government, until I have the honor to hear from you.

Fort Drummond 4 Oct 1815

I had yesterday the honor of Your Excellency's letter of the 12th ulto—

Perfectly aware of your wishes and those of Sir Gordon Drummond as to the scrupulous observance of the late Treaty and also of the indispensable necessity which existed that the slightest cause of complaint should not be given to the American Government, it has accordingly been my study to conduct myself with that cautious circumspection which the situation of affairs so obviously required.

Library of Congress

I trust that I may safely assure your Excellency of the perfect conviction which I feel that no act of mine since the Peace can be made appear in the smallest degree as infringing the Treaty of Ghent or in any way incompatible with the existing relations of Peace and unity between the two Countries.

It would however be too much to expect that such accusations will not be made, those preferred through the British Minister are a precious specimen of American ingenuity in vamping up Charges to answer particular ends. I regret that the indisposition of Capt'n Anderson of the Indian Department a Member of the Court of Inquiry and also an Evidence has not yet enabled me to close the proceedings.

Anxious however as I have been to refrain from giving the least justifiable cause of offence, in any one respect as far as I can charge my memory to the American Government yet I must candidly own to 310 Your Excellency that such has been the system recently acted upon at Mackinac since the departure of Major Morgan such a series of insults offered to every person connected with the British Government and such repeated depredations committed upon their property that in justice to them I found myself imperiously called upon to remonstrate. I enclose a Copy of my letter to Lieut. Col. Chambers on that subject.

Should this matter be viewed by Your Excellency in a different light I trust for your indulgence.—It is to me an Enigma that I cannot solve that our Country the first in Wealth, in power, in arms,—the mistress of the World; swaying the destinies of Europe that she has delivered, admired , honored , revered by her greatest Sovereigns, even by those Whose boasted ancestry so high extends That in the Pagan Gods their lineage ends —that a country exalted to the utmost pinnacle of human greatness should make concession after concession and with a caution and measured policy truckle to a nation of yesterday, of no character, to such a people.

The late Treaty of Commerce it is also said gives up our right to trade with those Indians who reside Within the limits of the United States—This severs the last link which connects us with the Western Nations, after what I have told them what a superlative and unequalled—they must think me—<sup>1</sup> The latter hints in Your Excellencys Letter is invariably adhered to, tho' we have a frequent intercourse with the Ottawas at present who bring their Corn to Trade at this Post.

From the few artificers whom we could muster, the little assistance derived from the men of the 37th wholly unaccustomed to such work together with the extensive Store Houses necessary for the Provisions and Stores as well as Barracks to cover the Troops I found it quite out of my power to provide Barracks for the officers.—I had myself purchased a very good House at St. Joseph's complete all of frame work which was easily taken down removed and put up at this post. The Engineer has assisted me with the means of putting it up. therefore do not include myself for Lodging money until you convey to me His Excellency's pleasure on the subject;—Several other officers have from necessity had recourse to the same expedient—By this means the former settlement of St. Joseph's is now scarcely to be traced, while this is rapidly rising into notice; Fourteen Lots facing the Harbour have already been granted to as many very respectable individuals besides nearly as many in another street.<sup>1</sup> His Excellency's injunctions shall be strictly complied with on that subject to which I have tacked a condition, that the Houses are to be built in the ensuing year, perfectly uniform (front Street only) not less than Forty foot front and Twelve high well finished and in a manner that will admit of their being whitewashed or painted; The Town will therefore have a fine effect from the Beautiful picturesque Harbour, between which and the proposed Fort there is already a notable parade on which a strong Brigade might manoeuvre upon the smooth solid Rock.—

Mackinac is already almost wholly deserted & scarcely a person to be seen except the Garrison. One giving up the Indian Trade alone saves it from dwindling into insignificance and will I fear affect the prosperity of this post, which otherwise would have been rapid and certain.—

Library of Congress

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of this date. I will cause an inquiry to be made into the circumstances of the murder alledged to have been committed upon an Indian by a party of men in an American boat, if a murder has been committed by American Citizens and the perpetrators can be detected, they will suffer the punishment which the Laws of all Civilized Nations provide for such an offense.

In an application of this kind it was unnecessary to allude to the Indian Custom of retaliating upon innocent individuals injuries which any of their tribe may have received. The Laws of this Country operate with rigid impartiality upon all offenders, and confident I am that no dread of the consequences will ever induce the courts of Justice to punish the innocent or to screen the guilty.

I will send a person over in the morning to attend the inquest in order to procure such evidence as may elucidate the circumstances of the transaction and lead to the detection and consequent punishment of the offenders.

Since my letter to you of the 5th inst, in answer to yours of that date, I have ascertained with precision the circumstances of the transaction which formed the subject of your communication.

The Indian alluded to was killed while in the act of presenting his Gun at Mr. McComb<sup>1</sup> by one of the party which was with him. The event was connected with that predatory system which the Indians have pursued for some time upon the Islands in the mouth of the River and which if not checked will be attended with still more disastrous consequences to them.

I state these facts not in consequence of the representations which I had the honor to receive from you, but merely in justice to Mr McComb, That irroneous impression may not prevail with respect to his conduct in the business.

The Indian was killed within the Territorial jurisdiction of the United States, and a British officer has consequently no right to require nor ought an American officer to give any explanation upon the subject.

I have had the honor to receive your letter of the 2nd Instant and seriously regret that Mrs. Garden should have experienced any insulting treatment whilst on a visit to this Island a circumstance of which I was entirely ignorant until the reception of your Epistle nor am I yet enabled to discover the perpetrators notwithstanding every has been made to that effect—had Mr. Garden<sup>1</sup> taken the trouble to have represented his case to me previous to his leaving the Island he should have received the most ample satisfaction and I should have inflicted the most prompt and exemplary punishment on the offenders.

1 Should read "Gordon," see p. 307, to which letter this is the reply.

I can only remark further, that every effort will be yet resorted to obtain a knowledge of the persons who committed so flagrant an act.

In the case of Mrs. Mitchell and others in whose cause you have remonstrated, I shall observe that her privileges, Gardens and other possessions are situated under the protection of the American Government and that in case of depredations having been committed on her property by the soldiers of my command that by making an application to me she would have obtained a redress—and if I had refused her that redress, that to the American Tribunal she could confidently apply, and receive that degree of justice which has ever characterized the Governmt to that Tribunal I will cheerfully respond for the correctness of my official conduct but I do not conceive that your interference in the case of Mrs. Mitchell, as in any other case, of a citizen residing under the protection of the Government of the United States requisite or necessary, on the contrary I view it as on assumption of a prerogative which in no wise appertains to an officer of the British Government, and consequently unwarrantable, neithers will it receive any attention from me on any future occasion— — I shall however condescend for once to transmit a detail of facts merely for your own private satisfaction, to assure you tibet we do not stoop to practices alluded to in your letter (as the officers of this garrison feel themselves superior to such contemptible subterfuge) & to evince now for veracity of this Mrs Mitchell can be accredited,—namely, that no depridations have been alleged against the Soldiery with any degree of justice, such is the case of Mrs Geneth and she shall receive every possible remuneration for the Spoliation which was committed on her property 316 that the Soldiery were Suspected is true, but the fact was substantiated on some dishonest Citizens of the Island, in their case I do not conceive myself warranted in interfering as it is the entire Province of Mr Putoff, (Puthuff) the Agent of the Indian Department to whom

I have referred a part of your letter and from whom you may expect a reply, as well as on future occasions of a similar nature—Mrs. Mitchell as well as other persons referred to has ever been treated with Civility by officers of this Garrison nor have I witnessed any other disposition manifested titan that they should enjoy the privileges of the Island in Common

I shall now conclude by remarking that I am aware of a number of malicious reports which have reached Drummond Island from this Post and that it will always afford me pleasure to have an opportunity to disprove them so far as relates to the Garrison under my Command (the Civil department being under the guidance of Mr. Putoff and other Civil officers) and by assuring you that you will ever experience from my official conduct a disposition to extinguish the embers of any Political animosity, which have heretofore existed and that I will cheerfully correspond with you in any measure which will tend reciprocally to the honor and interest of our respective Governments—

MR. PUTHUFF TO LIEUT. COL. McDOUALL ( Indians )

Michilimackinac 5th Oct 1815

No. 2

Sir ,

In a letter addressed by you to the officer commanding Michilimac, on the 2nd instant (shewn me by Lieut. Col. Chambers commanding) I find the following very extraordinary paragraph which, as having relation more immediately to the Department to which I belong the Colonel has requested me to answer.

Library of Congress

“Mrs. Mitchell has I understand been prevented from putting out nets to fish, in other instances treated with marked indignity and even meanly accused of being a spy, of the British Government. As such a charge necessarily implicates myself I with that indignation which it deserves pronounce it to be a most illiberal calumny—The British Government are not accustomed to stoop to such practices.”

Of the first part of the charge relating to the “putting out nets to fish” I have to observe that it is a matter altogether of a civil character and for which any person so interfering is accountable to her before the civil Tribunal of a country as remarkable for the justice and equality of its laws as for the prompt and vigilant exertions of its officers in the enforcing of them. The Second part charging that she has been “treated with marked indignity and is of a nature wholly depending on opinion—

To this I can only remark that the American people are in the habit of founding their opinions upon comparison and reflection, and of comparing and reflecting at pleasure—Hospitality is a characteristic of these people, the laws of courtesy are by us held to be sacred, nor sir, is “marked indignity” ever offered by an American officer, except when marked baseness imperiously requires it.

“And even meanly accused of being a spy to the British Government”—This is the only part of the charge in which you can by possibility have the most distant concern—This as relates to myself or any officer of the American Government who has fallen under my observation is as “meanly calumnious” as it has been ungenerously and illiberally advanced.

Library of Congress

To practices in themselves improper or dishonorable the American Government is as little accustomed to “stoop” as that of any other upon earth.

From Mrs. Mitchell I have just learnt, that no such attempt has been made to prevent her from fishing or “Marked Indignity,” or insult offered her person, and that no one has of her knowledge charged her with being “a spy for the British Government”—She declares her willingness and wish to confront your informant, and to use her phraseology “Give him the Lye.”—

Any measure which I have thought it my duty to adopt in relation to Mrs. Mitchell are entirely of a local and personal nature as connected with the Laws of the American Government regulating trade and intercourse with the Indians and in no way involving or implicating the British Government for which I am alone accountable to my Government, where Mrs. Mitchell if she conceives herself to have been aggrieved, may obtain redress, and to it only on subjects of this description can I consent to respond—

I am sensible of the many calumnious Reports that have been and probably will continue for a time to be put in circulation by persons from motives of resentment, animosity, and interest and will I sincerely hope be carefully examined weighted and reflected upon, before they are accredited by the officers of either. Government—

It has been repeatedly observed to me by the Indians that you in council with them on Drummond Island in the name of your Government have forbidden them to Trade with the Americans have ordered them to bring their corn to their British Father, or, if prevented by stress of weather to leave it with the British Traders only, on the Island of Michilimackinac, or bury it until the Spring—That you have sent your order to an Indian Trading at La Arbre Croche for Micl Dousman, forbidding him to trade for or deliver his corn to an American —That you have a few days since held a council at which, barrels of Rum were opened to them, minute guns were fired, and when they were informed that the Tomahawk would again be raised early in the Spring that Red Wampum and Tobacco mixed with Vermillion

was distributed that they were advised to be upon the alert as it was the intention of the Americans to invite them to this Island with a view to Massacre them—That you would again appear in the night with your Big Gun upon the Island of Michilimackinac and that the Americans would not dare oppose you. These and many other reports of like character have been repeatedly made to me — which I hope may be discovered not to have originated in fact—

I have the honor to assure sir that its my most sincere and ardent wish, that “the dying Embers of Political Animosity “between the two Governments” “should be totally extinguished” and that a liberal sincere and social intercourse should be kept up between the two Posts, every exertion shall be used on my part to accomplish so desireable event.

No 8.

Amherstburg 5th Oct. 1815

Sir ,

Library of Congress

I beg leave to report to you that I was called last evening to visit an Indian who was said to be wounded—On examination I found him to be dangerously wounded by a musket or rifle Ball which had entered his body near the Back Bone on the right side and passed directly through his Body, from the direction of the Ball it must have passed through the substance of the Liver, froth the pain and tension I have no doubt some of the other viscera were also wounded.

On enquiring into the circumstance, I was informed (through Mr. Parent Lieut. & Interpreter) that the Indian who was wounded with another young man had gone on to Gross Isle yesterday to shoot squirrels, that they were coming home and just coming down to their canoe when a boat with a number of Americans they think ten came down the River some of whom called to them and asked them if they were British or belonged to this side to which they answered as well as they could they did— Some one in the boat then damned them and told them to embark immediately which they did that almost as soon as they got on board the canoe a shot was fired from the Boat which wounded the Indian as above stated— The Indian said that the men appeared to be soldiers and one of them an officer.

From all the information I was able to collect there appears to have been an unprovoked and most wanton act of violence and of such a nature as may be attended with the most Serious consequences—

I have considered it my duty to be thus particular in order that you may make the necessary inquiries to satisfy yourself of the facts & to enable you to make proper representations on the subject both to our own and to the American government.

Purport of a Communication made to me on Sunday the 8th Inst. by G. McDougall<sup>1</sup> he declaring himself as sent by the Governor of Detroit.

Colonel James. Sir I was on my way down to your House with a Message from Gov. Cass. I presume you have received the two letters which he addressed to you since his receipt of your letter of the 5th Inst: the one which you would have reed this morning he thought better to send me over to you on the subject of as letters written are apt to lead to rancour and personal interviews avoid it. The Governor was on reflection led to think that he misconstrued your letter giving the account of the Indian being killed at Gross Isle and if he has been so he desires me to assure you he did not mean it.

I replied. Sir, As Governor Cass seems to have imputed my letter of the 5th Inst. to different motives than those of a caution, I have nothing more to say to you on the subject. I have discharged a friendly act towards the inhabitants of the United States and Mr. McComb in particular. I could not have been aware that General Cass was acquainted with the nature of the transaction and as Indians are prompt in vengence, I, as I have before stated, only acted with some consideration towards the perpetrators of the deed.

Colonel. The Governor was apprehensive that he had misunderstood the meaning of your letter and I wish to do it away.

Mr. McDougall,—I can by no means subscribe to the idea of Governor Cass that a British officer has no right to interfere with the inquiry of wilful murder on those waters, and had it been a British subject I would have offered on instant a reward for the apprehension of the offender, his aides and abettors on this occasion.

Library of Congress

Colonel. There will be sufficient affidavits taken at Detroit tomorrow to warrant the Act, or any rate to convince you that there has been no murder, those Indians are very ill conducted.

Mr. McDougall.— I shall transmit to my Government the whole of the transaction, and I really would rather decline any farther conversation on this unwarrantable Transaction.

Colonel. I shall take care that the affidavits are all sent over to you and I am confident that General Cass will be very much satisfied with what I shall inform him.

Mr. McDougall. I shall always do my endeavours to meet the wishes of the American Government, as far as a rigid discharge of my duty warrants.

Here Mr. McDougall wished me to enter into a far fetched matter for exchange of Deserters &c. My reply was, Sir, I offered to do so before, my proposition was rejected and now it must come through higher authority.

Agreeably to your request could collect respecting the shooting of a Kickapoo Indian on Grosse Isle on the 4th Inst, & which is now enclosed herewith. The Indians were not on oath but I endeavored to have it impressed on their minds the necessity and propriety of telling the truth & their story is so clear and connected that I have not the smallest doubt of its being perfectly correct.

The irritation on the part of the Americans appears to have arisen from the circumstance of an ox having been seen with the Indian on shore but which he certainly accounts for in a most satisfactory manner, on the whole there appears to be no cause for such a wanton & unmanly act as that of firing at a poor Indian sitting with his back to the Party & steering his Canoe. It is beyond a doubt that the Ball entered at his back.

“His Royal Highness was gratified to learn, that the Post of Michilimackinac ”had been duly restored to the American Government in “compliance with the Provisions of the Treaty of Ghent,—By a reference ”to the 6th Article of that Treaty, you will observe that Commissioners “are to be immediately appointed for the purpose of ascertaining more directly the line of boundary laid down in the Treaty of 1783 & fixing definitely to which of the two Powers, the Islands situated in the Several Lakes, respectively belong—

Library of Congress

On these grounds I have to desire that you would refrain from engaging in the work proposed on the Manitoulin Islands however eligible in point of situation, until the Treaty of Great Britain to the possession shall have been formally admitted on the part of the United States.

“With respect also to the other public works attended to in your despatch, as desirable for the defence of the Upper Province, I have to recommend you to abstain from undertaking them until His Majesty's Government shall have decided upon some general plan for the future defence of the Province. Their attention has already been directed to this object and it is therefore desirable, that no new Fortifications should be erected which might either interfere with, or impede the general measures of the defence, which may upon a further survey be considered most eligible, and even in these Cases, in which you have it in contemplation to improve works already existing, or to substitute in their room others on an extended scale, it is most desirable that you should previously submit to the appropriation of His Majesty's Government, the plans of the works intended to be erected together with an Estimate of the expense of erecting them.

Library of Congress

An opportunity just presenting itself by the last light Canoe which descends the Grand River this season, and understanding that the communication by the route of Nottawsaga, is at an end, I am induced to forward by it the Proceedings of a Court of inquiry held by order of Major General Sir F. Robinson, to investigate certain charges preferred by the American Government against Lieut. Cadotte of the Indian Department and also against the Govt Generally, that its agents had instigated the Indians to hostilities since the Peace.

As the rapid Conveyance of the proceedings to Head Qrs may be very desirable at a Crisis when the Indian Question must soon become very interesting and as it being directly forwarded to Sir F. Robinson would occasion great delay, I entreat of His Excellency to represent this accordingly to the Major General and that you will have the goodness to transmit him a copy thereof. I had not time for this myself and a Serjeant whom I entrusted to take a copy has bungled it in a way that renders it quite unfit to be sent.

His Excellency directed me to a full and complete investigation of the circumstances complained of, I was fortunate, in still having at this remote Post, so many of the necessary evidences. Solemnly convinced in my own mind that the charges in themselves were a base calumny & utterly without foundation, I felt myself peculiarly interested in their refutation, conscious that their chief object was to shut our eyes to the manifest infringement of the Treaty of Ghent, & to the horrible tragedy which they meditate against the Indians of the Mississippi. Unfortunate men! forced by us into the War, assured by us again and again, of our faithful adherence to their cause, and if our constant protection, & now, "abandoned at their utmost need," to the merciless vengeance of a relentless Enemy. Their pretext is, that they continue the war: It is false, not an act of hostility has been committed (we have every reason to believe) since the 24 May and it is clearly proved that the Indians then knew nothing of the Peace. It is clearly proved by Capt. Andersons evidence, that when it became known, they not only assented thereto, but were anxious to observe it, upon the real terms on which it was made, (see the Sauk Chief, LaMoite's speech). These too well ascertained facts, strips the American Government of every pretext for their meditated hostilities, and reduces them to the bold 326 alternative of cutting of the Indians by a glaring violation of a recent treaty, and rendering themselves liable to the usual consequences.

One observation I conceive it my duty to suggest, and to recommend its being fully explained to our Minister at Washington, that a series of vague surmises, undefined conjectures, reports of Indian Agents on the frontier, founded on no evidence, & perhaps purposely vamped up to answer some purpose of the Govt in General too, the absurd information of some ignorant Indian Chief; that charges of this nature, so flimsy, so totally unsupported, and involving such serious consequences, should in future be wholly inadmissible, & instantly rejected. If it suited the purpose of the American Government not a week would elapse but they could with the utmost facility obtain from their Indian Agents, accusations much more voluminous, when their own assertion or opinion is only necessary—proof of the fact alledged being altogether unnecessary.

A decided protest should also be made against the principle assumed by them, that every petty reconoutre (very often provoked by themselves) which takes place between them & the various Indian nations on their vast frontier, is to be ascribed to British influence & agency; I trust the proceedings of the Court will sufficiently evince the absurdity of such a supposition. If there appears that unusual pains had been taken, almost unprecedented exertions used, to restrain the Indians from hostilities, even when threats were made use of, and much provocation given by themselves, and also a disposition evinced by the American Government in no respect compatible with the Treaty of Ghent. When conduct like this, originating in the most anxious desire that the Indians should observe the Peace, has only tended to provoke the most odious calumneys, what chance is there, that they will desist from future accusations, or there ever being an end to the altercation.

It was my intention to have sent the proceedings of the Court of Enquiry by Captain Anderson, as this prudent and judicious officer (so recently from the Mississippi) could have afforded His Excellency much information as to the present state of Indian Politics. A sudden indisposition, however, renders him unable to undertake the journey.

A collection of Indian Speeches, which I have enclosed for His Excellency's perusal at his leisure, will throw some light upon the subject. They are in some measure interesting, as exhibiting correct specimens of Indian Eloquence, and in some instances of judgment & penetration which could scarcely be expected; I have been struck with that of La Feuille so deeply evincing bitterness of his sorrow at having parted with those marks of distinction which his Father Wabasha had reed from the English, and on his death bed enjoined 327 him never to part with. The note which follows this speech is worth attention at the present moment .

Capt. Anderson is the translator of these speeches. He happily retains their figurative mode of expression, and that touching simplicity in some instances, speaks to the heart.

As to our neighbors at Mackina, they are at present actuated by a system of the most illiberal policy, which shews itself in the persecution of every person connected with the British Government, and in the pillage of their property. They watch the Indians with an increasing jealousy, and cannot bear their increasing attachment to us. Mrs. Mitchell who was compelled to remain at Mackina, to look after her property, has been treated with gross indignity—accused of the most absurd falsehoods, & to prevent being sent in confinement to Detroit, obliged to make her escape to this post in the night.

I thought it my duty to make a strong remonstrance upon the subject of these outrages, the reply to which I have not yet received.

I have the honor to be Sir, Your very obdt Servant Rt McDonall , Lt Col.

Members

The Court being assembled proceeded to the investigation of the following charges preferred by the Government of the United States against Lt. Joseph Cadot of His Majesty's Indian Department.

1st. For having offered money to the Indians for the scalps of two persons of the name of Chadronet & Kinzie, then residing in the Territory of the United States.

2nd. For having told the Indians that the Fortifications at Michillimackinac were all in a situation to be blown up, if at any time the Americans should go there & that the peace was but an artifice.

Library of Congress

Previous to commencing the Proceedings, Lt. Col. McDonall thought it right to state to the court, his motives for sending Lt. Cadot on the duty alluded to, and also to state the verbal instructions which were given to him—Lt. Col. McDonall being desirous to send a supply of Presents to the Indians of the Grand River on Lake Michigan, in Nov: 1814 availed himself of an opportunity presented by Mr Coursolle (a Trader) setting out for that place with a supply of goods for the Indians of the neighborhood. Aware that they were divided in opinion as to the attachment to the two governments, Lieut. Cadot was directed to assemble the Indians he could depend upon, for their mutual protection. This was the more necessary from the circumstances of there being frequently in that part of the country, two notorious characters, the one (Chadronet) a murderer and both guilty of treason to their country. These men had likewise done much mischief among the Indians. Even when employed in the British service, under Mr. Dickson son at Detroit, in 1815, they were industriously exerting themselves to seduce them from our alliance, but their treachery being detected they were sent, in irons, to Amherstburg. Kinzie was forwarded in the same state to Quebec but Chadronet (then an interpreter in His Majesty's Indian Dept) contrived to make his escape to the Americans.

This man, in conjunction with another of the name of Burner,<sup>1</sup> Jos. Bailey. E. Lamorandie Burnet (McBurnet). D. Bourassau<sup>2</sup> also a British Subject, in the same year headed an armed Party of the Enemy & carried off Prisoners to Detroit, the British Traders between the Grand River & St. Josephs on Lake Michigan named as per margin.

Lt. Col. Mc Donall was so impressed with the necessity of seizing these worthless men who had so repeatedly transgressed against their Country that one of his first acts on his arrival at Mackina was to dispatch a party from thence, to bring them Prisoners to that place, Lieut. Chadronet who commanded it had married the sister of young Chadronet's mother above alluded to and had brought him up in his family with the affection and kindness of a Father, but the wretch with almost unparelled ingratitude, on his (Lieut. Chadronet's) landing and telling 329 him, he must come in a prisoner with him to Mackina seized his rifle and shot him on the spot! It therefore became an object of importance to rid the country if possible of these Pests and Lieut. Cadot was especially instructed by Lt. Col. McDonall to spare no pains or expense in causing them to be made prisoners and sent in to Michillimackinac but no opportunity having occurred and having delivered his presents he returned to that place on the 26th Jan.

On the 2nd of March Lieut. Cadot was again sent on duty to the Grand River with orders to select and bring in from eighty to one hundred Indian Warriors to assist in the defence of Michillimackinac as Lt. Col. McDonall was anxious that he should succeed in this mission, fully expecting to be attacked by a formidable force, very early in the summer, he was directed to encourage the Indians by describing to them the degree of strength to which the works had attained, Lieut. Cadotte returned from the performance of this duty to Michillimackinac accompanied by eighty four Indian warriors on the 3d of May, being two days after the first official news of Peace had been received at that place.

The Court then proceeded to the Examination of the following evidence on oath—

Lieut Joseph Cadotte, being duly sworn deposeth that having received his instructions on the 4th of Novem. from the commanding officer to take Presents to the Grand River & and to assemble the well affected Indians of that neighborhood, for the protection of those goods, & those of Mr. Coursolle, & also to use every exertion & spare no expense, to take and bring in Prisoners to Mackinaw, Chadronet & Kinzie, he set out accordingly & arrived with Mr. Coursolle on the 9th of Decem. His first step was to assemble the Indians on whom he could depend & having distributed the Presents, directed them to be in readiness in case he was attacked from Detroit. In communicating to them the orders which he had received to take Chadronet & Kinzie, prisoners to Mackina, reminded them of their previous treachery to their Great Father, the King, whose subjects they were, & of their both having been in irons at Amherstburg, for their crimes when many of they themselves were present; that Chadronet in particular had done them great injury, by killing his adopted Father, & that both of them, by seizing the preceeding winter their Traders in consequence of which no others would venture among them, which was the cause of their present misery. He therefore told them to bring in Chadronet & Kinzie to him & that they should be sent to Mackina where they should not be hurt, adding that if on meeting with them, they could not succeed in making them Prisoners, still they should not suffer 42 330 men guilty of such crimes to escape. As an inducement to the Indians he offered them 400 plus to bring them in alive. The Indians replied that they knew these men, had deterred the Traders of their English Father from coming amongst them, & relieving their misery; that they would therefore do all they could to take them whatever opposition be made, as they did not wish them to come on their Lands. Lieut Cadott adds that having distributed the Presents, he returned to Mackina on the 26th of Jany. & received the thanks of the Commanding officer, in public orders, for his conduct.

Lieut Cadott further deposeth that Lt. Col. McDonall having taken measures for assembling the Indians for the defence of Mackina, it again fell to his lot to collect those of the Grand River & its vicinity, where he arrived the 26th of March. As usual he told them the news. That the King their great Father had subdued his enemies in Europe & that all his forces would be turned against the Americans. To encourage them to accompany him, he stated to them the exertions which had been making all the winter to strengthen the works at Mackina, which were then so strong that they would be safe in the excavations & Bomb-proofs which had been made at Fort George, & that the American vessels durst not approach the Guns. The Evidence further deposeth, that on the 4th of April, there were reports among the Indians of a Peace & that on the 9th an Indian arrived with a newspaper & some wampum, stating that Peace had been concluded, but not ratified. That they mentioned to him how frequently they had been deceived with such reports, & were of opinion as well as himself, that it was an artifice on the part of the Americans to prevent his taking the Indians for the defence of Mackina. Lieut Cadott also stated to them that if such a treaty had been so long signed, he would have been informed thereof by Lt. Col. McDonall, or by an officer of the Indian Department from Amherstburg. As he could not therefore bring himself to credit the story, he in conformity to his orders, proceeded with eighty four Indian warriors for Mackina, on the 12th of April & arrived the 3d of May, when he learned that the first official news of the Peace had been received there two days before.

Mr. Michel Coursolle, being duly sworn deposeth, that he set out from Mackina on the 4th of Nov. with goods to the amount of about £2000 to trade with the Indians; he was accompanied by Lt. Cadott of the Indian Dept. with presents from Government, who had orders to remain with him, that they might afford each other mutual assistance. On their arrival among other matters he reproached them with having permitted Chadronet & Burnett, to carry off the British Traders Prisoners 331 to Detroit, the preceding winter, which was the reason that no more Traders would venture among them. That he as well as Mr. Cadott, impressed upon their minds the general bad character of Chadronet, Kinzie & Burner, & in particular the guilt of the former in putting his adopted Father to death. That their Father at Michillimackinac had in consequence required them to seize these bad men to be sent into that place, for which they would receive a large recompence. The Indians then remarked that they were in general well mounted & it would be difficult to take them. He replied "You have good rifles & in such a case, rather than suffer them to escape, you ought to make a good use of them."

Question from the Court. Were you not a Trader in that part of the country, when the other Traders were surprized & taken Prisoners to Detroit, and by whom were they taken?

Answer—I was, they were taken by Jean Baptiste Chadronet & Isaac Burnett.

Question from the Ct. Do you know if J. B. Chadronet & J. Kinzie were ever in His Majesty's Service?

Library of Congress

Answer—I know that Chadronet was an interpreter in His Majesty's Indian Dept. in 1813. Kinzie I believe was employed also in the same year by Mr. Dickson—

Question from the Court. You were at Detroit in 1813 when it was in possession of the British were Chadronet & Kinzie then in Prison & do you know for what?

Answer. They were in Prison and I believe in Irons: he understood for being detected in a correspondence with the Enemy and misleading and deceiving the Indians.

Question from the Court Do you know what became of them?

Answer I understood that Chadronet effected his escape to the Indians & that Kinzie was sent in irons to Quebec.

Question from the Court. Do you know how Kinzie was enabled again to reappear about Detroit?

Answer—Not with certainty—It has been stated that he was embarked a Prisoner for England & that the vessel was driven by stress of weather into a Port in Nova Scotia, from whence he made his escape.

Question from the Court. Was any attempt made to take you & Lt. Cadott prisoners to Detroit?

Answer We understood that such a plan had been formed. The party were to be rewarded with the plunder of my goods as an inducement & if resistance was made Lt. Cadott & myself were to be put to death. On hearing this, we took the best measures we could for our 332 mutual safety, we collected the Indians around us who being resolved to protect us the attack was not made.

Question from the Court When did you hear of Peace having been concluded & ratified?

Library of Congress

Answer On the 8th of May on my return to Mackina I met the Ottawa Chief Assigenack. He told me he was on his way to the Grand River and St. Josephs with orders from Lt. Col McDonall to make known the Peace among the Indians of that quarter with his strict injunctions that they remained quiet & observed the same.

Question from the Court. Did you hear of any reports of peace previous to your leaving the Grand River?

Answer Yes, I did not attach the least credit to them I thought if true they would have been confirmed from Mackina, & Lt. Cadott having been so lately sent from that place, for the very purpose of collecting warriors for its defence, The Indians had no other idea, than that these reports were invented to deceive them as on former occasions & to prevent their accompanying him.

Mr. Chs. Bailey being duly sworn was examined by the Court.

Were you a British Trader in the neighborhood of the Grand River Lake Michigan, during the winter of 1813?

Answer Yes I was.

Question Were you taken Prisoner in Dec. of that year & carried to Detroit?

Answer I was.

Question Who were the principal persons concerned in taking you? Answer Jean Bte Chadronet, Isaac Burnet & B. Ducharme. Question In what manner were you taken?

Answer I was unwell at the time & the Party came upon me by surprise. Chadronet presented his Pistols at me & Burnett told me I was his prisoner in the name of the United States.

Library of Congress

The Ottawa Chief Assinack examined.

Question from the Court. Did you accompany Lieut Chadronet of His Majesty's Indian Dept. in July last year, when sent by Lt. Col. McDonall to bring in Chadronet & Kinzie Prisoners to Mackina?

Answer Yes.

Question from the Court Was not young Chadronet related & brought up by the other as his son?

Answer He was.

Question from the Court. What became of young Chadronet?

Answer He was killed at the entrance of River St. Josephs, Lake Michigan, by his adopted son J. B. Chadronet.

Question Were you present? did you see the manner of his death?

Answer I was about fifteen yards from him when he was killed.

Question How did it happen?

Answer Lt. Chadronet on landing found J. B. Chadronet on the Beach and told him he was his Prisoner. The other seizing his rifle, threatened him if he approached which Lt. Chadronet<sup>1</sup> disregarded, he presented and shot him.

<sup>1</sup> Lieut. Chas. Chandonnet, Indian department; J. B. Chandonnet was his nephew according to Canadian records.

Library of Congress

Capt. Nelson of the Schooner Vermillion being duly sworn was examined as follows:

Question Do you know anything of Kinzie or of his being employed by the British Government?

Answer Yes. He was acting as an officer in the Indian Dept. & employed by Genl. Proctor & Col. Elliott, in taking Powder to the Indians. At the beginning of the War, he came in with the other Indians, dressed like them & acting like them with the British Troops. he was afterwards discovered by Tecumseth to be acting a treacherous part with the Indians who told General Proctor in council that if he was not hung the Indians themselves would put him to death. After being sent in irons to Quebec he made his escape & is now a Tide waiter at Detroit.

Question How long have you known Kinzie?

Answer I knew him twenty five years chiefly at Detroit.

Question from the Court Did you conceive him to be a British Subject?

Answer I did, & believe him to have been enrolled in the Militia as such.

Capt. John Askin Ind. Dept. duly sworn.

Question from the Court. How long have you known Kinzie? Answer Since the year 1787.

Question from the Court Do you know him as a British subject & of his being in the service of Govt.

Answer Yes, he was enrolled in the militia commanded by my Father.

Amable Dusang Interpreter Ind. Dept. sworn—

Library of Congress

Question from the Court. Were you employed in the Ind. Dept at Detroit in 1813 when the place was in our possession? Answer Yes I was employed by M. Dickson.

Question from the Court Do you recollect seeing J. B Chadronet at that place?

Answer I recollect seeing him at Sandwich, Mr. Dickson called me out of bed at ten o'clock at night into his tent, I there saw J. B. 334 Chadronet in irons; there were irons both on his hands & feet; Mr. Dickson ordered Lt. Fraser of the Ind. Dept. & the evidence with three other men to take Chadronet a Prisoner to Amherstburg; this was done immediately; they arrived at that place about ten o'clock at night & lodged him in the Fort.

In closing the evidence upon this case, the Court feels it to be a duty incumbent upon them, to bear testimony to the zeal & good conduct of L. V. Cadotte, being fully convinced that all his actions emanated from a thorough conviction that the war was still in progress, the Court conceive him to be highly deserving of the thanks which he received from his commanding officer upon that occasion.

The Court then proceeded to investigate the charge preferred by the American Govt. Vizt —“That the Indians had been stimulated to a continuance of hostilities since the Peace, by the British Agents”

Library of Congress

Lt. Col. McDonall again regretted the necessity which existed for his presiding at that court, being expressly directed to do so, by His Excellency Major General Sir Fredk. P. Robinson. It was his wish that that duty had devolved upon another, as it became necessary for him, in the absence of other material witnesses, to state to the court every particular, having a tendency to exonerate his Government, from so unjust a charge. Indeed as almost the whole of the British Agents amongst the Indians were under his orders, he feels himself particularly called upon to meet it—to repel the accusation as totally false & unsupported & not only unmask the calumny but prove to the court & to the world that no sooner was the news of the Peace received at Mackina than the most active exertions were used to promulgate & make known the same among all the Indian Nations. In fact, perhaps 335 on no former occasion, was more zeal and anxiety displayed than in the performance of this most important duty, not only in announcing the Peace, but enjoining an immediate cessation of hostilities & impressing in the strongest manner upon their minds the strict observance thereof.

One circumstance must be ever regretted, and its consequences must be ever deplored . The first Dispatch sent by Major Foster Appendix A. Military Secretary, dated York 11th of March, communicating the news of Peace & enclosing a copy of the Treaty, did not reach me at Michilimackinac until the 11th day of May- The next confirmation of that event was written by Lt. Col. Harvey D. Adj. Genl. & dated Kingston 28th Mar. The original of this dispatch was nearly as long on the way, as that of Major Foster, but a duplicate thereof reached me by a trading vessel from Detroit on the 1st of May. This was the first official account I received of Peace; a vague rumor of such an event had before been circulated, but which only tended to encrease our watchfulness & redouble our exertions for defence.

The great delay which occurred in forwarding these dispatches was their being unfortunately entrusted to persons of little energy or per severence; the season of the year too rendered the journey infinitely difficult & dangerous ; the ice on many parts of that long communication, was scarcely passable in others it was gone-these impediments tended greatly to protract the arrival of these important dispatches—I knew them to be so great as to have doubts of ever receiving them.

On their arrival however, all was energy as much as possible, to counteract the mischief of delay—The Peace was immediately made known to the Indians of the neighborhood—The intelligent Chief Assignack was sent to proclaim it to the Tribes on the Eastern side of Lake Michigan—another to Sagana—An express was forwarded to Lieut Laws of the Indian Department at Green Bay to give all publicity to the news in that quarter & to direct Interp. Lessalier to do the same at Milwaukee & among the other Indians on the Western side. I proceeded Appendix. myself for L' arbe Croche, & with great ceremony made known the Peace to the Ottaway Nation—all of whom smoked the pipe in token of their acceptance thereof. The intelligence was likewise forwarded to the officer commanding at the Prairie des Chiens, where it arrived the 22nd of May—the day following it was communicated in grand council to all the Indians at the Place, & every means adopted to impress its strict observance upon their minds. A Captain of the Indian Dept. was immediately sent down the Mississippi to announce the Peace to the Sauks but unfortunately too late to recall 336 the War Party of that Nation who were engaged with the Americans on the 24th of May. This was the last act of hostility committed by any of the Indian Tribes; a party of Ottawas were engaged a short time previous (& what is rather strange not mentioned in Mr. Munro's list) near Fort Harrison. There cannot be the shadow of a doubt that both were ignorant of peace being concluded; that both believed the operations of the war to be in full activity; of course the aggressions adduced of an earlier date than these events fall to the ground, & the Indian Nations must stand fully acquitted of the charge of preserving hostilities after the Peace was made known to them . On carefully comparing the dates, this important fact is clear to a demonstration, and is naturally accounted for, in their sincere and earnest wish to observe the peace themselves & that its stipulations should be adhered to Appendix B La Motes Speech B by the American Govt. securing to them their rights, privileges, & immunities as in 1811, and of course exempting the Tribes on the Mississippi from having their lands occupied by the Troops of the United States and Forts built thereon.

Anxious however as I was to inculcate on the minds of the Indians the earnest wish of the British Govt. that the Peace should be scrupulously observed, & least any doubt or misconception on the subject should rashly induce any particular tribe to the renewal of hostilities, I determined early in July, to send Capt. Anderson of the Indian Dept. to the Mississippi with some presents, to convey to the Indians in person, the positive & renewed injunctions of the King that they should faithfully abide by the late treaty; that officer conversed with all the principal chiefs and not only ascertained their pacific sentiments but in having every reason to believe that they strictly acted up to them; this afforded me the more gratification as His Excellency Lt. Gen'l Sir Gordon Drummond, judging from some statements in the papers of a continuance of hostilities (all however previous to peace being made known to them 24th May) and with a view to a complete & total cessation thereof, directed me to send Lt. Col. McKay to the Mississippi for the express purpose, Captain Anderson having before been sent upon a similar duty, yet notwithstanding & as another proof of the sincerity & good faith of Govt. upon the subject. I dispatched Lt. Col. McKay to acquaint the officer of the United States troops at Mackina, that he was ready to proceed upon his mission, if he thought it necessary, but which Major Morgan declined, conceiving the previous steps taken to be fully sufficient.

The court then proceeded to the examination of the following witnesses:

Captain T. G. Anderson of the Indian Department being duly sworn, deposeth that he was at the Prairie des Chiens, on the 21st May last, when the first official news of Peace was received there by Capt Bulger from Lt. Col. McDonall commanding at Michilimackinac. On the following day the whole of the Indians were assembled consisting of Sioux, Winnebagoes, Renards & Follesavoines, in the Council Room, the Pipe of Peace had been previously prepared—The great Wampum Belt, by which they had been summoned to war, was divested of its red color & rendered blue , as a symbol of peace, according to their customs—The evidence was himself two hours busied in these preparations. The ceremony commenced with the displaying the great wampum belt, which having changed its color, was now the Belt of Peace. Capt. Bulger the Commanding officer then directed the evidence to make known to the Indians, that peace had been made between Great Britain & the United States, in which they were all included. This the evidence did from a written speech, in which they were solemnly enjoined to observe the same. They were told that it contained the words of their Father at Mackinac. It was tied with blue ribbon & the seal of the commanding officer affixed to it. To render the ceremony more impressive, on Peace being mentioned & the name of the King pronounced, a salute was fired from the Fort. Lieut Renville of the Indian Dept then went round with the Pipe of Peace & to the best of his recollection the whole of the Indians accepted the same & smoked it, in token of their assent & acceptance thereof.

Nearly two hours before the Council assembled, about six or eight Renards arrived to inform the Comg. officer that a party of Sauks & Renards had left the Rock River to go to war against the Americans. Immediately after the Council the same Indians were dispatched that evening with a Pipe to overtake the war Party & inform them of the Peace & the orders of the Comg. officer to return—

On the ensuing morning Capt. Dease of the Ind. Dept. was sent off to the Sauk village with the same Belt Pipe & Speech. He was ordered to proceed with the greatest expedition in the hope of recalling the War Party or any other which might be See Lt. Col. Russels Letter dated St. Louis. meditating hostilities. He proclaimed Peace amongst them as directed, but the War Party could not be overtaken. The Evidence since learned that they were engaged with the Enemy on the 24th of May; being two days after the Peace was announced at Prairie des Chiens. The Evidence believes the place of action to have been four hundred miles down the Mississippi. 43

Question from the Court. At the Council did the Indians in general seem pleased with the news of the Peace?

Answer They did and some of the principal Chiefs expressed themselves to that effect.

Question from the Court. On proclaiming the Peace on the 22nd of May, were not immediate steps taken to evacuate the Prairie des chiens & withdraw the Garrison to Mackina?

Answer. Yes.

Question. Were not immediate orders given immediately on making known the Peace for the whole of the Ind. Dept. & every officer & Agent thereof to be withdrawn from amongst the Indians & to accompany the Garrison to Mackina?

Answer. There was and immediately acted upon. The whole R. Dickson Esq. L. Honore Louis Barthe 3d May Capt. Anderson Capt. Dease Lt. Lane Brisbois Renville Intrs. Grignon Louis Grignon Desannier Campbell Rock 17th June. (as per margin) returned to Mackina & arrived the 17th of June, two interpreters excepted who did not conform to the order, having their families & property at Prairie des Chiens.

Fort Adjutant Keating being duly sworn deposeth that he was sent commanding the Mississippi Volunteer Artillery, stationed at the Prairie des Chiens, he fully and in every particular corroborates the above evidence of Capt. Anderson.

Interpreter Amable Dusang being duly sworn deposeth that he was at the time alluded to an ensign in the Mississippi Volunteers, stationed at the Prairie des Chiens, he fully & in every particular corroborates the evidence of Capt. Anderson.

Library of Congress

Lt. Brisbois of the Ind. Dept. being duly sworn deposeth, that be was at the time alluded to stationed at the Prairie des Chiens & also fully & in every particular corroborates Capt. Andersons evidence.

Interpreter Louis Desnier being duly sworn, also fully corroborates Capt. Andersons evidence.

Capt. T. G. Anderson again called and examined.

Question from the court. Were you not since sent on duty to the Mississippi, by Lieut. Col. McDonall and at what time?

Answer I was sent with some presents I left Michilimc on the 4th July.

Question from the court. Had you not orders from Lt. Col. McDonall strongly to impress in the minds of the Indians the anxious wish of the King their Father that they should strictly observe the Peace which before had been communicated to them?

Answer Yes I addressed them by his orders in several different councils in these words.

“My children you have already been told more than once that your “greater father the King, has made peace with the Americans and that “all his red children are included in it. I am purposely sent Appendix C. “again to repeat this to you and to acquaint you that it is his “absolute command and desire that you all bury the Tomahawk “and not only live in harmony with them but with one another.”

The evidence adds that the principal chiefs of all the different nations on that part of the Mississippi were at different times addressed in the above words.

Library of Congress

Question from the Court. Do you know of a single act of hostility having been committed by any of the Indian Nations, since the Peace was made known to them on the 22nd of May by Captain Bulger & by Captain Dease at the Sauk Village immediately afterwards?

Answer None except that near Fort Howard<sup>1</sup> on the 24th of May, by a party of Sauks & Renards. It was the same that Capt. Dease & a party of Indians had been sent after, to tell them of the news of peace, but failed to overtake them. I am confident had any happened since, that I must have heard of it from some of the Chiefs.

1 At the head of Green Bay.

Question from the Court In your conversations with the principal Chiefs, did they not express their determination to abide by the Peace?

Answer They did, provided that the Americans observed it in their part & did not attempt to build Forts upon their lands or advance further than Fort Maddison (Being the farthest Military Post upon the Mississippi which the Americans had occupied previous to the beginning of the War in 1812.)

Question from the Court Are you of opinion that if these encroachments were not made, the Indian nations would with sincerity & good faith observe the Peace?

Answer I am, they saw that it was their interest in that case to observe it.

Interpreter Amable Dusang of the Ind. Dept. being called and duly sworn deposeth that he accompanied Capt Anderson on duty when sent in July last, to the Mississippi; that he was present at the different councils held by him with the Indians & fully confirms the Pacific sentiments & language with which he addressed them.

Interpreter Louis Desonier being duly sworn deposeth that he also accompanied Capt. Anderson on duty to the Mississippi & was present at the different councils with the Indians upon that occasion, he also 340 fully confirms the Pacific sentiments & language with which Captain Anderson addressed them.

Captain John Askin of the Indian Department at Drummond's Island, being duly sworn deposeeth, that the first official news of Peace arrived at Michilimackinac the first of May by the Mink Schooner- Mr. Reaume of Sandwich was the bearer of the Dispatches.

Question from the court. Were not steps immediately taken to communicate the news of Peace to the Indian Nations?

Answer. On the return of Lt. Col. McDonall from St. Joseph's on the 2d of May, accounts were sent to L'arbre Croche of that event, with a notice that in a few days it would be proclaimed in person by the commanding officer. The principal Indians and chiefs of the Grand Traverse being then at Michilimackinac it was then communicated to them & a message to the same purport sent to their village. Nieboquam a principal & intelligent chief was sent with similar speeches to the Sagana Indians & the Ottawa chief Assigonack dispatched with wampum & the Pipe of Peace to all the nations on the East side of Lake Michigan. Interpreter Louis Nolin was despatched with information to Lt. Law of the Ind. Dept. at Green Bay & by him communicated to Interpreter Lesallier at Milwaukie & to all the tribes inhabiting the West side of the Lake. On the 7th of May I accompanied Lt Col McDonall & Lt. Col. McKay (superintendent of the Ind. Dept.) to Arbre Croche, where the Peace was proclaimed with every appropriate ceremony. A Belt of Wampum was presented by the commanding officer to the nation to be preserved amongst those which had been given them on similar important occasions to commemorate that event.

The court not having been called on to give an opinion relative to the matters enquired into, together with its being obviously objectionable in this instance, when the President thereof would have sat in judgment on his own acts; trust that the clear & circumstantial evidence of so many witnesses on oath, will afford the subject sufficient elucidation.

Library of Congress

In this view of the matter no opinion or sentence being required, the court consider the testimony of Lt. Col. McDonall as a material part of the evidence & is of the opinion that it should be substantiated upon oath. Lt. Col. McDonall was accordingly duly sworn to the truth of the preceeding statement & also that the extracts which 341 form the appendix to these proceedings are correct transcripts from the original documents on the pursers charge and such guards placed at them as the Commander shall think necessary for the proper care thereof.

3rd

He may cause such huts as are absolutely necessary for the comfort of the officers and men and preservation of the stores, to be erected at Nottawasaga but considering this a temporary arrangement only, he is to avoid incurring unnecessary expense therein.—

4th

He is to put the Vessels in the best shape possible for service in the spring, giving them such repairs as may be necessary for that purpose.

5th

He is at liberty to construct from time to time such Boats or Bateaux as are wanted for the Service, and are best calculated for its 342 duties, making due reports thereof to the Commanding Officer and placing them upon the pursers charge.

6th

It is desirable to examine well the coast of Iroquois Bay to the westward of Nottawasaga and the Commander of the Establishment is to do so at all convenient opportunities, reporting if any situation should be found within a reasonable distance of it, which is well calculated to form a Naval Arsenal having good timber good Ranks for landing Vessels, good depth of water and easy access with good shelter from the Lake.—

7th

Library of Congress

If such is found the Commander must report upon it without loss of time, and with the best sketch and description of it which with the assistance of those under his Command he shall be able to obtain or make.

8th

He is to employ the Vessels under him when the Navigation of the Lake is open, in conveying Stores and provisions from Nottawasaga to the new Settlement on Drummond Island at the Detroit,<sup>1</sup>

Communicating for the present with the Military Commanding officer at the former and with the Commissariat at the latter cooperating with them to the utmost of his power for the benefit of the general Service.

9—

He is to direct the Commanders of the vessels under him to be particular in their observations upon the Navigation of the Lake, to keep the log and lead continually going and to make every particular which they notice in their log and their remark Book: copies of which, together with such sketches or Surveys as they take are to be delivered to the Commander of the Establishment at their return from every Trip or Cruise; and after he shall have examined these Journals He is to forward them to the Commanding Officer.—

10—

When the duty of transporting Stores permits him to employ a vessel in examining parts of the Lake which have not been frequented he is to do so, and transmit the observations and surveys made to the Senior Officer, in order that they may be properly applied, to make regular Charts thereof or to correct such as already have been made.—

11—

The Commander has permission to embark in either of the vessels under him which he sees proper and can do so, with proper consideration for the General Service, and it is recommending that he does in 343 person visit such parts of the Lake as are not well known from time to time as he has opportunity, transmitting to the Senior officer the observations which he makes for the purpose described in the preceeding article.—

12—

The Boats and Vessels are to be employed when other duties will permit it preventing such trade upon Lake Huron as may be contraband and against the Provincial Laws.—

And for the Captains information the copy of a letter from the collector of the Customs at this place is given and he is recommended to Correspond with the Collectors at the different posts upon the subject.—

Lists of Merchant men spoken by the Vessels forming the Establishment which may be trading or employed by the Military Departments as Transports, on Lake Huron, are to be transmitted in the proper form with the logs and other Reports.

LIEUT. COL. JAMES TO MAJ. GEN. ROBINSON ( Indians )

Sandwich 16th October 1815.

Sir

Herewith I forward for your information from No. 1 to No 11—regarding the murder of a Kickapoo Indian and also. the measures which I adopted on the occasion.

I cannot refrain from stating to you that the sanction given to this murder appears to the Magistrates as well as to myself to bear a very extraordinary tendency encreased by the insinuations of Governor Cass.

I am credibly informed that a warrant is now in readiness to be carried into execution upon the Person of a British officer under the following circumstances. Some time ago (several weeks) Lieut Wilkinson of the 37th Regt. defected a man of that corps in the very act of deserting with a British Canadian this man was in a canoe & not more than twenty yards from the Amherstburg shore. Lieut. Wilkinson ordered the man to re-land he did so—he has since deserted and as usual lodged an affidavit of those facts and on this breach of the rights of those waters, has this singular accusation established itself. I mention 345 those circumstances more in consequence of the means used by the officers executing the American Government to throw blame on others purely with a view to cover their own deeds, they complain in their own way that the British officers do not associate with theirs, however after what I have related I am sure it is not to be wondered that no intercourse whatever exists. When British Officers were from curiosity induced to cross to the opposite shore not a single visit of this kind that was not attended with some act of Insult—and yet Governor Cass & others have said publicly that it was very odd that the Intercourse between the officers of both Shores was not conducted with great cordiality. It may be necessary that I mention to you that there is not a day passes without several American officers crossing to this side & that the greatest respect has & shall be invariably paid to them.

Not a night for the last month that from one to ten deserters has not come over to this side and although they do not receive encouragement they are not censured—they had pushed off their canoe the deceased steering & had his back towards the party of Soldiers one of whom loaded his gun, the officer spoke to them, they immediately laid hold of their guns, the officer laid hold of the gun so loaded as if to take it from the Soldier; on the officer quitting hold of the gun the soldier presented and discharged it at Akockis and shot a Ball through his Body entering his back and passing out under his ribs & giving a slight contusion on the foot of this informant, the deceased fell down on his face in the canoe & the Indian young men continued on to Amherstburg—further this Informant saith not.

Perkins—a Kickapoo Indian states that he was ashore on the Grosse Isle on the 4th October instant & was present when the deceased Akockis was returning to his Canoe to embark for Amherstburg when a Barge with about ten American Soldiers & one officer or person who seemed to have command of the Party came to the deceased & asked him & this informant if they were British Indians, the deceased & himself said they were the officers then ordered them to set off & go away, The deceased then got into the Canoe with four young Kickapoo Indians & after they had pushed off & were about fifty yards from the Shore one of the soldiers presented his musquet & fired upon Akockis the deceased in the back as he was steering the canoe.

George D. Selby states that he was on Grosse Isle on the 5th October Instant and saw about ten or more American Soldiers & Mr. David McComb who had left Detroit the day before.

Robert Richardson Esq. Surgeon states that he was called on the Evening of the 4th Instant to visit an Indian who was said to be wounded, upon Examination found that he had been wounded by a Rifle or Musquet Ball which had passed through his Body it had entered close to the spine on the Right side & passed out between the two lower or false Ribs from the direction it must have passed through the substance of the Liver & it was very probable some of the other 347 Viscere were wounded, he further states that he has no doubt whatever but his wound was the cause of his death.

The Information of a young Kickapoo lad called Pasuta, before Robert Richardson Esquire one of His Majesty Justices of the Peace of the Western District respecting the murder of a Kickapoo Indian named Koserian who states that he went on the 4th Inst. over in the canoe from this side of the River with the deceased to Grosse Isle for the purpose of shooting squirrels that he was in company with the deceased Indian all the while they were on the Island that they shot a number of squirrels but nothing else—On being questioned if they fired at any Cattle or hogs; he stated that he did not see one on the Island but that they saw a number of tracks—Says further that the deceased Indian himself and the other lads who had gone over in the canoe came down to the River and while they were there a boat came down with a number of American Soldiers in it. that the Boat landed a little below them and the men took their guns out of the Boat, some of the Party asked if they were Saganas or English which the deceased answered saying he was that they then made signs for them to be off immediately 349 and that they all got into the canoe and put their guns down alongside of them that neither the deceased nor any one of the Party pointed a gun or anything else at the Americans nor did they in fact give any provocation whatever,—that at the time the Indian was shot he was sitting down steering the canoe, with his back to the Americans the Boys were all paddleing but occasionally looking back and that the Informant saw the shot fired by one of the Americans says he thinks he was about 80 yards from the shore when the shot was fired.

Samagan another of the Indian lads who was in the Canoe when the deceased was shot corroborates the above statement without the slightest variation.

The Information of Rackeman a Kickapoo Chief who states that he encamped on Grosse Isle with his family for two days before the Indian was shot— That he had gone over for tire purpose of looking after their Horses which they had put on Stoney Island that they were put there for the purpose of having them all together as they intended going off immediately to their own Country, that he was there at the time the Indian was shot, that the deceased Indian and 3 or 4 young lads had been shooting squirrels on the Island and were down at the River Side when the American Boat with Soldiers in it came down the River that the party landed and immediately run up to his camp & that he the Informant was at that time singeing the hair off some ox's feet, that the Americans asked him where he got the feet, he answered at a House below, pointing to the place—they then turned round to the deceased and asked him if he was a Sagana or English he answered that he was— They then ordered him off immediately by making signs & that the deceased & the young men embarked in the canoe, that one of the party pointed his gun at the deceased & snapped it, upon which one of the party who appeared to be an officer laid hold of the gun that the soldier then appeared to desist by lowering his piece that the officer then went some distance from him he then levelled the gun again when he this informant went up & took hold of his arm & told him as well as he could not to fire the soldier. however pushed him on one side & then fired & shot the Indian— The officer appeared to be much alarmed after this— Says further that the deceased gave no kind of provocation but was sitting quietly in the stern of the Canoe steering it— That neither the deceased nor any of the lads that were with him appeared to have anything with them but squirrels, no meat of any kind. On being asked if he himself had any provisions with him & if he had killed anything on the Island, he stated that he had taken over with him part of the inside or paunch of an ox which he had got at 350 the slaughter house at Malden & that he did not kill anything on the Island— That he had gone down to a house below to get his axe ground & the old man belonging to the house had helped him to do so & after which on seeing 4 ox feet on the ground at the door he asked the man if he would sell them, he then said no and made signs for him to take them which he did this man states further that the Americans ordered him off the Island but he gave them to understand that he had no canoe that sometime after the same evening a Canoe with some Creek Indians came along the shore & he prevailed on them to let him have a passage with them. That he & his family embarked with them & crossed to this side as he was afraid he would be murdered if he remained:

Sandwich on Detroit River , Monday Oct. 16th 1815

Sir

I have the honor to inform you the unpleasant business which detained me here is at length closed; The Supreme Court proceeded to try me on Monday last the 9th and after half an hours deliberation the jury found me Guilty of having riotously and wantonously assembled an armed party to seek deserters, with having searched the house of one of the Citizens, and with having disturbed the peace of the Inhabitants, but acquitted me of taking the man forcibly from the Land. On the Friday following Judgment was given on the case,<sup>1</sup> and I was sentenced to pay the enormous sum of Six hundred, Thirty one Dollars and Forty-eight Cents besides Costs amounting to Forty seven Dollars and Thirty cents, which together with the Attorneys retaining Fee, Amounts to seven hundred and seventy eight Dollars and Eighty five cents total expense. I begged of Colonel James to favor me with his opinion whether it ought or ought not to be paid previous to communicating with you on the subject, he was of the former opinion, and yesterday 351 afternoon the sum was paid into the hands of the Marshall of the Territory by Mr. Pattison to whom I have (as directed by the Colonel) given a Bill upon the Naval storekeeper at Kingston.

Library of Congress

The American Court has ordered a copy of the whole proceedings to be immediately taken, to be laid before the Secretary of State, and I shall procure a copy also to bring or forward to you as circumstances may require.

I entered my protest against the legality of the Courts proceedings, but no other attention was paid, than the Judge ordering it to be filed.

The termination of this business causes me much regret, as I had reason from the aversion I manifested at breeding anything like a disturbance to expect a very different treatment, as soon as I shall have obtained the above mentioned copy I shall proceed with all dispatch to York where I hope to rejoin Captain Owen.

Sir

I have the honor to suggest to you that perhaps there cannot be a more favorable opportunity to strike off a proportion of the Rations issued to the Indians in this Quarter than the present, any intimation on this or any other subject touching the Indian Dept. from me to Col. Caldwell continues to be so irksome as to exhaust my patience, and in this recommendation I am amongst very many numerous acts obliged to discharge a duty to the Service which should have been done by the Acting Deputy Superintendent General.

From the 24th of next month with a little management (if such can be dealt out) I really think that one half of the Indian Ration may be struck off—This is the very height of their hunting season and a privation may now be resorted to on the fairest grounds which will if passed by cause murmur hereafter—

A question has arisen at this Post regarding the Passage Money of Officers on Board King's vessels from Fort Erie to this, and from hence to Drummond Island, Four Pounds ten shillings is demanded from Fort Erie to Amherstburg and double the sum from the former place to Drummond's Island, when I have always understood that the 45 354 above remuneration to the officers of the navy was considered as a sufficient recompense for the expends they incurred in messing the Passengers, were they a day or a month on Board.

As circumstances of this nature may occur I request that you will be pleased to give me some information on the subject that I may be prepared to answer them.

My Dear Foster ,

In the event of its being determined on to commence the proposed Fort at this Post the ensuing Summer it will be obviously necessary that every arrangement should be made this winter for the forwarding of many of the heavy articles over the snow, preparatory to their being embarked from Nottawasaga. I have desired Capt. Payne to state to Lt. Col. Nicholls the Iron Steel— Spades Trowels Many Pickaxes Many— Wheelbarrows Glass, Paint Oil & Putty &c &c various supplies which he will require. You will of course make the necessary arrangements with him on that subject I am yet with His Excellency's determination, with regard to the plan transmitted—It is very probable the dispatches are now at Nottawasaga, & equally so that I shall not receive them till the return of my Winter Express in Febry as I am very apprehensive that Lt. Wingfields Schooner is laid up for the Winter. The caprice of these little Commanders in Chief (dressed in a little brief authority) is inconceivable. I have been obliged at times, cap in hand, to solicit, almost to entreat these Gentlemen (Midshipmen the other day) the performance of matters which were indispensable for the Public Good—They pride themselves in being totally independent of the Military Comg Officer.<sup>1</sup> Very lately—One of them put back, & tho' I employed four officers to assist me in preparing a copy of the Proceedings of the Court of Enquiry for Sir F. Robinson, there was, at first, a refusal to wait. Trusting in His Excys intention to give me leave in the spring I still think it my duty both for the good of the service & the ease of my successor to express my decided conviction that the system pursued last summer, never will answer, & that an entire new mode of transporting stores & provisions to this Post, should this winter be determined on.

The enclosed letter (written some months ago) you will not consider as public , but as merely showing how strong the impression on my mind is, that a new mode should be adopted—In fact, it was not, I believe, in the power of the Officer Comg the Enterprize, to prevent the depredations of his men, who from the construction of the vessel had access to the Hold at all times.

I have been at a great expence in keeping two horses for this sixteen months without any allowance—it is rather a hardship to be so 358 long in receiving this money, now amountg to a large sum. I transmitted the rates of forage during the war (that is, with us, till May) merely as a claim for an encrease of allowance. Since the Peace, corn is not more than one third of the former price. Of course the rate should be proportionately lowered. I should be glad if you could assist me in settling this matter. Perhaps the two Inclosed Returns may facilitate it. Three or four issues of Bat & Forage is also due to me, which you may suppose I shd have no objection to receive even as Major of the Glengary Rt! tho' I think I had some claim to that of Lt. Col. Comg. two Garrisons being in my district, & its extent larger than Upper Canada. I hate money subjects as I do the—but at the same time all agree that the D—should have his due! Rememr me to Mrs. F— I wish you all a very gay & pleasant winter, as you no doubt wish me in return! But it is still something to possess a small share of “that bliss which only centers in the mind.”

Sir

Since I had the honor of addressing to you my letter of the 21st the enclosed newspaper has been forwarded to me by Lieutenant Bushby, the Commander of the Newash, the Officer alluded to in the article entitled British outrage.

Considering this as the production of a needy newswriter, it is not worthy of notice; but, if, to the pains thus taken, by every exaggeration that Falsehood can invent to prejudice the minds and inflame the passions of that part of the population of the United States whose habits and situation deprive them of an opportunity to know better, and to estimate more justly the character of a British officer, we add the effect of measures such as those adopted by the Governor of Michigan in the case of Lieutenant Vidal and of the officers of customs in the seizure of His Majestys schooner as represented by my letter, the consequences may be readily foreseen. unless the Government shall interfere and show that if it cannot put a stop to these proceedings it does at least decidedly discountenance them.

I have no official statement of the Transaction here alluded to, but it is thus reported.—

Library of Congress

The Commander of H. Majestys schooner Sauk. being on board the Newash on his way to join the former it was desirable to enquire respecting her. and the Mink was brought to for that purpose, she had been in the employment of the British Commissariat.—

But which I give this reason for the act it must not be considered that I deem apology or Justification needfull for bringing to a merchant vessel where there is no aggravation in the mode of doing it.—

But whatever right is claimed in this respect by British Officers, the Statement of an occurrence on this Lake which I shall have the honor to enclose you proves that it is not by British Officers alone that right is exercised.—

Sir .

I beg leave to report to you that three weeks ago Colonel Caldwell through his son Billy informed me on my application that Interpreter Perin should come up the next day to assist in conducting the duties of the Indian Department at the Post of Sandwich, where the commissary had found it necessary to supply the Indians from Fighting Island with rations from: Finding that he did not come nor any other person in his place I wrote a letter to Colonel Caldwell to request that he might be forthwith sent to Sandwich, & that I conceived he might be spared from the numerous Idlers (as you will perceive by the accompanying returns) at Malden, to which request I received the enclosed very disrespectful (to say impertinent) answer. My application being a mere request I did not keep a copy of it, but it will as a matter of course be forwarded for your information, and having ever since my return to this post from Kingston experienced nothing but a determined line of pertinacious & disrespectful conduct from Lieut. Col. Caldwell who has more than once informed me that no military officer had any control over the Indian Dept. I was not disposed to suffer such an opinion to pass unnoticed in defiance of my orders. I therefore 46 362 required of him that Perin should repair to Sandwich. Colonel Caldwell run his head out of the door from the house where this conversation passed and called after me in the street in a most boisterous manner & said "Sir I will not send Perin or any other man, write to "me give me your orders in writing, Sir you have broke your word "with me so often that I will never believe one word more that you "say."

Notwithstanding this gross insult & having some consideration for a man of Col. Caldwell's misled years, I sent Major Bryant to say that it was my orders that Perin went to Sandwich in the morning. Col. Caldwell's answer was that he should not go.

Library of Congress

Such conduct induced me to then issue the accompanying order & which under such Public indignity will I hope not only meet your approbation but support. I say support as Col. Caldwell's boasted maxim is that the Indian Department are Independent.

GOV. CASS TO LIEUT. COL. JAMES ( Indians )

Detroit 26 Oct, 1815.

Sir

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of yours of the 21st Inst., inclosing one from Mr. Caldwell the terms of his Letter prevent me from taking any notice of it.

Upon the general relation of the Indian Tribes to our respective Governments and the rights of Mutual interference such misunderstanding has prevailed and I am so anxious to remove all collision as well of sentiment as of action that I will take the liberty of stating my opinion upon the subject

The Jurisdiction of the United States and of Great Britain within their Territorial Limits is exclusive. If the Indians residing under the protection of either are injured they must apply for redress to the Government of the Country within which, they live and can obtain only that redress which its Laws prescribe, If an Indian is injured in his person or his property within This Territory our laws have Amply provided for the punishment of the offender and the redress of the party injured. We do not acknowledge the principle, nor shall we ever admit in practice the right of any foreign authorities to interfere in any arrangement or discussion between us and the Indians living within our Territory. Any other principle would render the Sovereignty of the United States merely nominal, and by giving to the agents of another government the right of interfering would lay the foundation of continued disputes.<sup>1</sup>

If the Indians were in the habit of Stealing Horses from your side of the River and bringing them here, I should consider it my duty to put a stop to the practice and to restore the property, this was the Case of the Indians who stole Horses from the Miami last Summer and took them to Malden. You directed their restoration, and in any similar case I shall Cheerfully follow the example.

But if the injury is done in Upper Canada, there exists no right in the United States to interfere, and if done here there is no right of interference in the British authorities here.

Were an Indian injured at Malden you would think the course of procedure indecorous and the demand inadmissable should an Indian Agent here hold a council upon the subject and demand of you that the injury should be redressed and in substance tell you that the alternative of peace or war depended on your decision; I am inclined to think you would form the same opinion of him which I do of this Mr. Caldwell and impute his conduct to a profound ignorance of the relative rights of Nations or to a more artful though less pardonable motive than if preserving an influence over the Indians to be used as subsequent events may render expedient.

In the application of these principles I have only to observe that Stony Island whence these horses were stated to have been taken is in this Territory, that the horses were not taken from that to Canada and that a British Officer has consequently no right to make any claim in behalf of the Indians upon the subject. But Sir, to yourself personally I freely say that I did not hesitate a moment to inquire into the transaction, I found that three horses were taken from Stony Island to Gross Isle. under the impression that they belonged to people of this Territory, and for the purpose of reclaiming them, and that four others and a colt followed these, as soon as the fact was reported to me I directed that the whole should be brought here with a view to restore those which had not been stolen.

On their arrival here one was identified as the property of a Citizen of this place and has been delivered to him, the others shall be delivered to the Indians who own them as soon as they appear to claim them.

A PROCLAMATION

Library of Congress

By Lewis Cass Governor in and over the Territory of Michigan .

Whereas a reward of Five Hundred Dollars has been offered by the Magistrates of the western District of Upper Canada for the apprehension of the Person alleged to have murdered an Indian on the 4th Inst. on the navigable waters of the Detroit River; and for securing him within any Gaol within the Province and whereas the Indian in question was killed, while in a Canoe within a few rods of Gross Isle<sup>1</sup> by a man upon that Island and as it is stated while in the act of presenting his Gun at one of the Party which was with him, and whereas the Island of Gross Isle is in this Territory and the rights of the United States to its jurisdiction has never been contested, and the Indian at the time he was killed was a considerable distance on the west side of the middle of the water Communication between Lake Erie and Huron which forms the boundary between the United States and the possessions of His Britannic Majesty—Now therefore that pretensions so unfounded may be resisted and attempts so unjustifiable repelled that the people of this Territory may not be transported to a foreign Country for Acts committed here, and the Indians residing within the United States may not be taught to look to the Agents of another Government for that protection and redress which our Laws so fully afford and a foreign influence thereby acquired and exercised over them as incompatible with the sovereignty of the United States and as it is with the Amicable relations existing between them and Great Britain and the hope that these relations will continue.

I issue this my Proclamation hereby requiring all persons, Citizens of this Territory, or residing therein to repel by Force all attempts which may be made to apprehend any person on the west side of the middle of the water communication aforesaid, whether upon the Land or upon the Water by virtue of the advertisement beforementioned or of any process which may issue from any authority, other than that of the United States or of this Territory, and to apprehend and secure all persons offending in the premises that they may be dealt with according to Law.<sup>1</sup>

LIEUT. COL. McDOUALL TO SECRETARY FOSTER

Drummond Island 26 Octr 1815

My Dear Foster

I had last night the pleasure of receiving Your Letters of the 4th and 23d of Septemr.

As to Captains Paynes Surveys and Plans, I am surprised to find in your letter of the 4th that they had not then been laid before His Excellency as Lt. Col. Nichols acknowledges the receipt of them on the 30th of August.

The principal right and title to this Island is vested in a Chappawa<sup>1</sup> Chief who usually resides at Sagana Bay, between this and Detroit, & some of his relations. He was here about six weeks ago and highly pleased to find us upon his territories. I told him that I had applied to His Great Father at Quebec, relative to the purchase of his Island, and appointed him and the others interested therein (not numerous) to meet me here in the spring, when His Excellency's pleasure thereon would be known and the matter finally adjusted to his satisfaction. He was perfectly satisfied with this arrangement.

Library of Congress

Of course the purchase and cession of the Island to the British Government on his part should be final and complete, and worded with due care and caution accordingly. The deeds executed in triplicate, and with all the form and solemnity which can be given to the transaction. For this purpose, the sheets of parchment should be sent from Quebec. It will not be difficult to settle the terms, which he has made no allusion to himself, nor means, I think to do so. The Ceremony will commence with a grand feast to all the Indians of the neighborhood; next a present, to propiciate the Great spirit of the Lake, and induce him to favor the transaction; the most advisable mode then would be, to bestow upon the proprietors, goods from the Indian store to a certain amount, and guarantee to them a similar present annually: I have no doubt the Indians will be fully satisfied with what is proposed to be given them. Mackinac was bot: by us for $5000, in goods and paid at once, which would not be so proper in this case, The Lord Proprietor (tho' a good warrior) being a perfect Caliban in his love of liquor, & of such insatiable thirst, that the produce of his Kingdom might banquet him for a fortnight, but not more.

I proposed to Sir F. Robinson to re-establish the same Tariff on American Importations as existed before the war. This His Excellency approved of, and will continue until I am favored with the promised communication from Major Loring<sup>1</sup> on that subject, which will no doubt, be founded on the stipulations as the late commercial treaty. With the deepest regret, I see by it, our voluntary renunciation of all intercourse with those very Indians, who, so faithfully fought our battles. Without the supplies with which our Traders used to furnish them, many thousands must perish in the winter. We hand them over to the Kindly Compassionate Americans, to fulfill the promises which we made them. & they, with that pity which they have always vouchsafed to that most unfortunate people, have consistently selected the Lamb-like Jackson, as the Almoner who is to dispense their bounty.

I could prophesy upon this occasion, if it were any use.

Library of Congress

I trust that the proceedings of the Court of Enquiry of which I was President, & which I had the honor to transmit to His Excellency, together with the speeches of the Principal Sauk Chiefs, will throw sufficient light on this interesting subject, to show that this ill starr'd nation merited a better fate.

I fear I have harp'd upon this subject untill all are tired of it. I cannot help it. Through me, the western Indians were taught to cherish brighter hopes, to look forward to happier days, to repose with confidence, in the sacred pledge of British honor; to anticipate the time when they would be restored to the abode of their ancestors! How have such prospects been realized? they are "abandoned at their utmost need" & about to be immolated on the altar of American vengeance can I be otherwise (as the Author of these gay delusive hopes) than the object of their bitterest reproaches, or can their hapless fate fail to touch me nearly, to awaken every sentiment of pity and compassion.

Nevertheless, in this Emergency, I have, with the most cautious Circumspection, abstained from any act which might give just cause of offense to the American Government. To hope that they will not prefer accusations (as groundless as those already preferred) need not be expected. The Command at Mackinac is in the hands of a most illiberal Democrat, who sanctions the persecution of every one connected with us. He is ably seconded by a fellow of the name of Putoff<sup>1</sup> their Agent for Indian affairs, who actually out Herods Herod, with his frantic violence, with an equal mixture of impudence and falsehood, assisted a little by the absurd stories of their own Indians, he mentions having been told by them , that I warned the Indians to grasp firm the Tomahawk, & be ready to go with me to attack Mackinac in the night !!!!! Is there therefore to be wondered at, that the American Government deceived (willingly perhaps) by the infamous lies of such a set of miscreants, have resolved to fall upon the Indians and to exterminate those who are obnoxious to them, root and branch.

1 Puthuff.

Library of Congress

I appreciate and value as I ought, His Excellency's approbation of my conduct, which you have been good enough to mention to me. In every emergency, my aim has been, to act as I thought he himself would have acted, conscious that by such a line of conduct, I equally promote the interest and maintain the dignity of the British Government.

Believe me to be Very sincerely Yours Robt M McDonall (Robt. McDouall).

Enclosed are the Pay Lists of the Indian Department at this post for the last two months previous to which the respective officers received 47 370 their pay through the commissary on the spot, they will now be subject to great inconvenience from the long delay which must occur before the issue can now be authorized the Fort Adjutant is in a similar predicament I should be glad if you could by any means facilitate their receiving what is actually necessary to their existence.

The distance of this Post the long interruption of the communication together with the many difficulties which we must encounter at this new establishment renders an absolute conformity to the recent regulations utterly impossible without putting a total stop to our buildings & causing both stores and Rum to be uncovered. Drummond Island 28th Octb 1815

My Dear Sir

Your esteemed favour of the 19th ulto I received three days ago, and have to return my most grateful thanks for the Interest you have condescended to take in my behalf I hope on this you have been able to give Govr. Gore<sup>1</sup> a full, detail of the occurrences which have transpired since he left the country—Some time ago I enclosed L Col. McDonalls order appointing Thos. G. Anderson Capt. & to assume the direction of Indian Affairs untill the Commander of the Forces pleasure would be known. It appears to me very strange that so many persons are appointed & retained when so little service is required for you know very well that I managed the whole of the Indian Affairs in this Post from July 1807 to 1813 at which latter period Mr. Dickson was appointed Agent &c. for the Western Indians from the Pay Lists now sent down by the Commanding officer you will see that additional Interpreters have been appointed to wit Dusang & Desonier those two being for the Sauks & we havent any of those Tribes in the country

371 also three Lieuts for what purpose God only knows. Lt. Johnson is also appointed by McDonall as Dy Asst. Engineer & gets an additional allowance of 4s per diem which makes his pay equal to a Captains. this is to show you what partiality is shown to some which those who have performed long & faithful services are prevented by him from obtaining the fruits of their labour—It will afford me infinite pleasure indeed if you come next Spring to this & as this Island must be purchased from the Indians (if within our boundary) you of course as the Head of the Department in the Upper Province will have to negotiate for the purchase thereof according to the general instructions for the government of Indian affairs. Should you intend to come next Spring I beg you will let me know by the winter's Express you intentions & if there is any probability of the Governors coming also.

If you are to come it would not be amiss for the Governor to send per the Winter Express an order that no Issue of Indian presents to take place until your arrival so that you may meet all the Indians & that they may know that you are their real Father. I should be happy indeed if it could take place. The Waynebaygoes, Follesavoines, & Chippawas will be here about the 10th June, the Ottaways & L'Arbe Croche from the 15th May to the 4th June this latter nation could be easily made acquainted with your intended visit & that they must postpone their early visit until the time you would appoint. The persons who appear to have the greatest claim to the Island Nebawguain Chip. Chief who was wounded in the arm at Proctor's defeat at the Moravian town Two others of the Grand Traverse & Some Chippawas who are yet in possession of the Island.

As Lt. Col. McDonall ordered the Pay List for the Western Department to be made out separately in June last & paid by Dy. Asst. C. Genl. Monk to those belonging to that Department I really do not know to what period Barthe received his pay- I will make it my duty to enquire of Mr. Monk and let you know the result. Old Tierry was dismissed the Service the 24th July last & received his pay previous to his departure. On the arrival of the officers of the 37th Regt. I learnt with sorry of the unwarrantable conduct of the Commanding Officer at Amherstburg towards poor old Caldwell even learned that the old man had been so harrass'd as to have been confined to his Room from sickness. It would be a happy circumstance if this Gentleman received a similar order as the one of Amherstburg did, so that he would mind his own Business. The Genl. Orders are received by the Commandant, but I very seldom see them. The one you was pleased to insert in your letter I had not seen before.

Col. McKay informed me when here last, that Barthe had resigned & gone home via Amherstburg in that case it will be difficult to obtain his Receipt for any pay that may be due him from the time of his last Payment to the time of his Resignation. As soon as an opportunity offers I will write him—The Waynehaygoes who went to York with him last Summer went (Im told) to Detroit & attended the Treaty w h the Americans & are now at McKinac on their way home to Green Bay. This is certainly one of the best situations (in my opinion) that could possibly be pitched upon for a Fortification. There is a good harbour for vessels & a great number of Buildings already erected, indeed a greater number than there was at St. Josephs. White fish & Trout is taken in nets in the harbour, when you come you will be delighted w h the place— The Indian Trinkets were packed up by my servant man & I believe he put a Bow wh the Arrows the Box or Case being insufficient to put any into, but as to the Mokasins I should think they were paired consequently if found otherwise there must have been some taken out. As I have given directions to my Indian friends to get their Women to make a few pairs for me for next Spring I will be able to make up for those taken away. Mrs Askin joins me in wishing you Mrs Claus & the family every blessing this Life can afford and am my dear Sir with great respect your most obedt Huml Servt John Askin

My Dear Foster ,

In the steps which I have hitherto taken as to Grants for building at this post, I have proceeded with all due caution, and shall strictly attend to His excellency's instructions on that head.

Our renunciation of the trade with the Indians, will, I fear prove a sad draw back to its future prosperity, I entertained sanguine hopes, that this Settlement would, even in the course of a year or two rise into notice, and certainly be exceeded by few in the upper Province.

As founder of the Colony and taking a lively interest in its future prosperity I have been a Petitioner to Sir Frederick Robinson for the lot of ground on which my house is situated and which I am desirous of retaining in future. The house purchased and removed from St. Josephs & is a good one. In putting it up some assistance has been derived from the Engineers Department and indeed more or less so to several other officers (who have also removed houses from St. Josephs) otherwise we should now (snow two feet deep) have been without shelter. I have stated these matters to Sir F. Robinson, trusting, that the difficulty's we had to struggle with'—our remote and isolated situation—our long & rigorous winter pressing upon us—every one and everything unprepared; when taken into consideration, will sufficiently justify the mode I was compelled to adopt. Certainly if ever any little indulgence was due to officers, beyond the strict rules of the service, it is in this very case.

Of the stores belonging to the N. W. Compy. One very large and a smaller one have been removed, and put up at this place. Another very large and most complete store (expecting that the purchase had been completed by Govt) together with an excellent and well finished House, (which will make a good Barrack for officers) I propose bringing over in the Spring. At the price we are obliged to pay our hired Canadians, I am convinced we could not erect such Buildings for £200.

DEPOSITION

A statement of the Circumstances which took place on board tile Julia schooner, of the Dock Yard Kingston, previous to and after her seizure by the Custom House officers of the United States, lying off the Farm of Sheppard Esq about seven miles from Sackets Harbour. Sunday Oct. 15th 1815.

John Robson the Master of the Julia in pursuance of the Instructions of Edwd. Laws Esqr. Naval Store Keeper when on shore with the Boat for the purpose of Bringing some Hay on Board, which he 375 had purchased of the said Sheppard, for the use of the Cattle in the Dock Yard—about three o'clock P.M. observing a Boat with eight men from Sackett Harbour making towards the Julia—Robson Returned on Board to receive them—The boat came along side, and two men whose names were Powers, and McNutt Custom House officers came on Board, and asked to whom the vessel belonged. Robson replied that she was the Julia belonging to the Dock Yard Kingston, Rowns and McNutt said they had come for the purpose of taking the Julia to Sackets harbour by the orders of the Collector of Customs there—Robson then told them they would have to answer for the Detention of the vessel, as she belonged to the Government. The officers then tried, to get the Julia under weigh, hove short. and loosed the Sails, but the Vessel being in bad Anchorage; near to a shoal, and the wind rising, E. by N. they failed in the attempt, Robson seeing that the officers could not manage the Vessel, and fearing that through their Ignorance, they might run her aground, offered to take charge and get her under weigh, and immediately called up all hands and proceeded—when out of danger the officers took her in charge—the wind shifted to East—they had to beat up the Harbour, where they arrived about one o'clock on Monday Morning—About seven o'clock A.M. Robson went on shore saw I Chase the Deputy Collector who advised him (Robson) to go with McNutt the officer, to the Collector at Watertown, to know the cause of detention. Robson and McNutt procured horses, went to Watertown, saw the Collector, a Judge Coyes, who told Robson, that the Vessel was detained for violating “their Laws in not entering at the Custom House, and for taking away the produce of the Country, without giving any account of it—Robson then produced his instructions from Edwd. Laws Esqr—to purchase Shingles and Hay for the use of the Dock Yard of Kingston, which Coyes after having read, returned without reply—Robson told him that if he (Coyes) had any doubt that he (Robson) had been smuggling

Library of Congress

(he) (Robson) was ready to make an affidavit that such was not the case—Coyes then said the vessel must be detained, and that he would write to his Government respecting her—Robson requested of Coyes that he would give him a certificate to show to the officers of the Dock Yard for why the vessel was detained, this he (Coyes) refused to do, saying he had no time. Robson then asked for leave to return with his hands to Kingston and for the use of a Boat, which he (Coyes) granted. Robson then returned to the Harbour and not thinking it prudent to abandon the vessel without some orders, left the Crew on board, and came over to Kingston himself in the Packet, and made known to Edwd. Laws 376 Esqr. the circumstance—who went with him back to Sackets Harbour, and when Mr. Laws left him (Robson) there desired him not to leave the vessel, till he heard from him (Laws) Robson receiving no orders from E. Laws Esqr remained on board till the twenty-eighth of October, when he received a written order from I. Chase the Deputy Collector, to quit the Julia, with her Crew—which he did and returned to Kingston.

Amherstburg 2 Novm 1815

Sir

Herewith I have the honor to forward you the accompanying letters No 1, 2, 3 and 4 and I very respectfully beg leave to remark to you that the letter No 3, has evidently been written with the intention if possible, to draw me into a correspondence on the Indian affairs and to obtain a pretext for the very unwarrantable conduct of the Executive American Government in this quarter, it is a subject in my mind at this moment of the most serious importance to the British Government and to Canada in particular. It is evident that Governor Cass's intention is if possible to cut off all communication between Great Britain and the Western Indians (indeed he makes no secret of it, he says, it is the intention of his Government to do so) and which must be the case if he is allowed to persevere in the system which he has lately adopted, and if not immediately and firmly checked must at once cut 377 off all traffick with those Indians and their extensive country, they cannot fail to become Allies to America, and if they do, Canada is lost.

The intentions of the United States cannot for one moment be mistaken. Governor Cass has impeded even prevented as much as possible the free and open return of the Sauks and Kickapoo Indians lately in Alliance with Great Britain to their own Country on the Mississippi, and those who have gone there were obliged to cross this River during the night for that purpose, from a dread of being molested by the American Troops on the Opposite Bank.

I earnestly and respectfully call Your Excellency's speedy attention to this subject and to the very extraordinary line of conduct which Governor Cass has thought proper not only to adopt in violation of the Treaty of Ghent, but to persevere in.

I have &c (Sgd) Regd. James Lieut. Col. Comd.

MEMORIAL OF ROBERT DICKSON

His Excellency Sir Gordon Drummond, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable and Military order of the Bath, Administrator in chief in and over the province of Dover Canada, Vice Admiral of the same, &c. &c.

The Memorial of Robert Dickson, late Agent and Superintendant of the Western Indians.

Most Respectfully sheweth.

That your memorialist previous to the war with the United States was engaged in commercial pursuits with the Indian nations inhabiting the banks of the River Mississippi and its tributary waters, among whom (being a natural born subject of Great Britain) he considered himself bound to keep alive and cherish their strong prejudices and partialities in favor of His Majesty's Government he the year previous to the war conveyed supplies of clothing and ammunition without which numbers must have perished, and all have been prevented from co-operating 48 378 in the successful attack on Fort Michilimackinac the following summer.

That during the winter 1811 & 1812 your memorialist was engaged in a confidential correspondence with the late Major General Sir Isaac Brock keeping him constantly informed of the dispositions of the Indians and the extent to which in the event of necessity their co-operation might be expected.

That in the summer of 1812 be brought in with him by his influence and at his own expense a body of the Western Indians to Michilimackinao having previously induced a number of others to rendezvous at Amherstburg, who under his immediate direction co-operated in and essentially contributed to the success of the attack on Detroit, for this service he received the thanks of the commander of the Forces and by His Excellency's order he was afterwards reimbursed the expenditure he had made.

That your Memorialist at a subsequent period by the representations of partial friends (eminent merchants in Montreal) who believed that his services would be useful to His Majestys Government was by commission of the Commander of the Forces dated 1st Jany 1813 duly appointed Agent for the Western Indians, and subsequently Superintendent in the conquered Countries.

That immediately on his appointment your Memorialist at a most inclement season proceeded to Detroit and from thence through the wilderness to the Mississippi where he by his influence collected a large Body of Indians who accompanied him to Michilimackinac and Detroit and who were employed during a great part of the Summer of 1813 in active cooperation with Major General Proctor. and as your Memorialist believes with the entire approbation of that officer.

That after the disaster of His Majesty's Arms towards the close of that Campagne by the Capture of our Flotilla on Lake Erie and by the defeat of Major Genl. Proctor, Your Memorialist by great exertions, and by Keeping up the spirits of the Indians and their confidence in the Exertions of His Majesty's Government was enabled to collect and bring in from distant parts a large force for the defence of Michilimackinac, part of which was afterwards detached under Capt McKay to the Mississippi where it reduced the American Post of Prairie du Chien , making the Garrison prisoners and the remaining Indians were not only Kept together at Michilimackinac under very severe privations. but did also under the immediate direction of your Memorialist with great zeal and bravery most essentially assist to repulse the Enemy's attack on that Post on the 4th August 1814. by which means that 379 important Post was preserved and prevented from falling into the Enemy's hands.

Library of Congress

That your Memorialist in the performance of some of the very arduous duties of his situation, rendered doubly so by the very critical state of His Majesty's affairs in the western command requiring in their management peculiar delicacy and address had to encounter not only the privations and hardships incidental to the then situation of the Country but also to the want of cooperation, the obloquy and the unmerited censure of the officer some time in the command of the Post of Michilimackinac, by which means he has frequently been prevented from rendering that service to His Majesty's Government which he was so anxious to perform.

That your Memorialist after having been superceded in his appointment by order of that officer after having been put under arrest and detained as a prisoner in the Island of Michilimackinac has without any trial or investigation been dismissed in a most ignominial manner from His Majesty's service, and has been thrown upon the world without Provision or support at the end of three years of most zealous active (and your Memorialist presumes to believe) most useful services with his character traduced and his Prospects destroyed.

Your Memorialist being aware that Your Excellency has received many unfavourable representations of his conduct and the treatment he has received having not only been extremely degrading to his own feelings, but such as might well prejudice the Public mind against him.

Your Memorialist presumes to hope that Your Excellency will take into consideration, what he has advanced and will be pleased to order an enquiry into the whole matter of his conduct that he may be Confronted with his Accusers and be rendered that justice to which as a loyal and Zealous subject, a faithful officer and an active partizan of His Majesty's Government he considers that he has so fair a claim.

And Your Memo. &c. &c. R. Dickson

Drummond Island 5th Novr 1815

Sir

I sometime ago had the honor to receive your letter of the 5th Ultime the uncertainty of the communication and having missed the last opportunity occasions my being thus late in reply to it— This circumstance is very immaterial, it is too evident from the Tone of asperity which breathes throughout your letter that little good can result from the continuance of our correspondence and that while under the influence of such a spirit an amicable intercourse between the two posts is more to be wished for than expected—

You do me injustice Sir in imputing to me the assumption of any improper prerogative either as to you or your Laws my intention was merely to state to you the respective cases, as stated to me, in order that an opportunity might be afforded you of redressing the wrong if it existed , and if such a disposition was not evinced on your part to lay the matter complained of before my Government, which has been done accordingly—

This with all due deference to your Legal Experience, appeared to me as a soldier as the proper mode of proceeding especially in an aggravated case like Mrs. Mitchells who in my conscience I believe to be entirely innocent of all that has been said against her, but who nevertheless has been followed up with a spirit of unceasing persecution—

It is an easy matter to talk of redress from your Laws but not quite so easy for the person aggrieved to obtain it having perhaps neither time money or means of proceeding to Detroit for that purpose—

Your letter was also accompanied by one from a Mr. Putoff<sup>1</sup> which I should pass utterly unnoticed but that it contained a paragraph more puerile and absurd than perhaps ever before entered into the Head of a man having pretension to Common Sence— It would be well Sir, if you gave your orders to Mr. Putoff to assemble the Indians who furnished him with this precious tissue of abominable lies that they may be punished as they deserve— I have lately accertained (from being President of a Court of Inquiry ordered to investigate similar matters) that many of your Indian Agents on the Frontier have with an officious zeal which disdains to descend to proof , transmitted many such vague reports to their Government upon no better authority; their mischievous tendency I doubt not,

Library of Congress

is by this time apparent even at Washington should therefore the delusable paragraph before alluded to, have traveled the same road I have my doubts if it will procure for Mr. Putoff the Credit which he expects— I shall transmit a Copy of it to the Governor in Chief accompanied with the necessary explanations—

1 Major William H. Puthuff.

The origin of this ingenious piece of Patch Work is simply this: and is another of the many proofs how little dependence is to be placed on Indian Reports —On the 16th Sept a Chief arrived at this post telling me he was the bearer of wampum and speeches from the Indians below which he wished to deliver in my presence—He commenced his Harangue by giving an account of the different actions on the Niagara Frontier, that General Drummond was with the army at Chippewa and that they were all to join him at that place forthwith—Another of his messages he stated to be from the Indians near Amherstburg, and calling upon those of this neighborhood to repair to their assistance as they expected to be immediately attacked and if they did not hasten they would be too late! As I could perceive that these absurdities made a strong impression on a number of the most stupid Indians of this Country—I embraced the opportunity next day on delivering the usual presents to point out their falsity and to represent to them in the strongest terms that I could use the desire and command of the King their English Father that the peace which he had made with the American Government was to be most strictly observed—The Indians Sir were not told on this occasion that they were not to trade with the Americans but such of them as were clothed and supported by the British Government were desired to bring some of their Corn to this post, and 382 no very unreasonable request either —The fellow Douseman's name was never mentioned, nor any message ever sent to L'arbre Croche respecting him— they were not told that the Tomahawk would again be raised early in the spring or to be on the alert, because the Americans intended to invite them to Mackina to put them treacherously to Death ! ! As little were they informed that I would again appear in the night with my Big Guns on that Said Island and that none of the Americans would dare to oppose me The only time that I appeared against them in the night was at Stony Creek and how these Story telling Indians could know any thing of the matter, God knows it was never hinted at by me, least they should have thought it unfair.

Finally Sir at this most important Council there were no Barrels of Rum opened nor so much as a Glass given so economically was it conducted—

There was no Wampum of any kind much less a Red Kind tintured with Vermillion , in short not the most distant allusion which malice could torture into the indication of approaching war on the contrary the language of peace was impressively spoken and the occupation of peace as warmly recommended.

The minute Guns which Mr. Putoff ingeniously calls in, in aid of his warlike preparations was neither more or less than a Royal Salute fired in honor of the Duke of Wellington's signal victory at Waterloo which delivered Europe from the greatest Despot that ever waded thro' slaughter to a Throne.

I can scarcely think that such a letter was written with your knowledge and concurrence. Is it to be supposed for a moment that an officer of my Rank with such a trust committed to him. aware also that the Bonds of friendships were drawn still closer between the two countries and recently cemented by a Commercial Treaty. is it in candor to be supposed that I should madly endeavor to frustrate the pacific views of both Governments by holding forth Language so preposterously absurd—

Should any future correspondence be necessary you will have the goodness to recollect that it can only be through you as commanding officer—On Indian affairs Capt. Anderson is the proper channel during the absence of Colonel Mc Kay.

Still anxious as far as in me lies, to cultivate the most friendly intercourse between the two posts and not in mere words only, I can only add that should my success not be commensurate with my wishes, it will be my misfortune and not my fault.

COMMODORE OWEN TO CAPTAIN OWEN ( Surveys )

INSTRUCTIONS

To Captain W. F. W. Owen for the conduct of the surveying department on the Lakes of Canada.<sup>1</sup>

1st. It is desirable that a complete survey shall be made, as far as you have power to do so, of every part of the River and Lake of the Thousand Islands as low as the Galop Rapids, as well as of the three Lakes, Ontario, Erie and Huron.

2. To enable you to do this, you will have attached to you two assistant surveyors with the pay fixed by the order of my Lords commissioners of the Admiralty that is one pound p. day to each.

Lieutenant Alexr. Vidal and Mr. John Harris Master R. N.H Of whom you have spoken favorably and who both have been with you this summer.

But as Lieutenant Vidal has not yet returned he is to be continued at his former pay until he actually rejoins you.

3. To these you have permission to add two Draughtsmen or assistants taken from such officers of the squadron as are qualified and willing to assist you, and for the duty you may make them an allowance of five shillings per day in addition to the pay and Emoluments of the situation which they hold.

4th. It is probable that you will find considerable facility for carrying on your surveys of the several Entrances to the River as well as of the Bay of Quinte during the winter on the ice, and of forming by this means an outline which may be readily filled up with soundings in the summer; and your attention must be directed to this object in order 384 that you may be able to furnish the Commissioners for setting the Boundary according to the Treaty, with information, if they call upon you for it, and this survey is to be continued to the first opening of the river between Prince Edwards County and the Land near Hendersons Bay, with the intermediate shoals and Islands—

5th. It is desirable to obtain as soon as possible a survey of the Islands and Channels of Niagara River above the falls, for the same purpose in consequence of the Americans having purchased the Indians rights thereto, and also that a survey shall be made of the Bays in the immediate vicinity of the Grand River Vizt—those of Selkirk Mohawk, Grand River and Haldimand with the Rocky Bank lying off the latter .

In Mohawk or Grand River Bay it may be hoped that situations will be found favorable for constructing a mole to lay up ships in the winter; they must be carefully examined with that view.

6th. The archipelago at the head of Lake Erie is to be examined further and connected with the surveys made by you in the Detroit and St. Clair to complete that Frontier.

7th. Drummond Island on Lake Huron, with the passages of the Detour and False detour as well as St. Joseph's Straits to St. Marys falls.

8th, The Range of Manitoulin Islands and the Navigation North and East of them to the Bay of Matchidash.—

Library of Congress

9th: The intermediate parts which may be necessary to unite these surveys and form a general map thereof, in compleating which the waters and River which fall into them are to be examined as far as may be necessary to obtain a knowledge of them where they can be usefully employed in facilitating the communications.—

10th. It is desirable these objects shall be pursued in the order they stand, and you are to do so, except in cases where considering the seasons of the year more favorable for one survey than another you have permission to adapt your objects to them fixing your quarters in the succeeding winters at that place which is most favorable for your occupations in that season, as well as for renewing your operations at the next opening of the Navigation.

11th. Upon the arrival of Commissioner Sir Robert Hall, to whom the Command upon the Lakes will then devolve you will communicate to him these instructions and consult With him upon the best means of carrying them into execution placing yourself and the Establishment under his authority, But if anything delays that officer and another senior to you does not arrive, you will take yourself such steps as you see proper to enable you to fulfill this duty, and during the time your 385 absence from this place is requisite you are to charge the officers next in Seniority with the Naval duties.—

12th. It is advisable that if you embark in any vessel bearing a Lieutenant only, you shall have authority to command her for the time being: but that authority is to make no difference in the Keeping of the Book and Accounts which are to (as well as the Emoluments as Commander of her) with the Lieutenant as through your appointment had not taken place.—

13th. It will be desirable as heretofore that two Boats Crews shall be attached to you for this particular service, and whilst they conduct themselves to your satisfaction and are actually so employed, they may receive as an incouragement, one shilling per day each man, in addition to their other allowances, and you will grant certificates of the number of days they have been so employed accordingly as a voucher for the payment.—

You have likewise permission to make such advances to them not exceeding that amount as you see fit and their actual conduct merits.—

14th. You will at all convenient opportunities forward to my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, through the commanding officer, detailed Reports of your proceedings and copies of the Surveys which you may have made.—

15th. If after having fulfilled the duties here directed you receive no other orders you are to examine such part of the River Richelieu above the rapids, and of Lake Champlain including Missisquoi Bay, as you can do without giving Reason for offence to the American Government, after which, you are with the permission of the Commanding Officer at liberty to return to England and report yourself and your proceedings to my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty—

Referring to my letter of the 9th September on the subject of Lieut Vidal, I have the honor to enclose you the Copy of the Letter from that officer acquainting me with the result of the proceedings instituted against him under the authority of the Governor of Michigan.

You will observe thereby that the grounds on which the Governor refused the liberation of this officer were untenable, the arrest of the supposed deserter, and that the whole which (after twice deferring his trial for want of proof) could be imputed to him was the indiscretion of entering a public House, in which he was informed that he would find a part of the things of which he had been Robbed, and where in fact, he did so find them. Sir

I have the honor to report to you my arrival at this place, and of laying before you a Copy of the Bills of Indictments, the depositions and all the papers which have been made use of in my late Trial at Detroit together with a list of the articles carried off by the deserters which have not been restored.

In communicating the close of this unpleasant Transaction I feel it my duty to state, that my to the Governor Cass of the Territory of Michigan for the restoration of the stolen property, have not met with that attention I had a right to expect: that some of the Articles which I particularly mentioned to His Excellency as having been in the possession of Mr. Bourie have not been returned, notwithstanding my repeated application for it to him; that the very persons brought for ward in Court as evidence against me were the acknowledged receivers of that stolen property knowing it to be such; and that the deserters themselves have actually passed me frequently in Detroit, habited in the clothes stolen from their officers and comrades. Nor can I quit this 388 subject without acquainting you with the unnecessary delays entered into both previous to and after Trial.

The court had been sitting three weeks before it was brought on, and after Verdict being given, a delay of near a week ere they passed judgment.

I have written to the British Minister at Washington acquainting him with the result of the proceedings, the Copy of which letter will be found enclosed

LIEUT. COL. McDOUALL TO MAJ. GEN. ROBINSON ( Indians )

Drummond's Island 2nd Dec. 1815

I have the honor to enclose Your Excellency two Letters from the officer Commanding at Michilimackinac and another of a very extraordinary tendency from a Mr. Puthoff the American Agent for Indian Affairs at that place.

I thought it beneath me to notice this furious democrat or the tissue of impudent falsehoods with which his letter abounds and accordingly made my remarks thereon to

Library of Congress

Lieut. Colonel Chambers who has himself given too much encouragement to his violence.

As I doubt not that copies of these Letters have been transmitted to 400 Washington and as their mischievous tendency must be obvious to your Excellency it becomes a matter of the utmost importance to counteract their effects by a strong remonstrance as to the iniquitous misrepresentations of their Indian Agents IN GENERAL but as to those of Mr. Putoff IN PARTICULAR as calculated to erase doubts where none ought to exist, to enjender jealousies and suspicions of our Government when on the contrary the utmost pains has been taken to avoid giving the least cause of complaint—On sending to your Excellency the proceedings of the Court of Inquiry held at this Post to investigate similar matters, I stated my belief that these libels would be continued that of William Putoff transcends in Violence and Malice the whole of the ingenious fabrications laid by Mr. Munroe before our Minister Mr. Baker—

I thought it necessary to reply to it at some length and a style suited to his arrogance—

I have also the honor to enclose a Statement from Dr. Mitchell complaining of the injurious treatment which his Family at Mackinac has received from Mr. Putoff.—Mrs. Mitchell was compelled to remain at that place for the protection of her sole remaining property and the allegations against her I am fully confident are equally false and absurd, her son Ensign Mitchell was on a visit to her after a ten years absence: he is a very promising and modest youth and knows not a word of the Indian Language—

To His Excellency Sir F. P. Robinson, K. C. B.

Library of Congress

This dispatch was intended to be forwarded by His Majestys Schooner Sauk or the Conscience but their Commadors having represented the necessity of their wintering at this Post renders it thus late—

I before had the honor to state to your Excellency that in Nov. 1814, the Indian proprietors of the small Isle Ronde close to Mackinac unanimously presented it to Mrs. Mitchell for her long continued kindness to them—

The deed was formally drawn up, signed by them and properly witnessed and as I was fully convinced of the right of these Chippawa Indians to bestow the Island, and of Mrs. Mitchells eligibility ( as one 401 of their own Nation ) to accept of the same, confirmed also in that opinion, as the Americans had never purchased it from the Indians as they had some others in the neighborhood, I did not hesitate to approve and sanction the transfer thereof in the name of the Commander of the Forces — I was desirous in consequence of Mrs. Mitchells useful exertions during the war to give what validity I could to the above transactions in case Michilimackinac was restored—Dr. Mitchell therefore Complains of the seizure by the Americans of Mrs. Mitchells undoubted property which they never before ventured to do. As to territory belonging to the Indians without a real or at least a pretended purchase thereof—The Indians who possessed the Island are highly exasperated at their conduct.—

Mrs. Mitchell entirely denies what Mr. Putoff states her to have said, and the Courtesy and Hospitality of that Gentleman has been since strikingly evinced in compelling this unfortunate and persecuted woman to fly from her home to this Island, in the middle of the night and in a small canoe at the risque of her life—

LIEUT. COL. JAMES TO SECRETARY FOSTER ( Indians )

Sandwich 15th Dec. 1815

Dear Sir

I am just favored by your kind letter of the 21st October and also your official one of the 27th both of which you may rely on shall be most punctually attended to. By this conveyance I answer the latter—The former was particularly welcome as I had been somewhat annoyed by the littleness of conduct adopted & circulated by some of the Indian Department in this Quarter, but all forwarded from York.

I most particularly hope that all my official Letters to Kingston have been forwarded at different times for the information of the Commd of the Forces as by them he would perceive the arduous situation in which he has placed me without the assistance even of a Person to copy a Letter exclusive of attendant heavy expenses—

Previous to the receipt of your Letter I had found myself from a sense of honor & duty to report to Major General de Watteville for the express information of His Excellency the Commd of the Forces that insinuations as disrespectful as they were ungrateful had been Publickly & artfully Circulated in this part of the Country by Letters 404 from Col. Claus & a Lieut. D. Cameron. The Character of a British Commander in Chief cannot be tacitly disrespected and particularly such a one as Sir Gordon Drummonds—My communications will fully expose the duplicity of some & weakness of the others, who is but too evidently carried down by the torrent of flattery. I am fully convinced of the most happy benefits that will result from the appointment of Col. McKay, however you may rest assured that little short of the command of Upper Canada will appease Col. Claus—indeed it would appear as if he considers himself as doing so either directly or indirectly at this very moment, and I have been told this very morning that his vexation was indescribable because he could not have that all worthy character Duncan Cameron made a Lt. Col. vice Caldwell—I anxiously look for the arrival of Col. McKay as there is a most cunning game going on at this moment by the American Govt. to reduce the Indians to their side, and had nearly succeeded with the prophet and chance alone only prevented for not one of that Department knew a Sylable of what was going on, nor do I for some time back as the Channel of my Indian Information had been taken off by Colonel Clauses vexatiously removing Lt. Graveratt to York merely because he was of use here & as I have already reported to Kingston "because "Lt. Graveratt<sup>1</sup> was Lt. Col. James, Interpreter & the only real zealous "officer in the Department he must be persecuted" and he has with a vengeance—Col. Claus will never be of much use anywhere,<sup>2</sup> however there cannot be much done here until he is a resident on this spot where all Indian affairs alone can be transacted, nothing has been going on here lately but plunder and various other ill acts.

Sandwich 24th Dec. 1815.

Dear Sir ,

I had the pleasure to write you on the 15th Inst since which I have received the orders of Major Genl. de Watteville to send the voluminous proceedings of the Board of Claims which assembled here under my guidance, to York for the information of the Lieut Governor, a circumstance which has annoyed me a good deal as I was desirous that Sir G. Drummond by their perusal should see that no pains were spared on my part—It will however take me upwards of two months before they can yet be finished.

I cannot help feeling an interest in this poor man Lieut. Graveratt's fate, as within the last two days I have heard that he intends resigning his commission, if he does there is no saying what a man may do under such unmerited indignity as has been invariably offered him by Col. Claus—I have too high an opinion of Mr. Graveratt myself to suppose that even this severity of usage would drive him from this to the opposite side of the River; one thing you may rest assured of that if he does resign that no lure that is possible that will not be held out to him by the American government to go over, and should he; that nine out of ten of the Savages and Chippaways will follow him—although I rely Mr. Graveratt would not do so yet I beg to mention the situation of affairs.

I earnestly hope that all my Letters addressed to Kingston on the Public Service have been laid before the Commander of the Forces, as 407 by them he will see that I have not had much Leisure time here, nor left the Public duty unattended to for his. information.

I shall order Payment of Lt. Graveratt's Expence to York on his return here & I pray you obtain Sir G. Drummond's sanction to the measure, an officer of his urbanity will not allow of such oppression.

Allow me again to remind you of Lieut Wilkinson as District Adjutant or Brigade Major. I am thus particular not having much faith. in the conveyance of by what is called Post, and by which my communications went on the 15th and 12th Instant. The Game that is going on by Governor Claus will have some light thrown on it; however he cares not a button what becomes of old Caldwell provided he can get his A. Secretary to succeed, and James Givings Esq. “that honest retailer of musk rat skins”<sup>1</sup> —A man who never saw an Indian I may say except a Missasogue—it is only of a patch with the outdoor purchase of poor old Sir John !!!

Sir ,

On the particular request of Capt. William Elliott of the Indian Department I transmit you the accompanied vouchers which I beg leave to recommend to your care for the signature & approval of the Commander of the Forces, who under similar circumstances, particularly with Dr. Richardson signed similar vouchers—upon a minute inquiry I find Capt. Wm. Elliott has for a long time been obnoxious to the Dy. Supt. from which originates the difficulty in obtaining that great officers signature.

It is my duty to assure His Excellency the Commander of the Forces that I have found more aid and real exertion on the part of Capt Wm Elliott than many of those who have long since obtained Col. Clause's signature and received their money.

GOVERNOR GORE TO LIEUT. GEN. DRUMMOND ( Military Posts )

York 26th December 1815

Sir

As your Excellency considers it advisable to Establish a Military Post, on the Westernmost point of the Manatoulin Islands on Lake Huron, and having Instructed the Officer Commanding at that Post, to make a purchase of the whole of that Island, for Military Purposes from its present Proprietors.—

I can have no hesitation to direct the issue from the Indian Stores, of such quantity of goods, as Lieutenant Colonel McDonall may require for the purpose of bestowing Presents upon the Indians, who are to visit him in the Spring, for the sale and transfer of the Island in question.

After the candid tho' unofficial communication, I have had the honor to make Your Excellency, on the subject of the Exclusive Control, and direction, of what may relate to the affairs of the Indians, being vested by his Majesty in the Civil Government of this Province, I would have 411 wished, to have avoided troubling his Majesty's Minister on that subject —

It has now become necessary to vindicate myself, from the appearance of shrinking from the duty imposed upon me and my successors, by the Royal Institutions of 1796.<sup>1</sup>

Library of Congress

Had Your Excellency thought proper to signify to me, Your wish for this purchase, before the season had closed all Communication with the Post of Drummonds Island, where Lieut. Col. McDonall commands, I should have had pleasure in giving the necessary directions for its accomplishment, in the manner pointed out by the Royal Proclamation of 1763, and the conformable regulations of the 26th of December 1794, before the authority in that respect was transferred from the Military to the Civil Command.

As the orders are however given, and will probably be carried into effect, before occasion offers to confirm them, in the course pointed out by His Majesty;—I shall avoid all further interference, and that no obstacle may oppose the Military views of Your Excellency, the Deputy Superintendant General, will receive orders to direct the Issue from the Indian Stores, of any quantity, specifically required in writing by Lieutenant Colonel McDonall for that special purpose—

The receipt of my letter of the grid Instant, will explain to your Excellency's satisfaction I hope all that relates to the Amherstburg express, which is amply supplied by the regular Post—

As I had the honor to observe, any requisition from Your Excellency for a special Courier, from the Indian Department, will be instantly complied with—

I have the honor to be Sir Your Excellency's Most obedient and humble servant Francis Gore D. A. Govr.

From this it appears that he was delivered up to his Brother in June 1814. Hence I conclude that he was not of an age to be considered a prisoner, and that his not returning with his mother to Canada was owing to his want of inclination to do so”... ..“Should I receive any information of him I shall hasten to communicate it to you. I am in hopes we shall yet find out Astley, as I was told a few days ago at the Navy Department that orders would be given to the officer commanding on the Erie station to make enquiry for him. My Dear Sir ,

I enclose extract of G. Order No 1 to show you the names of those employed in the Indian Department for this Place, I am ordered to set their Names in Seniority in every Pay List & Provision return as pointed out in said Order. As you may not be acquainted with their services and capacities I subjoin for your information what their merits &c are from the best authority. Capt. Anderson's services I pointed out in a former Letter I believe in that of his having had the command of a Company of Volunteers which were raised to go with Lt. Col. McKay to the Prairie du Chien; on Lt. Col. McKays return from the Prairie du Chien & Capt. Rolettes resignation the command of Fort McKay devolved on this Anderson, Last Spring he was employed to take Indian Presents at Fort McKay for the Indians of the Mississippi and as a compensation for that & his services aforementioned was appointed Captain. Lieut Johnson was taken in the service by Lt. Col. McDonall 24 Oct. 1814. Joined the Dept in Decr. following & received his pay and allowance as such to the 15th July last, at which time he was appointed by the Commandant as overseer of Workmen & receives 4s per day & allowances from that date, besides his pay and allowances of Lieut in the Indian Dept. Lieuts Brisbois & Cadots services you already know, Willm Johnson Interpreter is a sober man, 417 but cannot Interpret in Councils, he may answer about a post to see an equal distribution of Provisions—St. Germain<sup>1</sup> is a good Interpreter in the Chippewa Language, but cannot speak a word in English. Assenack a famous Orator and requires a person who speaks the Indian Language to prompt him in what he is to say, Dusang was formerly a Sergt. in the Michigan Fencibles and at the Reduction of that corps was appointed Interpreter, whether he understands the Indian Language or not, I cannot say, having never had an opportunity to hear him speak. Desonier is Interpreter for the Sauks a nation seldom coming to this Post or part of the Country. Extract of Indian Department orders taken from Capt Andersons orderly Book no 2 will show you all Indian matters are kept entirely secret from me, even the Indian Provision returns are made out by one of the Interpreters Solomon, so that I may not be acquainted with what is given out, by whom or to whom, I am well aware of the cause, for on a former occasion I refused to sign a receipt to the Commissariat for provisions which had been given out on the Commandants Order, on which he the Commandant signed it himself & said he was Commandant & would sign, give & order what he thought proper. My answer was that I knew he could do so & consequently could sign for what he ordered. I should be glad to know in what manner you are to be made acquainted with the Issues & Expenditures of Provisions & Rum as Dy. Inspector General of Indian Affairs, when such means are adopted to prevent your obtaining it.

1 See appendix.

As the Island is to be purchased from the Chippawas next spring & as there will be a great number of the Indians from the westward (from the promise of support made to them by those who went with the Indian presents) I hope you will come in the Spring, that the Indians may see that you are the person at the head of the Indian Department in upper Canada. It would give me great pleasure were you to come & would tend to check the vanity of the Commandant who makes a parade of great Pomp before the Indians dressed in the Indian Dept.<sup>1</sup> uniform & pair of gold Epauletts as Commandant & Superint the Dept & in the next place would open the eyes of the Indians so fully as to know who has most power in Indian matters, for those of the westward have been led to believe that their sole dependance is on the commanding officer indeed the treatment Mr. Dickson met with was enough to make them think so— I enclose a Letter No 3 recd from Capt Anderson desiring me to assign my reasons for absenting myself & my answer thereunto attached. I certainly do not think that any storekeeper situated the way I was would have been called to an account for absence 53 418 when his presence was not required (except at the delivery of Presents) The Commandant has endeavoured to annoy me in several instances but fortunately could never find fault in my Duty or Conduct. as Stkr. or Interpreter He endeavored to prevent my sailing in & about the Harbor with my Sailing Boat as you will see by his Letter no 4. wishing I suppose that his permission should he obtained before I could take the amusement of sailing. Realy its shameful to see British Subjects prevented from going to and fro on their lawful business unless they get a permit from Major Cockran they could not leave the Post, notwithstanding they get clearances from me as Collector, & also enclose for your perusal a copy of Regulations which are given to the Traders who are licenced by him, to sell Spirituous Liquors for which they pay 20s Hx. cy. to the person who writes the regulations, you will be highly delighted with the ridiculousness of it. He entirely forgets that Martial Law is not any longer in force & that there is a Governor to grant those Licences not him. As I was appointed Inspector of Licences for St Josephs &c I intend to write D. Cameron Esq (being at present ignorant of the person who is Insp. Genl. P. A.) to send me a few Licences of the present Governor, which will put the Gentleman quite aback, when they are given to those poor Devils of Traders here who are obliged to be as submissive as Spaniels otherwise they are threatened to be sent off the Island.

Library of Congress

A circumstance took place in Augt last, which I forgot to mention to you at the time. On the 2d Augt. whilst in charge of Indian Presents at St. Josephs, I rec d a note from Lt. Col. McDonall to report myself to him at Drummonds Island, as soon as the Indians then at St. Josephs were clothed, which I did on the 4th Augt. and on my entering his Tent or Marquee I found him alone & his first salutation was to tell me that he had learnt that I was fond of writing & that if I was not more circumspect than I had been I certainly would involve myself in stone dificulty, that my Letters had been seen, for those who I had wrote to had shewn the Letters, & from what had dropt out, he had reason to believe I had wrote against him. My answer was that I did not then recollect whether or not I had written about him to any person, but if I had, I must have stated plain facts, having always made it a Rule never to deviate from truth, & was not any way concerned at any of my Letters being seen, on which his Cholere got so much the better of him, that he said, Sir, if Colonel Claus thinks I would condescend to communicate with him on Indian matters, he is much mistaken & Commg. & Super the Indian Dept. in these parts, I never will correspond with any but the Commander of Forces. I told him 419 it was not my business to know with whom he corresponded and whether he did or did not with Colonel Claus, it was none of my Business and as I had not in any way made use of Colonel Claus's name it appeared to me strange that he could do so, he walked up and down Twice or Thrice without saying a word, then said, you may look to Colonel Claus for promotion, from, or thro' me, you need not expect any. My little spirit in my brain got the better of me, & I said I never had expected any promotion, or even common justice to my merits from him, for when I had been promoted Capt. Resident it was evident he had withheld it, until he had recommended some of his favorites—and then I left him, from that day I have kept myself entirely aloof from him, he invited me thrice to dine which I refused.<sup>1</sup>

I assure you on my word of Honor that this is as near as I possibly can recollect of the conversation that passed, whether he wanted to quarrel with me in order to cover his duplicity for haying been instrumental in withholding my promotion or whether he wanted to break off with me (tho' never had been friends) in order to have an excuse for getting Anderson in as Captain I cannot say.

In all other parts but this it is customary to deliver the Indian presents at certain periods of the year, at this place it is not so, for Presents are issued at all times; Indeed some Indians have received presents three times in the season. The Squaws kept by the Interpreters & Lieutenants, as well as their children,<sup>1</sup> used to draw rations monthly, untill the Flour & Beef as per order No 14 was distributed amongst them, a most shameful conduct in any officer to countenance libertism at the Expense of Government. On the 3d Inst. the Commander sent for Me & asked me the reason why I did not attend with the rest of the Indian Department for the purpose of subscribing for the relief of the Waluton<sup>1</sup> Widows & Orphans, I told him I did not consider any person had a right, to call me to an account, in my mode of doing charitable acts. That some persons made it a rule to make outward show in such acts, whereas others did it as secretly as they could, for my part I could not think that he had actually sent for me on purpose to interrogate me on that head, he said he had not a right to dictate to me, in what roamer I was to Pay out my money, yet he believed it was in opposition to him that I had not signed the Subscription and to Beware of myself for if he found I disobeyed any of his orders or those of Capt. Anderson he would dismiss me from the Service, that he could not be trifled with as I had with some Comg officers. In reply to this I told him, I had always done my duty as Stkr &c and I was astonished he attempted to find fault in my conduct 420 in matters I conceived he had not any right to. He then said that my answer to his note on the subject of going in & out of the Harbor was not satisfactory—that it was great presumption in a Stkr to write such an answer to a Commanding Officer. I told him that my answer was from the Collector, for Strs did not require sailing boats for the execution of their duties. I plainly see he wants to intimidate me if he can & prevent my taking any notice of what he does, but he is lunch mistaken if he thinks that I care for his Threats and Frowns. You may my good Sir think that I am of a quarreling disposition in having been so unfortunate as to be at variance with a Commanding Officer, but I assure you it is not the case, I am not the only one that the man has treated ill. He has used and is still using Captn. Payne, Lieuts Portlock and Shepherd very unhandsomely indeed, so much so that the former will write to Colonel Nichol of the Engineers for a Court of Enquiry. He harrassed poor Lt. Slade of the Artillery so much that he had to apply to be relieved—When he Lt. Col. McDonall heard that His Excellency Lt. Govr. Gore was come out, he did not seem to relish it by any means, he said in the presence of Captn Payne that he did not like Gov. Gore since he had once dined in England in his company, that he would endeavour to have all his communication with St. Gordon Drummond and not with the Civil Governor. Im persuaded that was he to hear that you and the Governor or either of you intended to visit this in the Spring he would be off, he does not like the idea of your or the Governor's presence, thats to say Im told so, by those he used to communicate his sentiments to. As another Courier is to leave this some days after Shawgayshe, I will write again. Inclose my letters under cover to Duncan Cameron Esq., for some Letters (last summer) that were addressed to me were opened at this place & afterward sent over to me at St. Josephs and as they were in the hands of the Indians, I could not take the proper notice I should have done, If I could have ascertained who the person was who took the Liberty.

I received the Intelligence of His Excellency's arrival with, heartfelt pleasure & has my most fervent congratulations for his Happy return to his Government. May he, Mrs. Gore & Major Halton pass many years of happiness in the province.

Sir,

It having been the custom, previous to the late war, for officers on remote stations like this, to be indulged with the conveyance of the articles they require annually from Montreal, free of expense, you will oblige me by bringing this subject under the consideration of His Excellency the Commander of the Forces, in behalf of those at this Post.

Anticipating His Excellency's gracious acquiescence, in a matter so essentially necessary, to their comfort, I accordingly enclose a List thereof; the number of Barrel Bulk, will of course be determined as usual according to rank; care being taken that the indulgence is not abused.

I have therefore desired such officers, as are ordering goods from Montreal, to direct their Agents to apply for their conveyance thro' Commissary Genl. Clarke, trusting that His Excellency's determination will be made known to him thereon.

of thai description could be launched, when all materials would have to be procured from the Lower Province, it would be late in the Season, before any use could be made of her.

There are several very excellent Schooner rigged vessels from about 80 to 120 Tons burthen on Lake Erie, and one belonging to a merchant at Detroit adapted to the transportation of Stores between this and Lake Huron—and have another advantage of being constructed on such a plan that in case of necessity they might be converted into armed vessels—the Schooner “Jackson” is one of this description, and belongs to a merchant at Detroit, who I have no doubt would sell her.

I shall make more minute enquiries about her and report to you by next Post, whether or not she can be purchased.

Sir,

I have the honor to transmit to you enclosed a copy of the proceedings of a Coroner's Inquest held at Malden on the 6th of last October on the body of Akockis, an Indian of the Kickapoo nation, Killed by a Musket shot on the 4th of that month, together with copies of several depositions and statements tending to throw light upon the transaction. It will be perceived that the jury returned a verdict of wilful murder against some person unknown, to facilitate the discovery and apprehension of whom, the Magistrates of the Western District of Upper Canada with the most laudable promptitude offered a reward of 500 dollars. These papers have been officially communicated to me by the 424 Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Forces in Canada, to whom it has been subsequently reported that there is great reason to believe that the fatal shot was fired by a Corporal John B. Jones, belonging to the 5th Regiment of U.S. Infantry.

As the murder was committed within the Territorial Jurisdiction of the United States, and as I have no information as to the steps, if any which have been taken by the Civil authority of the Territory of Michigan for the apprehension of and trial of the offender, I have been induced to put the Government of the United States in possession of the evidence and facts contained in the enclosed papers, with a view of promoting the ends of Public Justice, being fully satisfied that the same disposition to investigate and punish what appears to be so wanton and atrocious a crime, exists with the American Government which has been manifested by the Authorities in Canada.

In performing this duty I feel myself under the necessity of requesting your attention to a proclamation, a copy of which I have the honor to enclose, by which the Governor of the Territory of Michigan, in consequence as he states of the reward offered by the magistrates above referred to, calls upon the American Citizens residing in that Territory to repel by force all attempts which may be made to arrest any person within the Jurisdiction of the United States, as no foundation existed for the supposition that so violent and unjustifiable a proceeding was in contemplation, the offer of the reward not being by any possibility applicable except within the limits of His Majesty's Jurisdiction, it is greatly to be regretted that this proclamation, which is couched in language neither temperate nor pacific, should have been issued, inasmuch as the misrepresentation with respect to the intentions of the magistrates of upper Canada which is contained in it, cannot but have a tendency to keep alive and foment those sentiments of hostility produced between the inhabitants of the two frontiers by the events of the late war, which it is so desirable on every account and is particularly incumbent upon persons in high official situations to discountenance and suppress.

My dear Sir,

In my last I omitted to state that another Magistrate (exclusive of myself) was absolutely necessary here. Should His Excellency condescend to make the appointment I would be glad to have the [ illegible ] sent up by the return of the Courier to swear him in.

I was astonished to day to learn that Lt. Col. McDonall had received an Order from the Commander of the Forces authorizing him to order the Commissariat to pay the Indian Dept. here. I will take it as a 428 particular favour if you would have the goodness to let me know by the return of the Couriers if Lt. Col. McDonall has received an order, not to interfere with the Indian Department. I should be happy to have a copy of such orders as have been issued by you since 1812, I mean such as respects the Indian Department, and any late order which you have been pleased to issue since Peace took place.

I was told by Livingston who was the Bearer of Lord Selkirk's dispatches as well as some public ones, that Lt. Col. McKay had been appointed Supt for Amherstburg, vice Caldwell dismissed, but His Excellency Gov. Gore had sent him back from York. I should be extremely happy to be informed of the circumstance, should it be correct that Sir G. Drummond had appointed him Supt for that place as well as Depy. Supt for this, it will astonish me, for that would be heaping situations upon situations, upon a man that can

I have heard nothing relative to your Stores from Lt. Sir

In obedience to the commands of tirs Excellency as signified in your letter of the 4th of Jany, I have taken the requisite steps for stopping 431 the proposed works, and reducing the expenditure of the Engineer Deptr. as far as it can possibly be effected at the present moment.

We have now at this post, thirty-two hired civilians in the employ of Govt whom we found it absolutely necessary to engage for six months (the contract regularly drawn up by a notary) as they positively refused to work from day to day, liable to be suddenly discharged at a time when no other employment could be obtained, when they and their families must starve, I the more readily acceded to this mode, as it placed them under due restraint, and a great saving in their terms of hire was effected thereby, artificers receiving only 5s a day —axemen & Labourers from 2s to 3s 9p.<sup>1</sup> Mr. Crookshank informs me they cannot be had at York for twice the sum. This engagement ceases on the 2d of May . If discharged now (even if in our power) they would have no possible means of subsistence. In the meantime we can very usefully employ them in the completion of several necessary matters which will leave the garrison in a very comfortable state, until the decision of the Commissioners be known.

Our magazine being still at St. Josephts, & least our apparent evacuation of that Post might suggest a claim thereto, on the part of the Americans (which is possible tho' scarcely possible that it will be listened to, either as respects that Island or this ,) I shall have it occupied by a subalterns Detacht. on the first opening of the navigation, a sargt and 6 men are there at present.

Sir

It is with great regret that I have to state, for the information of His Excellency the Com r of the Forces, that from the hurry & unavoidable confusion attending the evacuation of Michilimc with the inadequate means we possessed, a Box of Papers appears to be missing, 432 containing the whole of the General Orders, official Letters & local instructions for the Post of St. Josephs from its establishment to the year 1813. Till lately I entertained the hope that it might be found in the Commissariat stores at St. Josephs & a thorough search has been made, as soon as we could communicate with it across the Ice, but without success.

Having myself packed up these papers, I cannot doubt that they were forwarded, what adds to my chagrin on the occasion, is, that in addition to the instructions for the Indian Department, it also contained some Blank Parchment Commissions (for Indian Chiefs) signed by Sir Geo. Prevost & the Milty Secty, & which if not recovered might be made improper use of. The remaining papers were of long standing, & mostly obsolete, still I do not entirely despair of their being found.

Agreeable to your instructions, I forwarded Lord Selkirks Dispatch by Interpreter St. Germain, he being the only fit person at this post capable of undertaking the journey, or acquainted with the route

LIEUT. COL. McDOUALL TO SECRETARY FOSTER ( Indians )

Drummond Island 25th Feb. 1816

Sir.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 14th of October with its enclosures relative to the case of Capt Livingston & the claims preferred by Capt Dease & Captain Graham. late of the Indian Department.

I regret much that I have been so unfortunate as to place Sir Gordon Drummond in an unpleasant & awkward situation with regard to the former person, but I trust that when His Excellency reconsidered all the circumstances of the case, it will appear that I laboured under my own share of Embarrassment respecting him, and that Scarcely any other alternative was left me, than the one I adopted.

You conveyed to me His Excellencys Authority for the reduction of the Indian Department to the Peace Establishment, and directing me to transmit my proposed list thereof, for his approbation. Had Captain Livingstons name been included he must, during the absence of L t Col McKay, have been at the head of the Department and from my own knowledge of him, he is, without exception, the last person in the Canadas whom I could have conscientiously recommended, either as to capacity for the situation, popularity among the Indians, (none)—former habits, (a kind of smuggler between St Joseph and Mackina) or fit to have any kind of control over the valuable Public property at times in the Indian Store.

Library of Congress

Such an appointment would have been a direlection of public duty for which I could not have answered. besides excluding a man, every way qualified—every way deserving .

On the other hand, leaving principal and Character out of the question, Capt Livingston was actually employed during the war, and had services to plead, which would scarcely have justified me in consigning him to reduction, without-submitting the case, in all its bearings, to the consideration and decision of His Excellency, conceiving that if his services were deemed worthy of remuneration, he might be stationed where there was little responsibility, and where the strong objections which I have urged would not apply.<sup>1</sup>

Under these circumstances, I do not think I would have done my duty in proposing such a person, as the Senior Captain of the Indian Department at this Post. Doubtless many a one in the late war MAY have rendered the State good service, whose characters would prove an effectual Bar to their being made guardians of the Public property.

This memorial (in which his services are so highly blazoned) I consider in many parts apochryphal. I totally deny the credit he claims, on our expedition to Mackina; I had repeated cause to find fault. As for his piloting the boats to the attack of the Enemys Schooners: every body knew their precise station. or for his various journeys he was ever solliciting . I was incessantly teased by this man, with requisitions, applications for promotion , & to go with despatches, when our Indian Messengers would have done as well. It is absurd to suppose that on being sent on duty to Detroit with Prisoners of War by Capt. Roberts, that he himself should have been made a prisoner of war, & particularly after having saved the lives of the Americans who were under his charge,<sup>2</sup> from the fury of the Indians.

It was an odd way of shewing their gratitude. My edition of the story is, that Trader at Detroit had advanced him goods to the 55 434 amount of £2000, without receiving a sixpence, & on his arrival with the Prisoners, threw him in jail for the debt. Other matters still more strange are stated of him about this period which I shall not mention, being ignorant of their truth, or falsehood.

Col. McKays patronage of him is to be attributed to the large share of the milk of human kindness which he possesses, rendering him not always a match for very artful men. He himself stated to me when last here, a trick played him by Mr. L. (at Young St) which he allowed to pass, rather than disgrace the Department, as he said Dr. Mitchell complained of his leaving Mackina without paying him, tho' he the day before signed his memorial! Mr. Crawford also, on the same subject, & his mates<sup>1</sup> (Mr. L's.) for different sums were advertised on the church door, & sold by auction for a mere trifle, as Good for nothing—

I mention not these matters to detract from the merit of any real service which he may have performed, but to justify myself in declining to recommend him to His Excellency as fit to direct the concerns of the Indian Department at this Post, the store thereof, containing property at times from ten to twenty thousand pounds, But as he had plausible services to urge, & wounds to shew. I did not therefore wish to take upon myself his reduction (tho' apparently authorized to do so in one of your letters) in case His Exy might deem him deserving of any employment or recompence in consequence.

Not being included in any of the Lists for the peace Establishment of the Indian Department, I Could not, when lately here, recognize him as an officer thereof, or comply with his usual requisitions after much evasion, he at length stated his being employed by the Hudsons Bay Compy, & not as an officer of Govt—

Library of Congress

From all the circumstances, I certainly think that a years pay on account of wounds Mr Livingston is entitled to—Also pay and Lodging money from 25 of July to the 9th Sept the day when his name no appearing in His Excys List for the Peace Establishment of Lake Huron his appointment appears virtually to have ceased. Also Bat and Forage money for the fall periods viz—

As Lieut 200 days. 1814

As Capt 165 do 1814

As do 200 1815

As do 165 1815

The payment of these allowances appears to satisfy every just claim which he can have upon Govt.

435

It is difficult to say what such a man as Mr Livingston might determine upon, but as regards the Indians, it is of no manner of consequence, not considering him as possessing the slightest influence among them—delivered into the Custody of the Commissariat. There were no other articles excepting a few Pipes presented after his arrival.

I believe it was the practice of the Indian Department, to forward the Sugar to Fort George and Amherstburg, to be there sold for the benefit of the Public, and the Pipes, Robes, &c to the Deputy Superintendent General, to be by him forwarded to the Superintendent General—

The Indian Corn that was delivered to the Commissariat, was sold by Auction, for the benefit of the public, by order of Major Howard, and the Potatoes divided amongst the Company of the 70th Regiment but I am not able to state what became of the Beaver Robe.

The person who presented the Robe received valuable presents from the Indian Store in return—

I trust, from the nature of the enclosed Report, you will see that it is confidential, & that His Excellency will appreciate the difficulty of acting in such cases, & with such men, when the distance too is such as to render any reference impossible. I have ever been desirous to take nothing upon myself, but what I was fully conscious the good of the service required.

In pursuance of Your Circular of the 15th Novr. I yesterday in orders, gave up to Capt. Anderson every vestage of my authority over the Indian Department, nothing loth. It is certainly much better that it should at once be either Civil or Military, for a linsey-woolsey piece of patchwork consisting of both, will not answer.<sup>1</sup> The commanding officer, for instance at St. Josephs used to be regarded at all Indian business or Council, into a mute or understrapper to the Clerk and storekeeper of the Indian Department, and this very Gent,” a great stickler too for Civil Rights now thinks you have been too Civil in your order of the 25th Novm & still requires my authority for issues of presents—my name to pay lists, & hesitates to believe whether Captain Anderson can take this upon him. I of course, in strict conformity thereto, decline any longer interfering therewith, in any respect, it is with no small pleasure that I look to the speedy prospect of emancipation from a country with which I am so much disgusted.

By the time this reaches Quebec I suppose His Excellency will have been relieved, in which case, it will be perhaps proper to lay the enclosed Letter from Mr. Johnson before Sir Gordon's successor previous to its following him to England; Mr. Johnson is really to be pitied, & I should be very glad if you or Harvey, could in any way support him in what he solicits.

My Dear Foster .

With regard to Major Howards queries by your directions, respecting the mode of liquidating the debt of three thousand pounds incurred by my order at Mackinac, for the purchase of Indian presents, I have to State that one half, thereof, was returned to the merchant (Mr. Rocheblave) in articles precisely similar, according to agreement, and the remaining sum (lb1500, or thereabouts) paid to him thro' assistant Dy. Commissary General Monk, in the Same manner as every public disbursement at that post. I enclose copies of the Invoices elucidating the transaction, the originals of which have been transmitted to the Commissary General—

The times and circumstances considered no one act of my administration do I look back upon, with more complacency than this, as being equally dictated by justice, and good policy, and I am very desirous that His Excellency should be at least convinced, that it was not improper, especially as from the very nature of my command, a strict adherence to the old instructions of the Indian Department was impossible, besides being not at all calculated for a time of war and difficulty, greatly altered too. With regard to myself, by my appointment as Superintendent, and the powers given to me , that in cases of importance, and where a reference could not be made, “ much was left to my discretion .”

The Indian Stow at Mackina, was empty when these purchases were made, at a time too, when there was a NECESSITY to conciliate them with presents, being in the highest degree, agitated and discontented at the peace, and when in public Council, they had (the Winnebagoes particularly) the hardihood to tell me, that they would not allow the Island to be given up to the Americans—

LIEUT. COL. McDONALL TO THE MILITARY SECRETARY ( Indians )

American! Goods, to the amount of at least lb (£) 15,000, had been annually sent to the Tribes on the Mississippi, and the assurances of Government repeatedly given for a Similar Supply. They had bravely stood by us, and I was conscious, that the time I chose to despatch Captain Anderson with goods, to only the amount of lb300, was the last and only opportunity which would present itself, to save them from famine and starvation at that period too, the political horizon looked black enough: Bonaparte had returned, and if successful, an early re-newal of the War with the United States, was at least probable, the above presents, therefore, by Captain Andersons judicious distribution thereof, secured to us in that event , the zealous assistance, and co-operation of all the Western Indians, and yet was so managed, as rather to express any war-like ebullition than otherwise.—

These were the motives that influenced my conduct such a necessity for a similar purchase cannot again exist, especially as I have had the good fortune to get entirely rid of the Indian Department.

I have considered the above explanation necessary, being ambitious of His Excellency's entire approbation of my conduct, and confident that he will make the due allowances for my being often compelled to decide for myself on many important points, where it was impossible to receive instructions—

Believe me to be Yours very truly Rt. McDonall

Sir

The serious and inveterate aspect which the scurvy has assumed amongst the Troops the rapid and alarming progress which it is making and threatens to make together with our total want of fresh meat, vegetables, Lime Juice, or even Vinegar at this post renders it a matter of imperious necessity to procure from Mackinac for the use of the Hospital such articles as will serve to check the disorder.

I therefore strongly recommend the immediate purchase of some Potatoes, Sugar, and likewise Cider,—Wine is also indispensable for some cases of extreme debility but it can be purchased at this Post.

LIEUT. COL. McDONALL To MAJ. GEN. DE WATTEVILLE

Drummond Island 26th March 1816

Sir

I am concerned to be under the necessity of stating that the Garrison at this Post is at present in rather a sickly state. The Principal disorder is the Scurvy also obstinate cases of Ague and Fever and as we are totally without Vegetables and also but poorly supplied with other requisites for arresting its progress I am apprehensive that the Sick List will increase rather than diminish.

The enclosed Letter to me from Dr. Mitchell Surgeon to the Indian Department at this Post and at present in charge of the Hospital, will further elucidate the subject—another Medical Officer is greatly wanted tho' I should not do Dr Mitchell justice did I omit to express how highly I am satisfied with his indefatigable exertions and attention to his duty.—

The Troops have been subsisting wholly on salt Provisions, much of the Pork too, from having lost its Pickle on the way up being of a most indifferent quality, and a great deal of it must be condemned, as only fit for the Indians—about Half of our Flour is in a similar state and we are entirely without Pease or Rice—The post also affords but few of those little luxuries which the soldier can so easily procure elsewhere in these respects it is hard upon the Garrison but especially upon that part of it, who were sent from Amherstburgh in a most deplorable state of debility from the Ague and Fever.

Library of Congress

I strongly recommend the supplying this Post as soon as practicable with fresh Beef (Bullocks) from Amherstburg at Detroit which can be Wine, Sago Rice, Barley Oatmeal Vinegar C. Acid Pease & Rice Rations easily effected and at a cheaper rate than the Salt provisions that part of the Soldiers ration the Rice and Pease are also indispensable as also a proportion of the medical comforts required by Dr. Mitchell and enumerated as p. margin. In this emergency I have directed the Commissary to purchase some wine for the Sick and have also authorized him to issue in addition to the Ration and 'til further orders three pints of bruised Indian corn p. man p week to make Soup of with their Pork; these measures I hope will meet with your approbation.—

It will be obviously necessary from what has been stated that the Pork and Flour about to be forwarded to this Post should be of an unexceptionable quality, as nothing but necessity compels me to issue to the Troops the very indifferent Bread which they now receive.

Sir

I have the honor to enclose you a return of the sick at this post and I'm extremely sorry to add that I see little prospect of a diminution taking place on the contrary there is every reason to apprehend a considerable increase—My reasons for supposing that such an event may happen are The Sickly State in which the last Detachment of the 37th arrived here.

The Troops living entirely on Salt Meat & very indifferent Bread was since their arrival without the smallest supply of fresh Meat or vegetables. Their getting very late into Barracks and lying on the floor for some time afterwards. I likewise enclose an additional requisition for medicines stores &c and I beg leave to recommend the absolute necessity of a considerable supply of stores particularly wine & Citric Acid and above all things Fresh animal and vegetable food for without the two latter articles medicine will produce little or no effect in combating the fatal disease which now rages at this Post viz Scurvey which now prevails to an alarming extent.—

Drummond Island 4th May 1816

Sir

The prediction contained in my last, with regard to the State of the Sick at this post, has since been verified. The number of Scorbutic 452 cases have increased to an alarming degree, are daily increasing, without any prospect of their being diminished. We have lost six men within the last Month, and Doctor Mitchell is of opinion that every soldier of the Garrison is more or less tainted with this inveterate Malady, which can only be cured by vegetables & fresh meat, both of which we are entirely without.—

I have tortured my brain, in endeavoring by every means it was in our power to apply, to stop the progress of this disease, by adding a proportion of Indian Corn to the ration. obtaining precarious supplies of Fish: causing the men to drink Spruce Tea, & I have directed the Commissary to purchase such wine, Vinegar &c, as the Surgeon deemed Indispensably necessary—these Steps have doubtless been of great Service & trust will meet with your approbation.—

This Garrison is in consequence, exceedingly ineffective. Many of the men, previous to being sent here, were exhausted by ague & fever & are now from the Severe attacks of Scurvy, quite unserviceable. Besides, the various laborious work incident to a new Post, requires Strong healthy men. I therefore recommend that worn-out Soldiers of the above description, be as soon as possible removed from this Garrison.

Sir,

I have the honor to enclose a memorial from the Officers of this Garrison to His Excellency the Commr of the Forces & have to request the favor that you would forward and recommend the same, being convinced from experience, that this remote Post has a peculiar claim to 453 exemption from the late regulation, substituting an allowance in money for the former indulgence of Barrel Bulk.

The sum given as a compensation, is beyond all question entirely inadequate to the privilege which they before possessed. But that is a secondary consideration, they are now liable to be deprived of many indispensable luxuries and even necessities of life, and such as can be occasionally obtained here are charged 150 p. cent above the Montreal price. The hardship is augmented from the infant state as well as distance of this Establishment, we have been the whole winter almost entirely without Fresh Meat or Vegetables—the men in consequence are in a deplorable State from Scurvy and tho' the officers escaped its ravages, it is owing to the luxuries of wine, Tea, sugar and some potatoes which they have purchased here at an enormous price No Post in the Canadas possess the peculiar claim of this. Every other is amply provided with Fresh Meat &

The memorial in behalf of the officers composing the Garrison of Drummond Island.—

Sheweth

That the arrangement relative to granting a compensation in lieu of the Barrel Bulk allowance will subject this Garrison to considerable and unavoidable deprivations—

Memorialist begs leave to state that the sum which has been substituted is not only very far from being adequate to compensate for the 454 advantage and convenience, which was derived from the former arrangement, but that no pecuniary allowance can be a recompence at this remote & isolated Post—In consequence of the exceeding distance, & from the want of a regular chain of communication; the officers of this Garrison have no means of procuring conveyance for the articles they may require from the Lower Province —

Memorialist, therefore, humbly requests, that transport, thro' the medium of the Commissariat Department, may be permitted to the Garrison of Drummond Island—

Montreal 12th May 1816

My dear Sir,

Lieutenant Colonel McKay going up, by the way of York, to his Post, now Drummond Island, in obedience to the orders he received from Governor Gore through you, last winter, afford me an opportunity of repeating to you, that no goods are on the way up, nor preparing for the upper Posts no Requisitions having yet come to hand from you, for the several Posts, as was formerly the ease, when we were in Peaceable Possession of them all, that being now the case again, we look for the same Regular Requisitions for them, respectively, as formerly, particularly as my endeavors for the good of the Service, in forwarding them in Bulk, when we had no Requisitions, nor no Posts to make them up for, beyond York, was complained of, though the measure, I adopted, was approved of not only by the late Sir George Prevost, but afterwards by the Present Commander of the Forces, Sir Gordon Drummond.

You must therefore see the necessity of acting in that respect as formerly, for none but yourself and those acting under you, at the several Posts, can judge or form an opinion of what may be necessary for them with that Precision or Correctness that you & they must be equal to form.

The local knowledge you have of the Country & the number of the Nations that frequent the Posts—I should be very sorry any Inconvenience should arise from the delay that must take place from the want of those Requisitions, but from the very ample supply that was sent up last year, I hope none will arise.

McKay is surprised at receiving no further orders or Instructions from you this Spring in answer to two letters he wrote you. I wish you would inquire of Col. McDonall or Mr Askins, if any allowance was made to Mrs Mitchell in consideration of the services she was represented to have rendered the Government for which Sir George Prevost authorized me to make her an allowance from the store at Mackina & I believe wrote to the Commandant to do it, and to what amount it was, and be pleased to direct it to be given in future, & if any deficiency from casualties, order it to be made good. “This favorable change has been greatly owing to some articles required by Dr. Mitchell from Michilimackinac for the use of the Hospital (as p requisition enclosed) and which I could not possibly refuse to sanction seeing the melancholy and deplorable state of the men—The exertion used in trying and procuring every attainable remedy has doubtless been the means of saving many Lives and is highly creditable to Dr. Mitchell, still we have lost five this month.”—

Commissary General's Office Quebec 7 June 1816

Sir

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of this date requesting for the information of His Excellency Major General Wilson, my sentiments, as founded on the practice of the service in this Country, on the claim of the officers quartered at Drummond's Island to be exempt from the operation of the General Order of 24th February last; also on the claim of the Officers of the Indian Department at Drummond's Island to be included in that arrangement though not particularized in the Schedule; and I have the honor to state that in my opinion all the Officers quartered at Drummond's Island should be allowed the Transport of their private baggage and comforts at the public expense, and that they should consequently be excluded from the pecuniary allowance granted by the late regulations in lieu of Barrel Bulk.

With respect to the Officers of the Indian Department they are now in my opinion entitled to the same indulgences as other Officers at that Post where they are serving according to their relative Rank.

Library of Congress

I would therefore recommend that an explanatory General Order be published for this purpose, and to give more effect to the regulation it would perhaps be desirable to address a letter to the Senior Officer of the Navy at Kingston, requesting him to instruct the Officers of the Navy commanding the King's Vessels to receive and convey Officers Baggage across the Lakes Ontario, Erie, and Huron, upon the requisition of the Quarter Master General's Department.

from all intercourse during the winter with any place which might afford a Supply of fresh Animal or Vegetable food which would have ameliorated the Salt Meat diet upon which the Garrison entirely Subsisted, many of whom I understand had been sent there in a weak and enfeebled state of convalescence from previous intermittent fever; sufficiently point out the origin and Causes of the Disease, and being once known ought no longer to exist. The means I would recommend for its prevention hereafter are as follows—

1st That gardens should be made, for planting Potatoes, Cabbages, and Onions

That Fish which abound in Lake Huron should be issued to the Garrison two or three days in the week at least which I should apprehend a single line would amply supply, and that an occasional fresh Meat Ration might be issued by the Commissariat during the Winter once or twice a week in lieu of the Salt Rations.

The above with dry quarters for the men will I apprehend effectually prevent any thing like the occurrence of Scurvey in future.

Washington , June: 14: 1816

Sir ,

I have the honor to enclose to your Excellency the copy of a note, which I have received from the Secretary of the Department of State, in reply to a representation which in consequence of Sir Gordon Drummond's letter to Mr Baker of the 10th of April enclosing one from Lieut. Col. James, I had made to him upon the subject of enlistment of British Deserters into the Army of the United States serving on the Detroit Frontier—

From this letter, as well as from what passed verbally between Mr. Monroe and myself on this subject, I have reasons to hope that effectual means will be taken by the American Government to prevent the recurrence of this unjustifiable practice.

As soon as I learn from Mr Monroe the result of the enquiry which General McComb has been instructed to make into the facts stated in Col. James's Letter to Sir Gordon Drummond, I shall not fail to transmit the report to your Excellency.

LIEUT. COL. MC DOUALL TO THE MILITARY SECRETARY FOSTER ( Indians )

Drummond Isd 17th June 1816

Sir

I have the honor to state for the information of His Excellency the Commander of the Forces, that from the sudden and unexpected reduction of this Garrison, together with daily expected influxes of Indians from neighborhood of Green Bay & the Mississippi, the totally open and defencless situation of this Post (now reduced to a weak Company) being also considered; the erection of a Block house surrounded with a stockade, becomes a measure of prudent precaution, which should be carried into execution with the least possible delay.

This is the more necessary from the unusual ferment and agitation at present prevailing among the generality of the Indian Tribes, arising from the Americans having intimated to them their intention of building various Forts in their Lands in the course of the summer, with their consent if they can obtain it, but avowedly by force if they cannot.

We are led to believe that the Tribes in general are highly indignant at the Idea; are decidedly opposed to the measure, & bent on resisting its execution, as contrary to the Treaty of Peace, utterly ruinous to themselves & families, by forever excluding them from the Supplies, both of the English Government & the English Trades, which they have long considered as of the first importance, & in fact, essential to their existence. The Chiefs of greatest talent and reflection, are deeply ruminating on the ultimate views of the American Govt in carrying into effect this scheme, so highly obnoxious, & cannot divest themselves of the suspicion that their complete subjugation, if not entire destruction will be the consequence of its accomplishment.—

It is said that sixty Canoes, containing upwards of three hundred Mississippi Indians will arrive at this Post in the course of to-day or tomorrow, but not soon enough to convey by this opportunity, their 464 Sentiments, but in this singularly critical situation in which they are placed, I am already aware, that their attention is most anxiously directed to assistance from this Post in the event of their being driven into a war. A party of Winnebagoes have already in Council here, expressed their general expectation—Of course not the least hope or encouragement could be given them in reply; I recommended to Captain Anderson (being myself expressly directed to interfere no longer in Indian affairs) to evade the question, & to state generally, that we had no instructions from their Great Father on the subject, & referring them to Lt Col. McKay—arrival—so soon expected.

The Chiefs saw from the nature of this reply the little prospect they had of assistance, & replied with a degree of haughty indignation that I never before witnessed, that they had been deceived & abandoned to their Enemies by the British Govt. that tho' the few who could come such a distance, had been well supplied with presents, yet that their wives & children & nation in General, were starving for want, notwithstanding the promises, so often reiterated during the War, that the whole should be amply provided, in short, that our promises & good faith had not been performed, & they broke up in high indignation discontent, what added to their surprise, was my total silence at this Council (in conformity to the new regulations) naturally expecting explanations from their Father who was the organ of all Communications to them during the War—I myself, not a little felt the embarrassment of the silence to which. I was restricted, as it doubtless might have been imputed by them to a wrong motive, & I might have been able by conciliatory explanations, to have softened the asperity of their Language & in some measure Soothed their discontent—

I have considered it my duty to dwell the longer upon this Council, as I cannot but consider the sentiments delivered, as a specimen of those which are to follow—& if so—it places us at this Post in a most awkward situation. The Americans at Mackina, in a formidable attitude compared to ours, make use of every act, and the most insolent language to add to the discontents of the Indians, alternately threatening & cajoling them, & uniformly concluding with their boast of having driven their English Father from amongst them, & that shortly they would drive him to the other side of the Big Salt Lake:

Another source of embarrassment is, that highly dissatisfied as the Indians are, with the presents they receive here (as tho' ample for them, yet doing nothing for their respective families or nations) yet there is not a doubt that the extremely moderate supply of powder which they have received will be blazoned forth as supplying them 465 with the means of war. To please either of the parties in this respect is utterly impossible and not to be expected.

The most violent measures continue to be carried on at Mackina. All the Furs which have yet arrived belonging to the British Traders have been seized, principally, as they alledge in their vindication, because the duties were not paid to the American Govt. on the different equipments going into the Indian Country, & which indeed could not be, as Mackina was then in our possession. It is now known that not an English Trader is ever again to be allowed in carrying on this Trade.<sup>1</sup> I dread the Communication of this circumstance to the Indians—it will be considered as the greatest misfortune which has befallen them, & dispair may prompt them, as the only means of avoiding it, to try the effect of arms—

1 The loss of the American fur trade was severely felt and deplored by the four companies who had formerly monopolized it.

In this state of things, I deem it my indispensable duty to occupy the heights for the proposed Fort, with our smallest guns, giving them a temporary cover, which can be done at a small expence & which I trust will meet with His Excellencys approbation. The timber for the Block House recommended at the beginning of this letter-is already squared on the spot.

The uncertainty of the conveyance of Public Letters between Quebec, Kingston & this Post occasions the most serious inconvenience About twenty of all descriptions, commencing with yours of the 15th September, only reached me, by the Eagle American Schooner from Amherstburg on the 9th of this Month; Many of them required immediate attention. By the closing paragraph of that Letter, I just learned, that I was still expected to communicate with His Excellency the Lieut Genl Commanding, on all such matters relative to Indian affairs—as appeared to be necessary. By the former, that I was in no way to interfere, & that the whole concerns of the Department were to be carried on by its own officers, tho' the medium of His Exy Lt Govr Gore.

I have the honor to be Sir Your most obedient Humble Servant Rt Mcdoull Lt Col. Comg.

To (The Military Secretary)

P.S

I have the honor to enclose an Estimate of the expence for the Block House & Stockade recommended. It could be put up so as to still form 466 part of the future Works, & with the limited means of this Post, could be occupied as a place of defence in Six weeks. The proposed cover for the Guns, will occasion little or no expence, the timber being squared & on the Spot. I trust this measure will meet His Excellencys approbation—

LIEUT. COL. McDOUALL TO SECRETARY FOSTER ( Indians )

Drummond Island , 18th June 1816

Sir

Adverting to your letter of the 20th April I beg leave to state that the Bill for £150 remitted for Mr. Dease, late of the Indian Department, has been returned to the Commissary to be credited to Government, I was lead to conceive, both from your letter & Mr. Deases, that it was his Excellencys Intention to remunerate that persons services. (always represented useful ) in the same manner as the preceeding year, when similarly situated, & when pay was granted him on my recommendation—but lest there should be any misconception in the case, I thought the safest mode was to send the Bill thro' you, as it then might be withheld, in the event of his Excellency (on knowing all the circumstances) not deeming him entitled to it—

With regard to Capt Livingston, my object (& that of the Board of officers) was to give an opinion, which vendee you called for upon the general merits of his case, that his wound gave him a claim for some remuneration from Government the sum of £92..10..0.. due to him for Bat and Forage, has not yet been paid here, no person having been authorized by him to receive it. but as these claims have been directed to adjusted at this Post, he has accordingly been informed of the circumstance—

I have acquainted Mr. Johnson of St Maws with your reply, who I believe means to follow his Excellencys recommendation of laying his claims before the Board at York—

Library of Congress

His Excellencys commands with regard to Mr Dousemans acct—shall be obeyed. The way in which my evidence on that occasion. is taken down by the Board of officers, certainly lays me open to a 467 remark which I feel as severe, when I recollect the more than ordinary pains taken by me, faithfully to discharge my duty in these matters to the best of my judgment and ability. The times too, & our pressing necessities reluctantly compelled the Commissary to accede to terms, which no other Post would have been justified in giving our isolated & sometimes Blockaded state, caused the price of every article to be enormous & tho' these matters were peculiarly his Province, yet as to purchases & bargains indispensably necessary , we jointly took the utmost pains in doing the best that was possible for the Public. Our distressing Situation during that trying period, cannot now be appreciated in Lower Canada—

With regard to the postscript to your letter of the 2nd of March, respecting the issue of pay to the Department of the 37th Regt & others at this Post without Authority, I refer you to your extract to Maj. Genl DeWatteville, dated 6 Nov. approving of Military and Civil artificers being paid on the approval of the Officer Commanding, as was the case previous to the orders of the 8th of July, adding “that these orders were never intended to abolish a system indispensibly necessary ,” on this subject. I also expressly applied for instructions to Major Genl DeWatteville, whose answer is as follows:

“With reference to your letter of the 1st of November I transmit to "you an Extract from a circular Letter of Commissary Genl Robinson to "his Department pointing out the mode in which Detach may receive advances occasionally from the Commissariat.

The mode pointed out has accordingly been strictly adhered to at this Post.

Tho' by the postscript alluded to [your letter of the 2nd of Mar] the authority is again repeated for issuing pay to the respective Detachments at this Post, on regular pay lists approved by me, yet Mr. Commissary Monk received a letter on the 9th of June , from the Commissary Genl dated in November 1815—7—th expressly forbidding him to issue Pay, or make any advances to the Artillery, or Corps under the ordnance, after 1st of January 1816—

It is one of the miseries of so very distant a Command, that in cases of doubt , from the extreme difficulty, & sometimes the impossibility of a reference, together with the occasional uncertainty & sometimes great delay in receiving instructions, (some of your letters being nine months in reaching me) that the Public Service must either stand still, or if the officer Commanding, ventures to direct to the best of his judgment & on mature reflection—still it is at the risk of ultimate reproof, perhaps 468 rendered more mortifying from a confident anticipation of praise & commendation—

FROM LIEUT. COL. McDOUALL—UNADDRESSED ( Indians )

Drummond Island 19th June 1816

Sir

The Indians I alluded to, in my Letter of yesterday arrived this day, upwards of four Hundred, principally Sioux, accompanied by the two principal Chiefs of their numerous nation—La Feuille & the little Corbean, both of whom were with me at Mackina. In a few days more their number will be increased to a thousand or upwards & with them the greatest Chiefs of the respective Nations including women and children there will be near 1500 persons.

I am to see those who have arrived, to morrow, but as the light Canoe, which takes these letters, departs at Day Break, it will not be in my power to communicate their Sentiments but there is not a doubt that a strong confederacy of all the Indian nations on the Mississippi, has been formed for the avowed object of resisting the American project of building Forts on their Lands. There seems a determined degree of unanimity in this Compact (in which also some powerful distant nations have joined) seldom remembered among them & which if it continues, will not only render them very formidable but no easy conquest to the Americans—

I will be sufficiently obvious to His Excellency in what a singularly delicate & embarrassing situation the presence of this Indian Army places us in. They doubtless come full of the idea of receiving support in a 469 cause, they think full as much ours, as theirs as they were given to understand, & comprehended clearly, that by an article of the Last Treaty of Peace their lands rights and priviledges were secured to them by the King their Father as in 1812. & that the present intention of the Americans, is doing away that Peace & renewing the War. It is inconceivable the horror they entertain at the Idea of the English & their Traders being prohibited from going amongst them. The Little Corbean, who frequently distinguished himself in our cause during the Late War, and who from his abilities, takes a lead in Indian Politics, told me this evening with much sensibility, that he considered this measure as sealing the ruin of the Indian nations and arriving at their final extinction—

So circumstanced: untill the Commands of His Excellency are received, I shall as far as my limited authority with regard to the Indians extends, act with the cautious Circumspection which the times require.

The Americans view this numerous assemblage of them with the highest suspicion. In two days, this Post of fifty, will be swarming with 1200 Indians, probably not satisfied with the presents they receive: &, yet there cannot be a doubt, but that these very presents will resound from one end of the States to the other, as expressly given them to renew the War, & to furnish them with the means of carrying on hostilities—such is the present enviable situation of this Post.

LIEUT. COL. McDOUALL TO THE MILITARY SECRETARY ( Indians )

Drummond, Island 19 June 1816

Sir

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th Sept, which with eighteen others of a public nature, from Quebec and Kingston, and some of old dates, requiring immediate attention, only reached me on the 9th Instant, by the American Schooner Eagle 470 from Amherstburg. I paid £4..5..0. postage on these letters.<sup>1</sup> It is scarcely necessary to point out the impossibility of carrying His Excellency's orders into immediate effect, or at all fulfilling his intentions—when such delay and uncertainty attends the forwarding of His despatches—

Adverting to your Letter of the 9th December stating his Excellencys intention, that this Island should be occupied solely for Military Purposes, & also that of the 13th Dec. again repeating that it is His Excellencys intention that this possession shall be exclusively held & reserved for military purposes, It would be very desireable clearly to point out how far the authority of the Commandant extends, in order that if the Civil Authority extends to the Post, he may know his exact powers, as to the maintaining order and sobriety, in regulating the sale of Liquors, & preventing the residence of notoriously bad characters, One of these I found it necessary to order of, and to Establish some salutary rules for the prevention of excessive drunkenness & consequent disturbances, but both measures have been animadverted upon by a letijious character at this Post, and doubtless with additions, misrepresented below, tho' both are authorized by your letter of the 17th September—It would be highly desireable & conduce much to the power of the Commanding officer, that he should as was the case formerly, have a commission as Senior Justice of the Peace—

The principal Indian proprietor of this Island has been here for some time, but has not yet expressed any particular anxiety respecting its purchase, which it would have been very desireable to have had effected. The Americans hold out to the Indians, their claims upon it, & it has been said mean to prevent if possible its being sold by them. The proprietors, however, are very few and the principal we are endeavoring to keep here, in consequence, tho' not an easy matter to effect with such restless men—

Every possible exertion has been made I am sorry to say without success, for the recovery of the missing papers—The search made at Makina fully confirms me in the opinion that they were not left at that place. The Papers, the Indian Commissions excepted, were almost wholly obsolete—

I respectfully bow to His Excellencys decision, as to the few Swords Sashes and Epauettes, which (exceedingly wanted at the time) I conceived myself authorized to purchase, by the powers before vested in me, in order to reward the faithful services of some eminent Indian chiefs whose persevering Bravery and Fidelity, enabled me to preserve this country during a most trying period of the war— there was nothing 471 of the kind in store & my previous requisitions for these articles were immediately furnished—the Chiefs were delighted with these presents expressly given as the reward of Bravery & said that they should be transmitted to their childrens children—My personal gratitude & esteem is such, that I shall with pleasure make good one half of the expense & Lieut. Col. McKay actuated with similar sentiments, will the other. It is with feelings of unmixed regret, that this measure has not met with His Excellencys approbation—

INDIAN COUNCIL

Proceedings of a Council held at Amherstburg 19th June 1816—Present Lieut. Colonel James, the officers of the Garrison, and the Indian Department also the Principal Chiefs and Warriors of the Huron, Ottawa, Chippawa, Pitewatemie, Shawnee's Kickapoo, Munsie Nations Speaker Isidore of the Hurons—

Father Listen

You have this day scraped the ashes off the great Council fire which our Father lighted at this place last Year.

Father when you spoke to us last fall & lighted our Council fire we were only four nations we are now seven, we have put our heads together and speak to you, as one man.

Father The four nations who were present last fall were very happy when this great Council fire was removed from the east side of the River<sup>1</sup> to our Fathers Side altho' we had only a small piece of Land on the River Course.

Father you told us when you moved our Council fire, that if we listen to our Father that the Indian Nations would grow stronger and stronger,

Father when you went to War with the Big Knives you sent the Tomahawk to us demanding our assistance, we took hold of it—you told us to be strong, that the Big Knives had cheated us, that we 472 should be strong and that you would get back again our old French lines—

Library of Congress

Father When General Brock took Detroit he told us that it would not be long before money would be sent to pay us for all our troubles that we had been at—

Father When we were fighting for you against the Big Knives you told us that if any of us got hurt or wounded we should be recompenced, you at that time told us at that time if any War or Village Chief should be killed that his relations should be recompenced for his body —

Father When you invited us to join you, you told us not to mind anything that we had, for that at a future day we should be recompenced for anything we might lose—we expected that when Colonel Elliott told us so he had orders to say so.—

Father Twas only a few days ago we were told that our Father Govr Gore would be here and as the Indians were in a very bad situation receiving very little provisions it would be a proper time to represent our Grievances, we were very happy to hear of his coming as when he was here about seven years ago he spoke to us and was very kind, but on his arrival we have been very much disappointed he did not even come on shore to see his own Belt which he formerly gave us—here it is with his name upon it, we wish our Father Colonel James and all the officers who are now present to look at it—

Father It is only two springs ago since Colonel Elliott died who took very good care of us. We were very happy to hear that our Father in Quebec was going to lift Col. Caldwell on his feet and put him in the place of Colonel Elliott—

Father Father when Colonel Elliott died we were in darkness and were happy when our Father appointed Colonel Caldwell to take care of us—but it was only a short time after that appointment that we were again in darkness—

Library of Congress

Father We were very happy when our Great Father over the Big Lake who we know the Great Spirit has made a King appointed Colonel Caldwell we see he has not supported him, we see he has thrown him on his back as quick as he raised him on his feet.

Father When you gave us the Tomahawk in the old war with the Big Knives, you told us that we Indians had but a few friends at Detroit amongst whom were Colonel McKee, Elliott, Caldwell and Simon Girty.

Father We have a little more to tell you. We Indians are in a bad Situation, we Hurons particularly for want of an Interpreter, there are 473 certainly young men to be got who can Speak the Language— We want one who can Interpret to our Father, when we are in Council.

Father The Village & War Chiefs have agreed to make our minds known to our Father, that we recommend John Clarke & Joseph Deuilliere<sup>1</sup> (Drouillard) as Interpreters who can speak the Language. Clarke will answer for particular Councils, and we are sure he will always be ready to do what he is told we wish him not only for an Interpreter, but also for the other nations.

Father, You will listen to what your Children particularly the Hurons have said, now if our Father Colonel James has any thing to say to us, we wish him to Speak.

Father, Last Summer when you spoke to us on this ground you told us that you had taken the Americans by the hand, and told us that you had closed the roads to the Westward that nothing rough or sharp were left in the way. My Father we now find things very different, we see a number of our young Brothers who look as if they were tied. Father look into this and see that our friends go back into their own Country.

Library of Congress

Father General Drummond promised us that a copy of his Speech which he delivered to us at Burlington Heights Should be delivered to us we are anxious to receive.

I believe this to be a true Copy of the English representation, but I do not believe it to be a true Interpretation from the Wyndott Language, as a man named Saunders Interpret and caused his own name to be inserted instead of Clarke. The Head and principal of all the Chiefs named "Splitlog" informed me through Mr. George Ironside that this Saunders had interpreted falsely as he heard afterwards, and that the purport of their wishes was to have an active Superintendant.

Fifth Military Department Head Quarters Detroit June 20, 1816

Sir ,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 30th ulto, covering a copy of a letter from the British Minister, and also another from Col. James Commanding Officer at Sandwich, complaining that Deserters from the British Army have been enlisted into the American Service.

No orders have been received or given for recruiting the army in this department, and consequently no recruits have been made since the late war.

Library of Congress

British Deserters have often reported themselves at Head Quarters and offered to engage in our service, but they have been uniformly ordered away, and no encouragement given them to remain within our Territories.

Under a general order issued from the Office of the Adjutant and Inspector General bearing date 9th Jany. 1816 substitutes have been allowed,—possibly under this regulation some of these deserters, who having identified themselves with the citizens in general, and lost their military character, may have crept into the service—

As the general order above alluded to, gave the power of receiving substitutes to the Commanding officers of regiments and Garrisons, it was feared that some British Deserters might impose themselves on the Army. I therefore assumed the responsibility of so far interfering with that regulation as to forbid the accepting of any substitute without permission from Head Quarters.

Perfect harmony and good understanding have prevailed between the Military on both sides since I have been in command of this Department, and I believe there is no disposition in either to interrupt them.

I have the honor &c &c (Signed) Alexr Mccomb (Macomb.)

I beg leave to acquaint you that in consequence of the very weak Garrison now at this Post and the probability of its being visited (as at present) by large bodies of Indians many of whom are much irritated at the critical situation of their country and at the exclusion of the British Traders from it, I have strongly recommended the immediate construction of a Block House and stockade for its future security to his Excellency the Commander of the Forces.

In the most tranquil times this was a precaution never omitted and as some time may elapse before the Commissioners go through the form of pronouncing their decision, as to this Island at the present crisis it seems indispensably necessary.

Sir

I have the honor to report for the information of His Excellency the Commander of the Forces the arrival yesterday at this Post of Lieut-Colonel Maule (accompanied by Lieut Col McKay) and of my having resigned the command thereof unto that officer.

I am also very happy to announce that the Box containing the Public Papers of this command and of the former Post of St. Josephs together with the Blank Indian Chiefs commissions have at length been found here after so many previous unsuccessful searches.

The arrival of an intelligent Trader to-day at this place gives us the information that an American force of 700 men under the command of Brigadier General Smith was nearly half way from St. Louis to take possession of and build a Fort at Prairie des Chiens—that the Sauks were in council with them at the Rock River and that the Winnebago Nation had marched against them—The Americans have timed this expedition well as all the eminent Chiefs of that country are now at this Post. Another expedition had sailed from Michilimackinac to re-establish their former Post at Chicago (S. W. side of Michigan) and a third was soon to proceed to occupy and build a Fort at the settlement of Green Bay the Force employed in carrying these measures into execution is such as the Indians (without ammunition or a sufficiency of arms) cannot resist and though a partial opposition may be attempted yet they have ultimately no other alternative in my opinion than unconditional submission.

This intelligence cannot fail to cause a strong sensation among the numerous Indians now at this Post, with regard to presents they are however highly pleased with their treatment.

The monthly expenditure at this Post has been regularly transmitted by every opportunity since the order to that effect has been received.—

As I have been disappointed in the opportunity I expected to have by the Grand River, I shall have the honor to represent in person to His Excellency the circumstances relative to the conduct of Captain Payne and what I have to alledge against him.—

Garrison Orders

His Excellency the Commander of the Forces having signified his intention of occupying this Post, as a permanent Military establishment to be exclusively held and reserved for Military purposes, directs that such deserving Persons as have received the Commanding officer's permission to hold and occupy certain lots thereon, shall have it made known to them the express conditions upon which they are granted and which are as follows.

Not more than one building lot is to be granted to each Person, which is to revert to the Crown in case of non-settlement and nonresidence.

2nd It is to be fully understood that it is the clear and distinct right of Government to re-occupy or repossess any Lot or lots, whenever it may be found requisite so to do for Public purposes—

3dly Untill further authority is received at this Post, no other Title can be given to these Lots, than a License of occupancy from year to year, untill finally approved & confirmed by the Person administering the Government.

No transfer or exchange of any of the Lots is to be permitted, but with the express sanction and leave of the commanding officer.

INDIAN COUNCIL

Library of Congress

Speech from Lieutenant Colonel William McKay, Superintendant of the Indian Department, to the Sioux, Winabagoes, Minominies, Ottawas, and Chippewa Indians (about five or Six Hundred men) assembled in Council at Drummond Island on the 29th June 1816.—

480

Lieut Colonel McDonall, President, officers of the Garrison and Indian Department, and several naval officers present.—

Children I am happy to see you all assembled and in good health, at our Great Father's the Kings newly kindled fire, where warmth and the full means of living comfortable will be bestowed on his deserving Children—

Notwithstanding my long absence from you I have not been Idle. I have not lost sight of your interest, neither have I been backward in representing your situation (agreeable to the recommendation I had got from your first Father here) to your second Father at Quebec, and to Sir John Johnson; the former is now gone across the Great Lake, his place however is since my departure filled by another of your Great Fathers warriors who will do everything in his power to make you happy—

Children I shall be always happy to see you here, and you may fully rely on my doing everything in my power for you. Children you are on the point of losing an excellent Father, and a brave warrior, whose wishes for your welfare are inexpressible; he is going to Quebec, and will mention your names and conduct to your Father there.—

Children here is a Father to supply the place of the one going to leave you; respect him, and believe his words, for he will follow the path that leads to your happiness.—

After which Several Chiefs made speeches as follows—

Wabasha, the great Chief of the Sioux Nation, Spread under the commanding officers, & Col. McKays Feet, a garnished Elk Skin—

Library of Congress

Father.—I salute you. I hold my Great Father the King, that is beyond the Great Salt Lake, fast by the hand, and I salute all the Red Coats now before me.—

Father Formerly I used to speak to you with joy and much satisfaction, but the present is on a disagreeable subject.—

Father (Holding a Wampum Paroll in his hand) your Red Children are miserably situated; The Big Knives threaten that they will take possession of our Lands.

I address you on behalf of all your Red Children to the Westward being nominated so to do: These things of Wampum are to convey our sentiments to all the principal Chiefs and Warriors on the Communication from this to Quebec, and from thence to our Great Father the King, and to acquaint them all, that, an omission appears to have been made at the Treaty made between the Big Knives and English, for since the Hatchet has been buried, the Big Knives threaten to erect 481 Forts upon your Childrens Lands which they cannot suffer, the Land is their only Support.

Father I do not know what arrangements you made with the Big Knives when you burried the Hatchet with them; I learnt that you had not forgotten us in the arrangement, but on my arrival at Michiilimackinac I was told by the Big Knives, that it was not the case, that we your children, were on some pretence refused the pleasure of seeing you, and totally deprived of the Benefit of having English Traders amongst them, consequently we cannot live long, or else we must adopt severe measures; but these steps must not be adopted before we hear from our Great English Father at Quebec.—

Father Excuse me if I take up much of your time in my discourse. I am not accustomed to make long speeches, but the subject of the present discourse is of such importance as to compel me to make it more lengthy than usual; Tho' there is a Barrier unexpectedly placed between you and us, yet we stretch our arms over all obstructions and reach our English

Fathers band which we hold with a strong grasp, and never will let it go as long as we live

---

Father Before your Red Children have recourse to violent measures with the Big Knives, they will wait patiently one, two, or three eights (meaning years) for an answer from their Great Father, the King. (here he represented a pipe and some strings of Wampum).

Father There is a paper which contains an account of Provisions that our English Traders furnished us— to enable us to visit you here; had they not afforded us this assistance, it would have been impossible for us to have partaken of that warmth that our Great Father sends to his Red Children; we therefore beg you will get them paid, so that it may be an inducement for them to assist us on other occasions should you require our presence.

The little Corbean, first War Chief of the Sioux standing up with 12 of his soldiers each holding a pipe of friendship in his hand said.

Father—When my ancestors formerly used to visit you there were no obstacles in their way; they did not meet any difficulty in coming to you or returning home; at present it is not the case; I have met with much difficulty on my route here

Father You are well aware that all the Indians acknowledge you to be their Father, but particularly the Sioux, Winebagoes, Minominies Ottawas, Chippawas, Agavais<sup>1</sup> Kickapoos, Saukes and Renards; they are induced to believe that they were in some measure forgotten when you made peace with the Big Knives. It appears that the good work you had begun for your Indian Children, was entirely laid aside, when you 61

1 Iowas.

482 buried the Hatchet with the Big Knives; because the discourse that was held to me in passing the Fort you formerly occupied (Mackina) was very different from what I expected,

---

Library of Congress

The Big Knives spoke to us with a Sword in their Left Hand, and a switch in their right, signifying that they would deprive us of our English Traders and build Forts on our land, with or without our permission.—

Father If I represent to you our situation with a trembling voice, do not believe it to be through fear of the Big Knives—no—we are not afraid of them, and we believe ourselves (had we your consent and assistance) strong enough to resist them and prevent their imposing upon us.— This is the speech and determination of your Western Children in general; you see before you a part of them, whose families are waiting anxiously in their own country, in hopes to get supply of their great Fathers Bounty by us; who have left them naked and without amunition to live upon; we are deprived of our English Traders, consequently without your assistance we cannot exist long (here he presented the 12 pipes and four otter pouches)—

Thomas Great Chief of the Minominies holding some strings of Wampum in his hand said —

Father I bow to our Great Father beyond the Great Salt Lake with all my heart, I salute also most heartily, all the Red Coats present—

Father It gives me and all my people great satisfaction to see you, and a number of our Great Father's children of both colors assembled here. It is the wish of the Great Spirit, who made the Heavens and the Earth, that we should meet to hear each others sentiments.— It also gives me great satisfaction to find, that this new fire that has been kindled for the support of your red children, is not at a greater distance from our ancient fire now in the possession of the Big Knives.

Father I am not ashamed to speak my sentiments to my Great Fathers Representatives or Warriors, because I am sure they know I am a true and faithful child and I can assure you that all my young men are of the same sentiments with myself—

Library of Congress

Father I hold your hand with a firm grasp (pointing to Lieut Col. McDonall) I understand you are going a great distance, it gives me pleasure that you have an opportunity of seeing the great number of Our Great Fathers red children from the westward previous to your leaving us— — You see them in their true state; they have experienced a severe winter yet the Great Master of Life has favored them, and tho' like Turtles, obliged to remain in their huts during the winter, 483 the Sun now shines upon them: they creep about to obtain a livelihood——

Father Your children the Menomines are of the same opinion with the Sioux, and with regard to the Big Knives their sentiments correspond exactly with all the Western Tribes; (He then presented the Wampum)

Ke-wi chite a Manominie Chief—

Father I have not much to say my speech will be short as we had a discourse together last year—

You know me and the loss I met with two nights ago (meaning years) at the Island of Mackina. I will make my discourse short for I am still in distress<sup>1</sup> , and mourn the loss of my brother—

Father You told us last year, to bury the Hatchet and remain quiet: we have acted as obedient children, and harkened to your voice, notwithstanding myself and relations feel the loss of the one that fell in the defense at Mackina. We have not thought of revenge, because it was not your wish—Further when I see this five it gives me joy but when I beheld a certain fire on my Route here it grieved me much, because it put me in mind of one that was dear to me, and whose remains were deposited on the Hill near the Fort once yours—

Library of Congress

Father I address myself to you both meaning Col. McDonall & Colonel Mc Kay—you both, represent our Great Father, one of you went to our Country, the other defended Mackina, where my brother fell I cannot forget my loss for it is great, but he fell in fighting for his Great Fathers fire, and for his Women and Children—I hope you will always remember his family in the distribution of presents (he then presented four pipes)—

Karahmannie First Winnebago Chief—

Father I address myself to you in behalf of the Winnebago Nation thro the medium of this brave man Shouapaw who will speak for us—

Father Our nation hold you with a strong and firm hold, as our ancestors did.—

Father You the English are our only Father, and we cannot omit this favorable opportunity of expressing our attachment to you for your constant kindness to our nation.—

Father The Winnebagoes have been always faithful and true, and will forever detest and hate that bad people the Big Knives, who are the authors of our misery, as well as that of all our Brethren of every nation.—

Father The good advice you gave to our ancestors and wise men, is still present amongst us.—

Father Our nation is grateful for the benefit they received from you, and were they not grateful, they would resemble Brute Beasts.—Father We are very thankful for your kindness to us, and the Master of Life has given us this day an opportunity of expressing our gratefulness for the charity we receive.—

Library of Congress

Father The Master of Life has given us hands for the support of our men, women and children. He has given us fish, Deer, Buffaloe, and every kind of Birds and animals for our use: they abound in our lands.

Father When the Master of Life or Great Spirit put us on this Land, it was for the purpose of enjoying the use of the Animals and Fishes, but certain it never was intended that we should sell it, or any part thereof which gives us Wood, Grass and everything.—

Father The Fish fowls and wild animals were made for us and for the Support of our Men Women & Children, and we will not part with that Land, which supply us with them.—

Father The Big Knives talk of taking possession of some part of our Country, to erect Forts which we will not suffer—

Father Your Children the Sioux have told you their sentiments fully they have represented the deplorable situation they are placed in on account of the intended outrage of having their Lands overrun by the Big Knives.—

Father As you say that there is a great War Chief expected daily at Quebec: we hope he will take our part, and see us righted, and that he will represent our situation in the true light, to our Great Father beyond the great Lake

Father In representing our situations we hope you will mention that we are anxious to get an answer with as little Delay as possible.—

Father The Saux Renards Agovois Kickapoos Fallavoines Chippewas & the Winnebagoes have entered into a league not to suffer any encroachments to be made on our Lands, at the same time, we will wait a little time for an answer from our great Father, before we have recourse to violent measures.—

Library of Congress

Father Tho' some of our young men are turbulent, yet the Chiefs of our Nation pay due attention to your advice, and will keep the young men in order.—

Father I have been constantly travelling all last winter, and did not remain 10 days quiet at home, the whole of my time has been 485 taken up in visiting different nations and entering into agreements with them on this subject.—

Father I detest the Big Knives from the bottom of my heart, and never took from them a glass of Whiskey nor a needle, which is a convincing proof of my dislike to them.—

Father—I know of no other Father but you, and never will be considered or taken for a Bastard, which would be so, if I acknowledged the Big Knives to be my Father also.—

To Lieut. Col. McKay— Father—have you not gone to the Prairie des Chien, our lands would have been overrun by them long ago—and you also guarded Michilimackinac, with a number of your Indian Children, which saved that country.—

To Lt Col. McDonall—Father—I present this Chief also the Soldiers pipe for you to smoke out of it, and wish it may be sent to the principal leading men of the English Nation, for them to smoke that they may be informed of our situation, that measures may be taken to afford us speedy relief—

Lieut. Colonel William McKays answer to the different Tribes of Indians at Drummond Island 30th June 1816.—

My Children—I have paid every attention to your speeches, delivered yesterday at this place, and in the presence of your great Fathers Representatives—

My Children—Your talk or speech accompanied by the wampum and Pipes will be forwarded to your Great Father, through the Medium of Sir John Johnson—as you have requested—

Library of Congress

My Children—I am sorry to learn that the Big Knives annoy you by depriving you of your English Traders, and threatening to Erect Forts on your Lands—

My Children—It affords me great pleasure to find by your Speech yesterday that you were still faithful and obedient Children, that you were determined to take no rash or Violent Measures against those who annoy you, but to wait patiently, one, two, or three nights, for an answer from your Great Father; and that you held your English Father with a strong and firm hold, over every barrier that might be erected to prevent you from joining him—

My Children—As soon as an answer is received from your Great Father beyond the Great Lake on the subject of this speech, the earliest opportunity will be taken to make you acquainted with the same.

My Children—Your Father the Kings Representatives, Colonel McDonall and myself thank you for the handsome manner on which you expressed yourselves on the mode in which we acted towards you in preventing the Big Knives overrunning your lands and Country during the war, we will be glad to hear of your Safe return

Farewell address of Lieut Col. McDonall to the Indians of the Sioux, Winnebago, Minominee, Ottawa and Chippawa nations, assembled in council (about six hundred) at Drummond Island 30th June 1816 . My Children. It has given me great satisfaction, that on the eve of my departure, I have had the pleasure of meeting you again after so long an absence. I was particularly desirous of this opportunity, that I might express to you my gratitude for your invariable attention to my council and advice: for the great assistance which you rendered me during the war with the Big Knives, and for the distinguished bravery and good conduct which you displayed in the course of it——

My Children

Library of Congress

I have not failed to make known to my successor, the merits of the different Chiefs and nations now before me, and the strong claims which you possess to the attention of the Government I am well convinced that you will receive from him every mark of kindness and friendship which it is in his power to shew you——

My Children——

I was grieved to hear of the difficulties and hardships which you suffered during your long voyage to your Fathers Great Fire at this place, and it has given me pleasure to hear you express your satisfaction at the reception which you have met with. The provisions furnished you by the Traders at the Prairie des Chiens, I shall recommend to be paid for, in order that in future there may be no difficulty on that subject——

My Children——

You must be aware that it is impossible for me to give you any advice or opinion on important subjects without it being communicated to you in the express words of your Great Father at Quebec—Your present perplexing situation was not known to him on Lieut Colonel McKays departure, but I would wish you to be assured, that as I have the interest of all the nations now around me deeply at heart, so I shall not fail to make known your sentiments to him, with every explanation which may be necessary as to what you have solicited from 487 him. It will ever give me great happiness to be the means of promoting your welfare——

My Children——

I bid you all adieu.

—I hold you fast by the hand, and my regard for you is seated at the Bottom of my heart—I wish you a safe return to your country—May the Great Spirit take you under his protection, and prosper you in every just undertaking.—

No. 1. Adverting to my Letter to His Excellency Major General Wilson acquainting him with the favorable report I had received from Depy Asst. Commy. Genl. Monk of the State of the Health of the Garrison of Drummond Isld, I have now the pleasure of confirming that report by a most satisfactory communication from Lieut. Col. McDonall—Extracts from whose Letters I have the honor to enclose for the information of His Excellency.—

No. 2. I also beg leave to enclose an Ext. from a Letter of that officer with an estimate for the completion of a Wharf which has in part been constructed at Drummond Island by the Civil Artificers who were hired for a certain period, previous to the Orders being received by him, for stopping all Public Works at that Post, and whose services must have been lost to the Public, had they not been so employed; he represents it as a most beneficial Work and strongly recommends it to favorable Consideration.

No. 3. It also appears that Lieut Col McDonall has relinquished the Lot which Sir Gordon Drummond allowed him to retain, and with it transfers the house built by him upon it, to Government, on receiving the sum of Eighty Pounds

Sir

I beg leave to report to you my arrival at Head Quarters, and at same time to enclose for your notice the receipts I have taken from Commissariat Clerk R. H. Senthall for all Provisions, Stores &c given into his charge at Drummonds Island on the 24 June 1816.

There were nearly 1000 Indians, men, women, and children at Drummond's Island at my departure from that Post on the 20th Ultio. and in a few days after many more were expected to arrive. It had been determined on by the Commanding Officer to receive them generously, and liberally supply them with presents as well as provisions &c. Provisions will not be wanting to answer his Requisitions on the Commissariat Depot Store; nor is it probable that Indian presents will be deficient, as there was still a large quantity remaining from the Shipments of the last year, and a still larger at the mouth of the Nottawasaga, 489 as well as at Playterson Lake Simcoe Portage, waiting for Shipment to Drummond's Island. It was concerted between Lieut Colonel McDonall and Captain Hamly of the Royal Navy, to employ His Majestys Schooners Sauk Confiance and Surprise, in accelerating the transport of Indian Stores.

A small Detachment of Artillery and a Company of the 37th Regiment are the only Troops composing the Garrison at Drummond's Island.

Owing to the total want of fresh Provisions and Vegetables, together with some other concurring circumstances, the effects of Scurvy have been dreadfully severe at that Post during the last winter, between 60 and 70 men at a time being in the sick list, but I am happy to acquaint you that but 14 have sunk under the disease, and at my departure only one Soldier, remained in Hospital.

Trusting it may prove satisfactory, permit me, Sir, to state that the general disposition of the Indians on the distant frontier of Lake Huron and on the Mississippi still continues friendly to us, but unfortunately for peace and for themselves, most dreadfully hostile to the Government of the United States. They have gone so far as to ask our assistance in the most earnest manner to enable them to oppose the projects of the American Government to form Military Establishments in their Territory; and a very extensive combination has been entered into and solemnly determined on by them to make a last effort (even should they not receive assistance from us) to secure to themselves the independence and freedom they had been promised by our Government previous to the late contest with the United States being terminated.

Library of Congress

All Military Works have ceased since February last, and other Establishments are in consequence not increased in our new settlement I trust that should any further information be required of me I shall be enabled to afford it to your satisfaction. 62

Commissary General's Office Quebec 22 July 1816

Sir

Library of Congress

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 20th inst transmitting to me an extract of a Letter from the Secretary of His Majesty's Treasury with the estimate alluded to in it, and requesting me to furnish you, for His Excellency's information, with a detailed explanation of the particulars thereof, and the reasons and grounds upon which the same estimate has been formed &c.

In answer I have to state that if their Lordships had been informed of the circumstances of this station no surprise would have been excited by the magnitude of the estimate, for the Expenditure is the inevitable consequence of the late war, and the measure of Government with respect to the Naval Establishments on the Lakes. The Settlers intended to be located, consisting of Emigrant families from the United Kingdom and discharged Soldiers, together with various other circumstances, among which are the Establishments, Naval and Military at Amherstburg, where considerable expense has been incurred in the erection of defensive Works, Barracks, Stores houses &c, for not a Public Building was found there on our troops reoccupying that place last summer, similar expenses were also incurred, at the new Post of Drummond's Island which was a perfect wilderness. How far these expenses were justifiable it is not for me to say, but I have no doubt Sir Gordon, 492 Drummond, who must ere this be in England, will be able to give the most satisfactory explanations to His Majesty's Government, as no expense has been incurred without his orders and sanction. It is also to be stated that at the conclusion of the War, various Works of Fortification were going on at most of the Posts, as well as covering for the Troops &c, and it was essential, for the interest of the public, that these should, to a certain degree be completed to prevent a total loss, and to render the country more prepared for a new contest with the United States. This was most particularly the case at Kingston, where Point Henry has been put in a respectable state by finishing what was commenced during the war, and without which I can assert, from high military authority, neither the Dock yard at Point Frederick or the Town of Kingston could be considered in a state of tolerable security, and further it must be remembered that the expense of forwarding money, Provisions and Stores of every description was unavoidably very great, and the number of Posts is not materially diminished since the war, consequently a large staff is still necessary, and the conveyance of every article to remote posts, even for the support of small Garrisons, must be considerable, and will continue until many Posts, occupied since the former peace are abandoned, the expediency of which I do not presume to judge of.

The Expenses, however, I have the satisfaction to state, are gradually reducing, and will, in a few months more, be much diminished, but it will be long with every exertion to effect it, before the situation of this country can be the same as it was previous to 1812, even if it should be thought desirable by His Majesty's Government. The first step evidently towards this object, would be the reduction of the Naval Establishments and the abandonment of many Posts in Upper Canada, particularly those on the communication from York to Drummond's Island, by Nottawasaga and Penetanguishine Bay, these, in my humble opinion, are no longer of utility, the route by Lake Erie being preferable for the conveyance of stores.

His excellency will not fail to bear in mind that the naval establishments produced heavy expenses independently of the sums drawn by the naval Store-keeper monthly to be accounted for by him to his own Board. The means of transport are defrayed by the special order of Sir Gordon Drummond from the Extraordinaries of the Army and amount to a very large sum annually, tho' I have used my feeble endeavors to prevent useless expenditure, as you will see by the letter I addressed to Major Foster on the 20th of October 1815, wherein I not only recommended the immense quantity of stores then at Montreal and Quebec to 493 be delayed then at those places, but I took leave to suggest that the transport Service of the navy should be defrayed by the naval Store-Keeper, and I regret it was not acquiesced in, but Sir Gordon Drummond was diffident of refusing compliance with the wishes of the Commander in Chief of the navy on the Lakes. My reasons were that both the expediency of measures adopted by the navy, and the disbursements consequent thereon would then have fallen under the immediate observation of their own Board in England, and would have been defrayed from sums appropriated by Parliament for Naval Services, instead of the extraordinaries of the Army to which such expenses do not properly belong.—Whereas, now, from being blended with Military Concerns, and charged in my periodical accounts with the Treasury, under the authority of the Commander of the Forces, the circumstance may be lost sight of for years, and His Majesty's Government has not consequently the means of timely check or control over the Expenditure.

There are some expenses which may certainly be prevented, the Government Schooner and Garrison Boat at this place ought not, in my opinion, to be kept up, especially as the former is not adapted to the service. The Horses in the Engineer Department at Kingston and Fort George may be sold for the benefit of Government, but all these are trifling savings; as it appears the desire of the Government to retrench, the General Scale of Expense should be lowered, and this cannot be effected unless the additional posts are abandoned, the Naval Establishments reduced, and the new Settlers left to take care of themselves. It is a fallacious idea that withdrawing Troops will of itself restore this country to its former situation.

If positive saving be enjoined and not merely economy, it is for the consideration of His Majesty's Government, whether the measures projected and in some instances commenced.

1st of increasing the population by means of settling Emigrants from the United Kingdom and discharged Soldiers.

2nd of opening new communications to Kingston by the Rideau, and improving the old one by the St. Lawrence.

3rd of keeping up various naval and military Depots not known before the late war.

Are to be persevered in, if so we must lay our account to a much larger Expenditure than was ever known before in this country during peace,—but if on the contrary, everything must yield to saving public money, and the Departments and Expenditure are not to exceed the extent of former times, all those objects must necessarily be given up, for they cannot be carried on without large sums of money. I think 494 it requisite to touch upon my own Department, which, under orders received from the Treasury, through the Commissary in Chief, I am reducing as fast as circumstances will permit, but it cannot be done all at once, as will be evident from what I have written, nor can it ever be brought so low as is contemplated, unless the present system be entirely changed, which I should never recommend. In the first place there are various new duties imposed.

Library of Congress

1st. The custody of the Cash.

2ndly. Supplying all the Departments with money.

3rdly. A Regiment of Cavalry is now here, which requires several persons to provide and issue forage, and being in different places the number of persons is considerable.

4thly. The Forms of Office and the various intricate returns and papers called for monthly require many additional Clerks.

To these I might at present add the making up my accounts for the period of the War, which it was impossible to do while active operations were going on, especially as they were thrown in arrear at the commencement by the inefficient state of my Department and the necessity of employing inexperienced persons, but as my General accounts are in a state of forwardness beyond my most sanguine expectations, I shall be enabled before the close of the year to spare many clerks which, in justice to myself and the public, I must retain till then, particularly as the business produced by the Army Bill Office will not altogether cease for some time to come.

I have not the honor to be known as yet to Sir John C. Sherbrooke but I trust from the confidence reposed in me by his Predecessors, of which he may be apprised, that His Excellency will do me the justice to believe that nothing shall be wanting in my to accomplish the views of Government and meet his wishes, but with respect to General Expenditure as it is always directed and sanctioned by the Commander of the Forces, I have only to obey, tho' it will afford me satisfaction to give every information when called upon so to do, and to suggest every practicable retrenchment, and upon all occasions it will be as much my inclination as my duty to aid His Excellency, as far as may be in my power, with my most cordial assistance and active exertions.

With respect to the particular estimate in question it was formed upon the same grounds as those for the preceding and subsequent periods, that is, from the estimate of the Barrack Department and a General knowledge of what was to be done throughout the command. These estimates are never correct, they are a good deal formed upon supposition and probability, for it is wholly impossible to foresee all 495 the various expenses of this extensive command, or how many warrants the Commander of the Forces may think proper to issue during the period. It does so happen however, that tho' the particular heads of service in the estimate to the 24 December last, do not agree with the actual expenditure, yet (he aggregate amount comes very near, a statement of which I have the honor to enclose herewith.

If, Sir, in this my answer to your Letter I have departed in any instance from the rules of propriety by going further into some subjects than my situation warrants, or employed any terms that may be construed into too great freedom, I beg to offer as an excuse the desire I was impressed with from the importance of your communication, to furnish His Excellency with the fullest and most satisfactory information relative to the causes of the large expenditure in this country, and to suggest generally the means of retrenchment, and it was my wish and intention to convey my ideas in the most respectful manner; if I have failed I hope it will be attributed solely to my incapacity to express my meaning in a more clear or better style.

I have the honor to be Sir Your most Obedient Humble Servant W. H. Robinson Comy.

Dear Sir ,

It become my painful duty to acquaint you with Circumstances & conduct extremely outrageous which we have just experienced from a British sub-naval officer & six men, which are said to belong to the Huron. The facts are as follows: Having been much interrupted in my rest last night, I had laid down some time after Breakfast & fallen asleep, I was suddenly waked by some noise on deck, and on enquiring the cause, was informed that a British boat had just Chased our Boat towards Fort Grovenor,<sup>1</sup> our men had borrowed a boat from Mr. David Macomb, for the purpose of getting our vessel afloat, which they were in the act of returning, on going on deck, I found the vessel at anchor. The British officer, and his men searching fore and aft, even into the Cabin. I asked him by what authority he did these things, He stated, by the order of his superior officer. I then protested against such conduct, demanded his name, and told him, that he and his Government must answer for such conduct, he replied his name was Henry Brooks, & was not ashamed to use it, he shortly after left the Vessel, and on turning our attention towards Malden, we perceived a field piece hauling 497 off from the Beach, surrounded by ten or fifteen men, which appeared to be artillerists.

I have stated to Your Excellency, plain unvarnished facts, but assure you, that I never felt more indignation at any thing ever witnessed before. I was of opinion while consulting Major Belton, that we ought to return to Detroit, and claim the protection of the proper authority; but on reflexion, considering the inevitable delay which such a step would occasion, we concluded to proceed on our voyage, if not again prevented. In the meantime the Captain will lose no time on his arrival at Buffalo, to enter a regular protest in due form,

Brig Union Malden 24 July 1816

Sir ,

For your information and that of His Excellency the Governor, I take the liberty of reporting to you the occurrences of the morning, on board this vessel.

At 7 in the morning we got under way from Fighting Island, on the shoal of Which we had laid aground during the night. At half past 11 we arrived abreast the Fort at Malden, and were beating down "Bois Blanc Channel." A boat had been borrowed early in the morning from Mr. David Macomb, at Gross Isle, and was returning to his house with two men of the crew and Mr. Sidway, the owner. Soon after she had left the Brig a man of wars boat, from a British armed vessel, lying in the channel, was seen in chase of her, which was abandoned. On her return she boarded this Brig, and demanded of Capt. Baird, the master to see his crew. He was told that they were on deck, except two men who had been out to return a boat. The officer then ordered one of his men to jump down into the "Fore-pit" which was done; then the hold was examined and afterwards the Cabin.

Capt. B. surrendered the vessel to the British officer, who took the helm himself, and brought her to an anchor, and after the search was 63 498 concluded and report was made to him, he got into his boat with his crew, and pushed to his vessel.

During these proceedings two Field pieces were brought out from the Fort at Malden to the edge of the bank, & trained on this vessel, accompanied with a detachment of troops &c and were moved in immediately after the British boat quitted the Brig.

Library of Congress

The boarding officer on being asked his name, gave that of "Brooks." He appeared to be of the grade of a midshipman, & had six men with him. They did not show any arms. He was asked for his orders.

He replied that they were from his superior officer & were verbal, that he always had verbal orders. His conduct was viewed by all on board as exceedingly insolent & outrageous.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> This is the first official report in the Detroit river of the exercise of search claimed by Great Britain. The obnoxious use of the British navy of the asserted right to search American vessels and seize members of their crews who were alleged British subjects was one of the causes of the War of 1812. It was believed that peace would prevent further offenses of "search and seizure."

The owner intends prosecuting his voyage to Buffalo, and will enter the necessary protest, a copy of which will be forwarded to the Hon. the Secretary of State.

I have the honor to transmit to you the copy of a Letter I have received from Mr. Monroe, enclosing to me a copy of Major General McCombs report to the Secretary of War, upon the subject of the enlistment of British Deserters into the Army of the United States upon the Detroit Frontier, of which I had complained to the American Government, in consequence of Col. James's representation to Sir Gordon Drummond, transmitted by the latter to Mr. Baker in the month Of April last.

Without entering into the distinction which has been taken between the enlistment of these Deserters, and their admission into the American Service, I have reason to hope, from the concluding paragraph in Mr. Monroe's Letter, that it is the intention of the American Government to prevent, if possible, any recurrence of the evil of which I have had to complain.

Accompanying this I have the honor to transmit you the Copy of a letter from John R. Williams Esqr a gentleman of this place, who left here in the Brig Union a few days since for Buffalo.

This letter and one from Major Belton, which General Macomb has informed me, he is about transmitting to the War Department, will give to the Government a knowledge of all the facts respecting this occurrence, of which we are now possessed.

I have been informed, that the British Commanding naval officer has said, that he was acting under express instructions, and if he could find any of their men on board of our vessels, they would be taken.

Whether he has misconstrued his instructions, whether they were issued when Great Britain was a belligerent Power, & are yet enforced now she is at peace, or whether it is possible such instructions have been given, I do not venture to form an opinion, but I entertain no doubt, but this officer thinks, that he is acting in conformity with the instructions of his Government.

Mr. Adams<sup>1</sup> having intimated to His Majesty's Govt. that it was the wish of the Govt. of the United States, that some understanding should be had, or agreement entered into between the two countries in regard to their Naval Armaments upon the Lakes, which, while it tended to diminish the expenses of each country, might diminish, also the chances of collision, and prevent any feelings of jealousy; I have the honor to acquaint you, that I have received Lord Castlereagh's<sup>1</sup> Instructions to assure you, that His R. Highness the P. Regent will cheerfully adopt; in the spirit of Mr. Adams' suggestion, any reasonable system which may contribute to the attainment of objects so desirable to both states.—

Mr. Adams not having entered into any detailed explanation of the precise views of his Govt. for giving effect to the principle which he had offered for consideration, the British Government is unacquainted with the particular arrangements, which the Government of the United States would propose to make for this purpose, but I have been instructed to assure you of the general disposition of H. R. Highness The P. ## Library of Congress

Department Of State August 2d, 1816,

Sir,

I have had the honor to receive your letter of the 26th July, by which you inform me that Mr Adams had intimated to Your Government the desire of the President to arrange by compact, the Naval force which should be retained on the Lakes by both nations, with a view to lessen equally the expense of each, and likewise to guard against collision, but that he had not explained, in sufficient detail, the proposal which he had been authorized to make, to lead at that time, to any practical result. You assure me that His R. Highness the P. Regent<sup>1</sup> is well disposed to the object, and that, in concert with this Govt. he is willing to adopt such measures as may be deemed expedient to give it effect.

The President being satisfied, that if each nation should maintain on the Lakes, a large Naval Force, it would expose both to Considerable and useless expence, while it would multiply the risks of Collision between them, instructed Mr. Adams shortly after the Peace, to make the proposal which you mention, in the hope, from the amicable spirit in which it was conceived, and the advantage which it was believed, both parties would derive from it, that it might be carried into immediate effect. It is very satisfactory to the President, to find that Your Government approves the Principle on which the proposal is founded, and that H. R. Highness the P. Regent is willing to act on it.

I infer from Your letter, that you are desirous of obtaining a precise project, either for the purpose of acting on it here, immediately in conformity with the powers already given you, or of transmitting it to Your Government, for its consideration, whether it be for one or the other purpose. I am instructed to afford all the facility that I may be able, tho' it would undoubtedly be more agreeable to the President, that the arrangement should be made, and executed, with the least delay possible.

I have now the honor to state, that the President is willing, in the spirit of the Peace which, so happily exists between the two Nations, and until the proposed arrangement shall be cancelled, in the manner hereafter suggested, to confine the Naval Force to be maintained on the Lakes, on each side, to the following vessels, that is, on Lake Ontario, to one vessel not exceeding 100 Tons burthen, and one 18 Pr 504 cannon, and on the Upper Lakes to two vessels of like burthen and force: and on the waters of Lake Champlain to one vessel not exceeding like burthen and force; and that all other armed vessels on those Lakes shall be forthwith dismantled, and likewise that neither party shall build or arm any other vessel on the shores of those Lakes.

That the Naval Force thus retained by each party on the Lakes, shall be restricted in its duty to the protection of its revenue laws; the transportation of troops and goods, and to such other services as will in no respect interfere with the armed vessels of the other party.

That should either of the parties be of opinion, that this arrangement did not accomplish the object intended by it, and be desirous of annulling it, and give notice thereof, it shall be void and of no effect after the expiration of months from the date of such notice.

If this project corresponds with the views of your Government, and you are authorized to accede to it, under any modifications, which you may propose, and in which we can agree, I am instructed to give it immediate effect, either by convention, the interchange of notes, or in any form which may be thought best adapted to the ends proposed. If, on the other hand, you consider it your duty, to Submit this project to your Government, for consideration, and to wait its sanction, before you can adopt it, and have power to make, ad interim any provisional reciprocal arrangement having the same objects in view, I shall be happy to digest with you such provisional arrangement, and to carry it reciprocally into effect, for such time, and in such manner, as may be agreed on, or should your powers be adequate, I am ready to Concur in an immediate suspension of any further Construction or equipments of armed vessels for any of the waters above named.

CAPT. OWEN TO CAPT. BAUMGARDT ( Provincial Marine )

Hydrographic Office Kingston U. C. 4th Augt 1816

Sir,

I have the honor to return the letter you referred to me for such an opinion on its particulars as might result from my local knowledge of the place in question.

There cannot be a doubt so long as we remain at peace, and Drummond Island the only place held by us on Lake Huron, that the supplies for that place may be conveyed at less expense by Lake Erie, than by the way of Nottawasagua; but if the channel of conveyance remains as heretofore by the Niagara Frontier this end will not be obtained, and several considerations of Policy occur naturally on this subject, which are of very ranch more importance to this Colony than may at first sight be imagined.—

Firstly if there were no other objections to receiving the communication by the Niagara Frontier, requiring a land carriage only from Queenstown to Chippawa, it might be considered a sufficient one that it remains in the power of a restless neighbor to intercept this at will, and that in time of war it could not possibly be used unless we possessed both sides of the River, But it is also questionable whether ultimately this Channel is not the most expensive for besides the risk of and actual losses by, passing valuable articles and money within reach of an asylum sure to render villainy successful, These Stores when embarked at Fort Erie in Vessels to be conveyed to Amherstburg or by the Detroit and St. Clair River into Lake Huron are frequently detained at Fort Erie by Westerly Winds, before they can sail, for fourteen and sometimes forty days, (particularly at the commencement of the season) for vessels cannot sail thence with a foul wind owing to the rapidity of the current—this has been particularly exemplified this season.

After this the Rapids of St. Clair<sup>1</sup> oppose another obstacle in time sometimes of as much as the former . In taking a comparative view of the expense it will therefore be necessary to consider these delays as effecting the price of transport equal to loss by damages, and the best scale I could propose to His Excellency the Governor General for deciding his judgement will be, that he cause a return to be made to him in detail of the actual cost of a cargo of provisions of a definite quantity. Last season from this Lake to Drummond Island by the methods used by the Commissariat first by land carriages from Queenstown

506 to Chippawa—by Batteaux to Fort Erie, and hired right thence to Amherstburg and through to Drummond Island; and lastly by land Carriages from York to Holland River by Batteaux, thence to Kempenfeldt, by land Carriages thence to Nottawasaga Creek, Batteaux to the mouth of the River, and by vessel thence to Drummond Island, and if even the difference of expense shall not be in favor Of the latter route owing to the Land Carriages being forty-five miles instead of ten miles, and one transshipment more on it, yet the advantage gained in time is a decisive argument in its favor, which generally speaking by proper arrangement may on an average be stated to be by the former route one Cargo to Drummond Island for Fort Erie per month, from Nottawasaga to Drummond Island one Cargo per week.

I have stated this comparison not so much with a view to urge the exclusive use of the Route by Lake Simcoe to Lake Huron, as to shew that reasons of Policy as well as economy should induce the Government to change the Route into Lake Erie from Ontario; and the best line to choose appears to me to be that examined and reported on by Captain Bouchier by my order, from Burlington to Grand River, the distance of land Carriages being near said to be thirteen miles of Road that might be made very good—is a route that might be secured in war, and when the stores are received by the vessels in Mohawk Bay at the entrance to the River Grand, they might sail and make progress with any Wind.— This line of Communication only can afford prospect of any ultimate saving in expence, which shall at the same time will secure it from interruption in the time of war.—

Library of Congress

But even if it shall not please His Excellency to concur with me on the propriety of changing the line of communication with Erie to the Route here proposed, there is still another less objectionable than that now in use, but still by a part of the exposed Frontier, that is as now by land from Queenstown to Chippawa, up that River to Oswego Creek and thence by land six miles to Grand River, by which route the Black Rock Rapids will be saved and the vessels able to sail without delay as before explained.

But neither of these lines of communication can be effective either for Lake St. Clair or Lake Huron against similar objections to those removed for Lake Erie by them for, supposing each side only to possess its own territory, it is in the power of either party to prevent the other from Navigating thro' the River Detroit and thro' the River St. Clair.

Similar arguments to those before used should therefore answer as in this time of peace to Establish such means of communication for those more distant Lakes as may be available in times of war; for, the experience 507 of this Colony forces us to acknowledge that neither can the Pacific dispositions of our neighbors be reckoned on, nor can we defer the arrangements which war will render absolutely necessary without the certainty not only of paying very dearly for them when wanted, but after all they will but imperfectly answer the ends proposed.—

Library of Congress

For Lake St. Clair there are many points on the North shore of Lake Erie which may be chosen for a line of communication to the Thames of these it will not be necessary to speak further.—

But for Lake Huron there remains but the route by Nottawasaga already spoken of.—

I am however of opinion that persuaded the Establishment of the Commissariat at Holland landing at Kempenfelt and on the Nottawasaga, be not suffered to go to decay, the transport required for Drummond Island<sup>1</sup> and our establishment would hardly require more than a single porter at Nottawasaga or Christian Island since no intermediate depot would be necessary for such small demands and if the Establishment at the head of the Nottawasaga Creek now called Platers, and that below at its mouth be placed in Possession of the Naval Establishment on Lake Huron (and indeed the others at Kempenfelt and Holland River might also be both turned over to you for their care and protection) They can at any time be resumed by the Military Departments or be used by them, when circumstances shall require it, and the current supplies of Provisions and Stores for the Naval Establishment can in the meantime be effected without much difficulty from York by our own agency as well as is now done by that of the commissariat.—

It would appear by the letter you have done me the honor to refer to me that it is imagined the Commissariat has a depot at Penetanguishene, I am to acquaint you that there is no such thing in existence,—that excellent Harbour and situation for an Arsenal not having a single inhabited dwelling

Washington August 6, 1816

Sir

I had the honor to receive your letter of the 2nd Instant, containing the project of an arrangement into which it is proposed that our respective Governments should enter, for the purpose of giving effect to the principle upon which I had the honour to acquaint you, that H. R. Highness the P. Regent was willing to act, in respect to the Naval Armaments upon the Lakes.

The General Coincidence of sentiment which exists between our Govts in regard to entering into some arrangement upon this subject, gives reason to hope, that the several parts of it will become matter of easy adjustment, but as, in the consideration of any precise proposition to this effect, reference must necessarily be had to various points connected with the internal administration of His Majestys Provinces, and to the Naval Assistance, which the ordinary business of a peace establishment may require, I am not authorized To conclude definitely any agreements as to details, without previously submitting it to my Government.

I shall therefore immediately forward for consideration the proposal contained in your Letter, but I shall in the meantime willingly take upon myself to give effect to any arrangements, upon which we may mutually agree, for the purpose of suspending the further construction and equipment of armed vessels upon the Lakes, and of generally abstaining from exertion in these quarters.

FROM LIEUT. COL. McDONALL—UNADDRESEED ( Indians )

Quebec 7th August 1816

I have the honor to lay before Your Excellency, the speeches of the principal Chiefs of the Western Indians. addressed to me in Council, previous to my departure from Drummond Island—

In various former Communications, I have stated my opinion to His Excellency Sir Gordon Drummond, that the measure intended by the Americans (and at this moment carrying into execution) of establishing Military Posts at the Prairie des Chiens & Green Bay is a manifest violation of the Treaty of Ghent, inasmuch as the 9th Article stipulated that our Indian Allies shall be restored to all their Possessions, Rights Priviledges & Immunities, in the same manner as they were enjoyed before the War. In 1812 the farthest advanced Post of the Americans on the Mississippi was Fort Maddison, at least four hundred miles to the Southward of Prairie des Chiens.

It assuredly therefore follows, that their Boundary then, ought to be their boundary now, and that they have no right to advance a step beyond it, without the previous purchase of the Land & the express permission of the Indians. This principle was admitted by the Americans themselves, on the mutual surrender of the captured Posts, at the end of the War—They made no claim to the restitution of Fort McKay at the Prairie des Chiens, it being in the Indian Country, which the recent treaty had guaranteed to that people, I therefore directed it to be destroyed & withdrew the Garrison to Michilimackinac.

At Green Bay on the Western side of Lake Michigan, the Government of the United States never had a Fort, or Military Post. They have Lately made repeated attempts to purchase Land from the Indians for that purpose, which proposals have been indignantly rejected as they perfectly comprehend the danger to which a measure would expose them, & that the double object of the Americans is the Seizure of their Country & their own gradual extermination. The offers so repeatedly made to purchase the Land, is a tacit admission that it is Still the property of the Indians, & hitherto they have so far respected their rights, as not to Establish, Posts, except sanctioned by a real or pretended purchase. Their present determination, therefore, to effect their purpose by force, & to occupy the Indian Territory without their consent, is certainly a glaring infraction of those rights & priveledges to which, both Governments stipulated they should be restored—

The refusal on the part of the Indians to dispose of their Lands, the Americans view with equal scorn and indifference. A letter which I received yesterday from Drummond Island, states, that the Chiefs of the Western Indians (whose speeches are enclosed) on their return home, held a Council at Michilimackinac & plainly told them, that they were determined not to Suffer any Military Establishments to be made in their Country. The reply was, that if the proposed settlements could not be effected by fair means, they should by force. The Indians 510 departed highly dissatisfied. In fact, I have scarcely a doubt, from the contemptuous insults which they heap upon them, that it is their wish to goad them into a war, and notwithstanding the patience with which the Chiefs have said they will wait for your Excellency's reply, it is exceedingly probable it will soon take place. Some of the Tribes, impatient at such insults, will commence hostilities, and afford the Americans the pretext they wish for, of taking ample Vengeance—

The exclusion of the British Traders from ever entering the Indian Countries within the American Limits, is deplored by the different Tribes, as the greatest misfortune which has befallen them. Even the obnoxious measure of building Forts upon their Lands is considered as the lesser evil. Without the supplies of cloathing amunition, which for such a series of years they have derived from them, they conceive they must perish miserably for want, & they have no confidence, in either the ability or inclination of the Americans to rescue them from so horrible a fate. Notwithstanding the liberality of Govt & the exertions of our Traders to supply the Indians, yet still not a winter passes, without many lives being lost from want of cloathing & amunition to procure food. Their fearful anticipations on this Subject are therefore not without foundation. The Chiefs have often spoke to me upon it, with the most moving eloquence. Unfortunately there is now no remedy for the evil, our right to the continuance of this traffic having been expressly given up, and renounced, in the late Commercial Treaty. The American Commissioners, in so pertinaciously insisting upon this article, Knew well its value. They knew that its immediate effect would be (particularly if the construction of the proposed Forts were also permitted) the total extinction of all British influence amongst those Indians from whom they had suffered so much during the war, and that a line of final separation was drawn between them—

The anxiety which the American Government evinced from the moment the Peace was signed in effecting this separation, & the high hand, with which at all risks, they seem resolved to carry their projects into execution, are proofs of the vast importance which they attach to it, and the benefits which they hope to derive from it at a future day . If the chain of Forts with which they propose to encircle that fine country be permitted, I consider it highly probable , that the Indians, finding themselves hem'd in—deprived of their British Traders cut of from all support or communication with us & wholly at the mercy of the Americans; recollecting also. that they are driven to this condition, from the failure of our promises & being abandoned to their fate in a future war, will exact their own revenge and become the 511 terrible assailants of that frontier which they before defended, and of which they are the natural defenders.

If the principle be admitted, that notwithstanding the 9th article of the Treaty of Ghent, the Govt of the United States may seize upon the Indian Lands & erect Forts thereon with impunity, its mischievous effects will soon be extensively felt; next year will probably witness Military Establishments at the Sault St Maries, the Fond du Lac, & in the immediate vicinity of the Red River, next to the cutting us off, from the Indians, the exclusive monopoly of the Fur Trade is the favorite project of the Americans; they have already excluded the Canadas from that former lucrative traffic which she so long enjoyed with the Indians to the Southward, & the Posts to which I allude, would not only render them formidable competitors as to what remains, but ready to take advantage of the unions and unnatural contest into which the two great rival Companys engaged in that description of Commerce, are about to plunge. It appears a matter of absolute necessity that Government should interpose in the quarrel and not only effect an amicable settlement of differences, but also a union of interests by a junction of the two Companies; this ought to be easily effected, as the Party that unreasonably hold out & refuse to accede, should receive no countenance or support there cannot be a doubt, that it would prove mutually advantageous in the highest degree, & no less so in a national point of view, as securing & extending the remaining Fur Trade in the first instance, & as preserving that part of the Country to the Empire in the event of a war. The Hudsons Bay & North West Companys cordiality united, would present a formidable Barrier against American encroachment, which, from the facility of receiving supplies by sea, probably could not be forced, even supposing the worst that could happen to the Canadas. The hostile measures now apparently meditated by both partys, if persevered in, must exhaust and ruin both. They are playing the very game of the Americans.

I have the more readily yielded to this digression concerning it to be intimately connected with my subject, & indeed gone more at length into the question than I intended, from the strong interest which I must ever take in the fate of the Western Indians. I have witnessed their constancy and courage in the late war, and their marked devotion & rooted attachment to our cause. Through me they were repeatedly assured of the powerful protection & support of the British Government & led to anticipate times very different from what they are likely to experience.—

The Indian nations were made acquainted with the stipulations of the treaty of Ghent in their favor, & they are sanguine in their expectations of being supported by your Excellency. I am fully aware of the obstacles which at present renders it so difficult, but perhaps it may not yet be too late to prevent the evils with which they are threatened, or at least to ameliorate their condition. Such an interference appears to me not only an act of justice due to the Indians, but in no small degree connected with the future welfare & security of these Provinces.—

FROM MR. GALE—UNADDRESSED ( North West )

Montreal , 9th Aug. 1816.

Sir,

Some information which has been recently obtained, relative to the commissions issued to persons in the late Corps of Voyageurs, has 513 induced the Earl of Selkirk<sup>1</sup> to desire me on his behalf, as he is himself absent, respectfully to bring under the consideration of his Excellency the Commander in Chief, the abuse which has been made of those Commissions by some individuals & to solicit the interposition of His Excellency's authority in such way as may be deemed proper to prevent the continuance of the injurious deceptions & imposture which have been practiced under their pretended sanction.

1 See appendix.

It appears that in September 1812 the late Governor Genl. Sir G. Prevost authorized the raising of a Corps to be called the "Corps of Voyageurs" in which Commissions were given to certain individuals, and that corps in March 1813 was disbanded. It is clear that there could be no pretence for the exercise of authority under those Commissions after the disbanding of the Corps yet some individuals who are partners in the North west Company or engaged in its service, have nevertheless, since assumed to themselves in the interior parts of this continent authority in the Kings name as holding commissions in that corps and under pretence of such authority have perpetrated the most criminal acts to the prejudice and even ruin of the Colony established by LorD Selkirk at Red River. As it was alleged by the persons claiming authority under these pretended Commissions That they were derived from the Commandant at Michilimackinac. Lord Selkirk in March and April last endeavored to ascertain whether any power had been given to that Commandant to issue such commissions, and the nature and extent of such authority conveyed or intended to be conveyed by them.

In answer to a communication addressed on this subject to Sir Gordon Drummond, the late Commander of the Forces, his Lordship was informed by Sir Gordon's letter of the 1st of April last, that after a research made in the military Secretary's Office, it did not appear that any authority of "such a nature was at any period vested in the officers commanding at St Joseph or Michilimackinac." Since this communication was made his Lordship has learnt that instructions to issue such commissions were given by His Excellency Sir George Prevost through his Civil Secretary G. B. Brenten (Brenton) Esq. to the Commandant at Michilimackinac. Sir Gordon Drummond was no doubt unaware that this channel had been adopted for conveying these instructions and could not therefore be expected to have taken into consideration the extent of the mischief that might be effected by an improper use of the commissions issued in consequence. The want of information on this point probably induced Sir Gordon to suppose it unnecessary that any declaration should be made on the part of the Provincial Government to prevent the exercise of illegal authority under color of these Commissions. But as all the motives have long since ceased to exist, which could have induced the late Governor to issue or authorise the issuing of the Commissions in question and as it is an unquestionable fact that certain individuals under pretext of holding and deriving power from them, have been exercising an oppressive illegal and dangerous authority, it has become highly expedient that a continuance of the delusion under which obedience has been yielded to such pretended appointments, should be prevented; and this can only be prevented by the interposition of the Authority of His Majesty's Provincial Government, and some explicit declaration on the subject.

I have therefore on behalf of Lord Selkirk respectfully to solicit such interposition and declaration which it is presumed will be deemed the more necessary, when it is considered that the advantage of an established civil Government by which. any imposition might be exposed and punished is not possessed in the Country where this dangerous imposture is practiced.

The present moment has appeared to be particularly fit for soliciting his Excellency's attention to the subject of this letter as Lieut Col. Mc Donall the commandant of Michilimackinac above referred to, is now at Quebec from whom his Excellency may derive information as to the manner in which the above mentioned instructions received by him from His Excellency Sir George Prevost were executed.

Drummond ISLAND August 10th, 1816.

Sir

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter 15th July the directions it contains shall be closely followed and I am happy to say have been in some measure anticipated, as will appear 515 by the proceedings of the Indian Councils at this Post, and already forwarded by the usual channel. Very few Indians are now on the Island—and Straglers only may be looked for this season. The number who have visited us this summer is about four thousand including women and children, they have all been supplied abundantly with presents and provisions, and left us apparently satisfied—We hear by report the Indian Department is to be placed on the same establishment. as before the war, which at this Post was, a Storekeeper Interpreter and Clerk all vested in one person, such an establishment is illy calculated to manage the Indians at the present day. Nothing is to fear from them while the Indian Department remains about us, but it is impossible to feel safe in the midst of a host of turbulent Savages, without persons among us, who have influence over their minds and actions. I have the honor to enclose an account of disbursements from the Public Chest for last month. The instructions in Lieut. Hall's Letters of the 4th July shall be attended to.

Department of state August 12 1816

Sir,

I have had the honor to receive your letter of the 6th of this month, by which you inform me, that altho' you have full confidence that an agreement will finally be entered into by our Government to limit in a satisfactory manner, the Naval force to be maintained by them on the Lakes, you consider it your duty to submit to your Government the project, which I lately communicated to you to that effect, and to await its orders before you can proceed to make a definite arrangement on 516 the subject. You intimate however, that you are willing to give effect to any arrangement, on which we may agree, for suspending in the meantime, the further Construction and equipment of armed vessels on the Lakes, and for abstaining from further exertion there.

To this delay no objection is entertained, provided such a provisional arrangement is made as may accomplish the best objects which our Government have in view. This arrangement however, like the other should be equal, In the same spirit, therefore, I now propose the regulations stated in my former letter, to be adopted as a provisional arrangement. If your powers authorize, and you approve those regulations on being assured that you will adopt a similar measure an order will be immediately issued by this Government, for carrying them fully into effect.

If your powers do not extend to this object, but are confined exclusively to the suspension of the further augmentation of the naval force on the Lakes, I have then to observe, that on receiving from you a statement of the Force which your Government now has, on the Lakes, with an assurance that its further augmentation shall be suspended, an order will be immediately issued by this Govt for confining the naval Force of the United States there, strictly within the same limit.

Sir,

I have had the honor to receive your letter of yesterday's date.—

For the same reasons which I have assigned in the letter which I had the honor to address to you on the 6th inst, I conceive that I am not authorized to make even provisionally any precise agreement 517 as to the exact manner in which the respective naval Forces upon the Lakes shall be limited, as in any such agreement, whether permanent or provisional, reference must equally be had to the arrangements of a peace establishment, and the ordinary administration of His Majesty's Provinces.

I am not in possession of a correct statement of His Majesty's naval Force now in Commission upon the Lakes, but I will take the earliest means of procuring and communicating to you the most accurate information upon this point, and I can in the mean time give you the assurance, that all further augmentation of it will be immediately suspended.

MR. BAGOT TO COMMODORE OWEN (Relations with United States)

Library of Congress

(Secret and Confidential.)

Washington August 14, 1816

A few months ago the American Minister in London intimated to His Majesty's Govt. that it was the wish of the Govt. of the United States, that some understanding should be had, or agreement entered into between the two Countries as to their respective naval Armaments upon the Lakes, which, by reducing the Armed force on both sides, might reduce also the expenses of each Country, allay jealousies, and diminish the chances of collision.

Mr. Adams was then informed that H. R. H. The Prince Regent would willingly adopt in the spirit of his suggestion, any reasonable system which might lead to the attainment of objects so desirable; and that, in the mean time, the smallest number of Vessels Compatible with a peace establishment should be kept in Commission.

I have since received Lord Castlereagh's instructions to converse upon this subject with the Secretary of the Department of State, and to Communicate the intentions of the American Government to His Majesty's officers in Canada, who would be instructed to frame their measures with reference to any information which they might receive from me upon this point.

His Majesty's Government are of opinion, that it would be better to leave the two Countries to act upon the principle which has been suggested in a spirit of Mutual Confidence, than to make any precise arrangement, or reduce the system to positive stipulation; but I have been instructed to state to the American Govt. that if it is their wish to enter into more particular and formal agreement, there is no disinclination on the part of the British Government to negotiate for that purpose: and I have been accordingly authorized to receive ad referendum any proposition which the American Govt. may make to this effect.

Library of Congress

The enclosed copies of a correspondence which has passed between the secretary of the Dept. of State and myself will put your Excellency in complete possession of the present state of the business.

As, under my instructions, I could only receive for reference to the consideration of His Majesty's Govt a proposition of the precise nature of that contained in Mr. Monroe's note of the 2nd inst. I have abstained from entering with him into any discussion whatever of the terms of it. It is for His Majesty's Govt alone to judge how far those terms are compatible with the establishment which it may be their intention to maintain during a state of Peace. But I have felt myself authorized by the spirit of my instructions to enter into an agreement with the American Govt, that, pending the discussion of the more precise Project which they have offered, and which I have transmitted to Lord Castlereagh, no Augmentation shall be made of the British naval Force now in Commission upon the Lakes, the American Govt agreeing at the same time to confine their force within the same limits as the British.

The American Force is I conceive at present greatly inferior to ours, an agreement therefore to abstain from further augmentation on each side would appear to be wholly in our favour. It is for this reason that the American Force has been restricted to the same limits as the British; but Your Excellency may rest assured, that it is not the intention of the American Govt. to make any addition whatever, in consequence of this agreement, to the number of force of their Vessels actually in Commission at the present moment.

It only remains for me to request, that, upon the receipt of this letter, Your Excellency will take the Earliest means to give effect to the 519 agreement into which I have entered with the American Govt. and that, until a more particular arrangement shall have been concluded between the two Govts. (of which I shall do myself honor to give Your Excellency the earliest information) Your Excellency will direct, that no addition should be made to the number or force of His Majesty's. Armed Vessels upon the Lakes; of which force I have to request, that Your Excellency will furnish me as soon as possible with an accurate statement.

Library of Congress

—The American Govt. have already given the necessary directions to their officers to act in conformity with this arrangement.

I must add that it is distinctly understood between the American Govt. and myself, that if any of His Majesty's armed Vessels now building shall be in that state of progress in which they cannot be laid up or dismantled without injury to the Materials, It shall not considered as any breach of the agreement if they are completed so far as it is necessary for their preservation—

I have the honor to transmit to you a Copy of a Communication from the Governor of the Michigan Territory, and also of one from Major Genl. Macomb, Commanding the Troops of the United States at Detroit, to the secretary of war, complaining of the Conduct of a British officer, in boarding an American vessel, and searching her on that Strait. It appears likewise that this Act was countenanced and supported by the officers at Malden, who drew out some pieces of Cannon and placed them in a position to hear on the American vessel. As similar acts have been Committed heretofore, as I had the honor to intimate to you some time since informally, it may be inferred that they are in Compliance with a Believing from what has already passed upon Subjects of a Similar nature as well in London as in this city, that the British officers in Canada have mistaken the policy and views of their Government, and being likewise anxious to prevent the consequences to which such Acts obviously lead, I make to you this Communication, in full confidence that you will take such steps, as may prevent a recurrence of the like in future.

I had the honor to receive on the 28th ulto, Your Excellency's letter of the 15th of that month, enclosing to me copies of Colonel McDonalls letters upon the subject of the assemblage at Drummonds Island of several Tribes of Indians, and of the hostile disposition which they had manifested against the Government of the United States.

The Secretary of the Department of State being absent from Washington at the time when Your letter reached me, I immediately wrote to acquaint him with the information which I had received, and with the steps which Your Excellency had taken in order to allay the excitement which had arisen.

I received an answer from Mr. Monroe expressive of his obligation to me for the intelligence which I had communicated, and at an interview which I have since had with him upon the subject, I have called his attention most particularly to the promptitude and earnestness with which, Your Excellency has taken measures to convince the Indians, that they will receive no assistance from His Majesty's Government in any attempts to commit acts of hostility against the citizens of the United States.

Upon the subject which has immediately given offence to the Indians, and awakened their suspicions, Mr. Monroe stated, that it was only the intention of the American Government to erect a Fort at the Southern extremity of Green Bay, where he alleged, that they had always possessed one: and he added, that he had received information part of which he communicated to me, stating that persons connected with the British Trade with the Indians had been endeavoring to promote discontent amongst them.—I replied, that this might very possibly be true of a few interested individuals, but that it was certainly not true of any of the officers of His Majesty's Government—that he might be assured, that the British Government would do their utmost to repress every kind of hostility against the American Government amongst the Indian Tribes; and that, altho' we should always feel interested in obtaining for them the redress of any real grievances under which they might labour, we should not endeavor to procure it by any means inconsistent with sincerity, and the good friendship which prevailed between Great Britain and the United States—

Quebec , 15th Aug. 1816.

Sir ,

I beg you will have the goodness to bring the following statement under the notice of His Excellency the Govr. in Chief.

On the first occupation of Drummond Island on evacuating Mackina, most of the Chiefs of the Indian nations, who had been acting with us during the war, were at the Post, & a strong sensation of discontent existed among them & their Bands, on account of giving up Mackina to the Americans, which was heightened from the unfortunate circumstance of our inability to give them their usual presents, the Indian Store 526 being empty. In emergencies of this kind I was authorized to act according to the best of my judgment for the good of the Service. The pressing urgency of the case rendered it a matter of absolute necessity that I should authorize the purchase of some presents for the Indians which has since been settled & the articles stated in the enclosed acct for the Chiefs, which were presented to the most distinguished of each nation in the name of the King, as an especial acknowledgement of their Bravery & fidelity during the war—the timely distribution of these presents, produced the best effect, & those to the Chiefs were received by them with equal pride and enthusiasm, as a testimony of the Kings approbation of their conduct.

The circumstances attending this purchase, & the strong necessity which existed for making it, not being sufficiently made known to Sir Gordon Drummond or aware, that the Authority granted me, had been repeatedly exercised in a similar manner, the enclosed accounts were in consequence returned to Drummond Island, with directions to communicate with Gov. Gore upon the subject, which was not done, the Indian Department having again reverted to the Military authority.

I have therefore to beg that you will submit this explanation to His Excellency, trusting that he will be pleased to take the hardships of this case into consideration, and direct the amount to be repaid to Lieut. Col. McKay.

MR. LEVESQUE TO SIR JOHN SHERBROOKE ( Relations with United States )

Sept. 12.

May it please your Excellency?

As by my Petition dated on the 10th of July last, with reference to the Reverend Bishop of Quebec Monsieur Plessis, I have taken the liberty to suggesting to Your Excellency my being useful to Government respecting few topics essentially necessary both to the present and future welfare of these Provinces. The first of which object "to keeping this Country from foreign influence;" I will humbly state, that it may be repressed by your Excellency recommending to put in force the Alien Bill as respect the emigration of the french into this Country. To enumerate the many evils resulting from a non-compliance to this measure are incalculable Suffice to say, that by disseminating the present new Ideas amongst the people, would cause a thorough change, and its mischievous effects.

Respecting the second, "Canada falling a prey to the neighboring States;" Let it be well understood, the truth of its authenticity Your Excellency knows, that the cause and the only one which has forced the American Government to come to terms of Peace, was owing to his want of money to carry on the War with England, and to suppose that the Southern States of America would oppose the North to the conquest of the Canadas on the ground that the latter would by that means become too powerful, and cause a mission, the effects to form a separate republic, are meer sophistry, and all other such suppositions as long as the innate hatred of that People towards the Mother Country exists, and their Vengeance is alive to feelings of mistaken pride; For their is no deviation in an American's principles, whether he remains in his native land, or he lives abroad. In Illustration to the above, it is but necessary to relate two instances, the first when Major Andr e; was under sentence of death, not knowing or the better impressed with the fear it would be an ignominious one, he earnestly requested the Council to be shot, his letter was displayed before them, and they unanimously resolved he should be hung which was accordingly executed.—

The second, happened before the breaking of the first American war, Franklin came over to Quebec, and there he met some of the notables to whom he imparted his secret mission, which was no less than joining the then Confederacy, which proposition was answered but with a profound silence (the characteristic of the Canadians in general, when decidedly of a contrary opinion,) returned to Congress he related his reception, and the little effect the sounds of liberty had on the mind of his harmless People: It was then suggested and resolved to openly reduce them by force of arms, which was undertaken soon after with shameful defeat on their part, and these last years with the same ill-success.

If so trivial objects are constantly kept in remembrance amongst that People? How much more important and painful must it be to both their pride and the general interest of those States to be as restricted as they are at present in their Commerce and means of future aggrandisement arising from duties paid by them on tonnage paid by them in the East India trade and their exclusion in the market of the West India Islands though yet possessing a partial advantage in the importation of molasses; also their expulsion from drying their fish on the British Stores; and in fine not a little curtailed in their pretensions respecting the old boundary lines: the loss of which Privileges by strangely affecting both the federals and the republicans, is as severely felt by the busy class; and it must be acknowledged that no efforts will be wanting of availing themselves of the first opportunity to secure 532 those same lost advantages; or at least to enjoy them as in the past; and in order to effect the same without loss of time, a continuance of high and vexatious duties are layed on every article imported from foreign Countries, which your Excellency is apprized of, and of their building many Ships of war, and having a standing army of no less than seventeen thousand effective men, well clothed and disciplined; the latter without doubt intended to the conquest of the Canadas, when ever a new war will take place, the period of which event is not far distant.—And how are we to oppose so an overwhelming force? Surely not with the present means of defence: Hence arises the necessity of raising from four to five thousand men (Canadians) trained and disciplined as the regular troops; with the observation that the good resulting to the country at large from such a step would be most gratefully felt; and enable the better your Excellency to know the strength and resources of the two Provinces, and cause to recommend additional duties to be layed on the same indirect articles as Spirits, Wines &c, without any material inconvenience or Injury arising to the Country from such a measure.—

As relate “maintaining Religion and Morals in their original purity.” The most effectual means to promptly attain this object would be by forcing the Laws concerning the exclusion of foreigners to obtain licences for keeping houses of public entertainment, and but known and reputable characters to obtain them in future; with the propriety of a strict observance of the Sabbath throughout the Country—

May it please your Excellency?

Though the present remarks are well known to your Excellency, yet do I think it a duty incumbent on me to humbly submitting them to your Excellency's perusal, and as being expressive of my unalterable sentiments and the result of long experience and continued meditation, and I remain In the Interim, with high consideration.

Kingston 17th Sept. 1816.

Sir

Since I had the honor of addressing you on the 4th Inst on the subject of the Transport of Indian presents and mentioning the arrival of those intended for Drummond Island at this Post; Seventeen Batteaux with Presents for Amherstburg have reached Kingston under precisely similar circumstances which I before represented. The number of Packages mentioned in the Conductors Instructions or Way Bill do not agree with those landed, there being an excess in some articles and deficiency in others—as Excess 1 ½ Bar'l

Gunpowder. 2 ¼ " " 3 Trunks 3 Bales 1 Case stated in the Margin.—

I think it right to mention for the information of the Commander of the Forces that when the presents intended for Drummond Island were about to be shipped when the Montreal sailed last for the Head of the Lake, The Conductor (La Chapelle) to whose charge they were Intrusted, was missing and notwithstanding every search has since been made for him, he has not been found, it is supposed he has returned to the Lower Province taking with him the invoices &c., to prevent any inconvenience to the Service which may arise from this circumstance I have directed them to be shipped for York on board the first of His Majesty's vessels which sail for that Port and there to be placed in the charge of the Depy. Supt Genl. and the Conductor who proceeds with the presents to Amherstburg in the same Vessel will see them safely delivered to him.—

DEPOSITION

UPPER CANADA Western District

Personally appeared before me Robert Richardson Esqr one of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace in and for the said District, Edward Barwick Major 37th Regiment, and commanding the Amherstburg Frontier, who being solemnly sworn, sayeth that during his command no authority whatever has been given by him; nor has a single piece 535 of Cannon of any description ever been pointed at or placed in a situation to bear on an American vessel in support of a boarding officer or for any other purpose nor has any officer belonging to the Garrison of Amherstburg ever interfered in the smallest degree in any transaction of the kind. He further states that he has been stationed at Amherstburg since the Post was delivered up by the American Troops and that during the whole period no interference whatever has taken place by the officers of the garrison in boarding or searching American vessels, nor has any application ever been made for that purpose by the officers of the Navy.

an Artillery officer commanding and in charge of the field pieces and was severely and Dangerously wounded.—

That your Excellencys Memorialist has in like manner actively participated in every other Military and Naval event upon and in the neighborhood of Lake Erie down to the unfortunate loss of the Fleet commanded by Captain Barclay on the 10th September 1813, in which action your Memorialist was also severely wounded and afterwards remained a Prisoner of War for near twelve months a considerable part of which time he was held as an hostage by the American Government and Kept in close confinement.—

From his Majestys having graciously pleased to grant half pay to the Provincial officers of the Provincial Navy in Canada reduced 1813 your Excellencys Memorialist most humbly Prays that the same favour may be bestowed on him, which from the Services, wounds and imprisonment of your Excellencys Memorialist he hopes may be granted.

And as in duty bound he will ever pray. Frederick Rolette<sup>1</sup> (Charles Frederick Rolette.)

MAJOR BARWICK TO MAJ. GEN. WILSON ( Indians )

Amherstburg 10th October 1816

Sir

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th ultimo requiring an explanation respecting the issue of Provisions to the Indians at this Post having exceeded the estimate—

Library of Congress

I beg leave to acquaint you that from every information I have been able to obtain on the subject and more particularly from my own knowledge and observations I have no hesitation in saying that the 537 requisition could not have been estimated for the number of Indians at that period at Amherstburg, Sandwich, the River Thames, River St. Clair & the Moravian Town, altogether consisting of two thousand three hundred thirty-nine persons receiving daily rations—Exclusive of the resident Indians the strangers who have visited this post to receive their annual presents have in the course of the last three months exceeded Four thousand persons, these visitors it would appear were totally overlooked in making out the estimate, although it must have been well known to the Indian Department that they must adhering to the most rigid economy, receive at least two days provisions each to enable them to reach their hunting grounds on their return home

---

I beg leave further to state for your information that the issue of provisions to the Indians on the Thames, River St. Clair and the Moravian Town, amounting to Eleven hundred and Seventy-three persons, had been discontinued from the 24th of June last by order of His Excellency Lieut. Govr Gore which is a further proof that even after this great reduction, the calculation must either have been erroneous or could not have been made on the aggregate number of Indians victualled out of the Kings Stores at this Post—

The Bands of strangers who arrive to receive their annual presents are frequent and numerous—

The Memorial of John Askin of Drummond Island—

Humbly Sheweth—

That your memorialist has executed faithfully and dilligently the combined duties of Store keeper, Interpreter & Clerk in the Indian Department at St Joseph's, Michilimackinac and Drummond's Island from the year 1807 to this day and also that of agent from 1807 to 1814 without any recompence whatever for the latter duty—

our Petitioner had influence enough to keep all the Indian Tribes under his suprintendence faithful to our cause, and when war was declared in 1812 your memorialist collected at a short notice 230 Indian warriors, which he commanded at the taking of Michilimackinac the 17th of July 1812 as will appear by Captain Roberts certificate hereunto annexed, and after that fortress had Capitulated, your petitioner collected upwards of 400 additional warriors part of them he sent down to tim aid of Amherstburg and as Michilimackinac was Garrisoned only by 40 Soldiers of the loth Royal Veterans & three of them officers your memorialist always kept a Large Body of Indian warriors constantly on duty for the defence of that place, until the arrival of Lieut 539 Col. McDonall with a reinforcement on the 18th of May 1814, all which time from 1807 to 1814 your petitioner was the sole person who had the management of the Indians & their affairs at St Josephs & Michilimackinac, except a few interpreters who were employed to accompany Indians, sent out in parties—

Your memorialist finding himself left out of the list of persons, who are to remain in the Indian Department, most Humbly prays that your Excellency may be pleased to take his length of services into consideration and grant him such situation place or remuneration as your Excellency may seem fit.

And your petitioner as in duty bound will ever Pray—

MEMORIAL

Oct. 16.

To His Excellency Francis Gore, Esquire, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada &c.

The memorial of John Askin of Drummond Island—

Humbly Sheweth—

That your memorialist has served faithfully and diligently in the Indian Department as Store Keeper, Interpreter & clerk from 1807 to this day, and at present finds by the general Order dated at Quebec 27th August last, that he superceded by Mr. Thos. G. Anderson & entirely left out of the list of those retained—

Your Petitioner humbly prays that your Excellency may be pleased to interest yourself in his behalf, by forwarding the enclosed memorial to the Commander of the Forces, and as he may not have any knowledge of the Services rendered by your memorialist, most humbly begs that your Excellency may be pleased to state (if necessary) the services rendered which may have come to your knowledge during your administration & from such other information your Excellency received by those in office.

Your memorialist on a former occasion stated to your Excellency his having executed the combined duties of Store keeper, Interpreter and Clerk at St. Josephs from 1807 to 1812, also that of agent without his having received any recompense for the latter duty—His having also 540 had sufficient influence with the Indian Tribes (under his superintendence so as to keep them faithful to our cause) in defiance of all the emissaries & frequent speeches sent to them by the Americans, and when war was declared in 1812, your petitioner collected at a short notice 230 Indian Warriors, which he headed at the taking of Michilimackinac and after this Fort had capitulated 400 additional Warriors joined him and were kept in such a state of subordination, that no injury whatever was done to the Inhabitants. Your Memorialist sent a large body of Warriors to the aid of Amherstburg, and as the Post of Michilimackinac was garrisoned by 40 Veteran Soldiers only (the Canadians & Voyageur having gone away to their respective wintering places) he kept constantly on duty a body of Indians for the defence of said post from the time of its capitulation to the 18th day of May 1814 at which time Lt. Col. McDonall arrived with the reinforcement— Your Petitioner was the sole person who had the management of Indian affairs to that last period, except a few Interpreters who were employed to accompany Indians when sent out on parties.

In July 1814 your Memorialist was notified by Sir John Johnson Bart that Sir George Prevost had been good enough to pay attention to my service & merits by taking up Captain Roberts recommendation backed by himself and had appointed Captain Resident but appointment didnt take effect for your petitioner was not put in general orders.

1 Undoubtedly meaning being.

On the 23rd of January 1815 your Memorialist was shewn a garrison order dated Michc 23rd Jan 1815 that the Commander was pleased to appoint John Askin Esq. to be a Captain Resident with the pay and allowances of that rank from the 25th Dec. 1814, untill the pleasure of the Commander of the Forces was known, accordingly your petitioner drew the pay and allowances to the 24th July 1815 at which time he was informed that the appointment was not sanctioned, on which he continued as he had always done the duties of St Kr Int & Clerk from the day of his first appointment to the date without any fault having been found with him from his superiors either Military or Civil, in the duties of his office—

Library of Congress

Your Memorialist prays that your Excellency may be pleased to intercede in his behalf so that he may be reinstated, appointed in a vacancy which appears at Amherstburg of Superintendent or placed Captain Resident for the post—and your petitioner as in duty bound will ever pray—

RETURN

1 The Grand River Indians belonged originally to the Six Nations of New York, who were rewarded for their services to the British cause in the Revolutionary War with an extensive grant of land in the valley of the Grand River of Canada, Ontario. Their descendants reside in the vicinity on these lands. They are civilized, educated and many of them prosperous farmers.

Library of Congress

The Lords Commissioners of the Treasury have submitted to me your Letter of the 18th July addressed to the Secretary at War in which you recommend the continuance of certain rates of Command Money to officers on command at the Post of Drummond Island, York, Fort 543 Erie, Fort Wellington and Fort Chippawa although such officers are not included in the Prince Regents warrant and their Lordships have requested my opinion thereupon. The reason assigned in your letter with respect to the officer in command at Drummond Island have been so conclusive as to leave upon my mind no doubt of the propriety of continuing to him the allowance which has heretofore been paid to him. But with respect to the other officers I am not sufficiently informed of the circumstances to be able to express my opinion. I have therefore to request that you would inform me of the grounds upon which the appointment of officers with an allowance of Command money at the other Stations took place, and report to me your opinion whether these allowances may not be either partially or wholly discontinued. As great doubts exist with respect to the utility of Fort Wellington as a Military work, I would specially direct your attention to that point as in the event of it appearing advisable to abandon it, it does not certainly seem necessary to maintain there an officer of sufficient rank to entitle him to Command Money.

I have the honor to report, of the officers of the Indian Department appointed to the Past, by the general order of the 27th August last, one only Captain Anderson is present; Lieut. Col. McKay is I believe at Montreal where lie usually resides, and Lieut. Johnstone<sup>1</sup> absent with leave. While the Indian Department is under the Civil governor, it is needless to observe the officer commanding at this post was prohibited interfering in any respect with that Department, but as it is now placed in the hands of his Excellency the Commander of the Forces, I am anxious to know how far the officers of the Indian Department may be considered Military, and how far under the control of the officer (particularly as to leave of absence) commanding the post at which they are stationed.

I have the honor to report, Colonel Hawkins attended by several other American officers, has been employed some days in examining the different Channels in the upper part of this Lake, among the Islands, and as far as St. Mary's, Colonel Hawkins I understand is sent by the American Government for that purpose, and to procure the best information for the use of the Commissioners for settling the Boundary Line, He left this Neighborhood on his return to Detroit on the 24th Ult—

I am sorry to say the Block House directed to be built by Lt. Col. Dumford is not yet begun, The Company 37th Regt. stationed here furnishes no artificers, and the time, of the few Civilians who we are obliged to employ, has been hitherto occupied in repairing the Barracks & other Buildings—

MR. BAGOT TO MR. MONROE ( Relations with United States )

Washington Nov. 18th, 1816

Sir,

In my letter of the 16th Augt I had the honor to acquaint you, that I had lost no time in requesting the Governor General of Canada, and the Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Naval Forces upon the Lakes, to direct an Enquiry to be made into all the Circumstances represented to me in your letter of the 14th Augt, and in the accompanying communications from the Governor of the Michigan Territory, relative to the American Brig Union having been boarded by a British officer on the 24th of July last, in the Straits of Detroit.

I have now the honor to acquaint you that by the reports which have been transmitted to me upon this subject, it appears that the officer Commanding upon Lake Erie, misconceiving the nature of his instructions, had considered himself authorized to direct that all vessels passing under Fort Malden should be visited, and that in conformity with these directions, the Brig Union had been visited upon the occasion stated in Governor Cas's letter.

As soon as it was known to the Commander in Chief upon the Lakes, that orders of this nature had been given, they were by his authority, immediately revoked, and I am able to assure you, that every means have been since taken to prevent any similar interruption being again given to the vessels of the United States upon those waters.

In making to you this statement, it is very satisfactory to me to be enabled to add, that the transaction was not attended with those circumstances of aggravation which have been represented to you, and that there was no interference whatever on the part of any of the British garrison.—You will see by the enclosed affidavit of Major Barwick, the Commanding officer at Amherstburg, that upon no occasion has a single piece of the Cannon of that garrison been placed in a situation to bear upon an American vessel, for the purposes which have been alleged, neither has any officer of the Garrison ever interfered in any transaction of the kind, or ever been applied to for such interferences, by any of the officers of His Majestys Navy.—

In the several Conversations which I have already had the honor of holding with you, upon the subject of endeavouring by every means in our power to allay those feelings of irritation, which still appear to exist in some parts of the Frontier, I have uniformly repeated to you the assurances of the earnest wish entertained by His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, to see undisturbed the relations of friendship which have been reestablished between the two Countries, and to discourage every proceeding which might tend to their interruption. I therefore cannot doubt that the Government of the United States will always have attributed to their true causes like aggravations with which proceedings such as those which form the subject of this letter, have been frequently represented but it will be admitted, that these representations become not less matters of importance than of regret, when they show the Continuance of that tone and temper of publick sentiment which the Governor of the Michigan Territory appears by his letter of the 26th of July to be fully aware, and which it is so much the object of our respective Governments to correct and pacify.

Having adverted to this point, it now remains for me to execute the commands which I have received from His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, and to acquaint you, that His Royal Highness, resolved to omit no means which may serve to manifest the amicable disposition of His Royal Highness towards the United States, as well as His Royal Highness's determination to fulfil all His engagements, has, in consequence of the representations which have been made by Mr. Adams to His Majesty's Government upon these subjects, commanded, that instructions should be sent to all His Majesty's officers commanding in North America, directing them, not only to use their utmost exertion to discourage all proceedings of the nature of those of which the American Government have complained,<sup>1</sup> but also to pursue in all their communications with the American Authorities, and people, such a line of conduct, as may remove in future any just ground of complaint, and clearly evince the sincerity of His R. Highness' sentiments.

At the same time that I repeat to you the assurances of these sentiments, I am commanded to express to you the firm hope, which is entertained by His R. Highness the Prince Regent, that they will be met by a correspondent feeling on the part of the United States, and that measures no less effectual will be immediately adopted by the American Government, for the salutary purpose of completing the object which His R. Highness has in view, and which is so manifestly beneficial to the two nations.—

Drummond Island

This is the last of the Manitoulin Islands and situated at the top of Lake Huron there is no Post of Defence yet Established but I would recommend a Block house to be immediately constructed as there is a large Quantity of stores that ought to have security, not only in case of another War, but as the Indians even in Time of peace when collected (as they do there yearly) in numbers, might be induced to endeavor to seize upon them, either on being denied any expected privileges, or fancying they required them on other accounts.

The Barracks, Store, &c are of a very temporary nature, although much better than under the circumstances they were built, I should have expected to find them.

It is to be regretted that the soil appears too rocky and gravelly to be cultivated successfully.

Fort Collier is the name of the Settlement and Harbour.—

Library of Congress

I beg to observe that besides the Detour (the Navigation passage between Fort Collier & the Main Land at the other End of the Island (distance six or seven Leagues) there is another Channel for ships to proceed towards Lake Superior.

St. Josephs

This was the Original advanced British Post, there now only remains the old Magazine which contains an assortment of Ammunition this if possible ought to be removed not merely from the imperfect state of the building, but its great distance from the main post and the consequent necessity of keeping a Detachment to guard it.

Amherstburg

This post is now entirely defenceless. There are merely Barracks for the men stationed there, none for Officers except the Field officer Commanding & the mens Barrcks are without the Old Fort.

The Isle Bois blanc about one mile long situated directly opposite the Town of Amherstburg and distant about five hundred yards—The current is swift here. The remains of two temporary Batteries are on this Island—

I consider this place unfit for either a Military or Naval Depot, from its very great proximity to the American Territory their overwhelming means of attacking it & from our great difficulty of communicating with this place either by land or water, under present circumstances—

I would rather recommend for a military Depot, a Station on the River Thames<sup>1</sup> distant from its mouth about twenty miles called Chatham which is favorable also for gun boats, to which place they can navigate the two branches of the Service could then cooperate with each other in impeding the advance of any enemy whose navigation would be greatly annoyed in crossing Lake St Clair—

Library of Congress

1 See appendix.

A post here would also give infinite confidence to the Settlers; the banks of the River are remarkably fertile producing abundance of Corn in particular—

A communication might likewise I apprehend, be effected with the River Chenail<sup>2</sup> & the incursions of an Enemy impeded in that direction and foot paths are already made from hence to the nearest parts of Lake Erie.—

2 Chenil Ecarte, a deep channel through St. Clair flats.

The banks of the Thames gradually Rise towards its source & the Country becomes more defensible in the Spring and Fall of the year the Water rises several feet (perhaps 8 or 10) rendering it navigable nearly to Delaware, (which would convenience the transporting of Stores as considerable Rafts of Timber are then sent down it) a place I am sorry I had it not in my power to visit: but passing through the Moravian Village a few miles on this side I crossed to Talbot Street by a bridle path, which could very easily be rendered passable for Carriages.—

From Talbot Street towards the Grand River and several Streams which empty themselves into Lake Erie with deep ravines and strong defensible ground well worth being surveyed and noticed.—

MR. MONROE TO MR. BAGOT ( Relations with United States )

Department of State November 29 1816

Sir

I have had the honor to receive your letter of the 18th of this month, by which you inform me that the Governor General of Canada & the Commander in Chief of His Britanic Majesty's Naval Force on the Lakes had, at your request, instituted an enquiry into the grounds of the Complaint, stated in my letter of August the 14th last, and, it appearing that a British officer, misconceiving his orders, had boarded the American Schooner Union, the Commander in Chief on the Lakes had revoked the orders, and taken measures to prevent any similar interruption on those waters.

You inform me likewise that H. R. H. the Prince Regent had, in the spirit of amity which happily exists between the two nations, given orders, to the British officers Commanding in America, to use their utmost exertions to prevent any proceedings of the kind Complained of and to pursue, in their communications with persons in authority under the United States, such a line of conduct as would prevent, in future, any just cause of complaint you assure me that this measure had been adopted in full confidence that this Government, cherishing a similar policy, would adopt measures effectual for the accomplishment of an object so interesting & important to both nations.

The prompt measure taken, at your instance, by the Commanders in Chief of His Britannic Majestys Land and naval Forces in Canada and on the Lakes, to prevent the occurrence of similar acts with those which I had the honor to represent to you, in my letter of August 14 will, it is confidently presumed, produce the salutary effect intended by them.

The President has received with much satisfaction the information that H. R. H. the Prince Regent had given orders to the British officers, commanding in North America, to the effect stated in Your letter, and I am instructed to assure you, for the information of Your Government, that corresponding orders have been given, & will be repeated & enforced, on the part of this Government.

MR. BAGOT TO SIR JOHN SHERBROOKE ( Relations with United States )

Washington Dec: 5. 1816

Sir

I had the honour to receive on the 8th ulto: Your Excellency's Letter of the 24th of October, enclosing to me a copy of the affidavit of Major Barwick, and other papers, relative to the proceedings in the straits of Detroit, in respect to the American Brig Union, into which I requested, in my letter of the 14th of August, that Your Excellency would direct an enquiry to be made.

I had previously received from Capt. Baumgardt a full account of the circumstances under which the Brig in question had been visited and altho' I had reason to think from his representations, that the aggravating circumstance of a piece of artillery having been brought down to the beach from Fort Malden in support of the boarding officer, was altogether without foundation, it was highly satisfactory to me to receive the formal denial of this circumstance, which is given by the affidavit of Major Barwick. Soon after I had received Your Excellency's I received a dispatch from Lord Castlereagh, acquainting me that a complaint had been made, by the American Minister in London of some similar proceeding upon Lake Erie; and instructing me to inform the American Government, that, in consequence of Mr. Adams's representations, and of the sincere wish entertained by His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, to see undisturbed the existing relations of friendship between the two countries, His Royal Highness had felt it necessary to command, that positive instructions should be sent to the officers, commanding on the North American stations, not only to discourage by every means in their power such proceedings in future, but to pursue in all their communications with the American Authorities, and people, such a line of conduct, as would at once show the amicable disposition of His Royal Highness, as well as his determination to fulfil, in the strictest manner, all his engagements, I was directed to communicate the sentiments of His Royal Highness upon this point in the most impressive tone to Mr. Monroe, and to express to him at the same time, the firm hope, entertained by His Royal Highness, that measures no less reciprocal would be immediately adopted, by the American Government, for the salutary purpose of accomplishing an object so manifestly beneficial to the two nations.

Library of Congress

I have the honor to enclose to your Excellency a copy of the letter which, in obedience to those instructions, I have addressed to Mr. Monroe, together with a copy of his answer.

The assurance which I have given to Mr. Monroe cannot fail to be satisfactory to the American Government, but in furnishing to him this new and convincing proof of the sincere and anxious desire of the British Government to preserve, uninterrupted, the amicable relations which subsist between the respective nations, I have thought it my duty, as an additional means of accomplishing this desirable object, to avail myself of the papers transmitted in your Excellency's letter of the 24th of October, for the purpose of calling his attention to the exaggerated nature of the representations which have been frequently made upon subjects of this sort, and to the unfriendly temper of public sentiment in particular quarters, by which they appear to have been dictated.

The American Government must now be well aware, that all possible means have been taken to remove any just ground of complaint, and I hope that, by having adverted to this point, I shall have induced them, to receive in future, with great Caution, any unfavorable representations of the Conduct of His Majesty's officers, which are not fully and completely attested.

I have the honor to be Sir Your Excellency's Most obedient humble Servant Charles Bagot .

MR. TODD TO GEN. HAIDIN ( Relations with United States )

Lexington January 12, 1817

Dear Sir,

Library of Congress

I was in Frankfort a few days since, and there met with a Kentucky Volunteer who belonged to Captain Brassfield's Company, of Col Lewis' Regiment, and who had been taken prisoner at Raison on the 22nd of Jany. 1813. He had been carried by the Indians to Lake Huron, from thence to Quebec, and back again to the Lake, from which he, but a few days before I saw him, had made his escape. He left 4 or 5 prisoners (taken at Raisin) among the Indians of Lake Huron, and at Quebec had a short conversation with Thomas Tant commonly called Vance or Vant, a drummer belonging to the late Captain Hait's Company, who was there hired out by his Indian Master to the British as a musician, and who told my informant, that his prospects of escape from captivity were gloomy.— As you were on the Campaign when Tant was taken I have no doubt of your recollecting him and I am persuaded you will interest yourself in obtaining his release — My informant I believe is entitled to entire credit. He is a man of honor, and his family connections are all respectable. I enlisted this boy in Captain Hait's Company, and my feelings are now enlisted in his favor. He was a good soldier, and I hope you will do what you can to induce the Government to act promptly in endeavoring to restore him to his family and his friends.

Be pleased to show this letter to General Desha and the rest of our delegation. I have little personal acquaintance with him, but their characters and situation authorize me in the belief that they will lend a hand to relieve an unfortunate soldier from captivity and distress.

LIEUT. COL. MAULE TO SECRETARY ADDISON ( Barracks )

Drummond Island January 19, 1817.

Sir

Owing to the necessity of employing civilian workmen instead of military, the Engineer officer considers the approved Estimate for finishing a wharf at this post, very insufficient. I have therefore directed him to forward another to the chief engineer and at present to defer commencing upon the work, as probably His Excellency the Commander of the Forces may not, under the peculiar circumstances of this Post, think fit to authorize any encreased expense upon a work which may very well be delayed a short time without material inconvenience.

I beg to inform you there is not a single Barrack chair serviceable at Drummond Island as I conceive the packing & transport of such bulky articles from Kingston will probably exceed their original cost, and as chairs sufficiently good can be obtained here at a cost not exceeding five dollars each. I request His Excellency's authority for directing a purchase to be made of twenty Barrack chairs.

I have the honor to forward a statement of disbursements at this Post for two months ending 24th Dec. 1816.

Library of Congress

Sir

I have the honor to inform you that on the 3rd Ultimo I arrived in an American vessel at this post, having from the unexpected detention of the Kings ships been disappointed of an earlier return.—

559

The repairs of the Government Buildings were at the time of my arrival nearly completed, but the expense attending them, has far exceeded the sum stated in my estimate.—

This excess is not to be attributed to any inaccuracy of computation but to an unforeseen change of circumstances, occasioned by a relief of the Garrison, the relieving company not having a single carpenter or mason to lessen the line of Civilians.—An exact statement of the expenditure which I now transmit, will enable you to form a more accurate judgment. In it you will perceive the chief additional expense has arisen from the employment of a master carpenter and of a noncommissioned officer as overseer clerk, and store keeper—

These situations were indispensable, and omitted in the estimate merely from the supposition, that persons properly qualified to hold them, would be sent from Lower Canada—

The removal of the heavy Timber was until within the last few days impracticable, without greatly endangering the oxen, every exertion is now making to transport it to the Site of the Block house and the building itself will be this day commenced, though from the severity of the weather season a rapid progress cannot be expected until Spring.—

The plan of the Block house will, I hope, meet with your approbation, when finished with Brick, as expressed in the Geometrical elevation, It will become a formidable work, this however requires the sanction of the Commander of the Forces.— perhaps indeed the General plan may be deemed too expensive, in which case, immediate information should be given, that the necessary change may be made, before the work has advanced too far to admit of alteration.—That the Estimate before transmitted cannot cover the expense is evident from several reasons, but now particularly on account of the removal of the Timber, and total want of military artificers.—

By the next opportunity I shall transmit the quarterly return of Stores &c, and an Estimate for the reform of the Military Blockhouse.—

I have &c J. E. Portlock (Signed) Lieut Royal Engineer—

LIEUT. COL. MAULE TO SECRETARY ADDISON ( Indians )

Drummond Island January 20, 1817.

Sir

Before the arrival of the principal tribes of Indians, who may be expected here the latter end of May, I am anxious to learn the answer, to be given to the remonstrances, which they urged last Spring in Council, against the conduct and encroachments of the American government.

I shall not fail to communicate the substance of the Letter, you did me the honor of forwarding on the 15th July 1816, but as Lieut. Colonel McDonal and the Superintendant promised to buy the compliance of the Indians before His Excellency the Commander of the Forces and make known His answer, and as the Indians are aware that in 1815 the subject of their remonstrances was reported to the British Minister at Washington and to His Majesty's Government. I fear nothing short of a decided and pointed answer to their several representations will give any satisfaction.

Library of Congress

I am sorry I cannot report much progress made in the building the Block House ordered by Lt. Colonel Dumford, the want of carpenters is the great difficulty. I fear there is little prospect of its being useful even in appearance, should it be wanted.

I have the honor to be Sir Your obedient Servant J. Maule Lt. Colonel.

LIEUT. COL. MAULE TO MAJ. GEN. WILSON ( Military Posts )

Drummond Island 20th January 1817.

Sir

I am extremely sorry to learn the Commissariat Establishment between York and Nottawasaga are broken up, and that this Post is Consequently 561 to look to Amherstburg for a supply of Provisions &c. &c. a plan which I believe will tend to great delay and encreased expence.—

During last Summer about twenty vessels arrived here with articles for the use of this Post, Sixteen or Seventeen from Nottawasaga—the remainder from Amherstburg, a Vessel between this and Nottawasaga usually made four trips which (while) one trip was made between this and Amherstburg, and as I do not apprehend the Supplies required here this year will be less than those required last year, a great increase of Shipping must Necessarily be employed to deliver the same quantity of Articles.—

I am sorry to report not a Single article under the indulgence of Barrel Bulk has arrived here. This is a serious inconvenience to officers who are grateful for your kindness were expecting advantages to result from it. They are now after having expended their little all in making purchases at Montreal obliged to Submit to the extravagant prices on this Island.

I have likewise the honor to report purveyors Stores for the use of the Hospital which were shipped at Kingston in May last as I am informed, are not yet come to hand. Are the Barrack Stores which were required last year arrived the nonarrival of Candles has obliged us to purchase for Government many pounds at the monstrous price of One Dollar per pound.—1

1 Candles usually weighed six to the pound; the price named is excessive.

It gives me great pleasure to be able to inform you of the general good State of health of the Troops here, the Vegetables raised here no doubt have tended to preserve us from Scurvey, from which the Garrison Suffered here so Severely last winter. We live almost entirely on salt provisions, ten Bullocks only have ever been sent alive to this post, as our vegetables will be expended at no very distant period and as the health and Comfort of the Troops are great objects, I most earnestly request you will have the goodness to order the Commissary at Amherstburg to send us regularly a supply of Live Stock, Bullocks and Sheep, and particularly some by the first opportunity on the opening of the Navigation, we have abundant means of feeding them without any expence to Government. I am anxious to have a supply of Fresh provisions on the Score of keeping the Troops satisfied as well as healthy.

The American Troops our neighbors at Michilimackinack live almost entirely on Fresh provisions, and it is evident by equal exertions on 71 562 the part of our Commissariat, the same Comfort may be extended to us.—

GEN. HAIDIN TO SECRETARY OF WAR (Relations with United States)

Extract of a letter from Genl M.D. Haidin a Senator of the United States, dated, January 21, 1817.

“I had the honor to address you a letter a few days ago, stating, that I had received information that one of the Kentucky Volunteers, taken prisoner at the River Raisin on the 22d of January 1813, had just returned to his friends, and had given information that others taken on that day were still living and in captivity, and suggesting the measures which I thought ought to be taken by the Department to relieve those unfortunate men.

Since then, I have received additional information. The Volunteer who has thus returned is Joseph Fandree of Captn Brassfield's (afterwards Captain Kelly's Company) of the 5th Regiment of the Kentcky Volunteer Militia Commanded by Lieut Col. William Lewis—Fandree is a resident of Clarke County—He is stated to be a man of respectable standing —

I am this morning informed by a letter from Captn Levi L. Todd of Lexington that Fandree states that he left Thomas Tant, who was the drum major of that regiment at Quebec, hired by his Indian Master to the British as a musician, and that Tant said he had but little hope of escape—I enclosed to you Captain Todd's letter. He is a man of unquestionable standing—I knew Tant well, he was a lad of about 15 years old a favorite in the army. I heard during the war from different sources that he was living.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE January 28th 1817

Sir,

I have the honor to transmit to you the herewith copies of letters, recently communicated to this Department, by which it appears that Joseph Fandree, who belonged to the detachment of American troops which surrendered to General Proctor at the River Raisin, on the 22d January 1813, was carried into captivity by the Indians residing on Lake Huron; that he has only recently made his escape from them; that he left among them four or five Americans who were captured at the same time; & particularly that he saw at Quebec, in the possession of an Indian, an American prisoner, by the name of Thomas Tant, who was also captured at the River Raisin, whom he represents to have been hired out by his Indian master as a musician.

I feel it my duty to call your attention to these circumstances, & to request that you will have the goodness to interpose your good offices, with the local authorities to procure the release of these unfortunate men & of such other of our Soldiers or Citizens as may be similarly situated.

Independently of every other consideration, I am well convinced that motives of humanity will prompt you to do everything in your power to promote this object, particularly when you learn that there are many families in Kentucky in doubt whether their Relatives who were captured at the River Raisin have been killed by the Indians or remain in captivity.

Sir

I have the honour to transmit to your Excellency the copy of a note which I have received from the Secretary of the Department of State, requesting that I will interfere to procure the release of certain American Prisoners who surrendered to General Proctor at the river Raisin on the 22d of January 1813, and who are said to be still held in captivity by the Indians residing upon Lake Huron.

One of these prisoners, of the name of Thomas Tant, is stated to have been recently in the possession of an Indian at Quebec. by whom he was occasionally let out on hire as a musician.

I have to request that your Excellency will have the goodness to make an early inquiry into the circumstances stated in Mr. Monroe's note, and that, in the event of its appearing that these or any other American Prisoners are still forcibly detained by the Indians, your Excellency will endeavour to procure their release.

MR. ROBINSON TO SECRETARY ADDISON ( Commissariat )

Commissary General's Office Quebec 3d March 1817.

Sir ,

I have had the honor to receive your letter of the 1st Inst requesting my opinion as to the practicability of supplying the Post of Drummond's Island, on the opening of the navigation, with live stock, and in reply I have to state for the information of the Commander of the Forces that it will not be very difficult to forward a few head of cattle from Amherstburg provided the navy will afford their assistance or the Commissariat be authorized to freight vessels for the purpose.—I took upon myself last year in consequence of a representation I received of the sickly state of the Troops to order live cattle to be sent to Drummond's

Library of Congress

Island from Amherstburg, which was the first instance of the kind, and this step was subsequently approved at Head Quarters: a greater number would have been forwarded by Dy. Asst. Commy. Genl. Reynolds if he could have received the requisite assistance from the Navy for which he applied in vain; therefore I do not think the Commissariat merits the implied answer in the concluding part of Lieut. Colonel Maule's letter.

The question now is simply whether the expense is to be incurred & I shall wait His Excellency's orders thereon, at the same time I beg leave to recommend the measure as condusive to the health of the Troops.

In respect to the American Troops at Michilimackinac being regularly supplied with fresh provisions it must be recollected they are at home and more advantageously situated with regard to those Commissariat Establishments being broken up which Lt. Colonel Maule seemed to regret I beg to refer His Excellency to the report of the Committee of Transport, but if these additional Posts are to be established merely to supply the Garrison of Drummond's Island I cannot conceive that economy will be produced.

Before the late war the Post on Lake Huron (St. Joseph's Island) was little or no expense; at present from the Naval Establishment & other causes the amount of Transport alone is enormous, and this is one of the many instances to be adduced for the Public Expenditure in the Canadas, exceeding all former example.

The loss of the stores is deeply to be regretted but it was occasioned by circumstances beyond my control and on this subject I beg leave to 72 570 refer His Excellency to my communications on the 25th January & 1st February 1817—

I have the honor to be Sir Your most obedient humble servant W. H. Robinson Comy. Genl.

MAJOR HENDERSON TO LIEUT. PORTLOCK ( Ordnance and Engineer )

Royal Engineer Office Quebec 1st March 1817

Sir ,

I have received instructions to convey to you the desire of the Commander of the Forces that you will not proceed with the Block House on the plan forwarded in your letter of 19th of January but that instead of it, you will cause to be erected some log building or other work calculated for a defence against the Indians, the expense of which shall not exceed £300.—

His Excellency is desirous that the Strictest economy should be observed in respect to Drummond's Island, and that no expense should be incurred which can possibly be dispensed with until it shall have been decided by the Commissioners whether that Island is to be considered as British or American property—

Under present circumstances it is therefore desirable that only such temporary works of defence as are indispensibly necessary for the security of the Stores should be constructed, and I am of opinion that a small Stockaded Field work or loopholed log Barrack would answer every purpose without exposing the British Government to the risk of giving up buildings and works of expensive construction, should the question at issue be decided in favor of America.

The reasons above stated will have equal Weight in respect to the foundation of road, recommended in your letter of 19th January.

The Commander of the Forces approves of your proceeding (without waiting for further approval) in the work of defence above alluded to limiting however the expense to £300. but he desires that you will forward to this office with as little delay as possible a plan and Estimate of the works which you propose to construct.—

I have made out a Supplementary Estimate for completing the repairs of Government Buildings at Drummond's Island, a copy of which is herewith enclosed.—

Sir ,

Having received the Warrant of the Commander of the Forces, to issue Command Money to the officer at Drummond's Island, at the rate of 7½ per day, I request of you to lay before His Excellency the List No 2 accompanying the Prince Regents Warrant dated 15 May 1815, in which no such Post is mentioned.

I have indeed understood, that Drummonds Island has been Substituted for St Joseph, but the rate of pay authorized for the latter Post was only 4s 9d per day, It therefore appears to me, that the Warrant in question is not such as I am authorized by my Instructions to pay, and I beg of you to submit the subject to His Excellency's further consideration.

My Dear Sir ,

Your esteemed favor I recd the 2d Inst. and have to return you my sincere and grateful thanks for the Interest taken in my behalf on various occasions, and more particularly for the trouble taken to promote my recent appointment, and I have to assure you that my feelings are more that I can express.

I am also greatly indebted to His Excellency Govr. Gore for his Father like conduct, without his interference & your own, my ruin would have been inevitable.

Library of Congress

As I propose going to Amherstburg at the opening of the navigation (provided it meet your approbation) It will be necessary to have a person appointed Collector of the Customs, therefore will consider it a favor, if you would get some deserving person about York nominated, in order, that he may be here, by the first vessel, for I have reason to believe that the Revenue on imports will increase much at this place. I intended at one time to have recommended Mr. Wm. Simpson of this place, to fill that situation (he being adequate to the task) but I'm told he has other views & intends removing.

In conformity to a Garrison Order of the Inst. I am permitted to draw my allowances but the commanding officer will not sanction my 574 receiving any Pay, stating for his reasons that my appointment is for Amherstburg & that he isnt authorized to approve payments to any except those appointed to this Post. I endeavored to make him sensible of his error by referring him to the Genl. Order of the 28th Dec. last but in vain, my arguments could not prevail, I therefore thought it best to drop the matter, for the delay of my pay from ye 25th Oct. last is not of any magnitude i pleasing thought of getting rid of a place where I have experienced from time to time unpleasant treatment from Comg. officers.<sup>1</sup> Last Autumn I purchased a very handsome Canoe for you, but unfortunately it shared the same fate of many others that of being blown to pieces in a storm. At the opening of the navigation I believe that the Old Fisher will bring me one, which is very neat, I was bargaining for it, some time previous to getting yours made.

Will you have the goodness to let me know by the return of the Courier, If I can go down to my station (when I find a convenient opportunity) Mrs Askin joins in best wishes to Mrs Claus and believe me to be March 13th 1817. Drummond Island .

Sir,

I am sorry to inform you a great scarcity of provisions prevails in this settlement, so great that it will be absolutely necessary to resort to the Kings stores to prevent absolute Famine. I cannot exactly say to what extent assistance may be requisite, but I imagine it will be 575 chiefly confined to the Civil Artificers employed on the Government Works and others who have been in the habit of receiving Rations, and who now being unexpectedly deprived of them and unable to procure them at any rate, until the opening of the Navigation, will be greatly at a loss. The fishing here which is usually very productive has very much failed this winter, this has been a serious inconvenience to all on the Island, and has reduced the Indians about us, to a state of great wretchedness, had not provisions occasionally been issued to them, many must have perished of famine.

The Government works go on slowly, nothing further than the foundation of the Block House is yet to be seen, tho' much of the work, such as cutting and squaring timber is already done.

I have the honor to enclose an account for Command money for your approval on its way to Quebec.

Your obedient H servant.

LIEUT. COL. MAULE TO SECRETARY ADDISON ( Barracks )

March 15th 1817. Drummond Island

Sir ,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your Letters of the 20th September & 29th of October 1816.

The General Order of the 2nd November last arrived here a few days ago, it will be acted upon on the 25th of this month—From that time I do not apprehend I should be justified in authorizing the issue of Rations to the civil artificers employed in the Government Works, as has hitherto been the usual practice at this Post, an increase of pay equal to the value of the Ration will of course be necessary.

I am sorry to inform you a great scarcity exists in the settlement, provisions are not to be purchased at any rate & I fear from the representations which have been made to me I shall be compelled to prevent an absolute state of famine, to take upon myself to authorize 576 the Commissariat to issue as a loan provisions to some of the poorer Inhabitants. This indulgence which necessity alone will compel me to resort to, will be required chiefly by the civil artificers, employed in Government works & others who have hitherto been in the habits of receiving Rations, and who now being unexpectedly deprived of them, and unable to purchase any thing, till the opening of the navigation will be put to serious inconvenience. The fishery here has been so unproductive this Winter, that the settlers have all suffered much disappointment and the Indians have been reduced to a great state of wretchedness; had not timely assistance been afforded many must have perished by want—

Library of Congress

I have directed the Engineer Officer to forward an estimate for repairs &c indispensably necessary. I have directed it to be forwarded thus early, in hopes, that if approved the work may go on & be completed during the summer. It has so happened almost all the Buildings here have been erected & repaired during winter & so many repairs being required may be, in some measure attributed to that circumstance—The Estimates are made out under an idea of employing civilians at a high rate, the present garrison does not furnish a single artificer. I very much approve of the suggestions, contained in the letter referring to the estimates from Lt. Portlock to the chief engineer, I consider them Judicious and tending eventually to promote economy—In my letter of the 19th January I believe I much over rated the price of chairs wanted for the Post. They will probably be got much lower than five dollars.

Drummond Island . 12th May 1817.

Dear Sir

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your favors of the 1st March & 5th April last & should have answered them long ere this had an opportunity offered. The Schooner Govr. Gore did not make any stay but merely sent her boat ashore & put off before I could write. By this opportunity I send Mr. McDonall my reasons "why the Peltries delivered in Council were not taken notice of in my store accounts" I also was called upon by Mr. Anderson for a like explanation which I delivered some time past. In my report to Mr. McDonall I have stated the grounds on which the Flags and Medals were delivered to Earl Selkirk also some few articles that were delivered to Lt. Hugh 73 578 Clapperton Comdg His M Schooner Surprise for procuring pilots on a tour of discovery. But am sorry to say that I have committed myself in giving out those things, without a positive order from the commanding officer; your order of the 1st Oct 1807 did not occur to me at the time, or I would have protested against those Issues. The articles delivered Lt. Clapperton were issued at the time I was cloathing 379 Indian men women & children & goods he, Lt. Clapperton got were included in the genl requisition of the 16th of July 1816 I am sensible of my error and as it was an involuntary act, hope it may be overlooked, as I am well assured the stores delivered for procuring pilots, were given actually to the Indians employed in piloting the Schooner through various channels between La Cloche & Notawasaga; Several Indians informed me, that they had been employed & were paid by the Commander. As to the Flags & medals to the Earl of Selkirk he the Earl, stated when here last Summer, that he would have occasion to see several Tribes of Indians who werent in the habit of visiting His Majesty's Posts & wished to get some Flags & medals to distribute in His Majesty's name," my answer was that the Stkr. had no authority of that kind. On which he applied to Supt. McKay in writing & I was directed by the Supt. to make out a requisition for them which he signed, the coming officer approved. I must confess that I was not aware of the consequence at the time or should not have done it.

The Ottawas are not as yet arrived, when they come to this, I will do my endeavors to get a suitable canoe as you wish, and in the event of my going down before they make their appearance I will leave instructions to forward the one I bespoke.

I return thanks for your goodness, in having sent me the order to repair to Amherstburg which I shall do, as soon as an opportunity offers, for you must know that we have not had any arrivals yet, from Sandwich or Amherstburg. As soon as I get to Amherstburg & make some arrangement for lodgings &c I intend to apply to you for leave of absence to pay you a visit, I am very anxious to return, in person my grateful acknowledgment for the numerous obligations & services rendered me which I am afraid shall never be able to repay you had I been able to make sufficient arrangement to send Mrs. Askin & some articles which I cannot dispose of down without my being obliged to attend to in person, I would have gone via Notawas1z1zbu- in the present 579 case I should have suffered much—Mrs Askin joins me in sincere wishes for Mrs Claus & all the family's health and Happiness & am

Sir

On receipt of your letter I immediately dismissed the workmen employed on the Block House and put a stop to its further progress—

In the reports which I have from time to time transmitted you will observe the quantity and nature of the work done, the expense amounts to nearly £290.

Whether His Excellency authorises £300 to be expended exclusive of any sums laid out on the Block House or not, is to be doubtful, in either case I consider the foundation of other works as useless, an opinion which I should hesitate to give were it not strengthened by that of the Commanding Officer. If by any temporary works even a small portion of security could be given to the Public Stores as they now stand, expense would not be thrown away in attaining so desirable an object, but that is impracticable the present situation renders a total removal of the first step towards safety.—

Resting the necessity of defences on the danger to be apprehended from Indians I feel assured that it is too imaginary to call for any so expensive a precaution, and were it even more real, surely £300 (more than sufficient) would be better applied in finishing the Block house than in the construction of other defences which from the nature of the place could be of little use— That so much has been done is now a subject of regret, but the labour is by no means lost, whenever it be determined to furnish a respectable post either here or elsewhere, with the same ease that the timber was drawn to the ground can the Block House be removed and raised at the desired spot forming at once a strong point of defence and a depository for anything most deserving of protection.—

Sir

Lieut. Colonel Coltman and Mr. Shaw are both arrived here, and by them I have had the honor of receiving your Letters of the 4th and 15th Inst. Lieut Col. Coltman has required a Party of, one Subaltern (Lieut Moir) one Sergeant & twelve Rank & File, 37th Regt, the assistance of Mr. Johnstone of the Indian Department as Interpreter, and the loan of a large Boat, with this requisition I have complied. The Party carries four months provisions, and is supplied with Field Equipage Ammunition &c. Lieut Moir receives from me instructions as detailed as circumstances admit, but as many have arisen not contemplated in your Letters, & as others may arise, he is desired to follow on all occasions the direction of the Commissioners. I hear Lord Selkirk left Fort William for the Red River on the second day of this month & that Serjeant Pugh & Party accompanied his Lordship.

As from your Letters I conceive it to be His Excellency's wish to detach from Lord Selkirk as soon as possible the Party granted for the protection of his Lordship's Person,<sup>1</sup> I have requested Lt. Col. Coltman on his arrival at Fort William to point out to Lieut Moir the most eligible means of accomplishing that object. I have not failed to deliver to Lieut Moir copies of all orders I have received relating to Serjeant Pugh, and according to your desire have reported the substance of these orders in one from myself. I have the honor to enclose a copy of a Letter I received this morning from Serjeant Pugh.

Sir

I have had the honor of receiving your communication dated loth March.

With respect to its contents, I have not the least doubt in my mind, that the representation made to His Excellency the Commander of the Forces is entirely founded upon groundless misrepresentations made by some malicious persons to the American Government.

In a Council held on the 26th ultimo by Lieut Colonel Maule, in which several of the principle Ottaway Chiefs were present, after having communicated to them the contents of your letter, they denied the knowledge of any Prisoners being forcibly detained, or otherwise , by their Tribe, nor did they know of any of our Prisoners being in the possession of any of the neighboring Tribes—Lieut Colonel Coltman having made application for me to accompany him on his mission, I have nor the least doubt but that Mr. Anderson, store keeper will do his utmost endeavors to find out whether there are any prisoners still forcibly detained by the different Tribes.

Drummond Island June 24 1817.

Sir

An Error existing in the enclosed pay lists which have already passed through the Office of D. C. G. of accounts I have the honor to return them, and forward another Set for the period unpaid.

Mr. Thompson will perceive, he has deducted a stun from the account returned, which is not inserted in it, namely from the 25th of August to the 24th of October at 10 shillings a day, whereas for part of that period ½ a day only has been charged this of course leaves an erroneous balance of £27—19 instead of £30—10.

The mistake has originated, from the accounts having been made out, under an idea the rate of pay was changed on the date of the gt order, whereas it was not changed till the 25th of October, and afterwards from Mr. Thompson having deducted as tho' the account had been made out & charged at 10s to the 24th October.

I have the honor to be Sir Your obedient Servt. J. Maule .

I have the honor to enclose returns for the pecuniary allowance in lieu of Barrel Bulk for such officers as have not put Government to any expense in transporting Stores from the Lower Province, and who are now under orders to leave the Post.

592

Tho' the General Order granting Barrel Bulk to this Post does away pecuniary allowance given in lieu thereof, I trust you will see the justice of the Claims of such Officers stationed here, whose arrival or removal, renders it impossible for them to avail themselves of the transport offered, as it was, when His Excellency the Commander of the Forces was pleased to grant Barrel Bulk to this Post, evidently the intention to give us in this remote situation a better thing than the pecuniary allowance, not deprive us of an allowance granted at Posts more fortunately situated.

Sir,

I have the honor to inform you all the Indian Tribes who usually visit this Post, with the exception of the Sioux and Winibagoes have paid their annual visit, have received their presents and have returned to their Homes. They were particular in making enquiry what answer had been obtained from England to the representations they made last year, but did not appear, in any way, dissatisfied on hearing a decisive bad not been received. The

Library of Congress

Winibagoes will probably to the number of 400 be here some time next month. Accidental circumstances have detained them in their own country.

The Leading Chief of the Sioux sent a Wampum and informed us he should not be able to visit us this Summer, that he was anxious to see us and had left his Village with part of his Nation for that purpose, but that the Americans would not permit him to visit us, and had obliged him to return.

The Bearer of the Wampum did not fail to make enquiry for the answer to last year's Speech, and was apparently satisfied on receiving the answer given to the other Tribes. I have not omitted making enquiry of the Different Nations, on the Subject of Americans being detained amongst them, and I cannot hear there is a single instance of the sort.

As the Indian Business is really at a close this Season, as I am about to leave this Post, and may not probably have occasion to address you again. I cannot in justice refrain from recommending to the particular notice of His Excellency the Commander of the Forces, the Store Keeper in the Indian Department Mr. Anderson. In the absence of the Superintendant and other officers, he has conducted the whole of the Business of the Department, and notwithstanding the curtailment of Presents, and Provisions to an almost incredible amount, which it has been considered necessary to make, the Indians from the treatment and attention they have received from Mr. Anderson, appear to be most perfectly satisfied.

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your Letter 28th of April.

REPORT ( Commissariat )

Storekeeper General's Office Quebec 25th Sept. 1817

Sir ,

Having in conformity with my Instructions, and with the approbation of the Commander of the Forces visited the several Posts in Upper 595 and Lower Canada, where stores are deposited in charge of this Department I proceeded to lay before you a full report on its effective state, and on all other matters necessary for your information.

I shall take the several posts as they lie in Progress of the Route, between Head Quarters and the most distant parts of Upper Canada Amherstburg

I expect that asst. Sto. General Blackburn has commenced with the transfer to his charge of all stores at this Post, he has with him the James Heathfield Clerk Isidor Hulbron Conductor Jeremiah Fisher Laborer assistance named in the margin, which will be reduced by removing the Conductor before the winter sets in. It is a principal Post for the Indian Stores and requires an officer of zeal and ability and I have every reason to hope that he will fulfill my wishes and instructions which have been explained fully for his guidance.

The Integrity of this Gentleman cannot be doubted, and I hope he will render great assistance in the reformation of abuses which have I fear long existed in this branch of the Service, — so soon as I have the necessary reports from him they shall be transmitted to you as well as that from Drummonds Island.

Library of Congress

To which Station I have sent Mr. Trew with similar instructions to those given to Mr. Blackburn, a more respectable person could not be selected, and I have great faith in his zeal and activity. The duty of these Gentlemen will be similar the Receipt and Issue of Indian Stores will be the principal part of their Duty and by their activity and a faithful adherence to the directions I have endeavoured to impress strongly upon their minds, I shall I trust with the assistance and advice of the Commander of the Forces, establish an important and economical change of system in this Branch of the Service.

At both these Posts however there are stores of various descriptions, they will of course be taken charge of and every duty required of this Department at other stations will of course be performed here. John Patton Clerk Willm. Ferghan Laborer Mr. Trew has been furnished with the assistance named in the margin, and I have reduced the establishment of an important Post to place a Clerk with him, at such a distance from Head quarters I think extremely desirable, as in case of sickness or death, the duty of the Department might be neglected for six months or more before I could get another person to 596 the Station, and such inconveniences cannot, occur at the nearer Posts where there is always a larger Establishment and where if pressed with business it is only necessary to extend the office hours.

Indian Stores.

The greater part of the Issues for this year have been made and there is yet a great supply in store, probably the demands have been greatly diminished by the change of system, and I am convinced this will lead to a great saving. No issues whatever are made but on the approval of the Commander of the Forces and it is extremely probable that the Requisitions will in consequence be made on a much less scale than heretofore and the Officer in charge of the Indian Stores will do his utmost to point out to Sir John Johnson and all other persons connected with the Indian Department such unnecessary demands as may in his opinion be made. The Stores are also issued in detail to the Indians , a circumstance which gives infinite trouble to the Department, but it will for obvious reasons lead to a good result.

I have pointed out to the Officers in charge of these Stores the necessity of their making themselves acquainted with all circumstances regarding them the different classes of the Indians, they supply, their numbers, and the scale upon which the issues are made to them and upon all points necessary for their assistance and guidance in carrying into effect the regularity and improvement so necessary to be established, and to this end His Excellency the Commander of the Forces has been pleased to promise me his advice and assistance at all times when it may be required.

Every article of the Indian Stores in Upper and Lower Canada will & I trust be shortly in charge of the Department and the change of system, thus completely established a measure I have been at several posts compelled to defer, for want of the necessary assistance, this difficulty being now removed, I shall use my best exertions to prove the advantages of the change by carrying it into complete effect

To His Excellency Sir John Coape Sherbrooke. Knight Grand Cross of the Royal Military order of the Bath Governor in Chief in and over all His Majestys Colonies in North America and Lieutenant General Commanding His Majesty's Forces within the Same &c. &c. &c.

The Memorial of Robert Nichol Lieut. Colonel & Quarter Master General of the Militia Forces of Upper Canada.

Most Respectfully Sheweth.

That your Memorialist at the commencement of the late war with the United States of America at the request of the late Major General Brock, relinquished a lucrative merchantile business for the purpose of taking upon himself the arduous & responsible office of Quarter Master General of Militia in which situation he served and, as he believes, with reputation till the close of the war.

That from the nature of the service in Upper Canada. and from the difficulty of procuring intelligent and faithful Guides, together with the very limited staff in the Upper Province, during the two first Campaigns—Your Memorialist was from the necessity of the case, employed on many important and confidential services, purely military, and had at different periods the sole charge of the Quarter Master Generals Department of an entire division of the Army, more particularly on thee expedition against Detroit, on the retreat from Fort George, and on other Services which will be substantiated by the accompanying documents to which your memorialist most respectfully refers.

That Your Memorialist has been repeatedly thanked in General orders and mentioned with commendation in Public dispatches inserted in the London Gazette.

Library of Congress

That your Memorialist from the undivided attention given to his public duties, and from the destruction of his property by the Enemy has been reduced from a state of comparative affluence to great Straights.

Wherefore Your memorialist most respectfully solicits Your Excellency's Consideration of His Military Services with the King's Troops, and great losses and Sacrifices during the War—to recommend him to the consideration of His Majesty's Government for some Military allowance to enable him to support his family and Your memorialist as in duty bound will ever pray.

COL. COLTMAN TO SECRETARY ADDISON ( Indians )

Quebec 15th Dec. 1817

Dear Sir

I reply to your note of yesterday requiring information respecting the inclosed application of Lieutenant Austin for an allowance for bateau service to himself 2 Serjeants & 38 men of the 70th Regiment who proceeded from Drummonds Island to the Indian Territories; I have the honor to state that the said detachment proceeding under the orders of the Commissioned and Non Commissioned officers aforesaid actually performed the duty of [ illegible ] the bateaux required to convey them across Lake Superior with the assistance of five or six experienced boatmen distributed through the whole brigade to the material diminution to the expense of their transport and that the proportion of the same detachment which proceeded into the interior from Fort William performed similar duty by working with the paddle in Canoes.

It having been stated to me by some of the Northwest Partners, who had been frequently employed during the last war in aiding the transport of Troops in the upper Lakes, that there was a regular and established allowance made to the military for such service & the idea appearing to be confirmed by the different officers I spoke to on the Subject, including the Commandant at Drummond's island, I felt no hesitation in giving the certificate of the service performed; & beyond Fort William it certainly was a severe duty & the extra pay would do little more than reimburse the troops the loss by wear & tear of their necessaries.

I think it right to add that to the men of the 37th Regiment, I authorised the north west Company actually to pay what they stated to be the usual bateau money 1s 6d a day, as far as Fort William, as those men were in the most absolute want of some advances for necessaries & I perceive that by some mistake the private of the 70th Regiment who went down at the same time together with Mr. Austin, was included in this payment. The men of the 37th Regiment had been for more than two months deprived of their rations of flour & Rum.

rendered a mere Shere hulk, an only child a daughter, tho' very dutiful the only solace remaining to me, but who could in no wise be assisting to my necessities, but by tender and affectionate sympathy, but the heart of a soldier tho' ever so old can bear all but family distress. I therefore quit this subject abruptly.—

Your Excellencys Memorialist begs leave to state in as condensed and summary way as he can the affairs he has been engaged in with the names of the brave commanders under which he had the honor to serve.

The foregoing narrative shows the early part of my life passing over everything until my arrival in Canada in the year 1768. Being sent by command of his Excellency Sir Henry Hamilton Lieut. Governor of Detroit having had the good fortune to be successful going into the Rebel Country I fell in with a Rebel Scout four hundred miles from our frontiers, they got into a strong Block house which I attacked and carried, taking 1 Col. 3 Cpts. & 3 Lieutenants. The name of the place is Loyal Hannah in Pennsylvania, Col. Campbell was the Rebel Col. whom with his party I brought safe into Detroit where His Excellency Sir Henry Hamilton sent me down with tim above prisoners to Governor Guy, Lord Dorchester when he honored me with a Lieutenancy in His Majesty's corps of Rangers Commanded by Lieut Col. John Buttler and altho' I did the duty in said Corps of Adjutant and Lieut. (the former without pay) and also disciplined the 607 said Corps both with cannon and with small arms. Having also the honor to be on every excursion of any consequence on the frontiers—was so notoriously known by them that $500 was offered for my head, dead or alive by the Rebel General Buttler. I served under the Command of Sir John Johnston, on the attack of Schoharry (Schoharie N. Y.) and the German flats, also I served under Major Ross at the Battle of Johnstown and at Canada Creek under the Command of Col. John Buttler. At Weyoming & Cherry Valley at Licking on the Ohio at Brins Station 1200 miles below Fort Pitt, also on Sandusky, where we cleared the Frontiers. The Rebel General Sullivan came upon us at The Genesee River with 18,0001 men but we obliged him to retreat with the loss of half his men; The merits of the Corps called the Rangers is pretty well known Their Character may be thus summed up. They were Britons and the descendants of Britons embodied and trained to arms, determined to transmit to posterity the rights that are dear to man or nobly perish in defence of our King, and God who never forsakes his people brought us through many dangers and trials and hitherto your Excellencys humble Servant is spared.

The humble petition and prayer of your Excellency's petitioner is that in consequence of the Services, the wounds, and especially the recent losses (may I call it to me serious pecuneary loss of the destruction) of my House containing my all amounting in all to at least Two thousand pounds Currency in money and valuables, not one penny of loss was ever by me claimed from the Government as losses.—

That your Excellency may be pleased to take my case into consideration and represent it to his Royal Highness the Prince Regent or otherwise consider your petitioner and he will as in duty bound ever pray.—

FROM LIEUT. PORTLOCK ( Ordnance and Engineer )

Extract of a letter from Lieutenant Portlock Royal Engineer dated Drummond's Island January 13th 1818 to Lieut. Col. Dumford Commanding R. Eng.

“You will observe that all the works Estimated for (except a thorough repair of Quarter No 3) have been carried into effect, and that the absence of Military Sawyers has alone caused any part of the work to remain unfinished—the money appropriated to that part is however unexpended and in another season (should the number of artificers be increased) it can be supplied as specified in the Estimate.

To my letter respecting the block House I have as yet received no answer, in it I have explained that no temporary work can be erected capable of affording security to the stores (in their present situation) from the suddenness of an Indian attack;—the lowness of their site, and the neighborhood of Commanding Heights under even the common precaution of Stockading useless.

The Block House itself which would have afforded safety to the men will ere long by the decay of the materials be lost; I beg leave therefore to request, that the sum of £300 warranted by His Excellency be again allowed, together with some little discretionary Judgmt and I have no doubt of being able to form a respectable place of security which prudence demands. It is however to be remarked, that the present number of artificers must be considerably augmented, as the hire of civilians would require infinitely more than the sum I have stated, and the probability of danger is not sufficiently great to warrant such increase. Were a body of Artificers selected and placed under my direction, much good could be done exclusive of defence. The roads and streets might at the expense of the inhabitants be improved, an object of consequence both to them and Government which can never be attained without such assistance."

Dear Sir

I was honored with your letter of the 16th ultimo, which I should have had the honor of acknowledging at an earlier date, but have only this day finally settled with the North west Company to undertake the payment of the batteaux allowances to Lieut Austin & party & to include the same in their general account with Government; the payment may not however be practicable at Drummond's island till the opening of navigation.

I have the honor to inclose returns the inclosures in your letter agreeable to your desire as also to inclose a letter from Serjeant Pugh of the 37th Regiment to myself; as the men of that regiment performed the same duty as those of the 70th Regiment, I presume they will be entitled to the same allowance as far as Drummond's island, although it was not in fact promised them by me further than Fort William. The Serjeant himself coming down under arrest could of course be entitled to nothing and I have accordingly struck the former payment out of the North west account with the public & directed them not to pay the present claim as far as relates to himself & I shall write to Serjeant Pugh in conformity hereto, if I do not receive instructions from you to the contrary in the course of a few days.

I have the honor to remain very respectfully Sir Your obt. humble Servt W. B. Coltman .

As some misconception has arisen as to the terms, it may be necessary to Explain that the warrant in question has reference to all kinds of Spirits, whether produced from Grain, the Cane, or other Substances, and only can allude to what is easiest procured, giving Rum at all therefore at so remote a Post as Drummonds Island ought to be considered as an indulgence, as other Spirits might probably be claimed on more reasonable terms

—It will be therefore necessary to Communicate to that Post, under the Sanction of the Commander of the Forces that 2g is as high a proof as any Spirits are contemplated to be issued to the troops, and that the Rum at Drummond Island must be fully of that Strength —

MAJOR HOWARD TO ASS'T ADJ. GEN. FOSTER ( Military Posts )

Amherstburg , June 18th 1818.

Sir

I beg leave to report, for the information of Major General [???] Schooner Champion Davenport Master Widdington, that the vessel, hired by Mr. Stanton, the Commissariat officer at Fort Erie, for the conveyance of stores to Drummond Island, and in which I embarked for that Post, is stopped by the Collector of the Customs at this Port, he has refused me permission to land, or remove any of my personal baggage from the vessel, which with the stores belonging to the Government are 614 thus improperly detained, and placed in sequestration. I have therefore to solicit the interference of the Major General commanding with the Executive Government with a view to obtaining its Licence or such Authority as he conceives necessary to be forwarded to this Port, for the immediate release of this baggage, and of the stores belonging to the Government.

Having called on the Collector of the Customs for his authority in this Proceeding, I have been furnished with the Copy of a letter addressed to him by Mr. Baby at York, containing an opinion relative to a well known statute, hitherto considered obsolete with regard to its practice in this Colony without fresh enactments by either the British or Colonial Legislatures; but on this opinion those officers have conceived themselves justified in having adopted measures contrary to the usage of many years; which have impeded the Public service, and put an entire spot to the intercourse of the Province.

The injustice of this hasty proceeding is much complained of, and is as apparent as its impolicy.—No notice was given of any intention to seize those vessels: this in which I am embarked was regularly cleared from this Port for Erie but a few days ago by the same Collector who has now detained her on her return; no objection was made to her by the Custom House at Erie where she loaded, and from which she had a regular clearance for Amherstburg on the 8th instant.

It is necessary I am informed that the license should obtain permission either to land those articles at Amherstburg, or to ship them on an American vessel for Drummond Island: the novel interpretation of the Statute adverted to applying to all the British Vessels, on the Lakes, who are to be seized as they arrive in Port, there will be consequently no British Vessels navigating the Upper Lakes until new ones are built. The Lady Prevost engaged to Carry Cattle to Drummond Island has also been stopt here.

It is obvious that the voyage of this Vessel, so far as myself, or the Government stores, are concerned, it is altogether legitimate, and that the abstract question ought not to have subjected me one hour to this vexatious delay to which I earnestly entreat the regard of the Major General.

I have the honor to be &c

Austin and the detachment under him while accompanying the Commissioners to the 616 Indian Territories I beg leave to inform you that this statement must have arisen from some misapprehension since no such arrangement was to my knowledge made and it scarcely could have been made without my knowledge. The north west Company have secured payment from Government for their Boats Canoes and Servants employed in carrying the detachment and also for the supplies furnished them. It appears obvious that any allowance to the officer and men employed is a matter entirely betwixt them and Govt. and in which the North west Company have no concern. I have the honor to enclose herewith copy of a letter from Major Howard dated from Amherstburg, on the 18th Ultimo; whereby Your Honor will perceive that officer, who was proceeding from the Head Quarters of his Regiment, (the 70th) at Fort George, for the express purpose of assuming the Command of the Garrison at Drummond Island, and its Dependencies, on Lake Huron, has been detained on his Route, at Amherstburg, by the Seizure of the Schooner, Champion, at that Post, by the Collector of His Majestys Customs.—

The Schooner, Champion, had been hired by the Commissariat Department on account of Government, for the conveyance of Public Stores, from Fort Erie, to Drummond Island; Major Howard was particularly ordered, by His Excellency, Sir John Sherbrook, for the 617 Command of that Post, the detention of this officer, and those Stores, must, consequently, be extremely inconvenient, and may even prove highly prejudicial to his Majestys Interests.—Allow me, therefore, to request your Honor will adopt such measures, as will ensure the Immediate restoration of His Majestys Property, as well as that of Major Howard, or any other officers at Drummond Island, and that you will take such steps, as will prevent the recurrence of a Similar evil.—

In answer to your letter of the 11th Instant, we have the honor to inform you for the information of his Excellency the Commander of the Forces, that we are of opinion that the seizure and Detention of the schooner Champion at Amherstburg supposing her to be American built was legal under the statute 7th & 8th William 3d, Cl 22 sect; 1 which enacts "that no goods or merchandize whatsoever shall "be imported into or exported out of any Colony or plantation belonging "to his Majesty, or shall be laden in or Carried from any one "Port or place in the said Colonies or plantation to any other Port or "place in the same , in any ship or battom but of the built of England "or Ireland, or of the said Colonies or plantations, under pain of forfeiture "of ship and goods"—

The steps which we should recommend to be taken for the liberation of the stores on board would be to inform the judge before whom the seizure is proscribed, that the goods in question are stores essential for his Majestys service; and to request that he will direct the goods to be liberated upon giving security to await the decision of the Court.

Library of Congress

I have declined to authorize the issue demanded by a requisition which I have the honor to enclose for Major General Widdington's consideration—It is proper I should state for his information that Mrs Mitchell the person sentenced therein is an Indian woman, the wife of Mr Mitchell Surgeon to the Indian Department, she is a very considerable Trader among the Indians, is in opulent circumstances, & has a shop or Store at Michilimackinac in the American Territory & another here. This person has been paid for some years, they inform me, but I cannot find a competent authority for it, if this fifty pounds per annum should be continued to this person, I beg leave to recommend that it be paid by warrant from Head Quarters & no longer in articles of Indian goods at this Post. By that mode the public interests of fifty pounds per annum are I sin assured given away upwards double that amount, another very great inconvenience attends it, the most positive directions have been frequently repeated to prevent the Indians from lining deprived of the articles with which they have been presented by His Majesty's Bounty, and other Individuals are defected with such articles in their possession the ready answer is “I bought this at Mrs Mitchell's” and in this manner the regulations of the Post are frequently evaded. The prices mentioned in the requisition is I am informed the price such articles cost in London.<sup>1</sup>

Dear Sir,

The pressure of more urgent business has hitherto prevented my communicating with you relative to the Indian Stores received at Drummond Island in consequence of your requisition of the 9th June 1817—I now enclose the original inventory transmitted in Your letter of the 14th August last, together with a copy of Mr—Johnston's letter to me on the subject & also a list of the articles returned into store by that officer; with whose responsibility I did not deem it prudent to interfere by taking any charge of the articles, particularly as there was no inventory or receipt for what was left by You at Fort William, to enable me to call for any regular settlement.

I shall of course feel it my duty to transmit to Lt. Col. Addison the Military Secretary the receipt for the stores delivered to Capt. Anderson & if you wish me to forward at the same time any statement relative to the articles disposed of by Lieut Johnston under your orders, or any other point connected with this affair. Drummond Island July 26 1818.

Sir ,

I have the honor to state for the information of Major General Widdington that the Revenue officers having released the vessels 622 detained at Amherstburg I was enabled to reach this post on the 12 instant. A considerable number of Indians of the Ottawa, Chippewa

Library of Congress

& Winebago nations had previously visited and left it much disappointed at not having received their usual annual presents. The Superintendent of Indian affairs and the Store Keeper inform me it was not in their power to issue these presents as the supply which ought some time ago to have arrived has not yet made its appearance. Lt. Col. Mackay informs me that the proper requisitions were regularly transmitted by him for the above purpose to Col. Claus in June 1817.

The Indians are represented to have been unusually vehement in their complaints on this occasion. The Supt. has forwarded to Sir John Johnson & Col. Claus the minutes of a council held here on the 7th Instant. Some of the above named Tribes return in the fall, a considerable number of the Western Nations are also on their way hither. It will be impossible to prevent the expression of much anger by these people if they find after travelling so far they are obliged to return empty handed, disappointment of obtaining articles become necessary to them.

The detachment of troops at this Station is healthy & in good order, the scurvey had begun to show itself among them but is now disappearing. The supply of fresh beef lately arrived will contribute to eradicate it. I am giving every encouragement to gardening & I expect the men will be enabled to raise a sufficient stock of vegetables to prevent a recurrence of it next winter.

Materials for a Block House were some time ago sent here, I find them dispersed about the place & if they are not soon employed the whole will become useless, they cost with the workmanship performed already £290—I have cause to believe the Block House could be finished according to the original plan for the further sum of £300. This work capable of containing about fifty men furnished with some Artillery & constructed on the ridge in rear of the Barracks would give effectual security both to them and the Store Houses—the position has other advantages which of course are well known to the Commanding Royal Engineers. Something appears necessary to be done independent of other considerations for the protection of magazines of the value of those collected in this Island—It has I understand been suggested to surround the Block House and Barracks with a Stockade, but that measure would not give them the degree of security required: the Block House is well calculated for that object & well as for the security and effectual resistance of the detachment that may be placed in it. So 623 much of the materials and workmanship are already prepared that it is not probable the expense of the Block House will exceed that of the Stockade.

I have found it necessary from the limited time which the Engineer officer remains here to authorize his performing without delay some essential repairs of carpenters work to the roof of the Guard House, the floor of the men's Barrack Rooms and some slight repairs to the Commandants House. The whole amounting to about eight days labour of one artificer, and about fifty feet of deal plank.

I found the officers of this garrison living apart from each other, I have taken measures to bring them together & am forming a mess for the whole; it is unnecessary for me to observe on the superior advantages of this measure particularly in this remote station but as it is attended with considerable expense I have to solicit the Major General to have the goodness to recommend that the allowance for a Garrison mess formerly granted to the officers of this Post, when they lived together may be continued from the 24th July 1818.

MR. FLETCHER TO COL. COLTMAN ( Indians )

Quebec 27th July 1818

Dear Sir ,

Library of Congress

I have the honor of your letter of the 25th Inst. enclosing the list of articles received by Lieut. Johnston from the Store Keeper of the Indian Dept. at Drummond Island on the 10th of June 1817.

The enclosed papers will give you all the additional information which I am in possession of with regard to the expenditure of any part 624 of these stores, from which you will perceive that it was in fact very inconsiderable. I rather suspect, however that Lieutenant Johnston has omitted in his return to me to state the expenditure of some Rum, of which several kegs—perhaps three or four—in a diluted state were as I recollect, given by my orders at different Periods, to the Indians together with a of Tobacco each time—but of this I am not Carrot certain for I recollect that some portion of this (and possibly therefore the whole) was furnished out of other Stores which had either belonged to our original outfit or which were procured for me from the Agents of the North West company for that purpose, in consequence of my reluctance to expend the Stores of the Dept. so long as others could be conveniently obtained.

The three yards and a half of Strouds which are stated to have been delivered by Lieut Johnston to my servant were for some clothing for him, he being at that time in great want of it, and I recollect that I permitted him to apply for it in consequence of the Information of that Officer who stated that the Storekeepers at Drummond Island had a regular Schedule for prices of every article which was comprized in the Stores & that they were in the Habit on various occasions of issuing them at those prices—I therefore requested him to recollect & to make an entry in his minutes that I considered myself as indebted to the store for the amount of that three yard and a half of Strouds at the regular price whatever it might be, which I now conceive to be the case—

Unless it be with regard to some part of the Rum (respecting which I am, as I have already stated, in some doubts)—I have no knowledge of the Expenditure of any part of the Stores received by Lieut Johnston from Drummond Island, except those which are mentioned in the return with which he has furnished me & of which the enclosed is a copy—The whole of the Stores which were expended including the Rum as well as everything else—were reserved by Lieut Johnston antecedent to his departure from Fort William in July & I have no knowledge of their being touched afterwards by any one.

I enclose you back the original List delivered to me by Lieut Johnston which I before transmitted you—

York 27 July 1818

Sir ,

In acknowledging the receipt of your Excellency's letter of the 11th Inst., I have the honor to acquaint your Excellency that no sooner was the report of the retention of the Schooner Champion by the Collector 79 626 at Amherstburg made to me than measures were taken to cause her release, when she was permitted to proceed on her voyage to Drummond Island.—

The ground of seizure by the Collector was that the vessel as an American bottom & cleared from one post for another within this Province, she had committed an infraction of the Navigation Laws, and thereby subjected herself to seizure, notwithstanding the circumstances under which she had been cleared. The Law in this respect has not however been heretofore strictly observed by Collectors in this Colony, and the present case is one of the few of this description that have occurred here.

Sir,

I beg leave to inform you that in answer to a Memorial forwarded by Capt. De La Hay 70th Regt. respecting an allowance to myself and party while employed in the Indian Territories under the command of the commissioners, which I have received from the commander of the Forces Military Secretary—He informed me that an arrangement had been made between Col. Coltman and the North west Company for the Payment of the same. On Mr. Mc Gillivray's arrival at this Post I made application to him respecting it and I have the honor to enclose the copy of a letter from him respecting it by which it will appear that Mr. Mc Gillivray has no knowledge of such a circumstance. I therefore request that you will be pleased to renew an a application to His Excellency the commander of the Forces for the payment of an allowance granted in other circumstances when the duties to be performed cannot be considered of the fatigueing & harassing description to which my party was exposed—a detachment ordered to escort Messrs Coltman & Fletcher in their tour in the Indian Territory in 1817.

To a previous application of Lieut Austin for Batteaux allowance he was informed that an arrangement had been made by Mr. Coltman with the N. W. Company for the payment of the same; but on a reference to these parties, they profess an ignorance of the arrangement alluded to by the Military Secretary in his letter of the 9th Jan. to Maj. Genl. Widdington; and as will particularly appear by a letter from Mr. Wm. Mc Gillivray herewith transmitted with Lieut Austins. This officer & the men of his detachment were subjected to many privations, & with harassing duties of much fatigue, for which they were always led to believe they should receive a compensation: The former I know incurred much expence & the latter were out all their necessaries: and I beg leave to recommend their claim to the consideration of the Major General from a belief that their expectation of being paid, 1 from 21 June to 22 Sept 1817. the former the usual Batteaux allowance for a subaltern officer & the men the sum stated in the margin for the 93 days at 4d per. diem loss and extra wear and tear of their necessaries; will not Sergt £ 2 3 each be considered by His Excellency the Commander of the R & F £ 381 2 each Forces unreasonable nor the recommendation under served.

Library of Congress

Sir ,

With reference to your verbal communication of yesterday respecting the mode of issuing to the Indians I beg leave to explain once more 629 (to avoid any misunderstanding in future) that all Presents of every denomination are to be issued by this department to the Indians without any exception, on a requisition made by you on account of the General Requisition approved by His Excellency the Commander of the Forces. The approval of the commanding officer to those temporary requisitions is totally unnecessary, and as receipts are to be signed monthly by you on account of the Indians for these Presents for your own satisfaction I should suppose you would wish to be present at the issues, in respect to the Presents being issued in Council at a different part of the Garrison from the Magazine in which they are deposited & in presence of the officers of the garrison, in reply I have to inform you, that I know of no orders but those I received from the Commander of the Forces or the Head of my Department at Quebec (except in great emergencies when the interest of the Government requires it & then only from the Commanding officer) and until I receive such to that effect from either of them, the Presents shall be issued as usual from the Magazine direct to each Indian on application being made, provided the temporary requisition does not exceed the general requisition. But if the Indians after coming such a distance think it too much trouble to attend at the store for those Presents (which I suppose would never be the case if properly explained) I am of opinion that they had much better remain in the possession of this Department: as to the officers of the garrison attending the issues I can have not the slightest objection but I beg leave to acquaint you, I shall not admit any person into a store where there are so many loose articles, but those duly authorized—

In the making out of the temporary requisitions, I have to request that you will be pleased to direct that the number of men women & children (distinguishing the sex) may be mentioned separately in order that I may be enabled to ascertain its correctness & to inform me what has hitherto constituted a suit of clothing for each, as also what additional

MAJOR HOWARD TO LIEUT. COL. FOSTER ( Military Posts )

Drummonds Island August, 12 1818

Sir,

I have the honor to communicate for the information of the Major General Commanding that several persons have applied to me for permission to settle on or to cultivate the land on the Island of St Josephs. I have also been applied to by others who claim a right to do so by virtue of purchases of land which they report to have made from persons who formerly resided there; and particularly one Mr. Soloman a merchant of this place, who informs me he paid a valuable consideration to Mr. Askin of the Indian Department at Amherstburg for a tract of land on that Island. As I know that the Island of St. Josephs was purchased from the Indians by His Ms Government some years ago (for I believe £5000 in presents) and as Islands have always been considered special reservations of the Crown and not subject to grants, I have refused to listen to this claim of Mr. Solomans. I apprehend that Mr. Askin never possessed any ground beyond a building lot, nor any legal right to transfer by sale any of the land on the Island, but I have no means of ascertaining the fact.—St. Josephs was recommended to be, and was altogether voluntarily abandoned by its inhabitants at the period it was evacuated as a military post, and as I am not aware of the views of His Excellency the Commander of the Forces with regard to any occupation of that Island, I have refused permission for any person to settle there or to acknowledge the right of any individual to do so. It would be satisfactory to me to be informed whether I am correct in this proceeding.

There is a great deal of excellent land at St. Josephs which has lately attracted the attention of several people; there is so much already cleared that it would be very valuable to a few families of Industrious cultivators who had a sufficient stock of Cattle; and which cultivation I should consider advantageous to this Post. In any future disposition of that Island for the above purpose (if any should be thought advisable) the district in the neighborhood of our former Post on the Island should be reserved-at present it is indispensibly necessary to this garrison for pasturing the garrison Cattle, and to make Hay for their preservation during the winter.

No person resides on the Island except a Corporals guard for the protection of the Magazine: none of any description having been constructed at this post, which omission I find a very inconvenient 631 circumstance, and to which I request you to draw the Major General's attention.

The Garrison orders issued at this post from its establishment in June 1815 to the period of Lt. Col. Maules arrival, can no where be found, the strictest search and inquiry has been made without [ illegible ] for that purpose. Captain De la Hay informs me that he never saw them, they contained the only authentic record by which some of the inhabitants of Port Drummond sold their property or Houses, building lots &c. & they contained also some police regulations which had received the opposition of the Commander of the Forces, but I believe are no otherwise material. Have traced them to the possession of Lieut. Col. Maule, Lieut. Col. MacKay of the Indian Department having informed me that he was present when they were delivered in Two Bond volumes to the officer by Lieut. Col. MacDonall immediately previous to his leaving the Island, to Lieut. Col. Maule therefore I beg leave to suggest application should be made.

P. S. Augt 13th. An American merchant schooner bound to the Sault St. Marys anchored off Port Drummond a few days since to procure a pilot, she had on board Major General Macombe who commands in the Michigan Territory, his staff five in number paid me a short visit. I invited the M. G. to land but he declined it, being much indisposed . He had been preceded by an American Armed schooner (the Porcupine) having on board two Engineer officers. I learn they have since been surveying the neighborhood, and have fixed on a spot near the Sault on which a work is to be commenced the next spring. The M. G. has never returned to Mackinac, the E. O1 remain above in treaty I am told with the Indians who claim a property in the scite of the — work.

Sir ,

On the 10th Inst a Band of Sauckies and Foxes from the Mississippi, who had acted with us during the war with the United States, received their Present, and the Chiefs and Warriors wishing to be distinguished by being invested with medals &c, as a token of their Father's acknowledgment of their services, I accordingly requested some medals & gorgets for them in conformity to orders which not yet Seen delivered, was preparing to invest the men with them when Mr. Blackburn asst Store Keeper General, insisted that he was the person who ought to deliver every thing to the Indians. This I objected to and verbally stated my reasons to him on the occasion & observed at the same time that at Councils where the officer of the Garrison should attend articles of Stores (such as Pipes Tobacco &c) must be given them at the most convenient place where a Council could held. Those remarks have occasioned the writing of a letter from the Asst Stk. General of the 11th Inst. copy of which I have the honor enclose for your consideration and to request your forwarding orders respecting my future conduct as to investing Chiefs with the badge of His Majesty's favor & also particular instructions for my guidance my duty generally.

Library of Congress

I do not suppose with Mr. Blackburn that I should be present at the issues (for my own satisfaction only) for I conceive it my duty be there & direct the delivery. I also beg to state that the Store House in which the Presents are is on the River Shore and the space within the Picketts not capable of halving the 200 Indians seated to receive their Presents & on that account I have sometimes had the presents carried on the Common between the Fort & the Town & lately into the Commissariat yard as more secluded from the eyes of strangers from the opposite shore.

I have hitherto directed Mr. Ironside to be present in the store when the different articles are measured out & laid aside, but even this you will observe Mr. Blackburn objects to, indeed it would appear he is not willing to allow the officers of the Garrison to enter into his store. his reasons you will see as stated in his letter. The men women & children of every party of Indians coming to receive Presents are seated before him those only who keep their camp & little baggage excepted—As to the latter part of his letter, I certainly consider it intending to turn me altogether into Mr. Blackburn's understrapper, in fact nothing more than an interpreter and clerk for him. You Sir, who are so well acquainted with the Indians & Indian customs must be aware that the person at the head of the department, is, or ought to be the best judge of what is to be given to Indians as a matter of distinction or otherwise.

Hitherto I have acted according to the orders formerly issued by the Commander of the Forces & can safely say with the most sincere & anxious desire to serve His Majesty faithfully & at the same time that I think it absolutely necessary to do every thing in my power to please & conciliate the Indians.

Should you consider it necessary I beg leave to refer you to Col. Evens who is at present at Fort George for his opinion of my conduct. I am satisfied he will inform you correctly whether it is through my conduct or that of the Store Keeper Generals Dept, that difficulties arise. On the whole I feel much at a loss for direct and positive instructions & I trust you will see the necessity of their being furnished me with as little delay as possible.

LIEUT. COL. DUMFORD TO LIEUT. COL. HARVEY ( Ordnance and Engineers )

Royal Engineer's Office Quebec 22nd August 1818

Sir

In reply to your communication of this date, I have the honor to state for the information of his Grace the Commander of the Forces, that when I visited Drummds Island about the month of August 1816 I had authority to order a Block house to be proceeded on, the necessity of which had been strenuously recommended by the officers who had been in command (Lt. Col. McDonall) and in conjunction with the opinion also of the officer who commanded (Lt. Col. Maule) when I was there, directions were left with the officer of Royal Engineers, to proceed with a Blockhouse as expeditiously as possible.—

In January 1817, the officer of Royal Engineers (Lt. Portlock) transmitted the plan of a Blockhouse, he wished to erect recommending it to be faced with Brick, that it might become somewhat formidable, this plan and his letter having been exhibited to the late commander of the Forces. He directed Major Henderson, then acting as Commanding Royal Engineers (during my absence in England) to stay the progress of that Block House, a copy of whose instruction to Lt. Portlock upon 635 the subject and that officers reply, I have now the honor to enclose for His Graces more particular information—I beg to add it is my opinion, that the Timber reported upon by Major Howard, if properly piled (and for which I now beg an authority) will tend to season it rather than to decay it, at least for a few years; by which period I presume the question of retaining or surrendering Drummond's Island will be settled.—

I beg to refer you to my letter of the 24th April last to the late Military Secretary (copy herewith enclosed and to the Instructions appearing to have been received and communicated which will show that a stop has been put to the Blockhouse and other works for the present—

I avail myself of this opportunity to add for the information of his Excellency the Commander of the Forces, that nothing of particular notice has occurred at this post since my arrival. The Engineer officer having been ordered to leave this station in this month, and finding some special repairs necessary to the sides and roof of the Public Buildings: I have found it requisite previous to his departure and before the approach of winter, to authorize the performance of the work. The amount of the expence will be in considerable 636 arrising principally from labour in plastering the logs and covering the roof with bark.—

I beg permission to draw His Excellencys notice to the circumstance that the magazine for the use of this post is situated on the Island of St. Joseph ten miles distant by water; and that for want of a proper boat that will sail or row it is sometimes impossible for me to communicate with that Island—A non Commissioned officers guard is stationed there for the protection of the Magazine none of any description having been constructed here, which omission I find very inconvenient.

of Superintendent before my arrival, conceived that such of these articles as remained & which were supposed by him would be sufficient for the expenditures of year could be had on a requisition as formerly, I submit to you the extra Requisition herewith enclosed for suck articles as are deemed necessary, for your determination thereon—

I have to observe that the Asst Stk. General will not issue any of them without positive order from the officer Comg.

MAJOR HOWARD TO LIEUT. COL. FOSTER ( Military Posts )

Drummond Island Sept. 12 1818.

Sir,

Library of Congress

I beg leave to report for the information of His Excellency Major General Sir Peregrine Maitland that a private soldier of the 70th Regt having been for a considerable time confined in the Hospital with a diseased limb, and the medical officer at this Post having reported to me this day the necessity he apprehends will arise for its amputation, and at the same time declares that he does not find himself justified from the imperfect state of his instruments to undertake the performance of such an operation. I have ordered the man to be embarked in the schooner Lady Prevost for the purpose of sending him to the Head Quarters of the Regiment.

It will be obvious to you from the above Circumstances how deplorable, would be the situation of any individual of this Garrison to whom an accident might arise rendering a capital operation necessary; and the propriety of supplying whatever may be necessary, before the winter excludes this Post from Communication with the Canadas.

This detachment has had a reduction from its original strength by three non-commissioned officers having been sent some months ago to the Head Quarters of the Regiment, two upon period of Service had expired, and one Serjeant reduced by the Sentence of a court martial whose period of Service had also expired. I have found the remainder altogether inadequate to the Correct performance of the duties of the Post.

From the wants of the Commissariat Department arising from the Necessity of Keeping the Cattle and providing for them at all season's at St. Josephs: the guard on that Island; the wants of the Engineer Department and the Constant batteaux duty between this Post and St. Josephs, I am frequently without a non-Commissioned officer unemployed and the principle guard in charge of a Lance Corporal appointed for the occasion.

I beg permission to recommend that the Regiment should reinforce this detachment without reference to establishment of Companies by replacing the Non-Commissioned officers sent down with others from the Head Quarters of the Regiment, and that it should be on instructions that they should not be selected from the worst of their classes, but be active and intelligent men, as they will be much out of the sight of their officers from being almost constantly employed on detached duties.

I beg leave to submit a measure which I Consider essentially necessary to the Command of this remote station; as well as advantageous to the service, namely that an Authority should be given to me to fill up the vacancies that may arise amongst the Non-commissioned at this Post. I humbly submit that it is for many other obvious reasons a discretion with which I should be entrusted at such a distance from the Regiment, & where in certain seasons I can receive no assistance within six or eight months after an application for it. In the event of the reductions of a No. Co. officer<sup>1</sup> at this Post from misconduct, after many months delay I may learn possibly that the vacancy has been filled up at the Head Quarters of the Regiment, but not by the deserving soldier who has been doing the severe duties of this Post and had hopes of succeeding to it, and thus I lose the advantage, which such hopes excited to good Conduct.

1 1 Non-commissioned officer.

There is a Dwelling HoUse on the Island of St. Josephs purchased about three years ago from the North West Company and for which i believe the publick was charged upwards of Six hundred pounds; it is situated where the Guard on that Island cannot protect it from the depredations of the voyageurs, Indians, and Inhabitants of the Neighborhood, 639 it has been stripped of its doors, windows, ceiling, and part of its flooring, and what remains will I apprehend be destroyed. The shell which is perfect as is many of its divisions might be removed to this Post where the materials would enable the engineer Department to provide quarters for one Captain and three subalterns who now receive lodging money—or I could on being authorized to do so remove the serviceable parts which might be employed in repairing or adding to the Government storehouses which require it, or converted to other useful purposes.

Sir ,

I have the honor to lay before you for the information of His Grace the Duke of Richmond, a copy of a letter addressed to me by the Clerk of this Department in charge at Drummond Island, and I request you will be pleased to acquaint me with His Grace's Commands thereon for my future guidance.

I take the liberty at the same time to state with reference to the 1st Quere, that Indian women who cohabit with Europeans, and their children are not, I conceive in any manner entitled to Presents, because in almost every instance the women and offspring are well provided for by the Europeans with whom they are living.

And with reference to the second Quere, I beg to state that it is my opinion that no Interpreter (although an Indian) should be entitled to receive Presents when he receives Pay and Allowances for the performance of the duty for which he is employed.

I beg also to observe that it is a very general practice for Europeans to live with Indian women and even to marry them, and that such persons have hitherto received presents through the favours of the Superintendant and an instance has come under my knowledge where a Canadian who has married an Indian woman, and who receives a Pension (I believe £300 pr. an) for past services, has claimed and received presents for his wife, to which indulgence I humbly conceive he is in a manner entitled.

Minutes of Council held at Amherstburg the 16th Oct 1818 between John Askin Esq. Superintendent of Indian affairs and the following Chippawa chiefs & Leaders of Chenaille Ecarte, River St Clair, Sable & Thames & Bears Creek, vizt. Anneme Barinsi, Megig, Pockenaise, Souskonay, Osansib, Kitchearaqnet, Raybayyaw, Segay, Peuesewah, Shawshaw, Waneperesee, Maytosain, Taytaymaygassin, Amiok, Kewtasskum, Puckinac, Waywaynash, Makataykigigo, Keonenahbay, Mestuckmaybig, Kayash, Kraykaskinsi. Wahsayguan, Nawbowe, Shagenash and Chaume Speaker.

After the Superintendent of Indian affairs had informed the above mentioned Chiefs, that he had received instructions from the Deputy Superint General of Indian affairs, signifying that it was the wish of their great Father's Representative Sir Peregrine Maitland, Lieutenant Governor of this Province to purchase all the Lands belonging to them the Chippawas lying north of the River Thames, including the River au Sable, and a sketch of the Territory requested being shown to them, They were desired to state on what terms they would dispose of the said Tract.

Their answer after mature deliberation was as follows:

Father, The Chippewas have always been obedient children & never refused anything our Great Father has requested of us, we are therefore willing to sell our Lands, but we wish to make the following reserves vizt.1

1st Four miles square at some distance below the rapids of the River St. Clair 2nd One mile in front by four deep bordering on said river & adjoining to the Shawanese Reserve.

3d Two miles at Kettle Point Lake Huron.

4th Two miles square at the River au Sable

5th Two miles square at Bear's Creek also a Reserve for Tomago and his band up the Thames which he will point out when he arrives.

And we trust that the Reserves now made by us will be augmented at the time the purchase is finally concluded, should our Great Father's Representatives see that they are insufficient for the whole of our Nation now living on this side of the water, to plant corn and hunt, so 644 that we may not be poor and miserable like our Brethren on the American side, who have sold all their Lands & have not made sufficient Reserves for their men, women & children to plant Corn.

Father, You will inform our great Father's Representative that its our wish that he set the valuation on the tract required, but that the payment is to be made annually for 50 years, half in hard money & half in clothing.

Library of Congress

The payment for our Lands is to be separate & distinct from the presents our Great Father the King gives us yearly, for our loyalty & past services, but out of our yearly payments our nation is to be furnished with a Blacksmith & a Husbandman to be stationed near the Reserves, the former to mend our axes and traps & repair our guns; the latter to instruct us in the art of husbandry.

Drummond Island November 1, 1818

Sir

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 25th Augt, but the communication adverted to therein from Lieut Colonel Harvey has not yet reached me. —I beg leave to convey to you Pay states for Command money for this Post; and to avail myself of the present opportunity to add for the information of His Excellency the Commander of the Forces, that nothing of a particular nature has occurred. All the Indians expected this season have visited and departed from the Post in a quiet regular manner. The Detachment 650 composing the Garrison is in good order and perfect health, there not being a sick man in it. I shall forward the Winter Express so as to arrive at York on or about the 1st Feby.

Sir,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your note inclosing an extract from a communication by Major Howard Commanding at Drummond Island—

Respecting the imperfect state of the Amputating Instruments at that Post, I am the more surprisal at this statement, as they were perfectly new when sent to that Station, & had never been used, and the Medical Officer, has never reported them as in the least defective or out of repair, which it was his duty to have done. I have however directed another set to be forwarded immediately by the first conveyance from York or Kingston.

Drummond Island November 16, 1818.

Sir,

Library of Congress

By a letter which I have received from Col. Grant<sup>2</sup> commanding the 70th Regt. enclosing communications from Messrs. McTavish, McGillivray and Co. merchants of Montreal, it appears that a sum of money paid by the publick, and due to a detachment of His Majesty's 70th Regt. for Batteaux pay, while they were employed in conveying Messrs. Coltman and Fletcher to and from the Indian Territory, is in their possession. The whole of the men to whom this money belongs are stationed at this Post; and Col. Grant has conveyed to me his orders to take such steps as I find most convenient for the settlement of the men's claims without further delay: but Messrs. McTavish together with Mr. Coltman having taken upon themselves to prescribe a mode of paying this money which I find an obstacle to that object I beg permission to solicit the interference of His Excellency the Major General Commanding to direct that those gentlemen pay over the money in question to the Deputy Commissary General at Montreal, by which I shall be enabled to receive the same amount from the Commissariat officer stationed at this Post, without the loss which I have ascertained must arise to the men, by the adoption of the mode adverted to.

I enclose herewith a certified copy of the account furnished me from Messrs. McTavish & Co. to which I beg leave to call your attention: You will therein perceive in some remarks that I have made in a note at the bottom of the account, that it is erroneous in one instance & in another inconsistent with itself: the sum specified in words at length being at variance with that in figures and both are from a previous error incorrect statements of the proper amount which it appears to 101-18—1  $\frac{3}{4}$  me is one hundred sixty one pounds eighteen shillings and one penny three Farthings.

It would be satisfactory to the parties concerned if I was enabled to inform them that the above sum is the correct amount that was issued for them by the warrant of His Excellency the late Commander of the Forces: of which circumstance I have no information: nor any on the subject, beyond the letter of Messrs. McTavish & Co. offering to pay a certain sum to the men. I beg leave to add further that one inconvenient and anomalous circumstance has already occurred from those 652 merchants becoming possessed of this money; Three soldiers of this detachment whose period of service had expired were obliged to be referred to them for a final settlement of their Regimental claims.

I have the honor to be Sir Your most obedient humble servant Thos. Howard Maj. 70th Regt Comg.

P. S. With a view to save time and prevent trouble, I applied to the Agent of Messrs. McTavish McGillivray &co. resident at this Post (Mr. D. Mitchell Surgeon to the Indian Dept.) but he refused to pay the sum which Messrs. McTavish & Co. acknowledged to be indebted to the men, in their letter to Col. Grant, which letter I send to Mr. Mitchell for his perusal.

UNADDRESSED AND WITHOUT SIGNATURE OR DATE ( Indians )

Col. Claus requisition of the 22d February 1816, for provisions and rum for the Indians in Upper Canada per 25th Dec. '15 to 2d Nov. 1817, must have been framed upon a calculation that the No of rations allotted to each post would be insufficient to meet the wants of the Indians, but why the issue at Amherstburg should have so far exceeded the approved estimate, it is difficult to explain, and I cannot conceive why 1166 persons (Indians) should be drawing daily Rations at that Post:—So long as they are allowed this indulgence and, are encouraged in Idleness, they will continue in the neighborhood of the Kings Magazine. M. Genl Wilson appears Very properly to have directed Major Barwick to restrict the issue of provisions to the absolute wants and necessities of the Indians, which will correct this evil—

The issues made to those Indians who have come from a distance to receive their presents do not appear to have been extravagant.

Library of Congress

Lord Bathurst's Letter (and enclosures) of 19th June last refer particularly to this subject, and denies that if the Indians now dependant upon Amherstburg are prevented from returning to their former habitations in the American Territory by fears in consequence of their adherence to Great Britain an offer of hunting grounds on the Shores 653 of Lake Huron or on any other unsettled parts of the British Territory should be made to them, and that arrangements for this purpose should be conserted with Govr Gore. His Lordship also directs that the issue of Indian Stores & presents be limited to two or three specified periods in every year—The enormous issues of provisions alluded to in Genl Wilsons letter appear to have taken place during Col. James's Command at Amherstburg, but the Indian Department being then under Civil Control At least for most of the period, he might have had difficulty in checking the extravagance of the Indian, whom he represented to have been very lavish in provisions and presents—

No blame appears to attach to the Commissariat officer as all the requisitions must have been authorized by the Corny Officer of the Post, tho' he might have represented at an earlier period that the issues had exceeded the approved requisition—

It may be proper to put Genl Wilson in possession of a copy of Lord Bathursts despatch of 19th Nov. last and its enclosures & to dirrect him to concert measures with Govr Gore for carrying into effect the order of H. M. Govt in regard to Lands to be offered to the Indians who have been prevented from returning to their former habitations in the Territory of the United States:—And the attention of the Depy Supt Genl of Indian Affairs in Upper Canada should be called in regard to certain funds being paid for the issuer of provisions to the Indians as suggested by Lord Bathurst.

LIEUT. PORTLOCK TO LIEUT. COL. DUMFORD ( Ordnance and Engineer )

Quebec January 12th 1819.

Sir ,

I beg leave to request that you will submit the enclosed Statement of a most heavy loss which Lieutenant Sheppard Royal Artillery and myself had the misfortune to sustain in the year 1816 to the consideration of His Grace the Commander of the Forces, hoping that it may be deemed proper to allow us some compensation.—

Lieutenant Sheppard was ordered home before the notification of the loss reached Drummond's Island.

As the manner in which this occurred must require sonic prior explanation, I shall detail the circumstances as briefly as possible; The Goods in question were proceeding from Montreal to Drummond's Island in consequence of the allowance of Government Transport to officers at that station, but from some extraordinary delay and the doubt which at that time existed respecting the means, of Conveyance to be used in forwarding Government Stores, they were detained at Fort Erie, till late in the month of November 1816, and then shipped in a Merchant Vessel (chartered by Government, though with but little chance of arriving at their ultimate destination during that season; in consequence 657 of the autumnal Storms and (as I believe great deficiency of nautical skill in the master, the vessel was wrecked off Long Point in Lake Erie; and the greater part of its cargo perished; of that indeed which was saved but little remained in a state to be of any use;—Had my loss merely rested here; I perhaps should have refrained from the present application, but it was greatly aggravated by the pillaging of a Box of Clothes wrecked in the same vessel, together with similar losses sustained by me whilst in Upper Canada and by the necessity of supplying a consequent deficiency in my winter stock &c. at the exorbitant prices which merchants obtain for every article they sell at Drummond's Island.

When His Grace has considered the almost inability of an officer to support so decumulated a loss, I trust he will at least excuse my having ventured to call his attention to the circumstances; this I should long since have done, but for the necessity of ascertaining beyond a doubt the exact amount of our loss; which I had no opportunity of doing until ordered down to this place.

Mr. Forsyth's Bill is in my possession and will be produced if required.

The Memorial of sundry Inhabitants residing in the Town of Amherstburg and other parts of the western District.

Most respectfully sheweth

That after the evacuation of the Fort and Town of Detroit, in the year 1796, the Fort at Amherstburg was erected; and by order of the Commander in Chief for the time being, a town was laid out on Military ground in the vicinity of the said Fort; and tots were granted by the Commanding officer for the time being, to such persons as would build on & improve the same.—

That many of the grantees of such lots, have erected substantial and expensive dwelling-houses and other buildings and improvements thereon, and there are now upwards of One hundred dwelling-houses in the said town, which from its local situation and material advantages, must continue (should it experience Your Excellency's protection) rapidly to increase in Commerce Wealth and Population.

That Your Memorialists have discovered that they labor under many legal disabilities, in consequence of the insufficiency or defect in their titles for their said lots; and they are informed that in strict contemplation of law, the grantees have only an estate for their own lives therein.

That the greater number of their titles are as follows: "The Bearer "A. That your Memorialists consider their situation as a subject of the utmost importance, not only to themselves, as proprietors either by grant, purchase, devise, or descent but also to the general interest of the District at large; and they humbly hope and conceive that they may be rendered secure in their Titles, and obtain an Estate in Fee, without the least prejudice to His Majesty's Service.

Wherefore your Memorialists humbly pray that your Excellency will be pleased to take the Subject into your consideration and afford to your Memorialists such relief in the premises, as your Excellency in your wisdom shall deem meet.

MAJOR HOWARD TO LIEUT. COL. FOSTER ( Indians )

Drummond Island .

January 18th 1819.

Sir ,

I have the honor to transmit herewith Monthly Returns for November and December, I take this opportunity to add for the information of His Excellency Major General Sir Peregrine Maitland that the detachments composing the Garrison of this Post are in good order and perfect Health, there not being a sick man at the Station.

I enclose a requisition for some Ordnance Stores and Ammunition which are much wanted; On examining the musquet Ball Cartridge in the Magazine, I found on opening the Casks that the greatest part was spoiled or damaged; of the entire quantity of English Basil Cartridge 660 (8000 rounds) in the magazine not more than one third is fit for service. There is a larger quantity of American Ball Cartridge which I had not a favorable opportunity to examine before the close of the navigation (the magazine is at St. Josephs) but the five barrels I caused to be opened I found in the same bad state as the English; the whole was more or less injured by wet in 1815, on its Transport from Michillimackinac.

I forward also a Return of the Ordnance at this Station, by which it will be perceived that of Brass Guns, there is one a three Pounder; The two two Pound Guns want proper Carriages; from this and local considerations, I consider them next to useless, one or two Brass Field Guns of Six Pounds, and one 5 ½ Inch Howitzer would better aid this Detachment in the event of an emergency & contribute more effectually to the defence of the post in its present exposed state, than the whole of the various immovable Gun Ordnance that has been collected, & if it should not be in contemplation to construct any work of defence, I beg leave to suggest in the next measure of precaution, that a Gun and Howitzer of the description should be sent here with complete Field Carriages, and side arms, & that the present detachment of Royal Artillery, which consists of a Sergeant & five should be reinforced with an experienced Bombardier & three good Artillerymen.

Of Iron guns there are eight 24 and three 18 pounders and of cannonades 6, 32 prs & 3, 24 prs. for neither of which is there a perfectly serviceable Carriage, there are ship carriages with wooden trucks & no Iron ones have been provided, The Post requires to be supplied with serviceable garrison Carriages for 18 & 24 Pt. Guns & Iron Trucks for those that we have serviceable There are no articles here for fixing ammunition—

I beg leave to submit to the consideration of His Excellency whether these stores and the Field Guns should be included in the present requisition.

The Post is supplied with provisions to the latter end of this year, and with Rum to September, it becomes necessary that at least nine months provisions & twelve months Rum should be deposited here in the course of the next summer independant of what may be required of the former for the Indian Tribes who are accustomed to visit the Station, the estimate of their consumption by the Clerk in charge of the Indian Dept. amounts to sixteen thousand We hundred Rations each, of Pork & Flour for the ensuing season at this Post.

With a view to prevent in future such excessive unnecessary expence, I think it proper to mention that last Summer Shingles Charcoal & 661 Lime were sent to this Post from below by one of the Depts. The Transport alone of some of these articles, must have cost four times the sum for which they could have been purchased here where all the materials for making them are abundant, and where they can be had ready for use at a reasonable price—The Store Houses & Barracks are sound and no alterations or repairs are at present necessary.

A supply of Batteaux for this Post will be required for the service of the year 1820, it will require expensive repairs to make the few that are worth it serviceable for the next summer the remainder are unsafe & not worth repairing & had better be sold. A sailing boat of about 28 or 30 feet Keel is much wanted here it being frequently impracticable to communicate with St Joseph with a heavy Batteaux (and we have nothing else) when a Boat of this description would effect it with ease & safety, that originally provided for the use of those Posts being worn out, was broke up in 1817—

MR. WOOD TO SECRETARY BOWLES ( Commissariat )

COMMISSARY GENERALS Office Quebec 13th February 1819

Sir

In the Autumn of 1815 advice was received at Quebec that the Commissariat Officer in charge at Drummond Island (named Monk) from extreme anxiety to provide for the pressing wants of the Troops and Indians in an exhausted Country because deranged in his mind. The Commissary General in charge at the time therefore dispatched without delay an officer named Thompson to take the charge of the Post from Mr. Monk, and a clerk named Lenthal to settle the accounts of the latter, and bring them to Quebec—These gentlemen left Quebec in August, and as the conveyances at that time were very imperfect in the interior of the Country, they experienced difficulties and bad weather particularly on the Lakes where they had the misfortune to be ship-wrecked. These fatigues quite overcame Mr. Thomson; who could get no further than Amherstburg where he was laid up some time by indisposition and after recovery, from the setting in of the winter, he was prevented from proceeding as originally intended; in the meantime occasion for his services arising on the Niagara Frontier, he was ordered to that quarter. Mr. Lenthal on the other hand being more fortunate, was enabled to reach Drummond Island in November where he settled the accounts of Mr. Monk and took temporary charge of the Post, until he could be relieved by Mr. Thomson or some other officer: but the circumstances of the Commissariat at that time did not admit of one being sent for that purpose until the end of June last: Mr. Lenthal therefore remained in charge up to the month of September past, though he had reason to expect from the charge first devolving on him, to be relieved every day; his return to Quebec was only a few months ago, since which he has been employed in making up and settling his accounts. Mr. Lenthal as will be explained above having been dispatched from hence at a very short warning, and with an expectation of being absent only a few months, did not provide himself with necessaries further than some very few articles—with this knowledge his friends at Quebec finding in the spring that Mr. Thomson had been ordered on other service, and no officer being disposable to relieve Mr. Lenthal, sent up his baggage by the usual Government Conveyances, and the vessel on board of which it was embarked to cross Lake Erie having been wrecked, Mr. Lenthal claims the usual and authorized allowance for the same.

There being no established allowance for Commissariat Clerks when in charge of a Post, but it having been the practice when such an occurrence did happen, that the commander of the Forces for the time being sanctioned their receiving the allowances of a Deputy Assi't Commissary General (not the Pay)—

I have therefore to submit for the consideration of his Grace the Commander of the Forces, the propriety of Mr. Lenthal being permitted to receive the said allowances, Viz of a Deputy Assistant Commissary General.<sup>1</sup> As well as the authorized allowance for the loss of his Baggage.—

<sup>1</sup> A just recommendation and it is to be hoped that Lenthal was reimbursed for the loss.

I have the honor to be Sir Your most obt Servant G. Wood Comy. Genl.

Major Bowles Military Secretary. &c.

1 Now the Maumee.

Art. 2nd

The Potawatomi, Ottawas, and Chippewa tribes of Indians, in consideration of the stipulations herein made on the part of the United States do hereby forever cede to the United States the land comprehended within the following lines and boundaries: Beginning where the western line of the State of Ohio crosses the river Miami of Lake Erie, which is about twenty one miles above the mouth of the Great au Glaize river; thence down the middle of the said Miami river to a point north of the mouth of the Great Au Glaize river; thence with the western line of the land ceded to the United States by the treaty of 667 Detroit in 1807, north forty five miles; thence west so far that a line south will strike the place of beginning; thence south to the place of beginning.

Art 3d

The Wyandot, Seneca, Delaware, Shawanese, Potawatomi, Ottawas and Chippawa tribes of Indians accede to the cessions mentioned in the two preceeding articles.

Art. 4th

In consideration of the cessions and recognitions stipulated in the three preceeding articles, the United States agree to pay to the Wyandot tribe annually forever, the sum of four thousand dollars in specie at Upper Sandusky. To the Seneca tribe annually forever, the sum of live hundred dollars in specie at Lower Sandusky; to the Shawanese tribe annually forever, the sum two thousand dollars in specie at Wapaghkonetta. To the Potawatomi tribe, annually, for the term of fifteen years, the sum of one thousand three hundred dollars, in specie at Detroit; to the Chippawa tribe annually, for the term of fifteen years, the sum of one thousand dollars-in specie, at Detroit; To the Delaware tribe in the course of the year one thousand one hundred and eighteen the sum of five hundred [ illegible ] at Wapaghkonetta, but no annuity; and the United States also agree, that all annuities due by any former treaty to the Wyandot Shawanese and Delaware tribes, and the annuity due by the treaty of Greenville to the Ottawa and Chippawa tribes, shall be paid to the said tribes, respectively in specie.

Art. 5th.

The schedule hereunto annexed is to be taken and considered as part of this treaty; and the tracts herein stipulated to be granted to the Wyandot, Seneca and Shawanese tribes of Indians, are to be granted for the use of the persons mentioned in the said schedule agreeably to the descriptions provisions and limitations therein contained.

Art. 6th.

The United States agree to grant the patent in fee simple to [ several Indian names quite illegible ] chiefs of the Wyandot tribes, and their successors in office, chiefs of the said tribe, for the use of the persons, and rite purposes mentioned to the annexed schedule, a tract of land twelve miles square at Upper Sandusky, the centre of which shall be the place where Fort Ferret stands and also a tract of one mile square to be located where the chiefs direct, on a cranberry swamp, on broken Sword creek, and to be held for the use of the tribe.

The United States also agree to grant, by patent, in fee simple, to Yawawmadoyan, Captain Harris Tawgyou, Captain Smith, Coffee house, 668 Running about, and Wipingstick, Chiefs of the Seneca tribe, of Indians, and their successors in office, chiefs of the said tribe for the use of the persons mentioned in the annexed schedule, a tract of land to contain thirty thousand acres beginning at the Sandusky river, at the lower corner of the section hereinafter granted to William Spicer, hence down the said river to the east side with the meanders thereof at high water mark to the east point of the mouth of Wolf Creek: thence and from the beginning east so far that a north line will include the quantity of thirty thousand acres aforesaid.

Library of Congress

The United States also agree to grant, by patent in fee simple, to Catewekesaor, Black Hoof, Byaseka or Wolf, Ponthe or Walker, Shemepoo or Big Snake, Othawakeseka or yellow Feather, Chakalowah or the Tails End, Penhala or John Perry, Wabepee or White Color, chiefs of the Shawanese tribe, residing at Wapighkonetta, and their successors in office, residing there, for the use of the persons mentioned in the annexed schedule a tract of land [ ten or two—nearly obliterated ] miles square, the center of which shall be the council house at Wapaghkonetta.

The United States also agree to grant, by patent, in fee simple, to Pecththa or Falling Tree and to Onowaskemo or the resolute Man, chiefs of the Shawanese tribes, residing on Hog Creek, and their successors in office, chiefs of the said tribe, residing there, for the use of the persons mentioned in the annexed schedule, a tract of land containing twenty-five square miles, which is to join the tract granted to Wapaghkonetta, and to include the Shawanese settlement on Hog Creek, and to be laid off as nearly as possible in a square form.

The United States also agree to grant, by patent, in fee simple, to Quatawapee or Captain Lewis, Shekaghkela or Turtle, Skilowa or Robin, Chiefs of the Shawanese tribes of Indians residing at Lewistown, and to Wesomea or Civil John, Wakawnxsheno or the White Man, Oquosheno or Joe, and Williquarsheno or when you are a Tired sit down, chiefs of the Seneca tribe of Indians, residing at Lewistown, and to their successors in office, chiefs of the said Shawanese and Seneca tribes, for the use of the persons mentioned in the annexed schedule, a tract of land to contain 48 square miles, to begin at the intersection of the line run by Charles Roberts in the year 1812, from the source of the Little Miami river to the source of the Scioto River, in pursuance of instructions from the Commissioners appointed on the part of the United States, to establish the western boundary of the Virginia military reservation, with the Indian boundary line established by the treaty of Greenville, in 1795, from the crossings above 669 Fort Lawrence to Loramie's store, and to run from such intersections northerly with the first mentioned line, so as to include the quantity as nearly in a square form as practicable, after excluding the section granted to Nancy Stewart.

There shall also be reserved for the use of the Ottawas Indians, but not granted to them, a tract of land on Blanchard's fork of the Great au Glaze river, to contain 5 miles square, the center of which tract is to be where the old trace crosses the said fork, and one other tract to contain three miles square on the little au Glaize river, to include Oquanoxa's village.

Art 7.

And the said chiefs or their successors may, at any time they think proper, convey to any of the persons mentioned in the said schedule, or his heirs, the quantity secured thereby to him, or may refuse so to do. But the use of the said land shall be in the said person, and after the share of any person is conveyed by the chiefs to him, he may convey the same to any person whatever. And any one entitled by the said schedule to a portion of the said land, may at any time convey the same to any person, by obtaining the approbation of the President of the United States, or of the person appointed by him to give such approbation. And the Agent of the United States shall make an equitable partition of the said share when conveyed.

Art 8.

At the special request of the said Indians the United States agree to grant, by patent, in fee simple, to the persons hereinafter mentioned; all of whom are connected with the said Indians, by blood or adoption, the tracts of land herein described.

To Elizabeth Whitaker, who was taken prisoner by the Wyandots, and has ever since lived among them, twelve hundred and eighty acres of land on the west side of the Sandusky river, below Crogansville, to be laid off in a square, as near as the meanders of the said river will admit, and to run an equal distance above and below the house, in which the said Elizabeth Whitaker now lives.

Library of Congress

To Robert Armstrong who was taken prisoner by the Indians, and has ever since lived among them, and has married a Wyandot woman, a section to contain six hundred and forty acres of land, on the west side of the Sandusky river to begin at the place called Camp Ball and to run up the river with the meanders thereof, one hundred and sixty poles, and from the beginning down the river with the meanders thereof, one hundred and sixty poles, and from the extremity of these lines west for quantity.

670

To the children of the late William M'Collock, who was killed in August 1812 near Manguan<sup>1</sup> and who are quarter-blood Wyandot Indians, one section to contain six hundred and forty acres of land, on the west side of the Sandusky river, adjoining the lower line of the tract hereby granted to Robert Armstrong, and extending in the same manner, with and from the said river.

1 Mongnuaon.

To John Vanmeter who was taken prisoner by the Wyandots, and who has ever since lived among them and has married a Seneca woman and to his wife's three brothers Senecas, who reside on Honey Creek, one thousand acres of land to begin with, forty five degrees west one hundred and forty poles from the house in which the said John Vanmeter now lives, and to run thence south, three hundred and twenty poles, thence and from the beginning east for quantity.

Sarah Williams, Joseph Williams, Rachael Nugent, late Rachael Williams, The said Sarah having been taken prisoner by the Indians and has ever since lived among them and become a widow and the said Joseph and Rachael being the children of the late Isaac Williams half blood Wyandot, one quarter section of land to contain one hundred and sixty acres, on the east side of the Sandusky river, below Crogansville and to include their improvements at a place called Negro Point.

Library of Congress

To [ illegible ] Walker, a Wyandot woman, and to John H. Walker, her son, who was wounded in the service of the United States at the battle of Manguagon in 1812, a section of six hundred and forty acres of land each, to begin at the northwestern corner of the tract hereby granted to John Vanmeter and his wife's brothers and to run with the line thereof south, three hundred and twenty poles, thence and from the beginning west for quantity.

To Wm. Spicer who was taken prisoner by the Indians, and has ever since lived among them and has married a Seneca woman, a section of land to contain six hundred and forty acres, beginning on the east bank of the Sandusky river, forty poles below the corner of the said Spicer's corn-field, thence up the river on the east side, with the meanders thereof one mile thence and from the beginning east for quantity.

To Nancy Stewart, daughter of the late chief Blue Jacket one section of land to contain six hundred and forty acres, on the Great Miamis river below Lewistown. to include her present improvements, three quarters of the said section, to be on the south east side of the river, and one quarter on the north west side thereof.

To the children of the late Shawanese Chief Captain Logan,<sup>1</sup> or Spamagelabe, who fell in the service of the United States during the 671 late war, one section of land to contain six hundred and forty acres on the east side of the Great au Glaize river, adjoining the lower line of the grant of ten miles at Wapagkonetta and the said river.

See appendix.

To Anthony Shane a half blood Ottawas Indian, one section of land to contain six hundred and forty acres on the east side of the river St. Mary's, and to begin opposite the house in which the said Shane now lives: thence up the river, with the meanders thereof, one hundred and sixty poles, and from the beginning down with the meanders thereof one hundred and sixty poles, and from the extremity of the said lines east for quantity.

Library of Congress

To James McPherson, who was taken prisoner by the Indians and has every since lived among them, one section of land to contain six hundred and forty acres, in a square form, adjoining the northern or western line of the grant of forty eight miles, at Lewistown, at such place as he may think proper to locate the same.

To Honor or the Cherokee Boy, a Wyandot Chief, a section of land to contain six hundred and forty acres, on the Sandusky river to be laid off in a square form and to include his improvements.

To Alexander D. Godfroy and Richard Godfroy, adopted children of the Potowatomy tribe, and at their special request, one section of land to contain six hundred and forty acres, in the tract of country herein ceded to the United States by the Pottowatonies, Ottawas and Chippawas tribes, to be located by them, the said Alexander and Richard, after the said tract shall have been surveyed.

To Sawendebwas or the Yellow Hair, or Peter Minor, an adopted son of Tondanganie, or the Dog, and at the special request of the Ottawas out of the tract reserved by the treaty of Detroit, in 1807, above Roche de Boeuf, at the village of the said Dog, a section of land, to contain six hundred and forty acres, to be located in a square form, on the north side of the Miami, at the Wolf Rapid.

Art. 9

The United States engage to appoint an agent, to reside among or near the Wyandots, and to aid them in the protection of their persons and properties, to manage their intercourse with the Government and citizens of the United States, and to discharge the duties which commonly appertain to the office of Indian Agent; and the same agent is to execute the same duties for the Senecas and Delawares on the Sandusky river, and an agent for similar purposes, and vested with similar powers, shall be appointed, to reside among or near the Shawanese, whose agency shall include the reservations at

Library of Congress

Wapaghkonetta, at Lewistown, at Hog 672 Creek, and at Blanchard's Creek, and one mile square shall be reserved at Malake for the use of the agent for the Shawanese.

And the agent for the Wyandots and Senecas shall occupy such land in the grant at Upper Sandusky, as may be necessary for him and the persons attached to the agency.

Art 10.

The United States engage to erect a saw mill and a grist mill, upon some proper part of the Wyandot reservation, for their use, and to provide and maintain a blacksmith for the use of the Wyandots and Senecas, upon the reservation of the Wyandots, and another blacksmith, for the use of the Indians, at Wapaghkonetta, Hog Creek and Lewistown.

Art 11.

The stipulations contained in the treaty of Greenville, relative to the right of the Indians to hunt upon the land hereby ceded, while it continues the property of the United States, shall apply to this treaty, and the Indians shall, for the same term, enjoy the privilege of making sugar upon the same land committing no unnecessary waste upon the trees.

Art 12.

The United States engage to pay, in the course of the year 1818, the amount of damages which were assessed by the authority of the Secretary of war, in favor of several tribes and individuals of the Indians, who adhered to the cause of the United States, during the late war with Great Britain, and whose property was, in consequence of such adherence, injured or destroyed. And it is agreed, that the sums thus assessed, shall be paid in specie, at the places, and to the tribes or individuals hereinafter mentioned, being in conformity with the said assessment, that it is to say.

Library of Congress

To the Wyandots at Upper Sandusky four thousand three hundred and nineteen dollars and thirty-nine cents.

To the Senecas at Lower Sandusky, three thousand, nine hundred and eighty-nine dollars and twenty-four cents.

To the Indians at Lewis and Scoutashas towns, twelve hundred and twenty-seven dollars and fifty cents.

To the Delawares, for the use of the Indians who suffered losses at Greentown and Jeromestown, three thousand nine hundred and fifty-six dollars and fifty cents, to be paid at Wapaghkonetta.

To the representatives of Hembis, a Delaware Indian, three hundred and forty-eight dollars and fifty cents to be paid at Wapaghkonetta.

To the Shawanese an additional sum of four hundred and twenty dollars to be paid at Wapaghkonetta.

673

To the Senecas an additional sum of two hundred and nineteen dollars, to be paid at Wapaghkonetta.

Art. 13th.

And whereas the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars has been paid by the United States to the Shawanese, being one half of five year's annuities due by the treaty of Fort Industry; and whereas the Wyandots contend, that the whole of the annuity secured by that treaty is to be paid to them, and a few persons of the Shawanese and Seneca tribes; now, therefore, the commissioners of the United States, believing that the construction given by the Wyandots to the said treaty, is correct, engage that the United States shall pay to the Wyandots in specie, in the course of the year 1818, the said sum of two thousand five hundred dollars.

Library of Congress

Art. 14th

The United States reserve to the the proper authority the right to make roads through any part of the land granted or reserved by this treaty; and also to the different agents the rights of establishing taverns and ferries for the accommodation of travellers, should the same be found necessary.

Art. 15th.

The tracts of land herein granted to the Chiefs, for the use of the Wyandot, Shawanese, Senecas, and Delaware Indians, and the reserve for the Ottawa Indians, shall not be liable to taxes of any kind, so long as such land continues the property of the said Indians.

Art. 16th

Some of the Ottawa, Chippawa, and Potawatomy tribes, being attached to the Catholic religion, and believing they may wish some of their Children hereafter educated do grant to the rector of the Catholic church of St. Anne, of Detroit,<sup>1</sup> for the use of the said church, and to the corporation of the college of Detroit, for the use of the said college, to be retained or sold, as the said rector and corporation may judge expedient, each one half of three sections of land, to contain six hundred and forty acres on the river Raisin, at a place called Macon; and three sections of Land not yet located, which tracts were reserved for the use of said Indians by the treaty of Detroit, in 1807; and the superintendent of [ illegible ] of Michigan, is authorized on the part of the said Indians to select the said tracts of land.

<sup>1</sup> This stipulation is a recognition of the efforts of Father Richard, rector of Ste. Anne's.

Library of Congress

Art. 17th.

The United States engage to pay to any of the Indians the value of any improvements which they may be obliged to abandon, in consequence of the lines established by this treaty. 85

Art. 18th.

The Delaware tribe of Indians in consideration of the stipulations herein made on the part of the United States, do hereby forever cede to the United States, all the claim which they have to the thirteen sections of land reserved for the use of certain persons of their tribe, by the second section of the act of Congress passed March 3—1807, providing for the disposal of the lands of the United States, between the United States' military tract and the Connecticut Reserve, and the lands of the United States between the Cincinnati and Vincennes districts.

Art. 19th.

The United States agree to grant, by patent, in fee simple, to Zeeshawan, or James Armstrong and to Sanondayourayquan—or Silas Armstrong, chiefs of the Delaware Indians, living on the Sandusky waters, and their successors in office, chiefs of the said tribe, for the use of the persons mentioned in the annexed schedule, in the same manner, and subject to the same conditions, provisions and limitation as are hereinbefore provided for the lands granted to the Wyandots, Senaca, and Shawanese Indians, a tract of land, to contain nine square miles to join the tract granted to the Wyandots of twelve miles square, to be laid off as nearly in a square form as practicable, and to include Captain Pipe's village.

Art 20th.

Library of Congress

The United States also agree to grant, by patent, to the Chiefs of the Ottawas Tribe of Indians, for the use of the said Tribe, a tract of land to contain thirty-four square miles, to be laid out as nearly in a square form as practicable, not interfering with the linen of the tracts reserved by the treaty of Greenville, on the south side of the Miami river, of Lake Erie, and to include Tusquegan or M'Carty's Village; which tracts thus granted shall be held by the said tribes, upon the usual conditions or Indian reservations, as though no patent were issued.

Art 21st.

This treaty shall take effect, and be obligatory on the contracting parties, as soon as same shall have been ratified by the President of the United States, by and with the advice of the counsel thereof.

In testimony whereof, the said Lewis Cass and Duncan McArthur Commissioners as aforesaid, and the sachems, chiefs and warriors of the Wyandot, Seneca, Shawanese, Delaware, Potawatomy, Ottawa and Chippawa tribes of Indians, have hereunto vet their hands, at the foot of the Rapids of the Miami of Lake Erie this twenty-ninth day 675 of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventeen.

MR. WHITE TO MAJOR HOWARD ( Indians )

Drummond Island March 3d 1819

Sir

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letters of the 2nd Instant, calling upon me for the information of the Military Secretary of His Grace the Commander of the Forces, to account for having permitted the amputating Instruments at this station, to be out of order without reporting the same.

Library of Congress

On the 6th of Sept. 1818 when through the Acting Fort Adjutant you directed me to acquaint you, in writing with the state of the surgical Instruments under my charge, I had the honor of reporting to you "they were from length of service so much out of order that in the event of it being necessary for me to perform with them any capital operation, I should not be enabled to do so with the same advantage which might be otherwise derived" meaning thereby that the Instruments 683 were not in that state in which I should wish to make use of them, although I did not consider them altogether unserviceable. I have stated they were out of order (viz't good order) from length of service although, it appears, they have never been used. In making this remark I was guided by their appearance, when delivered over to me, not supposing they were injured otherwise than on service. When I received over the medical stores at the Post, in July 1817, from Hosp. Assistant Robertson, these Instruments were noticed in my receipt to him, as not in good order & I have since that time been in the habit of returning them, as such, in my half yearly Returns of Apothecaries Stores until Sept. 1818 I did not report them officially by letter to my own Department, but I was led into this delay from the circumstances that there was little prospect of their being required, & should such occasion happen they might be used. I beg leave to say that a case of such Instruments have now arrived in serviceable condition.

I have the honor to be Sir Your most obedt Servant M. White Hosp. Assistant

The soldier stationed at the head of the Nottawasaga Creek having reported to me that one of the Store houses at Kempenfeldt had been much injured last Fall by a party of Voyageurs. I have been to Kempenfeldt & examined the Building, the Lower & Upper Floors of which are nearly all missing and from the Information I can collect were made use of for fire wood by a party of men in the employ of the Hudson Bay Company, who went thro this place in the month of November last in charge of Mr. Lacroix Junr. living I believe at 684 Drummond Island—The Depradations committed by people on their way to the Upper Country on the buildings at Kempenfeldt have been so frequent without my being able to gain any knowledge of the offenders, that they are constantly out of repairs, I therefore hope that if the evidence of a man, who heard one of the party acknowledge the burning of the Floors a few days after it took place, is sufficient to convict them, that you will conceive an example is necessary to be made to prevent if possible similar abuses in future—

MAJOR HOWARD TO LIEUT. COL. FOSTER ( Indians )

Drummond Island March 20 1819

Sir ,

The Military Secretary having informed me that it is the intention of His Grace the Commander of the Forces to recommend the construction of a Block House at this station, I consider it proper to mention for the information of His Excellency the Major General commanding that the officers who established this Post, collected materials and intended to erect a Block House on an eminence immediately in rear of the Barracks and Magazines Since the order for suspending Works of defence, some of the materials have been removed to another, (for the purpose of placing the B. H. there) which I do not consider possesses the advantages of the former situation. There is little real and no apparent difference in the elevation of those heights, in perfecting an extensive plan of defense both might be occupied; but as the completion of only one B. H. is intended at present; the height first selected for it appears for many reasons the most eligible. Placed there it will be in contiguity with all the objects requiring protection: and the whole detachment will be concentrated for defence at all periods in their immediate vicinity. The other height is at a considerable distance. from the Barracks and Magazines, which circumstance must on an emergency produce another disadvantage; a separation of the Garrison in its defence.

A Block House or Mortello Tower placed a little nearer the magazines than the original plan intended, will look into them and the Barracks and command both with the approaches to each.

Believing that with a true regard to future circumstances, some peculiar ones of this station; and the security of the publick property: that the height behind the Government building should be the first object of attention, and as I am not aware of any urgent necessity for immediately commencing any work I beg permission to submit to His Excellency the Major General Commanding that should any circumstances prevent the periodical inspection of His grace the Commander of the Forces, that before any work is begun, or any expence incurred for that object, that the station should be examined by an officer of more 687 experience than the subaltern officers of Royal Engineers who were here the last summer.

I have the honor to be Sir Your most obedient humble Servant Thos. Howard Major 70th Regt Comg

MAJOR HOWARD TO LIEUT. COL. FOSTER ( Indians )

Drummond Island March 21-1819

Sir

I have the honor to enclose a requisition for Engineer Stores for the use of this Post.

Library of Congress

It appears from a communication from the Military Secretary of His Grace the Commander of the Forces that some work of defence may be commenced here the ensuing summer. I beg leave to mention for the information of His Excellency the Major Genl. Commanding that the Indian Rights in this territory have not been transferred to His Majesty. It has been communicated by the Indian Dept. (but by what authority I cannot learn) to the chiefs that when any fortification was begun they should receive satisfaction for their claims.

Three years ago the commandant of this Post was directed to assemble the Chippawa Tribe & perfect the purchase of the Island, but after this intention was made known it appeared that the title of Great Britain to their possession had not been formally admitted on the part of the United States & that measure was consequently postponed. The Indian Chiefs of this Territory have frequently importuned me on this subject and when they perceive any work going forward from the circumstance above mentioned, will of course renew these importunities. It would be highly desirable that no person whatever in the Indian Dept. of the Upper Province should be permitted to hold out promises and expectations to the Indians either by Speeches in their Councils or in private conferences; for should they not have received adequate authority and although as in the present instance the expectation of the 688 Indians may probably be realized: the period of time which some persons have taken upon themselves to appoint for the purpose might be ill timed and inconvenient.

It was intended to give the Chiefs and warriors of the Chippawa Tribe an annual present in perpetuity for such parts of this Island & Territory as we chose to occupy. But for a military purpose it would seem more advantageous to possess the whole in perfect—sovereignty and I have reason to believe it would be more satisfactory to those people to complete a cession of the whole for a valuable consideration at one or three annual payments.

This Tribe relinquished their possession to us, with all their rights in Michillimackinac for Five Thousand Pounds New York Currency. St. Josephs was purchased from the same nation for I believe a similar sum and I should not suppose they would expect less for this Island than that amount in Indian Presents to be delivered at this Post; but until the purchase and the manner of it is determined on no inquiry on the subject should be made here.

I beg leave to add that there are no artificers in this detachment who could be depended on for the performance of much labor. There are but two carpenters and one mason of the 70th Regt and these are not good workmen.

I have the honor to be Sir Your most obedient humble Servant Thos. Howard Maj: 70th Regt Comg.

MAJOR HOWARD TO SECRETARY BOWLES ( Indians )

Drummond Island March 21 1819.

Sir

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 1st November & with reference to its last paragraph I made a communication 689 on the 18th Jany to His Excellency the Major General Commanding in the Upper Province which I am informed was transmitted to Head Quarters, I now add the substance of another, relative to the right of the Indians to this possession, which they have not yet transferred to the British Govt. The Chiefs of the Chippawa Nation have been expected here for three years back to receive an adequate compensation for transferring their rights to us. It has also been communicated to them by the Indian Department of the Upper Province, (by whose direction and authority I have not yet learnt) that whenever any fortifications were begun they should immediately receive satisfaction for their claims. Three years ago the commandant at this Post was ordered to assemble the chiefs and warriors of this Tribe and complete the purchase of the Island in a council to be held here: but after this intention was made known, it was postponed because the title of Great Britain to this possession had not been formally admitted on the part of the United States.

Ne-Can-quam, the principal with the other Chiefs of this territory frequently make inquiries on the subject and when they perceive any work going forward, will of course from the circumstances adverted to become more importunate. It would be very desirable that persons belonging to the Indian Department in the Upper Province should be restrained from holding out expectations or making promises to the Indians on any Publick question for which they have not received adequate authority and altho' as in the present instance, the expectation they have raised may eventually be realized, the period which they have taken upon themselves to communicate to the Indians, it would be effected might be an ill-timed and very inconvenient one.

For the possession of such parts of this Island and Territory as we required, it was intended to give the Chiefs to whom it belongs an annual payment in perpetuity but it appears more advantageous for a military purpose (and I have reason to believe it would be much more satisfactory to the Chippawas) to stipulate for the cession of the whole Island and Territory in perfect allodium to His Majesty for a valuable consideration to be paid in three years by three equal annual instalments.

Their Renunciation of the Indian Rights of the Island of Michillimackinac was purchased for Five Thousand Pounds New York Currency. St. Josephs I believe cost the same sum. With regard to this Territory I apprehend the Chippawa Tribe would not consider much less than that amount (in Indian Presents to be delivered here) to be an equitable equivalent for a surrender of their rights but I should not deem it 87 690 advisable to make any inquiry until the purchase and manner of it has been determined on, when it will be necessary to send three sheets of Parchment to this Post as there is none here.

Library of Congress

With further reference to the last paragraph of your letter of 1st November—I beg permission to express the earnest hope I entertain that no occurrence may prevent the intended inspection of His Grace the Commander of the Forces, and the high degree of pleasure I should feel in having the honor to attend him at this remote station.

Drummond Island March 22, 1819

Sir ,

The copy of a requisition for Indian Presents approved by His Grace the Commander of the Forces for the supply of this Station having been forwarded to me, I perceive it differs from one which I had recommended. The Deputy Superintendant for Indian Affairs in the Upper Province appears to have made no provisions for a very probable event, the arrival at this Post of the distant Western Nations in the course of the next summer: the requisition which I recommended contemplated that Event. A supply for these nations being included in the annual requisition to England for Indian Presents for the Canadas. I enclose copies of both requisitions, and also the copy of another, showing what more is necessary to be sent, should these people visit us. I do not perceive that any loss could arise to the Publick from those articles being deposited here in the Storekeeper Generals Magazine and retained solely for their use and that measure appears 691 to be necessary from the period of their arrival being so very uncertain—I beg leave therefore to submit it to the consideration of His Excellency the Major Genl. Commanding with a view that should he perceive no objection it may be recommended.

Those Indians have been steady and faithful to our interest, and after their coming so far, it would be an awkward and ungracious proceeding to send them away empty handed.

Drummond Island March 22 1819.

Sir ,

The desire of His Grace the Commander of the Forces having been communicated to me that I should submit for his consideration any arrangement I had to propose for the comfort and security of this Garrison, I have the honor to enclose for his information the copy of a letter to Lieut. Col. Foster & to refer to another dated Jany. 18th addressed to that officer for the information of His Excellency the Major General Commanding in the Upper Province, which he informs me has been transmitted to Head Quarters. I have further to remark that I consider this period favourable for an inspection of the station, particularly if any alterations are intended. The Government Buildings from having been hastily and imperfectly constructed, are rapidly falling to pieces. They must be replaced or rebuilt in the course of two or three years.

With a view to the circumstances to which I have adverted and the protection of a Naval Establishment it appears desirable that no fortification should be erected until such an inspection has been made, as occupying the insulated height (to which I have stated some objections which occurred to me) might either interfere with or impede a general measure of improvement, which upon a further survey of the Post may be considered eligible.

There are no military artificers here who could be depended on for the performance of much labor, there are only two carpenters & one mason and none of them are good workmen.

A cooking House for the men is much wanted. The frame of a small building was set up for that purpose three years ago, and remains unfinished.

I have the honor to be Sir your most obedient humble servant.

I beg leave to call your attention to the arrangements which will be necessary for accommodating the proper encreased Garrison of Drummonds Island; nor is it only at the present moment that some alterations have become necessary as for a long time improvement in the Buildings occupied as Barracks and Stores, has been anxiously desired and the inconvenience of their present State seriously felt, In the 694 accompanying sketch you will see the Buildings as they now exist and observe the purposes to which they are applied; in order to encrease their number I propose the removal of a large Store belonging to Government on the Island of St. Joseph which is now progressing rapidly to decay, If this building were divided between the Barrack Master and Person in charge of Ordnance Stores a considerable increase of Barrack Room would be procured, enough indeed for the accommodation of the Troops. The Expence of this removal and of the repairs generally required would in my opinion amount to the sum of £350 exceeding but by a trifle the proposed sum in the General Estimate for 1819. The advantages consequent on these improvements are so obvious as to require no further comment.

Library of Congress

The officers with the exception of the Commandant have hitherto been obliged to furnish themselves with small Huts transferring them to their immediate Successors, As however the number of private Houses is only calculated for the present limited Garrison arrangements are necessary to supply with Quarters those officers who otherwise must build at much expense and inconvenience Houses for their own Shelter. This object might be attained by the removal of another Large and excellent House belonging to Government at the Island of Saint Joseph; and as it was originally purchased at a very high price and will if not removed ere long become a heap of Ruins. I think this project though expensive is highly prudent; In order to carry into effect all the services enumerated in this Letter. I beg leave most strongly to recommend that six or eight Carpenters two or three Masons, and an equal number of smiths may accompany the Troops ordered to Drummonds Island as it is impossible to procure work-men at that place but at the rate of 7s 6d per diem or upwards. I have frequently urged the necessity of some good Ships Boat being attached to the Department at the Island, and I now again state that necessity and the ease with which it might be conveyed from Penetanguishene, that there are several now little used at the latter place I cannot doubt and I am sure that the Naval Department would readily relinquish one.

Royal Engineers Office Quebec 27th April 1819

Sir

Lieutenants Willson and Walpole Royal Engineers have solicited leave of absence to visit England upon urgent private affairs and which front a personal interview with His Grace the Commander of the Forces, he seems inclined to grant them about the latter end of September next (it appearing to me advisable from the absence on leave, of several officers of the Corps who have not returned to the station, to retain these officers nearly through the Summer) I beg to request that Lieutenant Portlock may be notified to proceed as soon as practicable to Drummond's Island and Amherstburg so as to reach the latter post by the middle of September.

On my mentioning to Lieutenant Portlock my intention with regard to the above removal He has submitted to me a letter (of which the enclosed is a copy) and Plan which I request you will lay before His Grace the Commander of the Forces respecting some arrangements and accommodations that may be required at Drummond Island respecting

CAPTAIN REED TO THE ASS'T ADJT GENERAL ( Relations with United States )

Amherstburg 27th July 1819

Sir ,

I have the honor to Report the Desertion of 2 Privates of the 68th Regiment from this Post on the 22d Inst: and the Circumstances attending it for the information of His Grace the Governor General.

On the 19th inst. a sloop full of American Troops anchored in the River near this place, and from the calm weather were detained till the morning of the 21st. On that day the sloop proceeded on her voyage having a very light wind<sup>1</sup> & it appears the two deserters went up the Sandwich Road till within 3 or 4 miles of that place when beckoning to the vessel, with their hands, a boat was allowed or ordered by the officer who Commanded on Board to proceed to the British shore and take them off which was done. The boat was manned with soldiers no sailors whatever belonging to the Sloop in it The same night the Deserters Landed in Detroit.

Having the next morning received information of these Circumstances I requested Lieut. Wilson of the Royal Engineers to proceed to Detroit and State the occurrence to Major General Maccomb Commanding the U. S. Forces at that place. The Major General expressed his disapprobation of this transaction and wrote an order in Lieut Wilson's presence Directing the officer who Commanded on Board at the time, a Captain of the 3d Regiment U. S. Inf. (but whose name I am not certain of) to consider himself under arrest, and prepare for a General Court Martial, adding he concluded there would be sufficient Evidence from the Captain and Mate of the Vessel and Surgeon of the Troops.

The two former in a conversation with Lieut. Wilson (as well as other information I had received) clearly exonerating themselves from any part in the transaction.

I transmit herewith an affidavit made before a Magistrate by T Murphy a respectable inhabitant in the Petit Cote who was a witness of this affair.

MEMORIAL

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland Knight Commander of the most Honorable Military Order of the Bath, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada &c. &c.

The Memorial of Sundry Inhabitants of Amherstburg and its vicinity and of Sandwich & its vicinity.

Most respectfully sheweth,

Library of Congress

That with perfect deference to all the authorities above them your memorialists are humbly of opinion, that the purchase of the Indian tract, or such parts thereof as may be found advisable, in the immediate vicinity of Amherstburg, commonly called the Huron Reserve, on terms liberal and favorable to the Indians at present occupying it; would be desirable for the Public at large, and essentially important to this district, in particular; and they beg, as grounds for their opinion, most respectfully to submit the following reasons vizt—

1stly. That the Huron Indians at present occupying the above tract, tho appearing to have a fair claim to it, yet are not the original Proprietors: By reason of this Claim and of their devoted fidelity during the last war, they however deserve the highest and most liberal consideration of the Government.

2ndly. That they are few in number not axceeding, according to the most correct idea we can form, Ninety Persons.

3rdly. That the general occupation of the land, is in a great measure. useless to them—nay in some degree pernicious—and is a powerful Carrier<sup>1</sup> to the improvement and security of the Frontier in general;

1 Barrier.

702 and particularly to the improvement of this Town and safety of His Majesty's Fort.

With these grounds coincide the private wishes of your memorialists whose individual and public interests concur in rendering the purchase especially desirable to them: but they trust that they have no wish on this subject, independant of, or separate from, the public good and if any such appear, they doubt not, as they themselves would desire, that every such private and separate interest will be entirely and utterly set aside, while the public interests only are consulted—

They will not presume to indicate the measures, or method of the measures to be taken. They humbly conceive no serious difficulty exists, and, they trust, they need not add, that they desire, as the essential ground work of every thing that may be done, a perfectly liberal permanent and secure provision, both in land and in annuity to every Indian family which has at present any real claim and establishment open it.

And your memorialists, as in duty bound will ever pray—<sup>1</sup>

LIEUT. COL. HAWKINS TO SECRETARY BOWLES ( Indians )

Amherstburg 8th Sept. 1819.

Sir

I have the honor to inform you that about a fortnight since an Indian left at my quarters the enclosed Paper marked No. 1 and a few days

See p. 704.

704 afterwards a chief accompanied by an Interpreter Called on me to enquire if I would grant them time interview they desired. I told them that I should at any time be willing to hear what they had to say, and on the 1st Inst, a party of Chiefs waited on me and gave me time Paper marked No 2 with the memorial contained in it which they stated conveyed the Ideas and Sentiments of the 11 Nations of Indians, & on the reply to which much of their happiness rested. They therefore hoped it would travel under the earth from my hand to His Grace's. It is with much regret that I forward a document conveying so much concern on the conduct of Mr. Askin, without his having the means of clearing himself, but the Indians would not suffer me to communicate with him on the subject. The whole contents of the first sheet appear to be a party statement in favor of Mr. Caldwell, who is a great favorite with the Huron Indians, and whose house was always open to them, during His Superintendancy in fact he is said to have made associates of them, it therefore follows as a matter of course that Mr. Askin (who certainly appears to keep them more at a distance) must be unpopular with them, but I've not myself seen anything unfair or improper in his conduct, tho' they tell me in the Paper marked No 2, "that I have observed his contemptuous manner in issuing their Father's presents." I shall take the earliest opportunity of acquainting you with the result of any inquiries I may have it in my power to make, and shall feel much obliged by your informing me, as soon as possible, if I have done wrong in forwarding those papers, as I assure I consider it a very disagreeable duty.

I have the honor to be Dear Sir Yours faithfully D.C. Hawkins .1 Lt Col. Comg.

Return of Quarters occupied by the Troop on the Detroit Frontier .

Buildings No. of berths. No. of men will contain Remarks. 1. Log building. A small building used as a guard-house within the stockading, and of which the Engineer Department occupy one room as a store room. This building was erected by the Americans, and is in a good repair. 2. An Hospital. Log. building. Erected by order of Lieut. Col. James. It is situated outside the works, capable of holding thirty men, with a kitchen and privy, all within a stockaded fence. This building was run up in a hurry in order to receive the sick before the winter set in, as they had previously been in very indifferent hospital quarters, and no suitable house for hire. 3. Engineers' Quarters Vide Lieut. Col. James' letter in answer to Major General De Wattville, 20th February, 1816. This is called the Engineer's Quarters with stabling, kitchen, etc., detached. Begun by Lieut. Portlock and completed by Lieut. Victor. 4. Log barracks. 76 152 This building is near the town. It, and the hospital, were chiefly built of the logs purchased by order of Lieut. Col. James, at half a dollar each, from the American Quartermaster General. It is badly covered in, the shingling part of the roof, being taken from an old barrack, which had been occupied by the Americans within the works. 5. Log House. A log house repaired by the engineer, and the master carpenter, an idle lazy man, put into possession of it by that department. This building stands on private ground. That is to say it stands on a town grant from a former commandant. It is a snug quarter for an officer. 6. House. A house in a ruinous state, barely repairable; however, the situation is good and near the wharf and covers much ground; it is at present used as a commissariat issuing stores, and also storage for other commissariat articles. 7. A house hired from J. Robinson. 31 62 Hired from an inhabitant at 6 dollars per month, by order of Lieut. Col. James, when the two companies were reported to him as on their march from Chippewa. It has been filled up with births and is an excellent barrack. Houses are so very scarce and much rose in rent, that Lieut. Col. James directed it to be repaired until more general barracks can be erected. It has been occupied as an hospital for five months, and is now in good repair. 707 8. Caldwell's barn. 116 230 Mr. Wm. Caldwell's barn, hired by Major Brock as a barrack, as per the following agreement: This agreement was entered into during Lieut. Col. James' absence at Kingston, last August. This barn is a bad winter barrack and a worse summer one; in a tottering state, but has cost a considerable sum to put it in its present repair. 9. School House. (Sandwich) 160 A school house at Sandwich, which, having been built by subscription, although called the public school house, is private property, is at present a good barrack, and could be made an excellent one for 200 men; however, the expense of a regular block house would cost very little more, and possess superior advantages. 10. A small log house at Sandwich. Occupied as a guard house, hired of an inhabitant at five dollars per month.

APPENDIX

APPENDIX BY JOSEPH GREUSEL.

Appendix, notes explanatory of the contents of Vol. XVI.

The numbers in the margin indicate the pages to which the notes refer.

1. The proclamation of Capt. Andrew Bulger with which this volume opens, and the narrative of the proceedings of the court of inquiry which follows it, discloses a state of feeling, the reasons for which are not hard to seek. The aggressive center of Canadian influence as respects the Western country was at Montreal. This influence was that of the Northwest Fur Company. It was not a chartered company, but a partnership. The agent of the company, or leading partner, was Hon. William McGillivray, closely supported by Simon McTavish, the Camerons, Richardsons, McGills and others of wealth and influence. They had behind them the "Beaver Club," a famous social club of Montreal, the membership of which was limited and no new members could be received but officers who had endured the hardships of the fur traders' country. The Beaver Club was potent in administrative circles, and its hospitality was of the most magnificent order, a matter in which the members took great pride. The fur traders and the Beaver Club were opposed to colonization of the western lands, or to any steps that might lead to colonization. Their business was to keep the country in a wild state for the sake of the fur trade. The Beaver Club members at Montreal were the men who brought about the capture of Mackinac, and who pressed forward the expeditions to the Mississippi, hoping to hold the regions of American territory by "conquest," believing that would give an absolute claim to the territory, and that it would revert to Great Britain when peace came to be made.

Library of Congress

In this they were grievously disappointed. Looking back to see who might be at fault for want of energy in holding this "conquered territory" it was discovered, that in a small way, complaint might be laid against Joseph Rolette; hence the effort to punish him for treason.

1. Robert Dickson, Lieut. Col. Indian department, was a most competent, active and indefatigable man, of potent influence in arraying the Indians against the Americans. He was a native of Dumfries and commanded the Sioux and other Indians at Mackinac. He was awarded a land grant. He died at Drummond Island, June 20th, 1823, aged 55 years. See Mich. His. Colls. Vol. XV.

1. Joseph Rolette of Quebec, an Indian trader of Mackinac and the Green Bay region, working under Dickson, was Captain in the Indian department, commanding the so-called Mississippi Volunteers at Prairie du Chien. He was a brother of a brave sailor under Nelson, who became a naval officer on the lakes and fought under Barclay at Put-in-Bay. Joseph Rolette continued business after the war as a trader in Wisconsin and the upper Mississippi.

2. Captain Andrew Bulger, an officer of the Royal Newfoundland regiment of the garrison at Mackinac, and in several actions in that vicinity, went to Prairie du Chien on the Mississippi, after the re-capture of that place by Lieutenant Colonel William McKay. He was present at the 1781 surrender of Detroit, and awarded a medal and clasp. In 1822 he was governor of the Red River territory. He was born at St. Johns, Newfoundland, Nov. 30, 1789, and participated in sixteen engagements. He died at Montreal, 1858.

2. Thomas Gummersall Anderson was born at Sorel, 1779; died at Toronto, 1875, aged 96 years. He was an extensive trader, appointed Captain in the Indian Department by Col. Robert McDouall. He was with McKay at Prairie du Chien, July 1814. Anderson and Rolette raised 63 men in two days who were armed and clothed by McDouall. Anderson called his company the Mississippi Volunteers, as they expected to operate on that river.

2. Lieutenant James Pullman was a subaltern officer in the Michigan Fencibles, appointed commissary and barrack master at Fort McKay, at Prairie du Chien, Feb. 25th, 1815. He received a land grant after the treaty of peace.

2. The Michigan Fencibles were militia raised at Mackinac by Mr. Bailey of the commissariat at that fort. Bailey was not allowed to go with them, his duties at Mackinac preventing. The men were Canadians, enlisted from the service of the Indian traders; not much reliance was placed on their effectiveness as soldiers. The only warrant for styling them "Michigan Fencibles" was that these Canadians were sojourning in Michigan territory when the company was organized.

2. Lieutenant James Keating, of Anderson's Mississippi company, a short-lived organization. He had been a sergeant in the Royal Artillery, and was made a lieutenant for service at Prairie du Chien. Received a silver medal for army service 1793–1814, with clasp "Martinique."

4. Wabasha; called also a LaFeuille, or The Leaf, was a Sioux chief who espoused the cause of the British. By reason of his ability and leadership, he was commissioned general. He participated in 1780 in the St. Louis expedition. He visited Quebec several times where he was given medals and flags. His son bore the same name, and fought with the British in 1812–15. He died in 1848. He must not be confounded with Wabashish, the

Marten. The latter was of the Menominee nation. His grand-daughter Marinette a bright, intelligent, beautiful and highly esteemed woman was twice married, both times to white men. Her first husband was John B. Jacobs; her second William Farnsworth. From this woman was named the city of Marinette, Wisconsin, opposite to Menominee, Michigan. But Wabasha, or "The Leaf," was of the Sioux, and fought the battle of the Thames; his home being far distant from the Menominee. He probably never met Wabashish, who was the elder of the two.

5. Michael Brisbois born in Canada, 1759; died at Prairie du Chien, 1837, having become blind at his seventieth year. He took part in Montgomery's invasion of Canada in 1775. He engaged in the fur trade at Mackinac in 1779, but removed to Prairie du Chien in 1780, where he lived with a Winnebago Indian woman; several children being born to them. In 1796 he married the daughter of Charles Gautier, a French settler. Brisbois was commissioned a lieutenant by the governor of Illinois territory in 1809, but being disposed to the British cause, was not active. When Col. McKay in 1814 moved from Mackinac to capture Prairie du Chien, he went with him as a lieutenant of volunteers being attached to the British Indian department. Having never resigned from the Illinois militia, he was tried at St. Louis in 1816 for treason. Col. Thomas H. Benton defended him, and secured his acquittal.

6. Francis Michael Dease, with his company served under McKay in the attack on the fort called McKay after its capture by Lieutenant Col. McKay, but better known by the Americans by its old appellation, Fort Shelby, and afterward called Fort Crawford, after the Secretary of War. Dease's answers to the question give sufficient information about his official services. For not on Capt. Dease see also appendix 60.

10. The name should be written, Joseph Rainville. He was a fur-trader, in the country thereabout, was appointed interpreter for the Sioux by Sir John Johnson in 1786 at the request of merchants of Montreal. At that 713 period a war existed between the Ottawas. Chippewas, Menominees and Winnebagoes, and the Sacs, Foxes and Sioux. This put a stop to the operations of the traders, and it was hoped to reconcile the warring nations by sending influential interpreters to each tribe. Rainville served the British Indian Department in that capacity down to the close of the war of 1812, some nineteen years. He served as lieutenant in Dease's company of militia. He was at Fort Meigs, May 2–9th, 1813, and received a land grant.

10. The name of this tribe appears as Sauk, Saukie and Saulk, but is more correctly Sac. They united with the Foxes originally from Michigan, but about, the time of the French occupation, being forced westward, they eventually took up their homes on the Mississippi. The new nation is usually spoken of as the Sacs and Foxes. In 1742 the Foxes besieged Detroit for three weeks, but were driven away. They made a last stand, and suffered a severe defeat at the little stream that crosses Jefferson Avenue known as Fox Creek.

13. The Ottawas were, by the French, mostly spoken of as the “Court Orielles,” meaning Short Ears.

13. McKay first appears in the war records as captain of Canadian voyageurs. who fought at St. Regis and La Colle, Oct. and Nov. 1812. Next captain of the 5th battalion of “La Milice d'Elite Incorporee,” the, “select embodied militia of Lower Canada,” March 16th, 1813; then as captain of the “Michigan Fencibles,” organized from Canadians at Mackinac, Jan. 25th, 1814; major, April 15th, 1814. His greatest distinction was as lieutenant-colonel in command of the expedition to Prairie du Chien where he captured Fort Shelby, surrendered to him by Capt. Joseph Perkins, commanding the United States troops, July 19th, 1814, whose ammunition was nearly exhausted, and his force outnumbered.

The 5th battalion embodied militia known as the “Devil's Own.” As a result of some special inspections and reports the regiment was reorganized as the “Canadian Chasseurs.” McKay received a grant of land.

14. "Mauch Rouge;" no doubt intended for Mouche Rouge, red patch, (on the face). Probably a nickname for a band of Indians, who customarily painted spots on their cheeks. The nation they belonged to cannot be certainly given; probably they were of the Sioux.
15. The French usually spoke of the Winnebagoes as Puants, literally the Stinkards. The Winnebagoes when equipped for the march or for war, wore skunk skins on their legs, the odor of which was naturally offensive.
16. Fort Meigs was built in February, 1813, by the Americans on the Maumee River above the present town of Perrysburg, and five miles up stream from old Fort Miami, built in 1785. Eight miles farther up stream is Gen. Wayne's battle ground of Fallen Timbers of Aug. 20th, 1794. The Battle of Fort Meigs, sometimes spoken of as the battle of the Miamis, occurred May 5th, 1813. The British under Proctor was 1065 regulars and militia, and 1,200 Indians under Tecumseh. The British and Indians captured 22 United States regulars and 432 Kentucky militia. In his report of the action Major Peter L. Chambers of the British regulars remarks; "It is with regret that I state that a dreadful slaughter commenced on the arrival of the prisoners at our encampment. The Indians could not be repressed. From the best information I can get, the number of the enemy (Americans) was 1,300. After the arrangement for exchange of prisoners was made, the Indians left us hourly." But a small number were left with Tecumseh. And now it seems the, court of inquiry, and Rolette's enemies, are trying to reproach him and his Indian relative, Itassippah, with the desertion of the Indian contingent when the expedition to Fort Meigs was obliged to retreat.
17. The name is properly Joseph Rocque. He was appointed interpreter with the Sioux in 1786, at the same time as Rainville, and continued with the latter to serve in that capacity with the British Indian Department. Received a land grant for services during the war.
18. Capt. Charles Roberts, 10th Royal Veterans battalion, expedition from St. Joseph's Island to Mackinac, resulted in the capture of that place July 90 714 17th, 1812, this same "Canadian Volunteers" marched with him under command of Major Toussaint Pothier, Sr. It was then called "Canadians," "Canadian Voyageurs," and "Corps of Voyageurs;" under Major Crawford the name changed to "Canadian Volunteers." It might be noted in passing that while honors and grants were bestowed for trivial services. Capt. Roberts, who received the surrender of Mackinac, and achieved the first success of the war, had the honor of commanding the expedition as his sole reward.

21. The American Indian agent at Sioux Portage, which is near St. Louis, was named N. Boileau. As he was active in counteracting the influence of Dickson among the Indians on the upper Mississippi it is probable that Boileau was the person meant, because a letter from Boileau to Joseph Roe, (Rocque) written Dec. 1812, advising him to tell the Sioux to remain quiet, appears in Vol. XV, p. 196.

22. Duncan Graham of Mackinac, appointed a lieutenant in the Indian Department, served with the militia in McKay's expedition. Made captain Sept. 6th, 1814; given a land grant.

27. Colonel Robert McDouall, commanding the British forces in the district of Mackinac. He was a British officer of attainments, and in high favor. With few exceptions, the name usually appears in these transcriptions as McDonall. He always wrote it McDouall. The error is due to the copyists and the habit of following the common form of spelling the name. He was cornet, 26th light dragoons, 1796; captain 8th foot, 1804, the regiment coming to Canada in 1810; aid-de-camp to Lieut. Gen. Sir George Prevost, Aug. 31st. 1812; major light infantry battalion, (militia organization) April to November, 1813; lieutenant colonel, 8th foot, 1813; commanded at Mackinac; put on half pay, 1816; Knight commander of the Bath, 1817; baronet; major general, 1841; died, 1848; given medal "Martinique" clasp.

27. Lieutenant, later Brigadier General Zebulon M. Pike, killed at the battle at York, Toronto, April 27th, 1813. Lieut. Pike, explored the upper Mississippi in 1804. and commanded an expedition to the Rocky Mountains in which he discovered, 1806, the lofty mountain named for him, Pike's Peak.

33. John Askin Jr., interpreter, commissary agent for Indians at Mackinac. His home was formerly at Detroit, where his father, also named John, was prominent in public affairs and owned much land and property. The Askins moved to Sandwich. when affairs took on a dubious aspect, previous to 1812. Several of the family were active during the war; none more so than John Askin, Jr. Their connection was influential and their position recognized as notable and loyal subjects. The descendants of Askin are leading citizens of Essex County, Ontario.

33. Strouds, at the period in question, was the common name for broadcloth. This long and heavy list of valuable articles of all sorts, for wear and adornment. weapons and domestic utensils, tobacco, powder, flags, jewelry and "scarlet coats for chiefs," goes to show that the British government spared no expense to win and retain the services of the Indians. They were also liberally supplied with provisions in large quantites, but these articles are not specified in the list.

38. Major General Alexander Macomb. born at Detroit, April 13th, 1782; died at Washington, June 25th. 1841. He defeated the British army under Sir George Prevost at Plattsburg, Sept. 11th, 1814; was commander-in-chief of the army of the United States, 1828–41.

38. Major-General Francis Baron De Rottenburg, an active officer, was in command during the war of the British forces operating in the Lake Ontario district. He first appears in military life as major in Hompesch's Hussars, 1795; lieutenant colonel 60th Foot, 1797. His "Exercises for Rifleman and Light Infantry," was adopted for use in the British army; commanded Light Infantry in attack on Walcheren Island and seige of Flushing, Holland, 1809; major general, 1810; took command of Montreal district, July 6th, 1812, and of Upper Canada, 1813; in command of the "Left Division," (Niagara to Detroit River) 1814–

15; lieutenant general 1819; died at Portsmouth, England, 1832. He administered the civil government of Upper Canada during parts of the year 1813–14. His 715 son, Col. George Baron De Rottenburg, K. C. B. was adjutant general, U. C. Militia 1855–58.

38. Sir George Prevost, British general, born at New York, May 19th, 1767; died at Belmont, England, Jan. 5th, 1816. He was commander-in-chief of the British forces in North America, and was defeated by Macomb at the battle of Plattsburg. He also exercised the civil office of captain-general and governor-in-chief of Canada, during the war period. Created a baronet, 1805; lieutenant general 1811; granted gold medal Martinique.

39. George Crookshank, was assistant commissary general of the British army and during the war overcame many difficulties that beset the transportation of supplies.

39. Sir Gordon Drummond, lieutenant general in principal command of the right division, which included the region from the Niagara to the Detroit River and the upper lakes. Son of Colin Drummond, deputy paymaster general; born Quebec, 1771, ensign, 1st Foot, 1789; lieutenant 1791; captain, 1792; major, 1794; lieutenant colonel 8th, April 22nd, 1794; colonel, Jan. 1st, 1798; served in Holland, Minorca, Egypt, 1801; major general 1805; lieutenant general, June 4th, 1811. Commanded at Oswego, Lundy's Lane, (severely wounded). Knight commander of the Bath, 1815; G. C. B., 1817; colonel 71st Jan. 1824; general, May, 1825; died London, 1854. President administering the government of Upper Canada, 1813–14.

40. Captain Noah Freer, military secretary to Sir George Prevost, a capable and sagacious officer. Ensign Nova Scotia Fencibles, 1810; lieutenant Canadian Fencibles, June, 1812; captain 1813; went on half pay, 1816; given medal "Chateaugay;" was cashier of the Quebec bank; in 1824 he married Miss Anderson, niece of Philip Van Cortlandt.

43. Sir John Johnson, colonel, superintendent general of Indian affairs, was born at Johnstown, New York, in 1742, and died in Montreal, Jan. 4th, 1830. He was a British officer in the Revolutionary war, and son of Sir William Johnson, first baronet, the very celebrated superintendent of Indian affairs in the American colonies. He succeeded his father as 2nd baronet, 1774; knighted Nov. 22nd, 1765; colonel, 1782.

43. As Dickson had prosecuted Rolette before the court of inquiry on a charge of sedition, and manifested ill-will toward the latter, it is strange that he did not bring this new accusation against Rolette to the attention of the court.

44. These western Indians, at Dickson's solicitation, had marched many miles from their homes on the Mississippi to fight for the British cause in the upper lakes and about the River Detroit. After Proctor's defeat at the Thames and the death of Tecumseh, they lost heart and straggled home to Wisconsin and the Mississippi.

45. Major General Sir Isaac Brock, K. B., born at Guernsey in the Channel Islands, killed in action at Queenston near Niagara Falls, Oct. 13th, 1812. He captured Hull's army at Detroit, Aug. 16th, 1812, and was knighted for this success. Gen. Brock is the popular Canadian hero of the war of 1812. He administered the government of Upper Canada, Oct. 1811, to Oct. 1812; ensign 8th, 1785; captain 49th, 1791; served in Holland, wounded; was at Copenhagen, etc.; gold medal for capture of Detroit; Knight of the Bath, Feb. 6th, 1813.

45. For biography of Gen. Proctor see Vol. XV this series.

45. The Shawnee chief and warrior, Tecumseh, (Crouching Panther) written sometimes Tecumseth, and Roundhead, a Wyandot chief, were noted Indian warriors. The former pre-eminent as a leader, and the latter ranking next to him. Tecumseh was present at the Brownstown and Monguagon, Detroit, Frenchtown, and Moraviantown, where he was killed. "A more sagacious or a more gallant warrior does not, I believe, exist. He was the admiration of every one who conversed with him." Gen. Brock to Lord Liverpool, Aug. 29th, 1812.

45. The signature here appears as J. G. Chambers. It is an error of transcription. The proper name of this officer is Major Peter Latouche Chambers, a captain at the beginning of the war in the 41st British regiment stationed at Fort Malden. Chambers served as deputy assistant quarter-master 716 general and was with Proctor during his incursion into the Maumee region, at Fort Meigs and elsewhere, and in active service throughout the war. Ensign, 41st, 1803; lieutenant, 1806; captain, 1808; brevet major, Feb. 25th, 1815. Gold medal for being present at surrender of Detroit.

46. Major General Richard Stovin, in the field as commander at Montreal and the St. Lawrence district; present at Fort Erie; ensign 17th, 1780; captain, 1788; lieutenant colonel, 1798; major general, June 4th, 1811.

46. James Baby, a colonel of the Essex militia, and a member, for sometime president, of the legislative council of Upper Canada. His house at Sandwich, still standing, was used by Hull as his headquarters when he invaded Canada, July 12th, 1812. The house was successively, for short periods, used by Generals Brock and Harrison. He performed many useful services for the British cause, and justly held a high station, socially and intellectually. This quotation from R. B. McAfee's history of 1812, published at Lexington, Ky., in 1818: "On the part of the British, Colonel James Baby acted with generosity and friendship, and Colonel Elliott with Major Muir were likewise found on the side of humanity in many serviceable acts," refers to the battle of the Raisin, and the massacre there of the prisoners by the Indians, Jan. 22nd, 1813. Colonel of militia, western district; awarded a land grant; eldest son of Duperon Baby; born at Detroit, 1763; died Toronto, 1828. Often written of as Jacques Baby, the French for James.

47. "Indian corn, six to twelve dollars a bushel," at Mackinac from June, 1814, to Feb. 1815, indicates the scant supplies afforded the garrison there. It was with the utmost difficulty that provisions reached that place from Montreal, via Ottawa River, and Georgian Bay route.

47. After the defeat of Proctor, Oct. 5th, 1814, by Harrison at the Battle of the Thames, the Indians were a heavy burden on the British commissary department. The re-occupation of Detroit interrupted the line of communication, and the Indians were kept in the Lake Ontario country. As Gen. Drummond says. "It was difficult almost impossible to get them away." At this time they were of little service to the army.

47. Col. William Claus was superintendent general of indians. He had much to do with the original enlistment of Indians in the British army. Robert Dickson, was the most active subordinate of Claus in this work. Claus was colonel of militia in the district between Queenston and Niagara. Born at Williamsburg. N Y., 1765; served in the Rangers in the Revolution; captain 60th Foot, 1795; deputy superintendent general of Indian affairs at Niagara; died there, 1826; member executive council, 1818.

48. James Monroe, 1758–1831, fifth president of the United States. Served in the Revolutionary war; in the Virginia legislature; member of congress, 1783–86: United States senator from Virginia, 1790–94; minister to France. 1794–96; governor of Virginia, 1799–1802: was one of the negotiators of the Louisiana Purchase; minister to Great Britian, 1803–7; secretary of state, 1811–17, and secretary of war, 1814–15; elected president in 1816: re-elected, 1820. His administration is best remembered for the purchase of Florida, 1819, the Missouri Compromise, 1820, and the "Monroe Doctrine," 1823.

48. Captain Colley Lyons Lucas Foster, military secretary to Lieut. Gen. Gordon Drummond. This letter closed hostile demonstrations by the contending armies. He was ensign, 52nd, 1799; captain, 1804; lieutenant colonel militia, 1812; on half-pay from 6th West India regiment; brevet lieutenant colonel, 1815; colonel, 1837; served in the Peninsula (Spain). 1808; military secretary to governor of Jamaica, 1809; A. D. C. to Gen. Grummond in Ireland, 1811; assistant adjutant general to the forces in Canada, 1815, to his death at Kingston, U. C. in 1843.

48. Presque Isle, now Erie, Pennsylvania. The information was for the benefit of the British commanders in Canada. There were difficulties in acquiring it and the answers were not received until after the peace.

49. Lieutenant Colonel James was at this time in command at Burlington bay at the head of Lake Ontario. The news he received was of an American 717 scouting party on a raid, an inconsequential affair, but apparently alarming to Lieutenant General Drummond.

50. The Huron chief, Split Log, first appears in this war with the force of Major A. H. Muir. in the neighborhood of Fort Wayne, in Sept. 1812. He was at the battle and massacre of the Raisin, Jan. 22nd, 1813. in May, 1814, he with Blackbird, disgusted with the short allowances made his warriors, being then near the Niagara frontier, cut lose from the command, retired toward Lake Huron, and was believed to have expressed wishes to make peace with the Americans.

50. Sir James Lucas Yeo, K. C. B. commander-in-chief on the lakes, was the British ranking naval commander in Canada. He was employed on Lake Ontario in cruises, back and forth, hide and seek, actions with Commodore Chauncey during 1812–13 and 14. It appears from the context that he had this winter looked up the chances of getting a fleet constructed that would control Lake Huron. He found the prospect not encouraging. Sir James L. Yeo was born 1782; entered the navy, 1793; lieutenant, 1797; present at the siege of Genoa and at Muros bay where he assisted at the capture of the "Confiance," a French privateer which he afterwards commanded. Commander, June 1805; captain, Dec. 1807. Captured Cayenne, 1809, for which he was made a Knight of St. Benito d'Avis, by the Prince Regent of Portugal. Knighted, June, 1810. Served in the West Indies, 1811. Arrived at Quebec, May 5th, 1813, to take command on the lakes; commander-in-chief on the Lakes, Jan. 1814; took Oswego, 1814; commander-in-chief West African coast, 1815; Knight Commander of the Bath, Jan. 1815. He died August, 1818.

51. Sir Anthony St. John Baker after the treaty was concluded at Ghent, was sent as British charge d'affaires at Washington. He was formally received as such Feb. 22nd, 1815. It will be noticed that this communication of his is dated Feb. 17th, 1815. He remained in office at Washington until March 18th, 1816. His predecessor was Augustus John Foster, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary.

52. The deep channel of the Detroit River, and the one always taken on that account, is between Bols Blanc Island and Amherstburg, and strictly in Canadian waters. The island was claimed by Americans, but the commissioner appointed to settle ownership, allotted Bols Blanc to Canada, although strictly speaking, it is in American waters. But the treaty of 1782, gave each nation equal rights of navigation on either side of the national boundary in the waters of the great lakes. In recent years, the American government with the consent of Canada, has expended millions of dollars in deepening the channel there, known as the Lime Kiln Crossing. Beginning in 1908, and still in course of excavation, is a channel which leads west of Bols Blanc in American waters, intended to relieve the congestion of vessels in the Canadian Channel. This new channel is known as the Livingston channel. The name Bols Blanc, French for Whitewood, comes from the original forest growth.

53. British commissioners. James Gambler, a British admiral, born at New Providence, Bahama Islands, 1756, his father being governor of the Bahamas; died in London, 1833. He saw much sea-service being in the navy in the war of the Revolution. He was made a rear admiral, and vice-admiral in 1799; a full admiral in 1815. Gambler commanded the fleet at the attack of Copenhagen in 1805, and for his conduct there was given a peerage under title of Baron Gambler; commanded Channel fleet, 1808–11.

53. Henry Goulburn, 1784–1856; an English politician of some celebrity; chancellor of the exchequer, 1828–30 and 1841–46; home secretary, 1834–35.

53. American commissioners. John Quincy Adams, was the son of John Adams, second president of the United States, and became the sixth president, 1825–29. He was American minister to the Netherlands, 1794–97; minister to Russia, 1797–1801, 1809–14, and to England, 1815–17; secretary of State, 1817–25. In 1824 candidate for president; there being no choice by the electors, the House of Representatives chose Adams. Gen. Jackson defeated him in 1828, when nominated for a second term. He was a member of congress from 718 Massachusetts, 1831–48, and also was for several years a professor in Harvard college.

53. James Asheton Bayard, 1767–1815; American statesman; congressman from Delaware, 1797–1803; senator from Delaware, 1805–13; commissioner to negotiate a treaty of peace with England, 1814.

53. Henry Clay, a celebrated American statesman and orator, 1777–1852; United States senator from Kentucky, 1806–7; 1810–11; 1831–42; 1849–52. Representative in congress from Kentucky, 1811–12; 1823–25; peace commissioner, 1814; candidate for President, 1824, 1832, 1844; secretary of state, 1825–29; in John Quincy Adams cabinet; chief designer of the Missouri compromise as to slave territory, 1820: author of compromise of 1850, and of the tariff of 1833.

53. Jonathan Russell, born in Providence, R. I., 1771; died at Milton ,Mass. Feb. 19, 1832. He was appointed U.S. minister to Norway and Sweden. 1814–18; served as Congressman, 1821–23.

53. Albert Gallatin, American-statesman and financier, born in Switzerland, 1761, emigrated to the United States, 1780; died in New York, 1849. A member of congress from Pennsylvania, 1795–1801; secretary of the treasury, 1801–13; established the committee of ways and means; commissioner to Ghent, 1814; minister to France, 1816–23; minister to England, 1826–27.

56. As the sloop Kangaroo arrived March 2nd, 1815, she consequently must have sailed Jan. 29th, 1814, with Lord Bathurst's dispatches and an official copy of the treaty. This gives an idea of the length of time sailing ships required to cross the Atlantic. Intelligence of the treaty of peace was received some twenty days earlier by a ship that had a more favorable passage. Army commanders could act only upon official communications.

57. Lieutenant General Sir John Coape Sherbrooke, commanding in the maritime provinces with headquarters at Halifax. He was a knight grand cross of the military order of the bath.

59. Bat, in the British army, is an allowance originally made, in addition to their pay, to soldiers in active service in the field. In the beginning it was an occasional allowance, but came to be regarded as a regular perquisite After the Napoleonic wars the allowances for "bat" were regulated and made exceptional.

60. The name is Francis Michael Dease, not "Thomas." Capt. Dease was a cousin to Sir John Johnson. He was present at Ft. Shelby, Prairie du Chien, July 17–20, 1814; captain in Indian department, Sept. 2nd, 1814: sub-Indian agent under Dickson; received a land grant; commanded Chippewas at capture of Mackinac, July, 1812; died at Amherstburg, Feb. 1st, 1820, being then superintendent of Indian affairs, and major of 2nd Essex militia.

61. The "bat" perquisite, it is seen, netted Dickson $1.05 per day, in addition to his regular pay. The figures in this report furnish a basis for a calculation, which is only approximate, because the allowance for rank of lieutenant and captain is intermingled in a gross sum. It appears that a captain was entitled to 63 cents a day for bat baggage and forage; a lieutenant to 52 cents a day.

61. Alexander McKenzie, is the famed fur trade manager and explorer, discoverer of Mackenzie's River. All the men named were leading merchants of Montreal. They were engaged, (except Mackenzie who was generally in the far West with occasional visits home) in the fur trade, and owners and directors of the Northwest Fur Company. William McGillivray was a colonel in the militia, and a confidential friend of the commander-in-chief, Sir George Prevost. Fort William on Lake Superior was named for him.

The two great fur companies, the Hudson Bay, and the Northwest had reconciled their differences some years before the war of 1812 began. The former company was managed by McGill, Richardson & McGillivray. James McGill's name is perpetuated by the great McGill University at Montreal. He, McGillivray, and some of the others held shares in both companies. In a business sense they were decidedly the most important personages in Canada. William McGillivray was "extra provincial A. 719 D. C." to the captain general and governor-in-chief, Sir George Prevost; member of legislative council. His commission was to extend over "Indian and conquered countries." He died at Montreal, Oct. 1825.

61. The schooner Nancy was constantly employed by the British during the war. Her history covers several exciting and romantic episodes, and for a small craft her achievements on the great lakes, remains unequalled. The story is given at length in appendix to Vol. XV, Mich. Hist. Colls .

62. Lieutenant Newdigate Poyntz of the Royal Navy, a vastly inflated individual who assumed a degree of authority on the score of his naval position that was offensive to the military commander of the district, Col. McDouall. Poyntz was born, 1785; entered the Royal Navy, 1798; present at Alexandria, Egypt, midshipman, 1801; invalided from the East Indies, 1806; present at Copenhagen, 1807, lieutenant; transferred to Lake Huron, 1814; removed at request of lieut. col. McKay "as being unsuited;" invalided Jan. 1815; promoted commander for his services, Sept. 1815.

62. "Natua Sackie;" Nottawasaga bay, Georgian bay, portion of Lake Huron. The Nottawasaga river communicates with Lake Simcoe, and thence by a portage with Toronto. It formed the most convenient way to send supplies from Toronto or Kingston to Mackinac. Commodore Sinclair, of the American squadron, sailed into the bay, Aug.

14th, 1814, and bombarded the blockhouse under whose guns the Nancy had sought protection. A cannon shot exploded the magazine; the block-house and the Nancy caught fire from the explosion. Sinclair had hoped to capture the vessel, but was unable to approach and put out the fire.

62. Major Jeremiah Holmes, United States Army, killed in Croghan's attack on Mackinac, July 26th, 1814. Major Holmes had been ordered by the secretary of war to take with him a force from Detroit and sail with the schooners Tigress and Scorpion, to destroy the ships being constructed by the British at Machedash on the Georgian bay. He could find no vessels building anywhere on Lake Huron, and they proceeded to Sault Ste. Marie where, after destroying the Perseverance and the property described in this memorial, believing it to be public property, he continued on to Mackinac.

64. At that season of the year, navigation not open on Lake Huron nor likely to be for two months more, no great objection can be raised to these directions of Drummond. The fact, is, that Mackinac being the principal entrepot of the fur trade at that period, the British, influenced by the great fur company at Montreal, were extremely reluctant to surrender so valuable a post.

65. Henry, third earl of Bathurst, 1762–1834. An English statesman; president of the board of trade, 1809–12; secretary of war for the colonies, 1828–30; president of the council, 1828–30.

65. The Grignons were descendants of Charles deLanglade, son of Sieur de Langlade, who was born at Three Rivers in 1703. At an early age Sieur Augustin became interested in trade with the Indians and went to Mackinac. Here he married a sister of an Ottawa chief, and had several children; one, Charles de Langlade, was born May, 1729, at the Ottawa village near Mackinac. About 1745 Sieur Augustin and his son Charles went to Green Bay, but seemed to have kept up a residence in Mackinac as well. August 12th, 1754, Charles de Langlade was married at Mackinac to Charlotte Ambroisine Bourassa, daughter of René Bourassa of Mackinac, by whom he had two children, Charlotte Catherine, born 1756, and Louise Domitilde, born in 1759, who married Pierre Grignon, Jr., son of Pierre Grignon and Marguerite Chevalier in 1776. Their marriage was not, however ratified by the priest until Aug. 8th, 1787, (See Wis. His. Colls . Vol. XVIII, p. 493). By this marriage there were nine children.

Pierre Antoine, born Oct. 21, 1777.

Charles, born June 14, 1779.

Augustin, born June 27, 1780.

Louis, born Sept. 21. 1783.

Jean Baptiste, born July 23, 1785.

Domitilde, born March 21, 1787.

Marguerite, born March 23, 1789.

Hippolyte, born Sept. 14, 1790.

Amable, born Dec., 1795.

in 1784 or '5, Pierre Jr. sent his wife and children to Mackinac in a bark canoe, where they were baptised by Father Payette. By a former marriage with a Menominee woman, Pierre Jr. had three children, but only one, Perriche or Perrish, lived.

Charles de Langlade died in January, 1800, and was buried at Green Bay. His wife died at Green Bay, 1818.

Pierre Grignon, Jr., was born at Montreal, and Went to settle at Green Bay in 1763, where he established himself in the fur trade. He died in Nov., 1795. After his death, his wife carried on his trade for a couple of years when Pierre Antoine and Augustin took it in charge and continued it until the death of Pierre Antoine, March 3, 1823.

Pierre Antoine was evidently well liked by the French and Indians, by whom he was generally called "Fanfan," meaning "dear child" or "honey." In 1814 a company of militia was raised at Green Bay, to aid Lieut. Col. William McKay, in an expedition against Prairie du Chien. Pierre Antoine Grignon was appointed captain, and Augustin Grignon one of the lieutenants.

When about twenty-five years old Augustin Grignon married Miss Nancy McCrea by whom he had six children. After the death of his brother, Augustin lived at Grand Kaukalin. He was very influential among the Indians, and spoke and understood their languages much better than he did English. His home was a general meeting place, and he was well known for his generous hospitality. His death occurred in 1860, in his eightieth year.

66. Jacques Porlier was born at Montreal in 1765; commissioned lieutenant Montreal militia, 1791; present at surrender of Mackinac, 1812; also at Mackinac, August 4th, 1814. It does not appear that he was at Prairie du Chien. July 17–20, 1814. Joseph Rolette was senior lieutenant. Porlier was educated at the Seminary at Montreal, for the priesthood but secular pursuits and his fondness for military exercise led him to become an officer. Next he took up the business of fur-trader. Accordingly he went to Mackinac, and thence to Green Bay. He engaged as clerk to Pierre Grignon, St., and served as tutor to Grignon's children. He married, 1793, Marguerite Grise. He was a partner of Rocheblave in 1797. In 1820 he was appointed local judge of Brown county, Wis., then part of Michigan territory. He spoke English indifferently, but was a capable translator. He joined the firm of Grignon, Lowe & Porlier, 1821, operating with the American Fur Company. He died at Green Bay, July 12th, 1839.

66. Captain Andrew Bulger, Royal New Foundland regiment; post adjutant at Mackinac under Col. McDouall: together with Lieutenant Worsley of the Royal Navy captured by surprise the U.S. Schooners Tigress and Scorpion unsuspectingly and serenely lying at anchor in secluded places among the Les Cheneaux Islands, near Mackinac. Capt. Bulger had not heard of the treaty of peace when he wrote March 15th, 1815. See note 1 to page 2.

67. Colonel Anthony Butler 2nd regiment Rifleman. United States Army, had been in command of the post at Detroit from the time of the recapture of the city by Gen. Harrison, except for short intervals when Croghan was at the station, or Gen. McArthur made Detroit his headquarters.

69. The name St. Joseph, applied to various pieces on the great lakes, is at the present time apt to be thought the important city of St Joseph in Berrien county, Michigan. In this memorandum no confusion should arise as to the place meant, which is, as described, the large island at the mouth of the St. Mary's River. But Mr. Gillivray recommended Detour, which is in American territory.

69. McGillivray was a far-sighted man, intent on retaining the monopoly of the fur trade in British hands. He could have no conception at that day of the great expansion of the United States, and the settlement of the West. After a few years the fur trade of the upper lakes ceased to be attracted to the region of the Straits of Mackinac.

70. George III was mentally incapacitated to govern the realm, and his duties 721 as a sovereign were conferred on his son, the Prince of Wales, made Prince Regent, who on the death of his father, became King George IV.

74. Major G. Brock of the 49th British Foot. During the war he was taken prisoner by the Americans and subsequently released on parole; in 1815 he was assistant quartermaster general.

74. Governor N. Edwards made alarming calls on the government for protection to the territory of Illinois, beginning early in Sept. 1812. He feared for all the settlements in that territory from the Indiana line to the Mississippi. The massacre at Chicago was about the only event to excite his fears, but he continued his calls for a strong military force. The fighting was never nearer to Illinois than the Detroit River, if we except Fort Meigs and the McKay raid on Prairie du Chien, July 19th, 1814.

75. Lieutenant Colonel John Harvey was deputy adjutant general of the army staff from Feb. 4th, 1813. At the date of this communication, Sir Gordon Drummond had succeeded Sir George Prevost who retired as Governor of Canada, April 3d, 1815. Harvey's first commission was as ensign of the 80th, 1794. He served on the continent of Europe, Cape of Good Hope, Egypt, 1801, Mahratta war, etc., he was given a silver medal, clasp "Egypt;" present at Stoney Creek, Chrysler's farm, and given a gold medal; Fort Niagara; Black Rock, Dec. 30th, 1813; Lundy's Lane; Fort Erie assault and sortie. Companion of the Bath, 1815; Knight Commander of the Royal Hanoverian Guelphic Order, 1824; Colonel of the 103rd, 1825; Knight commander of the Order of the Bath, 1838; lieutenant general, 1848; governor of New Brunswick, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, 1846–52; died, 1852.

76. This special plea by Mr. McGillivray is refuted by the national boundary line having been established by treaty as far north as the Lake of the Woods. The hope, however, was entertained of excluding Americans from the then unsettled part of the country, a soothing delusion.

79. The acute special pleading of John Richardson and McGillivray in this letter, (of which the address is lacking, but written undoubtedly to the governor, Sir Gordon Drummond), is prompted by the wish to retain in British hands control of the fur trade. Duty levied by the American customs on articles for the Indian trade, imported from Canada, would make it a serious matter for the Northwest Company to compete with John Jacob Astor and the American Fur Company. The exclusion of customs officers is again urged, temporarily, if not permanently, in the postscript.

81. The reasoning of Richardson and McGillivray, specious though it be, does not prevail with Sir Gordon Drummond, who takes a broader and clearer view of the subject. But to oblige those interested in a continuance of friendly relations with the Indians, and to subserve both political and trade relations, Sir Gordon is willing to delay the evacuation of Mackinac as long as he can do so on his own responsibility.

82. Lieutenant General Sir George Murray and Major General F. P. Robinson appear upon the late scene of conflict in Canada, after the war was over. The duties to be discharged by them were those of the times of peace.

82. Major General Sir Frederick Philipse Robinson, G. C. B., son of Col. Beverly Robinson, King's New Brunswick regiment, ensign Loyal Americans, 1778; late transferred to 17th Foot; lieutenant 60th, 1779; lieutenant 38th, 1780; captain, 1784; major, 127th, 1794; served through war of Revolution, also in West Indies; commanded a brigade in Spain; in the Peninsular war; given medal and two clasps; administered Upper Canada, 1815; was at Plattsburg; K. C. B., 1815; Lieut. Gen. 1825; General, 1840; died, 1852.

83. Jacob Brown, in 1813, having previously been in the militia, received an appointment as brigadier general in the regular army for the energy he displayed as an officer in the state troops. He was placed in command of the army on the Niagara frontier in 1814; defeated General Riall at Chippewa, July 5th; Drummond at Lundy's Lane, July 25th, and at Fort Erie, Sept. 17th, 1814. He became general-in-chief of the United States Army, 1821. Died, Feb. 24th, 1828, aged 53 years. The 91 722 name of the town and creek on the Canadian side of the river, near Niagara Falls, is spelled Chippawa.

84. Maitland, Gordon & Auldjo, merchants and army agents at Montreal. There is much reason to believe that "Gordon" should read Garden; it appears thus in one instance.

Library of Congress

George Garden was a lieutenant in the Montreal Volunteers; Alexander Auldjo was lieutenant colonel of the Montreal militia battalion.

85. Sentlow Rawson, barrack-master at Mackinac. The name Lentlow on page 100 is probably a typographical error.

85. Dr. David Mitchell was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, and educated for a surgeon. He served the British Army in America as hospital mate; afterwards was the surgeon for the Mackinac post. He was commissioned justice of the peace, and was connected with the 8th foot; from 1774–1783. In Col. Lanman's Adventures and Recollections, he figures as "Old Wabino."

He married Elizabeth Bertrand in Montreal, July, 1776. After the surrender of Mackinac in 1815, his hatred for the Yankees caused him to remove with the English to Drummond Island, leaving Mrs. Mitchell to care for their trade and property at Mackinac. She was a very determined and successful trader as her encounters with the American soldiers show. From her love for, and cultivation of flowers, the Indians called her, "The Queen of Flowers." Dr. Mitchell died at Drummond of Cholera, 1832, aged about 85, leaving twelve children, the last of whom died about 1882.

85. This is a copy of the letter sent by Lieutenant General Murray to Major General Brown to advise the latter of the arrangement pending with Colonel Butler. Gen. Murray mentions the copy in his letter, p. 83.

86. This is a specimen of the rumors current at that time. The point mentioned northeast of Fort Wayne would be on the Maumee near Napoleon, Ohio. Vincennes is 250 miles distant from Fort Wayne, on the Wabash River. The Indians in all this territory were thoroughly quelled, and glad to be at peace. On the upper Mississippi, where Dickson kept up his persuasions and promises, the Indians were restless, but none thought of taking the warpath until the outbreak of the Black Hawk war in 1832, when that renowned warrior was the leader of the Sacs and Foxes.

Library of Congress

87. This just and proper admonition by Col. McDouall to his subordinates was probably needed to counteract the zeal of Dickson. "That rascal Cowen," who has been five weeks on the road from York, (Toronto), was a voyageur and courier who took things easy in the absence of authority.

87. Major John Whistler, United States Army, was made prisoner of war at the surrender of Detroit by Hull, Aug. 16th, 1812, and was regularly exchanged, holding the rank of captain at the time, Sept. 1813. He was in command at Mackinac in 1833–34, and at Fort Gratiot and Detroit, and other stations in Michigan.

Major Whistler is repeating the rumor that startled Indian Agent Stickney. "Lake Indians" may refer to the tribes on the shores of Lake Michigan.

88. It was the custom of John Askin, Jr., to abbreviate the long word Michilimackinac to "Mich." when writing. This example, and the time too saved thereby, eventually brought about the condensing of the many syllables into three, Mackinac.

88. L'Arbre Croche, now called Cross Village, is on the shore of Lake Michigan in Emmet county. The French name means crooked tree; there was such a landmark there in 1775 and later. It will be noticed in Askin's letter that he was alarmed lest the peace should reduce the number of Indian agents and storekeepers, and he be retired.

91. The post at Prairie du Chien was advantageously located at the point where the Wisconsin river flows into the Mississippi. Col. McDouall was reluctant to yield it up, trying to persuade himself that it was not embraced in the terms of the treaty; but if that position was rejected his next best hope was for some demonstration by the Indians that would give him an excuse to demolish the fort.

91. "Moy, (not May) opposite Detroit." This was a large dwelling owned by 723 Angus McIntosh, one of the principal merchants of Detroit, who, on the change of sovereignty in 1796, continued his allegiance as a British subject, built this house in what is now Walkerville, and called it Moy after his old home in Scotland. The house was famed for the generous hospitality of its owner. It still remains, (1910), in fair condition.

91. "Larypain," is an absurd transcription of an illegible word. There are but two good harbors on the Canadian side of Lake Erie. If Captain Collier referred to the nearest harbor, Rondeau, it is sixty miles eastward of Amherstburg. To consider that he wrote Bar Point is to strain for a solution, for Bar Point is but a poor anchorage, and not a harbor, though at the mouth of Detroit River. So lacking the original manuscript, it is conjectured that Point aux Pins, is meant. Point aux Pins is at the entrance to Rondeau.

92. Sir E. W. C. R. Owen, commodore in the British navy, was transferred from Halifax at this time and placed in charge of naval matters on the lakes, succeeding Sir James Lucas Yeo.

98. William Woodbridge had a conspicuous part in directing the affairs of the territory and the state. He was governor of the state; United States senator, and during his long life was an important figure in the history of Michigan. His statement of the continued activities of the British, Indian agents is verified by contemporaneous authorities. The Mich. His. Colls . have many references to Woodbridge.

101. The cost of transporting a full cargo of a freighting canoe from Montreal to Mackinac was at that date about $1,100. It is explained that the lading of a canoe is 6,500 pounds, and that packages cannot exceed 100 pounds each. The reason for limiting the size of packages is to enable them to be carried by one man across the portages. The transportation rate by canoe conveyance from Montreal to Mackinac at the period in question was a matter of seventeen cents a pound. The rate is startling to the present generation, with its facilities of steamship and railroads.

102. White River is an affluent of the Wabash in Indiana. These extracts indicate the alarm that existed over a contemplated Indian out-break. Happily it did not come; the government surveys went on in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois, and the number of settlements increased.

102. This is a note from Procter. As he and Dickson were in harmony on the subject of the British Indian allies, he naturally indorses Dickson's friend.

103. Col. McDouall means Drummond Island, which was assigned by the commissioners to the United States. It now composes part of the State of Michigan, and is in the twelfth congressional district, in Chippewa county.

104. The yielding up to the United States of the Islands situated at the mouth of the St. Mary's River in Lake Huron in a grievous thing in Col. McDouall's opinion. Hard, indeed, was it to reconcile those commanders who numbered the Indians among their forces to the thought that they must hereafter be deprived of their red allies. His grief leads him to declare that, "no more terrible enemy exists than Indians properly managed and led on." McDouall's letter presents the motive and the policy which caused the British to employ Indians in the war of 1812.

109. The fact here noted by McDouall is evidence that at the close of the season of 1814, he had expected an attack on Mackinac when the opening of navigation in the spring gave the opportunity for an American force to appear. Accordingly he had directed his Indian allies to come early and come strong.

112. This speech by Laframbois of the Weas tribe of Illinois, and that by Labossier on the next page, (113) to the American agent, Judge Parke, are the result of the inquiry set on foot at that time regarding the attitude of the Indians. Gov. Edwards of Illinois had been disturbed by rumors of an Indian irruption, and the same rumors early in April, 1815, exercised the vigilance of Indian agent Stickney, and Major Whistler at Fort Wayne, and even acting governor Woodbridge at Detroit. The disavowal of the two Indian chiefs, and their reports of the feeling among the other tribes, and the pressure put upon them to join, go to show that some of the nations were preparing to take the warpath. 724 So they were stopped before the season opened, by news of the peace. The reports of these speeches being found in the Canadian archives, indicate that some of Dickson's assistants were present, and made notes of the doings of the conference.

115. Simon Girty, the noted Tory partisan among the Indians in the Revolutionary war, and especially conspicuous in the Indian battles and massacres in Ohio and Indiana after the Revolution, was born in Pennsylvania near Pittsburg. His beligerent connection with the royalists necessitated his removal from the United States, and he made Amherstburg and Detroit his home. The British government gave to him, his two brothers and his brother-in-law, tracts of land near Amherstburg, upon which they lived and died. Age and intemperance moderated Simon Girty's activities in the war of 1812, but he and his family continued inveterate foes of the Americans, and were helpful to the British cause. Thomas Girty, one of the family, ensign in the Essex militia, died in 1814.

115. Captain John Wilson, Indian Department, was engaged with Col. Caldwell in most of the actions on the Michigan border in 1812; present at surrender of Detroit; received medal and clasps; wounded at massacre River Raisin, Jan. 22nd, 1813; received a land grant.

115. Billy Caldwell, was a natural son, by a Shawnese Indian mother, of Colonel William Caldwell. The legitimate family of Col. William Caldwell included eight children, five sons and three daughters. Many of the Colonel's descendants are residents in Essex and Kent Counties, Ontario. "Captain Billy Caldwell," was an accepted chief of the tribe to which his mother belonged. "Billy" first showed his usefulness to the British in 1810, and was given a good position in the Indian Department. In 1812. he was commissioned a captain in the militia, and was present at the battle of the River Raisin.

Library of Congress

At the beginning of the Revolutionary war. "Billy's father, Col. William Caldwell, was one of the loyalists resident in the back settlements of Pennsylvania, who joined, and was commissioned captain. Dec. 24th 1781, in the noted partisan troop called "Butler's Rangers." This was after the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, and practically at the close of hostilities in that war. However, Caldwell, sent by Col. De Peyster commanding at Detroit, marched against Col. Crawford of the Ohio militia and defeated the Americans at the battle near Sandusky, June 4th, 1782. The capture of Col. Crawford was signalized by the atrocious tortures inflicted on him by the Indians, which ended in Crawford's being fastened to a stake, and burned alive. Neither Caldwell nor Girty offered him any protection. The story of the massacre aroused the deepest feeling among the settlers. As mentioned above, military operations between the American and the regular British Army ceased after the surrender of Cornwallis, Oct. 19th, 1781, but the treaty of peace was not signed until Sept. 3rd, 1783. After Butler's Rangers were disbanded, June 28th, 1873. Caldwell took part in the Indian wars against the United States. 1790–95.

He made Detroit his residence about 1780, and was married, in that city, to Susanne Baby, daughter of Duperon Baby, one of the first merchants of the place, a man of fine ability, and great business talents. The name of Caldwell is among the list of loyalist residents in Detroit in the year 1784.

The reputation of Caldwell as an energetic soldier did not suffer during the war of 1812. He took part in all the battles on Maumee, at the Raisin, and at Detroit. His influence among the Indians was great and he was a leader in keeping those allies of the British up to their work. There were few so successful in the management of scouting parties. He was made a captain of Caldwell's Rangers in 1812, and commanded that body until May 24th. 1814.

His abilities were also manifested in civil capacities, being appointed justice of the peace, and deputy superintendent general of Indian affairs.

Library of Congress

William Caldwell joined Bird's Rangers under Lord Dunmore. governor of Virginia, 1775; served in Butler's Rangers, May, 1776 to July 24th, 1784. His four sons, William Jr., James, Thomas and Francis were in the militia in 1812.

115. "The late Col. Elliott" refers to Lt. Col. Matthew Elliott, Sr., of Amherstburg. He served as captain in the Indian department, 1777–84 (Revolutionary war); present at Blue Licks and Sandusky in that war; assistant agent for Western Indians, 1790; deputy supt., 1795; dismissed, 1799; reinstated, 1808; in the war of 1812 was at Detroit; given gold medal (and mentioned in dispatches) Black Rock, Moraviantown, etc. Died, 1814, aged 77 years. "The late Capt. McKee," was the son of Col. Alexander McKee, and his name was Thomas. Capt. Thomas McKee had been ensign of the 60th, 1791; Lieutenant, 1795; captain, 1796, (4th regiment)

Upon the dismissal of Col. Elliott, Sr., as superintendent in 1799, Capt. Thomas McKee was appointed by his father, Col. Alexander McKee, superintendent of Indian affairs. He was a member from Kent, 1796, and from Essex, 1801; major 2nd Essex militia in 1812, and present at capture of Detroit; died, 1814, aged 44 years.

132. The attitude of Col. McDouall in delaying the evacuation of Mackinac is not to be condemned. Personally he believed that it ought to be retained, and he gave sound reasons from his standpoint as a British officer. His superiors left questions of policy to the government, and were satisfied to obey orders. But the difficulties mentioned by McDouall in preparing shelter for his men at a new post in the wilderness, and on short notice, were serious. He was doing his best and no one seemed to appreciate that his crew of workmen, aside from their lack of knowledge of construction, were also in want of essential materials for the new buildings.

134. Col. William Caldwell, is explaining how he is pushed to care for his Indians now that their military rations are about to be cut off, and they dismissed from the service.

Library of Congress

We observe that he had the Shawnees, whose home was in the Wabash region, the Kickapoos, who lived on the Illinois, and the Sauks on the Mississippi; the Chippewas who came from Lake Superior, and the Ottawas from Western Michigan. The Muncies were part of the Six Nations, settled in Canada since the Revolution. Fighting Island, where he set 187 Ottawas to farming, is in the Detroit River eight miles below the City of Detroit. The Grand River of Canada is where he has disposed of the Hurons. See note to p. 115, and letter of Col. James to Gen. Robinson, p. 173, and notes on the same letter on that page.

136. The new post was located upon Drummond Island, June 24th, 1815. As McDouall expected, but was not deterred by that expectation, the island was found to be in American territory. When the United States government ascertained the facts, the British post was removed to St. Joseph Island. In the course of a few years this was abandoned and no British garrison has since been established anywhere in the district of the St. Mary's River.

137. Col. John Miller, 17th United States Infantry; commanded at Malden, and the district held by the Americans on the Canadian shore of Lake Erie as far as Rondeau in 1814. He issued a proclamation Nov. 5th, 1814, offering large prices for flour, wheat, and oats to be delivered at Dolsen's on the River Thames, at Detroit, and at Amherstburg, as might be most convenient. He fixed the price of flour at $12 a barrel, or $6 a hundred pounds; $1.50 a bushel for wheat, and 75 cents a bushel for oats, and he required that citizens should sell to him the surplus each had over and above the quantity needed for the consumption of themselves, and their families. If delivery was deferred later than Dec. 20th, he warned citizens that forcible capture would be made of these articles.

139. This letter, although without signature, is from Col. McDouall. The tenor shows that it could emanate from no other source than that of the alert commander at Mackinac, who was firmly imbued with the belief that the island, and the Mississippi region as well, should be held by the British as trustees or protectors of their Indian allies.

Library of Congress

144. This decision made it incumbent on Col. McDouall to hasten his preparations and evacuate the island within a period of two weeks after the letter reached him. But as will be seen by his letter, Lieut. Gen. Drummond, under pressure of urgent orders, had decided to haul down 726 his flag, July 15th, and remove to St. Joseph's Island. The thought of leaving Mackinac was painful to Colonel Reginald James and he still advanced reasons for delaying the evacuation.

149. Col. Anthony Butler, by his protest against the military occupation and possession of Bois Blanc Island in the Detroit River, offsets the zeal of Col. McDouall to retain Mackinac, Prairie du Chien, and the upper Mississippi territory. As individuals each exhibited an earnest disposition to further the interest of their respective flags. Broader views actuated the two governments and the change of sovereignty, took place without further difficulty in accordance with the treaty.

150. Folles Avoines, the Menominee Indians. An important article of food with this tribe, was the wild rice (folles avoine, the French name) which grew profusely on the Menominee, and other streams, and the shores of Green Bay. Their country abounded in this natural growth. The country of the Chippewas at Sault Ste. Marie, gave inexhaustible supplies of white fish, caught plentifully the year around at the foot of the rapids. The Chippewas were often called Sauteurs or Salteurs, from the French name of the Sault descriptive of the falls of the St. Mary.

152. Pierre Rocheblave, had been entrusted with the charge of shipments from Lachine to Mackinac for the use of the Indian Department, during the year, 1814. As he was in the Indian trade, the bills here rendered were supplies from his store, furnished the officials of the British Indian department who distributed them among the different tribes as presents. The accounts are interesting as showing the articles most prized by the Indians, and the prices then current. Halifax currency was reckoned at four dollars to the pound sterling: and twenty cents to the shilling. This was a higher valuation than New York currency which established twelve and one-half cents, as the value of one shilling. Rocheblave married a lady of Montreal named Bouthillier.

156. This was Frederick Augustus the second son of George III, born in 1763, died, 1827. Although commander-in-chief his military talents were of an inferior order. Several experiences during the wars with Napoleon make this plain. He commanded the unsuccessful expedition to the Netherlands, 1793–94; was made field marshal and commander of the forces 1795; was unfortunate and unsuccessful in another expedition to the Netherlands in 1799: capitulated at Alkmaar in October, 1799, and was obliged on account of scandal to resign in 1809, but was re-instated in 1811. From 1763 to 1802, he was prince bishop of Osnabruck an ecclesiastical dignity which was hereditary in his family. The bishopric was secularized and given to Hanover in 1802. George 1, first of the house of Hanover to become king of Great Britain and Ireland, fell sick on a journey to Germany and died, 1727 at Osnabruck at the moment he reached the palace of his brother, the then prince bishop.

159. Colonel McDouall points out how helpless he is to protect consignments of goods coming as they do over long, devious and difficult routes to his distant post. As might be expected voyageurs and sailors, to say nothing of others having access to the cargoes, succumbed to the temptation contained in the casks.

169. This memorial of Capt. Robert Livingston, recounting his personal efforts during the war, confirms the mass of testimony regarding the British payments for scalps. It is an authentic sidelight on the history of 1812.

170. "Turned his back"; that is turned the schooner Nancy back to the Nottawasaga, where the Americans captured her, but were unable to extinguish the fire which destroyed the vessel. The story of Livingston forms a good narrative of the operations on the Lake Huron coast during the war.

171. The official army list gives Robert Ramsay Livingston, the proper name. His military record; served as midshipman on the "Argus" for four years; in the 2nd battalion Royal Canadian Volunteers (a corps in existence, 1794–1803), eight years; in the 60th regiment three years; commanded a company of volunteers at the capture of Mackinac; wounded and a prisoner at Brownstown; present at Detroit; lieutenant Indian Department, April 25th, 1814; at Lewiston, July 25th, 1814; at 727 Fort George (wounded and a prisoner) Aug. 17th, 1813; escaped a few days later; assisted in defense of the "Nancy, Aug. 14th, 1814; present at capture of Tigress" and "Scorpion," 3–6, Sept. 1814: The Indians called him "Miskinankai, The Fox." Col. McDouall's opinion of Livingston is on pp. 432–5.

172. Most of the names indorsed on Livingston's petition are mentioned in other places, and those not particularly noted described themselves by giving their respective professions as old inhabitants of Mackinac.

172. James Aird, a Scotch trader, first appears at Mackinac in 1779; removed to Prairie du Chien, and in 1805 went with Lieut. Pike to the Rocky Mountains; in 1812 he aided Dickson among the Western Indians; afterwards he served the American Fur Co.; died at Prairie du Chien, 1819.

172. Jacob Franks came to the Northwest from Montreal in 1794. He began business for himself in 1797. He brought out from Montreal his nephew John Lawe. Franks built the first mills in Green Bay. His partners were Robert Dickson, and James Aird. He was associated with John Jacob Astor before 1811. He left for Montreal in 1812, leaving John Lawe in charge. On his return in 1824, he was delayed by the war of 1812. He died at Montreal about 1823. He was an English Jew.

174. Abraham Louis Charles De Watteville became lieutenant colonel in 1801. He was at Maida; given gold medal. The "Regiment de Watteville" was composed partly of Swiss, who had served many years in the Dutch and British Armies, for the latter in the Mediterranean. The De Watteville Regiment was in the Peninsular war. It came to Canada from Cadiz in May, 1813, and saw service at Oswego and Ft. Erie.

174. The so-called "Moravian Indians" were originally from Ohio, in the Cuyahoga district. They had been converted by Moravian missionaries and long resisted efforts to get them to take the warpath. For a time they remained neutral, but in the end were induced to join the Indians who allied themselves with the British. They were assigned lands in the valley of the Thames. It was near their village Moravian Town, some miles above Chatham, that the battle of Oct. 5th, 1813 occurred, in which Gen. Harrison administered a crushing defeat to Gen. Proctor. An episode of this battle was the death of Tecumseh, the great Indian warrior.

174. The Moncies, or Muncies, were of the Old Six Nations from New York State. They were settled in the upper reaches of the Thames, near the Grand River district. Their war chiefs in 1812 were John Gray and Wabachkweela (White Horn).

174. Richard Pattinson, a trader, formerly in business in Detroit. On the change of flags in 1796, he elected to remain a British subject and took up his home on the Canadian side of the river. He was the owner of a small schooner, the Eleanor, of 59 tons, usually employed on Lake St. Clair. In June, 1813, Gen. Procter took his schooner into the public service as a transport. Oct. 3rd, 1813, he caused her to be set on fire, to prevent the schooner and her cargo of military stores, from falling into the hands of Gen. Harrison's advancing army. He was Captain of a battalion company, 2nd Essex militia; present at Frenchtown and Detroit; member of assembly, 1813. His son, Richard, was lieutenant 16th Lancers, 1832.

175. Captain William Elliott of the first Essex militia, also of Caldwell's Rangers; present at Detroit, where he was given medal and clasp, and was at Frenchtown and Miami. He participated in the actions on the Michigan frontier, taking part in the battle of the River Raisin; a son of Col. Matthew Elliott, deputy superintendent of the Indian Department. The family resided at Amherstburg; the Elliott farm between Amherstburg and the mouth of the Detroit River, remains in the ownership of his descendants (1910). Captain William Elliott was awarded a land grant.

175. Chenil Ecarte, a devious channel on the Canadian side of the Delta of the St. Clair River at the Flats. It is below Walpole Island an Indian reservation, of which it forms the southeastern boundary.

176. The home of the Sacs was on the Mississippi in Western Wisconsin. 728 Tecumseh was the great war chief of the Shawnees, whose original home was Ohio and the Wabash Valley.

177. Manitoulin Island, in the upper part of Lake Huron. It is 50 miles in length, 30 miles wide at the Eastern end, five miles at the western with several bays and inlets on the north coast. The Georgian Bay begins at the eastern part of the island, and the island itself shelters on the south what is known as the north channel of Lake Huron. Fisheries of great productiveness are located at several points on the shores of this great island.

177. St. Joseph's Island, where Col. McDouall located part of his force and stores is at the mouth of the River St. Mary's. Col. McDouall had hoped to settle on Drummond Island, nearer to Mackinac Island, and commanding the Detour passage. As Drummond Island was confessedly American territory, his cherished hopes were blasted. St. Joseph's Island being undesirable, was not long occupied as a military station.

183. The full text of the charges and the judgment of the court-martial upon Major Henry Proctor, and the opinion of the Prince Regent on the verdict of the court constitutes a paper of considerable historical value. The references to it in most histories is rather scant; in this volume action of the court, and the sovereign are given complete. The care that was taken to let Procter "down easy," is manifested, as the Prince Regent rebukes the court, when he points out the reasons to have been "a humane but mistaken leniency, based on the general good conduct" of Procter. The Prince Regent, too, or rather his law officers who passed upon the judgment of the court for his official sanction, point out how hard up the court was for grounds of acquittal, namely, to find him guilty of the first paragraphs in the second, third, fourth and fifth charges, and to exonerate him on the specifications as advanced. The result of the trial was to shelve Procter from actual command though he retained rank and pay.

183. Frederick Augustus, Duke of York and Albany, second son of George III. Resigned the office of commander-in-chief of all the British forces, in consequence of an entanglement with Mrs. Mary Anne Clarke in 1809: restored to the command in 1811. Born in 1763; died in 1827.

186. Messrs. Maillo. Garden & Auldjo, my agents, should read "Maitland, Garden & Auldjo." The various regiments in the regular army of Great Britain have agents in London to attend to the settlement of claims of the regiment of the nature mentioned in this letter of Col. McDouall. At the present time there are three firms recognized in the army list as competent to do this business. They are old established houses in London. They frequently act as bankers for officers individually and look after their accounts and collections. The firm Col. McDouall mentions did business in Montreal, and that city being headquarters of the pay department during the war of 1812, they probably looked after the accounts of officers in the regular service in America. As noted on p. 84, Garden is probably the correct name rather than Gorden, as it frequently is printed.

186. Col. Sir Thomas Sidney Beckwith K. C. B., the quartermaster general at Montreal. Sir Sidney was lieutenant in the 41st. 1791: lieut. col. 95th, 1803; served in the Peninsular war; given gold medal clasps, Vimiera, Corunna, Busaco; colonel, 1811. Appointed quartermaster general North America, Jan., 1813, arrived Oct. 1813. Knighted commander of the Bath, Jan. 2, 1815; died 1831.

187. The errors noted in the paragraph, namely where, "their" is twice incorrectly written for "there," and the rots-spelling of the word asylum, should not be attributed to Gov. Cass.

His writings are examples of good English in phrasing as well as in orthography. In this case they are clerical errors of the copyist.

187. Turkey Island, Detroit River, is in Canadian waters, not far from the shore, namely a wet grassy bit of terrane below Fighting Island.

188. Major Barwick is giving his straightforward explanation of the mailers complained of by Gov. Cass in the letter on p. 186. Barwick's regiment, the 37th, arrived in Canada, late in August, 1814; remaining until 1826.

189. Col. Butler is reluctant to yield and must file another protest. He evidently 729 had not heard from Secretary Monroe, who in a note of July 13th as stated by Mr. Baker, British charge d'affairs , clearly acquiesced in the boundary as formerly established.

191. It will be observed that official news of the treaty of peace was nearly a month coming from Mackinac to Prairie du Chien. The way was by canoe through Lake Michigan, Green Bay, Winnebago lake and numerous portages to the Wisconsin river. The "Renards" mentioned by him are better known as the Foxes. All the tribes named were allies of the British.

192. Col. McDouall means the Canadian traders whose central houses were at Montreal, and who rendered great service to the British cause, by rallying the Indians in the regions where their influence was extended. However, American control of the territory to the 49th parallel of latitude, and the establishment of custom-houses at the different lake ports, deprived the Northwest Company and the Canadian traders of their former monopoly of the fur trade.

194. Black Hawk, born at Kaskaskia, Ill., 1767; died near Des Moines river, Iowa, Oct. 3rd, 1838. An American Indian chosen principal chief of the Sacs, about 1788. He was the leader of the revolt of the Sacs and Foxes in 1832, in which some affiliated tribes sympathized, and which brought about the strenuous Black Hawk war. It was the last uprising east of the Mississippi. His Indian name is formidable reading thus, Ma-ka-tai-me-she-kia kiak, literally Black Sparrow Hawk. He was present with his warriors on the British side at Frenchtown, Fort Meigs, Fort Stephenson and Moraviantown. In his autobiography, Boston, 1834, it is written; "I was tired of being with them, our success being bad."

195. Fort Madison is in south eastern Iowa, on the Mississippi river, seventeen miles south of Burlington. The Gov. Clarke that LeMoite refers to was Gen. William Clark, or Clarke (the distinction being not clear, being spelled both ways) born in Virginia, 1770, died in St. Louis, 1838. An American commander and explorer, brother of Gen. George Rogers Clark. William Clark was the associate of Meriwether Lewis in the noted Lewis and Clark expedition from St. Louis, up the Missouri, across the Rocky Mountains to the mouth of the Columbia River in Oregon in 1804–06. He was governor of Missouri territory, 1813–21, and superintendent of Indian affairs in St. Louis until his death.

196. This and the following observations made by Black Hawk, in his speech, are cumulative evidence of the pressure put upon the Indians to join the British in the war of 1812. Incidentally it bears testimony to the activity of Mr. Dickson known as Red Head. Many particulars of Dickson's zeal are given in Volume XV of the Michigan Pioneer and Historical Collections. In fact that volume should be read in connection with this work as it deals with the events of 1812–14.

201. Adam Gordon Johnson, son of Sir John, the second baronet, and grandson of Sir William Johnson, the first baronet, and most distinguished of the British superintendent generals of Indian affairs. He succeeded his father as third baronet. Born 1781; died unmarried, 1843. He was secretary of the Indian department, and deputy superintendent general of Indian warriors.

202. Sir Edward Collier, captain of the Royal navy, employed on Lake Huron in transporting the troops from Mackinac to the new garrison, and assisting in the selection of a new site for it on Drummond Island, was born in 1785; lieutenant, 1800; with Yeo at capture of "Confiance;" presented a gold sword by Prince Regent of Portugal, and made commander of Tower and Sword; commander, 1809; transferred to the Lakes, 1813; post captain, 1813; wounded at Oswego; C. B. 1815; K. C. H., 1831; A. D. C. to King William IV; died, Dover, England, 1837.

214. This statement by Col. James of the situation of the garrison at Fort Malden in August, 1815, shows the ravages of disease among soldiers in a perfectly healthy climate, and in a time of peace. Fever and ague was at that time quite prevalent and sanitary science was in its infancy. Yet with the progress of medicine the armies of today still have lists of sick men much greater than appears to be warranted with well ordered medical departments. 92

219. In sending Col. McKay to inquire, before setting out on his mission, whether it would be entirely agreeable to the American officer commanding at Mackinac, Col. McDouall showed admirable discretion and judgment and established his character as a gentleman.

220. In doing this Major Morgan went beyond his authority, and only expressed his personal opinion, an opinion without weight, and under the circumstances uncalled for. The treaty was not violated, the territory in question being indisputably American.

220. Col. McDouall in this paragraph gives frank expressions to the motives actuating the British authorities in Canada, and the business interests of the British Fur Companies.

They cherished the hope of controlling the western country and shutting out the Americans by encouraging the resistance of the Indians. But Col. McDouall's expectation that the Americans would concede the right to free navigation of the Mississippi and free trade with the Indians in the west was blasted. The United States would never yield its sovereignty in any of its territory.

226. At the time in question, and for many years later, commissions in the British army were purchasable; in fact, a majority of the commissions were obtained by purchase.

228. "Lewis Johnson" is Louis S. Johnston; lieutenant from Oct. 25th. 1814; He was the Son of John Johnston of Sault Ste. Marie, and his wife Oshaugus-co-day-way-que. Lieutenant Johnston was on the Queen Charlotte, a brig which was attached to Brock's force when Detroit was captured, Aug. 16th, 1812; but Johnston's service on this brig of 18 guns was at Put-in-bay, Sept. 10th, 1813, when with all in the British fleet, he was made prisoner. In a petition he states that he was a midshipman on the Lady Prevost, where he was wounded. He died at Amherstburg, 1825. A captain Robert R. Livingston was stationed at Mackinac under McDouall's command during the war. He was commended by McDouall for the active part he took in the capture of the American schooners Scorpion and Tigress, Sept. 3rd, 1814. Lieut. Livingston headed the boarding party that overran the Tigress, from the port side, and surprised the unsuspecting crew. Col. McDouall p. 433–5 gives at more length, his objections to Livingston. See for Livingston, pp. 167–72.

231. This letter is evidence that Gen. Harrison was for a time in Detroit, during the summer of 1815. He was not, at this time, in the army, but was on the commission assembled to confer with the Indians. The war of 1812, was characterized, on the part of the Americans, by the fatuous administration of the war department, and the army badly organized and the command scattered among generals who manifested small ability. In the beginning the generalship both on the Detroit and the Niagara frontiers was woeful. Harrison was one of the two most successful of the commanders. The anticipations that were formed when he was transferred to the main army in the east were not realized. Secretary Armstrong restricted Harrison to inconsequential and limited operations. The result was that the general tendered his resignation which the secretary of war swiftly accepted without referring the matter to President Madison.

236. The "lure toward desertion" was, in the conviction among the men, that peace being now established their opportunities to provide in civil life for the future were greater on the

Library of Congress

American side. So we hear of the desertions at Detroit and Niagara. No inducements were held out; there was no object in luring them. Col. James believes whiskey will tempt the men To stay.

238. Lieutenant Alexander T. E. Vidal. of the Royal navy, was arrested by George Meldrum, an officer of the militia, at Grosse Point, Sept. 5th, 1815. Lieutenant Vidal was in pursuit of deserters from his schooner, "Confiance," then lying in the St. Clair River. The deserters had stolen one of the ship's boats in which to make their escape, and had also taken with them other property of the vessel as well as articles of private property belonging to the shipmates they had forsaken. Lieut. Vidal found the boat at Grosse Pointe, and one of his deserting sailors 731 near by, whom he ordered back to duty. The arrival of Vidal naturally attracted the attention of the people living in the vicinity of the landing which happened to be a well known tavern on the Grosse Pointe road, where the deserters sought shelter. A charge of arresting and taking away a man on American soil and of rioting was laid against Vidal. He was not held in custody, James Abbott being his surety. Part of the jury on the trial was made up of aliens. Lieut. Vidal was acquitted of attempting an arrest, but was fined on the charge of rioting. The case elicited a flood of correspondence. It is completely given in Vol. XXXVI, pp. 320–339, Michigan Historical Collections . Probably as a precaution against a possible verdict of guilty, President Madison issued a pardon for Vidal, which Gov. Cass returned. See also note to p. 350.

244. "In colored clothes," meaning in civilian attire, not in uniform. Col. James speaks of the "dress of these deranged officers," being disgusted with the bad form which led them to pay official calls without wearing the proper uniform of their rank, something strictly required by military etiquette.

252. The heading of this advertisement is reproduced literally. At this date there were few papers or presses in Michigan. There were no town criers, a feature of New England's early days. Important news was conveyed by special messengers at great expense of time and money. All local letters, notices or papers were posted on the doors of churches.

253. Mrs. Mitchell was the wife of Dr. David Mitchell, surgeon of the garrison under Col. McDouall. She was a Chippewa Indian, and showed ability as a trader. When her husband removed to St. Joseph's Island, she remained at Mackinac in charge of his fine house and garden. As the result of the correspondence the license to sell spirits was annuled. The controversy indicates the heat and rancor existing between the American residents at Mackinac at the time and those other residents attached to the British cause, whose affiliations were with Col. McDouall's garrison.

263. Major Peter William DeHaren, lieutenant colonel 2 battalion Light Infantry militia, lieutenant 60th Foot, 1797; captain Canadian Fencibles, 1803; major of grenadier companies organized out of the 49th and the Royal Scots, with the Royal Newfoundland and Canadian Fencibles, June 30th, 1812.

264. Red Jacket, (Indian name Sagoyewatha) born at Old Castle, near Geneva, New York, about 1752; died at Seneca Village, N.Y., Jan. 30th, 1830. He was a chief of the Senecas. He did not participate in the war of 1812; his nation was not strayed against the Americans during the Revolution. Red Jacket was one of the most distinguished of Indian orators, his eloquence being characterized by fine imagery.

269. The council presided over by Col. James and reported by him naturally gives his speech in full. The object aimed was to retain the allegiance of the Indians and their good will for the future. Of similar import was the speech of Col, McDouall to the Ottawas of L'Arbre Croche and the Grand River in the council at Drummonds Island, Sept. 17th, 1815, which begins on page 273.

270. The Prophet, (Indian name, Elsquatawa, also Laubewasikaw) a brother of Tecumseh. He held a commission from the British in the war of 1812, as an officer in the Indian department. The remarks of the Prophet do not appear in this report; why they are omitted is not explained.

275. Here the speech of Col. McDouall ends. The two concluding paragraphs in his communication are intended to explain to Sir Gordon Drummond, his reasons for putting the case so strongly and so plainly to the Indians.

276. Here we have the reason for the omission of the Prophet's remarks in the council held at Amherstburg, Sept. 14th. The Prophet had been severely punished by Gen. Harrison during the Indian wars of 1790–94, particularly at Tippecanoe, and these defeats rankled in his mind. The conclusion is that the Prophet's speech to the council calumniated Gen. Harrison and was too untruthful to be published.

282. The Honorable Charles Bagot had been selected as envoy extraordinary and 732 minister plenipotentiary to the United States. He did not arrive at Washington until 1816, where he was officially presented, March 21st, 1816. Bagot served until April 14th, 1819, and on his return to England was knighted. He was born in Staffordshire, England, 1781; died at Kingston, Canada, 1843, was a British diplomatist of distinction. He became under-secretary of state for foreign affairs in 1807; minister to France, 1814; ambassador to St. Petersburg in 1820; ambassador to Holland, 1820, and governor general of Canada in 1842.

282. Astoria, at the mouth of the Columbia River, established by John Jacob Astor in 1811. Misfortunes due to the stupid and arrogant management of Capt. Thorn, the loss of the Tonquin, and other disasters, culminated in the sale of the post and all the furs and other property to of the Northwest Fur Company by McDougall, Mr. Astor's manager. The war of 1812 came on, hauled down the American can colors, and hoisted the British flag. The territory was relinquished to the Americans at the peace.

283. By this statement it is made plain that not only blandishments but strong pressure was exercised by the British agents to engage the Indians of the Mississippi region against the Americans.

Library of Congress

Col. McDouall is intent on doing the honorable thing for past services by giving out presents, and by no means loses sight of the advantages of retaining the future favor of the Indians.

284. Col. McDouall applies this epithet to Gen. Andrew Jackson, crediting the rumor that an American force was preparing to punish the Indians who had allied themselves with the British. The American government had no intention of warring upon the Indians, but was prepared to hold its territory against encroachments from any source.

295. John Lawe, son of a British Captain, was born in York, England. His mother was an English Jewess, sister of Jacob Franks, a very influential trader in Green Bay who induced Lawe to come to that country in 1797, starting him in trade, and resigning to him his extensive interests. He learned the Indian tongue, and was commissioned a lieutenant in the Indian Department by the British. He married Theresa Rankin, daughter of an English father, and Chippewa mother, and left several children. He was appointed associate judge of Brown County. His letters and papers are published in Wis. His. Colls . He died at Green Bay, Feb. 11. 1846. aged 66 years.

303. It will be observed that the issue of rum. to Col. James in particular, was plentiful. It indicates that his request for spirits for the garrison at Fort Malden was complied with.

305. McGillivray, Richardson & Co., had put in claims to be paid for the taking of these buildings by military authority.

310. Col. McDouall cannot restrain this outburst of contemptuous feelings; the conviction he has steadfastly maintained that the Americans should be shut out from the American country, not appealing, as he thinks it should to the government, being better informed on the subject, which is sufficient reason for the disgust he expresses.

311. The removal of buildings from St. Joseph's island, as here related, and their re-erection at Drummond Island, together with the work of constructing a military post there, was lost labor to Col. McDouall and his hard working men. The national boundary line, as drawn, left Drummond Island in American territory.

Library of Congress

318. The correspondence between Col. McDouall, Col. Chambers and Major Puthuff indicates the existence of a rancorous feeling, natural to the recent condition of war, and the false reports carried back and forth by irresponsible persons after the peace. The proximity of the two garrisons apparently fostered the action of these busybodies.

319. Dr. Robert Richardson, Sr., was assistant surgeon of the "Queen's Rangers? 1798–1802; surgeon's mate at Amherstburg to 1813; at the battle of Put-in-bay where he was made a prisoner. On his release appointed surgeon Indian Department. He married in 1793, Madeline, daughter of Lieutenant Colonel John Askin, then of Detroit, father of the John Askin named above. John Askin, Sr., owned much land in the vicinity of Detroit, most of which was bequeathed to another daughter, the 733 wife of Col. Elijah Brush, Surgeon Richardson was judge Western district, 1807–29. He died at Amherstburg, aged 59 years. His eldest son, Major John Richardson, is the author of "Wacousta," and the "wax of 1812," in which he served as a volunteer with the 41st regiment and afterwards as lieutenant of the 8th. The title page of the latter work reads "by Maj. Richardson" on which account the father is sometimes credited with the authorship of "The War of 1812."

328. Jean Baptiste Chandonnai a half breed of French and Indian mixture his mother having been a genuine Chippewa Indian, was probably a native of St. Joseph region. He was born as early as 1770. He was a fur trader with William Burnet from 1792 to 1799. In the war of 1812, he was an emissary to the Potawatomi and his uncle, John Chandonnai, with thirty Indians was sent by the British to conciliate the Potawatomi and arrested young Chandonnai for sympathy for the Americans. Jean defied his uncle who drew his sword, but was immediately shot by the nephew. The British Indian party attempting to arrest him were appeased by ten gallons of whiskey given them by Jean and allowed his escape.

Library of Congress

Chandonnai was clerk for John Kinzie at Chicago, and rescued Mrs. Heald from her captors at the Massacre restoring her to her husband at St. Joseph. He conducted the Kinzie family to Detroit. He acted as interpreter at Greenville, Portage des Scioux and Springwells. In 1821 after the treaty of Chicago he was given two sections of land on St. Joseph. He was a witness to the Chicago treaty in '32 and '33 and was allowed a claim of $1,000. It was reported he was a United States pensioner of 1812, but reports show him to have been a soldier of fortune. Wis. His. Colls., Vol. X, page 112. The name Charles given on page 333 by Mr. Greusel is an error, evidently.

328. The records of Ste. Anne's Church at Mackinac, show the marriage of Daniel Bourassa, son of René Bourassa and his wife, Anna Chevalier, to Marguerite Bertrand, July 20th, 1786, by Rev. Father Payet. July 17th, 1804. Marguerite, their daughter, married Guillaume Varin. D. Bourassa was a vestryman of Ste. Anne's at Mackinac.

350. The records of the court show that Lieut. Vidal was acquitted of the charge of forcibly taking the deserter. He was fined for rioting $631.48, as stated by him. It will be seen by a computation that the attorney's fee was $100.00. The amount of fine seems excessive in view of the testimony. Feeling against the flagrancy of a British officer's attempt to repossess himself of his stolen property without taking the lawful course, may have had weight in rendering the judgment.

357. Col. McDouall had experienced difficulty with officers of the navy, who had formed large views of the independence of their branch of the service. They were junior officers and the "navy force" and "navy vessels" were ridiculously small, Early in the year 1814, he had Lieutenant Newdigate Poyntz, who assumed airs to such an extent as to necessitate a remonstrance from McDouall to Sir Gordon Drummond. McDouall wrote: "I most heartily wish Sir James Lucas Yeo again had the pertinacious Lieutenant that he unfortunately sent me. He is full of his own consequence as commanding on Lake Huron. Commanding what? Not a vessel. A great stickler for naval etiquette and on the watch for opportunities, in his naval capacity, to oppose what I wish." Poyntz was recalled and Lieutenant Miller

Worsley replaced him. Worsley worked in harmony with McDouall, and a few weeks later, Oct. 2nd, 1814, captured the Scorpion and Tigress, two small United States schooners, by a cleverly managed surprise.

363. It is evident from a perusal of the letter of Gen Cass that his knowledge of international law was much superior to that of Col. James; his clear statement of the functions of an independent government are a manifestation of intellectual power quite beyond the ability of Col. James to successfully cope with.

366. The vigorous proclamation of Governor Cass manifests his clear-sightedness and his firm intention to properly assert the sovereignty of the United States in all cases. He could not be overreached, and he could not be overawed.

367. The chief had no authority to convey title to the island, and even if it were his private ownership; could he sell it to a foreign government and thereby transfer its sovereignty. Col. McDouall's efforts to hold possession of Drummond Island for Canada, are manifestly in vain.

368. Major Robert Roberts Loring, A. D. C., to Maj. Gen. Sir Roger H. Sheaffe, Bart, June 25th, 1812; A.D. C. to Lieut. Sir Gordon Drummond, December 25th, 1813, and with Drummond until the latter's return to England in 1815. Loring was appointed lieutenant in the 49th Foot, 1806; lieutenant in the 104th, 1812; present at Queenston and Lundy's Lane, 1813, being taken prisoner at the last named place; brevet major, 1814; captain, 76th, 1819.

383. The work performed by Capt. Owen, though not completed, possessed much value. It was confined to Lake Huron. Owen Sound in Georgian Bay was named after him.

391. This order was issued the day after Capt. Anderson called upon John Askin, storekeeper and clerk, for an explanation of his absence from duty, Nov., 1815.

Undoubtedly it, and the orders following are aimed at Askin, whose long service had probably affected his subordination. See Askin's letter to Col. Claus, p. 370.

393. The points indicate the grade of the cloth. Broad colored bands woven in at the two ends of each blanket, expressed the points. One quality has a single band, another two, the best quality three. These blankets were made into overcoats by the settlers of Mackinac, and the Sault Ste. Marie, and were known as Mackinaw overcoats. The color was usually blue.

397. These are awkward misspelled French Words. The first may be a perversion of tapis etai banc referring to carpet or rug;: traineau, means sleigh, and the article thus translated would be a rug or robe for a sleigh used in traveling to afford protection against cold or storms in winter.

404. It is apparent that dogmatic Col. James and the Indian Department were at loggerheads, the colonel considering the government to be a military one. His correspondence with Gov. Cass reveals his belief that the civil government was secondary and the military commander the real ruler.

407. This may have been Lieutenant James Givens. who as an officer in the Queen's Rifles we first hear of in the year 1793, where he attended a meeting of commissioners from the United States at Detroit. The subject considered was the countenance offered the Indians, then in a hostile mood, in Ohio and Indiana territories.

The British flag flew at Detroit at the time, the British not relinquishing Michigan until 1796. James Givens was lieutenant in the Queen's Rangers, 1791–1802; captain, 1803; Indian agent at York, (Toronto), present at capture of Detroit; appointed A.D. C. to Sir Isaac Brock, with rank of major in the militia.

408. From the falling out between the military commanders at the posts with the officials of the Indian department in 1815, we get admission and details, as in this letter of John

Askin, of the efforts made to array the Indian tribes in this country on the British side in the war of 1812. These efforts were successful and the consequence was the barbarous massacres perpetrated by the Indians in that war.

411. The letter of Gov. Gore to Lieutenant General Drummond makes it plain that the encroachments of the military on the civil administration of affairs had become obnoxious. Lieutenant Governor Gore takes the stand that the exclusive control of Indian affairs is vested in the civil government of the province.

417. Joseph St. Germain was a trader connected with the Northwest Fur Company, who had great influence with the Indians as he was sent out by Dickson to induce the Ojibways to aid the English in the war of 1812. He secured Great Cloud who rendered them valuable service.

417. The smouldering fire at last blazed out, and now we have a pretty quarrel extending until it reaches Lieutenant Governor Gore, and Lieutenant General Drummond. The sight of Col McDouall "dressed in the uniform of the Indian Department, with gold epaulets," is enough to make Askin weep, and also to agitate Col. Claus, the head of that department.

419. This affords an illuminating ray on life at an army post in the remote 735 Indian country at that time. Yet, except in these letters of incensed John Askin, we find no reference to it anywhere else. It was not a subject for disclosure in official circles.

419. There is no clue to reveal who these destitute persons were, or what the circumstances were that made them objects of public relief.

429. Sandewich was an ancient town, beautifully situated and was the headquarters of Col. James. During the progress of the war of 1812, it was successively headquarters for Generals Hull, Brock, Proctor and Harrison. The Baby mansion, occupied on occasions by these officers, still remains in good appearance, and is a most comfortable dwelling.

431. If Col. McDouall, as is most probable, rates the pay in terms of sterling money, it is seen that the pay of mechanics was $1.25 per day; laborers 50 cents to 95 cents. Under the circumstances, boarding and lodging must have been included in addition to their wages in money.

440. In this philisophic mood Col. McDouall turns over his hitherto exercised authority over the Indian Department. "This very gentleman, a great stickler now for civil rights," is a reference to Askin, who it appears, has found it uncomfortable to be compelled to get Capt. Thomas Gummersal Anderson's approval to issues of presents, and, of the two, prefers to have the colonel sign the pay lists.

455. This refers to an affair with the St. Regis Indians, whose reservation is on the St. Lawrence River in the State of New York. Cornwall is a Canadian town on the opposite side of the river, a mile or two up stream.

455. The "LeClure" named, is probably Isaac LeClair, lieutenant and interpreter at St. Regis who was given a grant of land.

470. The letters Col. McDouall mentions on p. 465, numbered about twenty, the date of the oldest letter being Sept. 15th, 1815, which would make it something like nine months on the way to Drummond Island. As they came by the American schooner, probably American postage was added. The American rate at that time was twenty-five cents for a letter of a single sheet, carried 400 miles or less; longer letters proportionally. In Halifax currency the £ 4, 5, would make $17.00, to so that his postage bill would average 85 cents for each letter.

474. William Harris Crawford, born in Virginia, 1772; died in Georgia, 1834. An American statesman; United States senator from Georgia, 1807–13; minister to France, 1813–15; secretary of war, 1815–16; secretary of the treasury, 1816–25; candidate for presidency, 1824.

497. John R. Williams an active man of affairs, held many public offices, military and civil. He was the first mayor of Detroit, 1824–25, and afterwards in 1830, 1844–5–6. Also adjutant general of the State of Michigan, and major general of militia.

502. In expressing this belief Gov. Cass was backed by the public sentiments of the nation. The lucid, vigorous and compact style of Gov. Cass is shown in his letter. He had not reached his thirty-fourth year at the time it was written.

502. John Quincy Adams' wish to settle the question of naval armaments on the great lakes was apporportionately made. In the end of a treaty allowing each nation, one naval vessel on the upper lakes with a battery of not more than one eighteen pounder gun was signed.

502. Robert Stewart, second marquis of Lansdowne; known as Lord Castlereagh, until the death of his father in 1821. He was born in Ireland, 1769; committed suicide in a fit of insanity, 1822. A British statesman of commanding influence, holding many high offices. He was foreign secretary, 1812–22.

505. The rapids of the St. Clair River are most difficult at a point opposite the waterworks in Port Huron. All the way from that point to the opening of the river and Lake Huron, they could not be overcome by sailing vessels unless the wind was fair and strong.

513. Thomas Douglas, earl of Selkirk, established a colony of Highland Scots on the Red River of the North, shortly before the beginning of the war of 1812. The settlement was at Winnipeg, which the Northwest Fur Company considered an invasion of its territorial rights. Their agents interfered, harassed the settlers, and even came to armed reprisals upon them, with the result that most of them abandoned their farms. The 736 province of Manitoba was organized in 1870, out of the Selkirk tract, and much additional territory. Lord Selkirk also established a Scotch colony on the north shore of Lake St. Clair, extending to the St. Clair River. Wallaceburg, Ontario, is the principal town in the district.

Sept. 4th, 1818, the Earl of Selkirk was arrested in Detroit, at the suit of James Grant, on a charge for trespass, and illegally attempting to carry the plaintiff, and some of his property, by force out of the United States; damages of $50,000 being alleged. Judge Woodward in deciding the case, held that the Earl of Selkirk was illegally arrested, (it having occurred on Sunday), that the writ should be discharged, and the bail bond cancelled. See Vol, XII, p. 483–505, this series.

519. Sir John Coape Sherbrooke succeeded Sir Gordon Drummond as governor-in-chief of the British military forces in North America. Sherbrooke's military secretary was Lieutenant Colonel Addison, who succeeded Major Foster, previously military secretary to Provost and to Drummond.

525. Captain Billy Caldwell's returns are of interest as affording official evidence of the assistance which the British Indian Department continued to afford to Indians, who had claims for services preformed in 1812. The six families of Chippewas said to reside sixty-five miles west of Detroit, came probably from the vicinity of Flint.

536. Charles Frederick Rolette was made an officer in the Provincial marine, and, as he states "saw fighting service on land and lake." He was born at Quebec, 1783; entered the Royal Navy, served under Nelson at the battle of the Nile. where he was wounded, and at Trafalgar; 2nd lieut. and mate, 1808; first lieut. on "Hunter." 1812; captured packet "Cuyahoga," carrying Gen. Hull's dispatches, supplies and a few troops, July 3, 1812. This was an important service, the information contained in Hull's dispatches being most valuable. He was at Frenchtown, acting as artillery officer, (wounded); at Put-in-Bay, taking command of the "Lady Prevost," her commander being wounded; prisoner of war to Commander Perry; presented with a sword of honor at Quebec, where he died, 1831, aged forty-eight years.

549. The Thames is a winding stream, and the great number of turns from its mouth at Lake St. Clair to Chatham, impede navigation. In the days of sailing vessels, much time was required for the passage to Chatham. It would not answer the purpose of a naval base, now when the tonnage and power of steam vessels is beyond anything dreamed of when this engineer's report was written.

581. The correspondence relating to Lord Selkirk shows a side light on the efforts to colonize the west. which were resisted by politics, law-suits and warfare, resulting in the destruction of Selkirk's project, and the triumph of his enemies, the Northwest Fur Company. In the March, 1817, the DeMeuron regiment had started for Selkirk's settlement on the Red River: in May the same year, Lord Selkirk started from Fort William and reached the Red River settlement the last week in June. The Indians were pacificated by Selkirk; they named him, "Silver Chief." The Northwest Company's agents would not be conciliated.

Sir John Coape Sherbrooke, governor-general, hoped to make an amicable adjustment between the contending parties. He was much troubled to get a fair-minded commissioner. At length, W. B. Coltman, merchant of Quebec, lieutenant colonel of militia, a man accustomed to government procedure and possessed of infinite tact, was appointed; with him Major Fletcher who possessed legal qualifications. Coltman with a bodyguard of forty men of the 37th regiment. reached Lake Winnipeg, July 2nd, 1817, a few days after Selkirk's arrival there. Col. Coltman, who was impressed with Selkirk's reasonableness, and good faith, recommended that the legal charges made against the earl should not be proceeded with. Coltman was agreeably surprised at meeting no trouble, as he had been led to expect, for Selkirk had been represented to him at Montreal as a buccaneer and a tyrant. In Nov. 1817, Col. Coltman had returned to Quebec He made an admirable report of the case and the situation, in a book of 100 pages. The completed story of Selkirk's struggles against the Northwest Fur Company, of the hardships encountered by his Highland colonists who came to Winnipeg, 737 via Hudson's Bay, and the frigid zone, the intrigues in England and Montreal, Selkirk's perseverance under all sorts of difficulties and his final justification by the House of Commons, forms one of the most romantic episodes of the earliest attempt to settle the West. At this date the Americans had no settlements on the Upper Mississippi.

605. This interesting narrative of an adventurous career, no doubt, truthfully describes the activities of an officer in Butler's Rangers, a corps of Tories in the Revolutionary war. Carrickfergus in Ireland, was captured, and held for a little while by the French in 1760. The attack on Schoharie, was made in 1778, on Chemung, 1779, Mohawk Valley, 1780–81; Licking settlement, 1780.

605. "The Prince Ferdinand," that John Turney says he served under in Germany in 1761–63, was Duke Ferdinand of Brunswick. The foreign policy of George II of England was chiefly dictated by his anxiety for the safety of his hereditary Kingdom of Hanover. Fearing a French attack on Hanover, he made an alliance with Prussia, and sent over his second son, the Duke of Cumberland, the same who defeated the pretender, Charles Stuart at Culloden in 1746, to command the army. The Duke of Cumberland in 1757 was defeated by the French, and was driven out of Hanover. He was replaced as commander by Duke Ferdinand of Brunswick, who defeated the French and regained Hanover in 1758. The British contingent remained in Germany for a few years. Ferdinand was born in 1721; died, 1792. He was a field marshal in the Prussian service, and commanded the British forces under the treaty of alliance above mentioned.

607. Gen. John Sullivan, commanded an expedition against the Six Nations, who espoused the British side, to which Turney probably refers, in 1779 His force was less than 7,000; the number given by Turney is probably an exaggeration. Turney was with Butler apparently in all his raids; notably at the massacre of Wyoming. The capture of Col. Campbell who, with others of the command, as Turney states, were by him brought prisoners to Detroit, was influenced by Lieut. Gov. Hamilton's offer of a price for scalps.

611. The distinction is that "spirits" is strong drink distilled from grain; rum is distilled from sugar cane, and molasses. The soldiers were partial to whiskey. As will be seen by the answer Commissary General Wood makes to Lenthal's letter. Rum at so remote a post ought to be "considered an indulgence," and to tell the men that the rum issued will be of as high a proof as any spirits.

Library of Congress

643. The reservations requested were mostly granted. One of them still continues near Bear Creek, and is commonly called the Walpole Island reservation.

649. The table of the "establishment of the Indian Department for 1819, is of interest as showing the recognition bestowed upon those who had shown marked ability in organizing the Indians for service during the war.

649. John Askin, as superintendent, (the "esq." is distinctive.) Askin died in 1818, after his appointment was made. He was present at the capture of Mackinac, 1812. His half-brothers Charles, Alexander and James Askin, were officers during the war. He had been promoted captain in 1814. The salary of $1,000 a year awarded him in 1819 was handsome, considering that one dollar a day was the compensation of all on the list, except the surgeons, the clerks, interpreters and the lieutenant.

649. George Ironside, not Ironsides, received a grant of public land. None of these grants of public land are mentioned in the list of appointments, the list being a roster and pay roll of the department, and nothing more. Ironside was an M. A. of King's College, Aberdeen. He died at Amherstburg, 1830 aged 70 years, being at the time superintendent of the Indian department.

649. George Frederick Rapp, interpreter for the Western nations 1812, was at the capture of Detroit, the massacre of the Raisin, at the defeat of Proctor at Moraviantown, known as the battle of the Thames, and at Lewiston on the Niagara River.

649. Amable Dusang promoted from sergeant of the "Mississippi Volunteers" to ensign, Feb. 25th, 1815. 93

651. Colonel, afterwards Sir Lewis Grant, Knight Commander of the Royal Hanoverian Guelphic Order; lieut. col. 70th, regiment, 1804; colonel 1813; major general, 1819; lieutenant general, 1837; colonel of the 96th, 1839, having served as lieutenant of the 96th on the Orion against the French fleet, June, 1795.

658. The memorial of citizens of Amherstburg, Jan. 20, 1819, is of value as showing the conditions attending the settlement of the town in 1796, and the terms of the conveyance to them of lots of land.

662. "Union flag;" the national flag of Great Britain, was changed when the statute of 1800 which united the kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, which abolished the parliament of Ireland, as the act of 1707 had abolished that of Scotland, and vested the legislative power in the parliament of the United Kingdom. This act took effect, Jan. 1st, 1801. In the union of the flags appears the cross of St. George, for England, color red; cross of St. Andrew for Scotland, a diagonal cross, color blue; cross of St. Patrick for Ireland, color red on a white ground. The field of the flag, as used generally and on commercial vessels is red; but in some naval regulations the field is blue.

607. This does not refer to the celebrated Logan whose speech, "Who is there to mourn for Logan," a pathetic bit of eloquence, is often quoted. The orator and warrior, John Logan, had for his Indian name, Tah-gah-jute. He was born about 1725, killed in a skirmish with a party of Indians near Detroit, 1780. Logan was a Cayuga by birth, but became a chief among the Mingoes. His family was murdered by whites in the Ohio country, 1774, whereupon he instigated a war. Most of the Shawnees took the British side in 1812, under Tecumseh the celebrated Shawnee chief. The Logan "Spamagelabe," is described in the treaty as having fallen in the service of the United States, consequently, although a Shawnee, he did not follow Tecumseh. He may have been of the family of the elder Logan, hazarding a conjecture on the score of names.

698. The current of the Detroit River is commonly reported to be three miles an hour. In some places it is less, but at Amherstburg it is swift. Consequently when the wind is adverse vessels can not beat up stream against it, and when the wind is fair and light the progress of sailing vessels is slow. Under such circumstances pedestrians could, without effort, keep up with vessels.

702. Politely worded is this memorial of the inhabitants of Amherstburg and Sandwich. The Sandwich people were probably moved by neighborly consideration as their town is fifteen miles from Amherstburg. It is a delicately expressed desire for the removal of the Indian population from the vicinity of Amherstburg, and in time it had its effect. An investigation of the signatures, some of which are historically well known in the annals of the Canadian and Michigan borders, brings to light certain facts relating to individuals which it may be well to note.

702. First we find Rev. Richard Pollard, who, it will be recollected, applied for reinstatement as chaplain to the garrison at Amherstburg some years before. He was rector of the church at Sandwich, and was made acting chaplain to the 41st at Amherstburg, Dec., 1811.

702. William Duff, adjutant of the 1st Essex militia; present at Brownstown, 5th Aug., 1812; Monguagon, 9th Aug., 1812; Detroit, 16th Aug., 1812; Frenchtown, 18th Jan., 1813, and again at the massacre of the Raisin, Jan. 22nd, 1813; received a land grant.

702. Robert Innes, quartermaster to Caldwell's flank companies, Western district; present at above engagements; land grant awarded.

702. William Hands, Jr., ensign flank company. (James Askin's) July 9th, 1812; present at surrender of Detroit; received land grant. He was born at Bethnal Green, near London, England, Aug. 10th, 1756. He was Sheriff and Register of Essex, Kent and Lambton Co., Upper Canada. He died at Sandwich, Feb. 20, 1836. His wife was Mary Abbott, daughter of James Abbott of Detroit. She was born in 1770 and died, Dec. 22, 1860. They were married, Dec. 10, 1789. See Memorial des Familles Casgrain, Baby et Perrault du Canada par Philippe—Baby Casgrain, Quebec, 1898–9, page VII, appendice C.

Library of Congress

739

702. Ebenezer Reynolds, major of flank companies first and second Essex militia; lieutenant colonel, Sept. 21st, 1813. He was present at Detroit, receiving a medal and clasp; at Frenchtown, (River Raisin), Jan. 18th, and again Jan. 22nd, 1813; sheriff for Kent County, Upper Canada, 1838; awarded a pension after the close of the war.

702. Captain Matthew Elliott, Jr., of the Indian department. There is, at times, difficulty in distinguishing between Captain Matthew, Jr., and his father, Col. Matthew Elliott, Sr., of the first Essex. In this case, however, there is no difference, as the father who served as captain in the Royal Indian department, 1777–84, and fought at Blue Licks and Sandusky in the Indian massacres of the Revolution; received a land grant; assistant agent for Western Indians, 1790; deputy superintendent, 1795; dismissed, 1788; reinstated, 1808; present at surrender of Detroit, for which he received a gold medal; was at Black Rock; Moraviantown, etc., died near Burlington Heights, May 7th, 1814, aged 75 years. Capt. M. Elliott, Jr., was at the battle of the Raisin, 1813. He also was given a land grant for services in 1812.

Matthew Elliott, Sr., lived in the western part of Pennsylvania at the opening of the Revolutionary War. He went to Detroit at a very early day and was there arrested as a rebel or spy and with great difficulty persuaded the British commandant that he was a tory. He returned to Pittsburg and remained for some time, talking with old friends, urging them to keep faith with the King and to leave the place with him for Detroit. His actions betrayed his plans and it was resolved to arrest him in Pittsburg. Learning of his danger he suddenly left the place with Alexander McKee, the Girty's and other disaffected persons. From this time forward he took a prominent part in everything pertaining to the western district. He was the leader of the Indians on many occasions, and their official agent at Detroit. The many letters and documents in the Michigan Pioneer Collections attest his importance to the British side. He died at the age of 75 years, May 7, 1814. His wife, Marie Louise Sans Chagrin, aged 60 years, died July 9, 1826.

702. Capt. Alexis Maisonville, second Essex militia, received a land grant; he was present at Detroit and Frenchtown.

702. Ensign Francis Caldwell, first Essex militia; given land grant; was promoted from private; present at surrender of Detroit in recognition of which he was given a medal and clasp; member of legislature for Essex, 1835–40.

702. Col. William Elliott, commanded the second Essex militia, but it is probable that the signature to the memorial is that of Captain William Elliott of the first Essex; he was present at Detroit, and given a medal and clasp; at Frenchtown and the Maumee; also with Caldwell's Rangers; appointed to the Indian department, and received a grant of land, and a pension.

702. James Woods, captain of a battalion company, second Essex militia.

702. Lieutenant Colonel Jean Baptiste Baby, second Essex, militia; brother of Hon. James (in the French, Jacques,) Baby; present at surrender of Detroit; received a land grant and a pension; member of assembly for Kent, 1792; died 1850, aged 86.

702. John Gentle, ensign of second Essex, and afterwards adjutant.

702. George Benson Hall, captain in the Provincial Marine, April 25th, 1812; at surrender of Detroit; awarded medal clasp and land grant; major second Essex, Sept. 21st, 1813; appointed naval storekeeper at Montreal, Sept. 23d, 1813, at 10 shillings per day; member for Kent, 1817; died at Amherstburg, Jan. 9th, 1821.

Library of Congress

702. Joseph Parent, lieutenant Maisonville's company second Essex; present at Detroit and Frenchtown (River Raisin); awarded a land grant.

702. John McGregor, lieutenant Kent militia, also known as Western volunteers; promoted captain; given land grant; first duty as sergeant in Capt. John Dolson's company; present at Detroit; wounded at Longwood's; granted a pension.

702. Jonathan Nelson, sailing master, provincial marine; present at Frenchtown, 1813; on the Lady Hunter at Put-in-bay, Sept. 10th, 1813; awarded a land grant.

702. George Nelson; having failed to enlist the quota of men to entitle him to a cornetcy in the Canadian Light Dragoons, 1813, joined as a volunteer in Proctor's retreat, Oct. 1813; became acting cornet, March, 1814.

702. Captain Francois Baby, assistant quartermaster general on the staff of the Upper Canadian militia; present at Frenchtown; and Black Rock, Jan. 30th, 1813; services dispensed with Aug. 24th, 1813; taken prisoner on the American raid into the interior of Upper Canada, Feb. 14th, 1814; given a land grant.

702. George Jacobs, Sr., captain in a troop of dragoons attached to the 1st Kent militia; present at the Maumee 1st to 9th, May, 1813; given a land grant.

702. George Jacobs, Jr., was an ensign in his father's company.

702. Dr. Robert Richardson, see p. 319.

702. Charles Fortier, ensign, first Essex, supposed to be identical with one of a similar name, master's mate, who received a medal with a clasp at Detroit; also a land grant.
